

A Lifetime Love chapter 14

Chapter 14

"Your grandmother is resting in the backyard. There's no need to rush. Sit down and talk with your sisters first." Elizabeth smiled and tried to ease the atmosphere, as she did not want everyone to get disgruntled because of Seraphina's attitude. As a matter of fact, no one would feel dissatisfied, as none of them were close to Seraphina. Just then, Susan Hoult, the third daughter of the Hoult family, glanced at her watch impatiently, picked up her jacket, and went out. "I have an interview at noon, so I have to go do my makeup. I won't be eating with you guys later." She was a famous celebrity specializing in movies, and all her co-stars were A-list celebrities as well. Hence, she was a little arrogant and imperious. When she passed by Seraphina, she stopped in her tracks and commented, "We won't let this slide, Sera. The b*tch who seduced Denver is Joey Lake, right? I'll make sure that she can't survive in the entertainment industry anymore. What a shameless b*tch!" Before Seraphina could say anything, Susan had already left. "Sera, bring Lucien over here for some tea," said Elizabeth with a smile on her face. Turning around to look at Lucien, Seraphina asked, "Do you like drinking tea?" "I guess so," he replied indifferently. "Then you should have a cup of tea with them. I'll go and see Grandma." Having said that, Seraphina left without looking back and ignored the other family members. Lucien had heard that she had a bad relationship with her family. Judging from her behavior, he was pretty sure that it was true. She did not even bother to pretend that they were close. Obviously, as Seraphina's husband, he could not disrespect her parents. Hence, he bit the bullet and sat on the couch, chatting with her family members. Out of the blue, Sophia Hoult, the second daughter of the Hoult family, piped up, "Sera is spoiled by my grandmother and doesn't know how to behave properly. Not only that, but she's also cold-hearted and doesn't seem to have any affection for her family. You'll have to get used to it slowly." "Fia, stop spouting nonsense," Zachariah quickly reprimanded her. "Dad, did I say something wrong? Didn't you see how rude she was to us just now? Except for Grandma, she has no respect for others. Luckily, she didn't marry into the Salisbury family. Otherwise, with how hot-tempered Denver is, he'll probably beat her up a few times a day." The more Sophia spoke, the harsher her words were. Truth be told, she was enraged and jealous of Seraphina. Not only was Sophia good-looking, but she was capable as well. However, she was always oppressed by Shirley in the company. Although she was married, she was not happy. Her husband was a research scientist working in a research institute, and he was a very boring person. They had been married for three years and had no children. Seraphina is nothing compared to me, but she was able to marry into the most wealthy family by mistake. Because of that, she has a higher social status. Even Mom and Dad's attitudes toward her have changed. Thinking of that, she could not help but have blurted out those harsh words. Meanwhile, Samantha Hoult, the fourth daughter of the Hoult family, was not married yet. She was only a few years older than Seraphina. As an introvert, she had been reading a history book for the whole time and did not join in the conversation. Naturally, Lucien felt uncomfortable when he heard what Sophia had said. After all, Seraphina was now his wife. Thus, he said with a smile, "I like Sera's personality. My parents like her, too, and they don't think she's cold-hearted. As for Denver, no matter how his temper is, it has nothing to do with Sera now. If someone dares to bully Sera in the future, I won't let them off easily." The Hoult family was dumbfounded. Why does he think so highly of Sera? They don't know each other before this, right? Didn't they meet for the first time at the wedding? Why is he so protective of her?
