

Life at The Top – Chapter 1726 - 1728

Jasper hugged Anna and danced to the rhythm of the music.

“Thank you...”

While dancing skillfully, Anna looked up at Jasper’s face that was flickering in the light and said softly. At this moment, her entire body had to turn into a pool of water, and she was melting onto Jasper.

Jasper looked down at Anna. Then, he smiled and said, “It is my honor to be able to do all of this for you.”

“Are you always so sweet?” Anna asked.

“No matter how sweet I am, I still need someone willing to listen.”

After the song ended, Jasper pulled open the chair, helped Anna sit down, and then sat down opposite her. “I made all these in the afternoon by myself. It may not be to your taste, but you must finish it. You have to eat it even if you don’t like it.”

Jasper said with a smile after he picked up his fork.

Anna could not help but reply, “Only you can come with something as unique as eating Somerland food in candlelight.”

“Both of us don’t like western food, and I don’t know how to make it either, so this will do.”

The two started chatting while eating.

Although they restrained themselves and did not touch certain sensitive topics, Anna could not endure it anymore halfway through the meal.

“When are you leaving?”

Jasper was taken aback He replied, “I’ll stay for two more days.”

Anna shook her head and said softly, “The United States doesn’t welcome you. After tomorrow, you should return home as soon as possible.”

Jasper raised his eyebrows slightly and smiled. "Do you think they'll abduct me?"

"Normal people won't, but it's hard to say when it comes to the ones who are on the same level as you in terms of power, status, and influence. Compared to being ridiculed by others, the United States cares more about how large the damage that a free and safe person like you will bring to them."

Anna sighed again. Although she was studying fashion design here, she was no stranger to news about Jasper.

"I think that from the moment you landed in the United States, we have been heavily monitored by United States officials. If it weren't for the fact that you look like you're at a disadvantage on the stock market, I'm afraid you might have been asked to leave."

"Don't underestimate the shamelessness of the United States government."

Jasper nodded and said, "I know, I will consider it... What about you? When will you return home?"

"Next month is the opening ceremony of Paris Fashion Week I need to go over to participate in a show. I will go back after this show is over. I might not return to the fashion design industry for a short time after this because I've already achieved my goal." Anna smiled lightly.

"Well, then we can meet in Somerland in a month's time."

The two of them spent two hours on this meal. After eating, Jasper took Anna to wander around the villa. They were either sitting and chatting or leaning against each other in the moonlight.

At this moment, no one or anything could disturb them. Time slowly approached midnight.

Anna also started to become nervous. She knew that if Jasper prepared so much for her the day before her birthday, when midnight struck and her birthday officially arrived, Jasper would surely have a bigger surprise in store for her. Sure enough, when it was almost time, Jasper took Anna to the top floor of the villa. Beverly Hills was on the top of the mountain. The villa that Jasper chose was right at the peak, so from here, one would have a complete overview of the entire city of Los Angeles.

Chapter 1727

Anna wanted to ask Jasper what he wanted to show her, but she was afraid of ruining the mood.

Jasper smiled as he witnessed her switch between panic and joy. He did not reveal it or leak anything in advance. Jasper sat on the edge of the balcony on the top floor of the villa with a grin.

Anna gradually calmed down and she imitated Jasper as she lay down beside him.

“Do you know why I want to make so much money?” Jasper suddenly turned his head to look at Anna.

“Isn’t it for a better life?” Anna asked.

Jasper laughed and replied, “No matter how smart you are, there is no way to put yourself in my place and look at this problem from the perspective of someone like me who came from nothing.”

“Because you’re born into the end goal for most people, you can only guess my purpose of making money from hearsay. If everyone says that making money is to live a better life, then that's the answer."

"Hmph, stop telling your grandmother stories. Tell me, why are you making money?"

Anna said in dissatisfaction.

She rarely suffered a defeat in front of others.

Jasper smiled and said, "If it were for a living, my wealth would have been able to live the most luxurious life in the world and I won't even be able to finish spending it.

"I'm going to say something that sounds pretentious and unreliable to others. Money is really just a number for me now."

"I can understand this," Anna nodded and said.

Jasper continued slowly with a smile on his face, "I make so much money so that when I want to do something, I can do it without worries."

Just when Jasper finished saying that, the countdown that plagued millions of citizens in the city of Los Angeles for a whole day finally returned to zero.

There were tens of thousands of countdowns, large and small, everywhere in the city.

The moment they returned to zero indicated the time that a new day replaced the last.

At this moment...

Bang bang bang

Muffled noises sounded from all over the city. It was so dense that it produced an echo which made people think that a war was coming.

When everyone raised their heads in panic, they discovered that countless fireworks were rising into the sky all around the city of Los Angeles.

An array of fireworks surrounded Los Angeles.

The innumerable densely packed huge fireworks were like a miracle that God displayed to the world himself, causing everyone who laid eyes on them to be astonished.

Everyone had seen fireworks before, but no one had ever seen such a magnificent and dense array of them.

“168,000 custom-made fireworks surround the entire city of Los Angeles and stretch from the city to Beverly Hills, where we are!”

At this moment, after Jasper had just finished saying that, he suddenly stood up and pulled up the stunned Anna to her feet.

He pointed to the city of Los Angeles. At this moment, the entire periphery of Los Angeles seemed to be wrapped in a magnificent firework array and was extending in the direction of Beverly Hills.

“I want everyone on the way to witness this moment.” Jasper’s words were drowned by the loud sound of fireworks.

Anna looked up and saw fireworks shooting into the sky in layers down a stretch of more than 10 kilometers of road from Los Angeles all the way to Beverly Hills.

Moreover, each of these firework arrays was carefully arranged and customized, so the time it stayed in the air varied. In the end, the sea of fireworks gathered into four huge Somerish words and stayed in the sky.

“Happy Birthday!”

At this moment, millions of citizens from the city of Los Angeles witnessed it together.

They finally understood what the countdown and fireworks meant.

It was celebrating someone’s birthday!

No one knew who this lucky person was, but they knew that the four words in the sky were Somerish, so they knew she was from Somerland.

“Oh my God.”

Countless women were crying with joy at this moment because they were inexplicably excited and emotional.

“If I were this woman, I would die happy!”

This was how countless women felt.

As the star of all this, Anna was utterly speechless. With her status and net worth, she could hold a very extravagant and luxurious birthday party if she wanted to.

However, she was really shocked by Jasper’s willingness to spend money on her.

Money was secondary because the manpower, material resources, and energy spent on this thought were the most valuable thing.

The night sky was vast and bright, and stars dotted the dark blue sky.

Jasper and Anna stood on top of the villa, watching the bright fireworks flourish temporarily. The air was filled with the peculiar smell of fireworks.

Anna turned around and looked at Jasper. At this moment, her eyes were sparkling.

“Is this what you’ve meticulously prepared for me?” Anna asked.

“Are you happy?” Jasper asked rhetorically.

“Very..!” Anna nodded heavily.

Jasper laughed and said, “That’s good...”

Before he could finish, Anna grabbed Jasper’s neck, turned her head, and kissed him.

This was Anna’s first kiss. At this moment, Anna put everything aside.

She kissed Jasper crazily, passionately, and savagely.

Anna removed her lips slightly when she was almost out of breath.

Even so, she could not bear being too far away from Jasper.

Their lips were still connected and there was a transparent silk thread between their lips and teeth. Even when both of them were gasping for air, this connection was still not broken.

“Take me to the room...” Anna muttered softly.

When Jasper was about to say something, Anna's nails dug deeply into Jasper's back.

She said in a wild and unrestrained tone, "I don't want to care about anything else. Don't say anything, take me to the room!"

If Jasper continued to spew nonsense at this moment, then he would be as stupid as a pig.

Jasper did not dilly-dally and quickly carried Anna in bridal style. Anna's body was so soft and limp that it felt as if she was boneless. Then, Jasper carried her down the roof without turning back.

"Don't regret this."

Jasper said as he walked.

Anna buried her head into Jasper's chest. "Anyone who regrets is a coward."

Jasper threw Anna on the bed savagely and said, "I'm not going to become that damned coward."

Chapter 1728

That night was wild.

Jasper could not wrap his head around how Anna was so wild even though this was her first time. This woman kept wanting to fight for dominance with Jasper, but would a man like Jasper allow her to do so, especially since this was her first time?

After the whole night of being entangled with each other, the sweat and gasping gradually stopped in the latter half of the night.

While holding Anna who was as meek as a cat in his arms, Jasper gasped heavily, feeling proud of himself for protecting his dignity as a man. As he looked at Anna in his arms, whose cheeks were flushed and the tip of her nose sweaty, Jasper felt that life at the top was nothing special.

He finally got the princess of the Laws in his hands. "Let me ask you a question to test you," Jasper said suddenly. Anna raised her eyelids lazily and said weakly, "Please be a simple one. I don't have the energy to think too much now."

"It's very simple. Just a riddle.
"What did Cinderella do when she got to the ball?" Jasper laughed. Anna was taken aback. She tilted her head to think about it. Then, she said with a frown, "What did Cinderella do when she got to the ball? Didn't she dance with the prince and forget her shoe?" After racking her brains momentarily about this, Anna immediately gave up. She said, "I don't know. What did she do?" Jasper smirked. Then, he grabbed Anna's hand and placed it on a specific part of his body. Anna was stunned. After a few seconds, she quickly retracted her hand. Then, she pinched Jasper on the arm and yelled, "Jasper, do you want to die?" "What? Didn't we just..." "Shut up!"

Jasper was very amused. He said, "Alright, I didn't tell you, but I wasn't trying to take advantage of you either. The reason I put your hand there is to give you a hint. She choked."
Anna was a very smart woman, so she immediately understood what it meant. "Wouldn't Cinderella choke when she got to the ball?" "Jasper, do you want to die? Where did you learn this kind of filthy riddle from?" Jasper said while feeling as pleased as punch, "Do men need to learn about this?"

Alright, I'll change it. Let's change it to a more serious one, okay?"

"Hmph!"

"Why is a Brazilian wax called the cabin strip?"

"Jasper, not again!"

"This is a serious one."

"... I don't know."

"Here. Let me feel it for you... Because it has a cockpit at the end of it!"

"Ah! Ouch! Gentle! It's not plasticine..."

While Jasper was holding Anna as they messed around in bed naked, Echo and the three of his subordinates had gotten out of the car at the foot of Beverly Hills. Then, they lifted their heads to look at the glorious villa area.

Even though it was the wee hours of the morning, the security of this kind of rich people area was on duty 24/7. Moreover, there were surveillance cameras all over the place so it was impossible for normal people to enter without permission.

However, Echo and the gang were not normal people. After a while, a blonde man with blue eyes walked out from the villa area.

This man walked in front of Echo. After the two of them looked at each other and confirmed their identities, the man took out an ID card for Echo.