

Life at The Top – Chapter 1711

“Reynoldson, you traitor! You lackey! You mutt!”

Reynoldson seemed calm as he was faced with Jodaville’s insults.

Before they had a complete fallout, they were still pretty respectful toward each other, but now they had shed all pretense of cordiality. There was no more mutual affection between the two, but Reynoldson was very calm.

“Jodaville, I’m just standing on the side of the Winner. If Nokia is led by a group of people who don’t know anything like you guys, this company will be finished sooner or later. So, I am rescuing Nokia!”

“Nonsense!”

Jodaville was furious. He pointed at Reynoldson and cursed, “You mean and shameless dog! You colluded with foreigners to sell the pride of Finland, but you’re still saying that you are saving Nokia? Why are you so despicable and shameless?”

“It’s better to sell than to close down.”

Reynoldson chuckled coldly. After speaking, he turned his head straight away, “I don’t want to waste time explaining to you. In short, time will prove everything.”

“I like this sentence.”

Jasper chuckled slightly. He looked at Jodaville after interrupting and said, “Mr. Jodaville, your set of ideas is workable, but the world is constantly evolving. Even if Nokia is very strong right now, it will still be eliminated if it can’t keep up with the global pace of development.”

Jodaville had a grim expression and replied angrily, “Somerland punk, wipe away the smile on your face that disgusts me whenever I look at it. It’s so hypocritical and dirty!”

“Don’t think that you can take away Nokia by acquiring so many shares. Nokia will always be the pride of the Finns. In the board of directors meeting, our conservative forces still occupy the majority and no one will implement your decisions!”

Jasper shrugged calmly and said, “Really? If this is the case, I think the entire board of directors can be reorganized.”

Jodaville said coldly, “Who do you think you are? Do you think you can reorganize the board whenever you want?”

Shaking his head, Jasper replied calmly, “I think you are really blinded by anger. My shareholding ratio exceeds the absolute holding line. I can immediately reorganize the board of directors at any time and any where per my wishes. Neither you nor anyone else can change that.”

As Jasper said that, he patted Reynoldson next to him on the shoulder and smiled. He said, “Right? Chairman Reynoldson?”

As soon as these words came out, Reynoldson was taken aback and then became ecstatic. He knew that his hard work and the risk he took in siding with Jasper during this period had finally paid off.

This return was to turn him from a president to a chairman.

There was a flush of excitement on his craggy face and Reynoldson said excitedly, "I will obey all your orders."

Jasper then pointed at Jodaville and said, "Look, you are about to become the former chairman. This is the difference between you and Reynoldson, and this is also why he can replace you."

"Okay, Mr. Laine, let's sign."

Dalvira, the director general of Finland National Social Security Fund, felt that his seat was getting hot. He knew that signing this would cause countless people like Jodaville to curse him, but he had no choice because he had to consider his family and his children's needs. He had already thought about it, and after signing this agreement, he would immediately file for his resignation next month and leave with the money.

"Dalvira, you can't do this! Once this agreement is signed, you will be a sinner in Finland!" Jodaville roared at Dalvira like a dying beast.

"Jodaville, there are many things which you can't stop and there is nothing I can do right now. I'm sorry."

After Dalvira finished speaking, he bowed his head blankly and signed the contract, stamped it, and then pushed it toward Jasper.