

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 313– 314

Chapter 313

Shao Muhan glanced at Sophia with a face, and refused to stay any longer, turning around to follow, but was stopped by Sophia.

The ridicule made her whole person changed, almost looking at Mother Shao with some craziness: “What? Afraid to see me? You haven’t appeared once since I was in a car accident. Is it a guilty conscience?”

Shao Mu’s complexion became ugly, and her delicately trimmed eyebrows wrinkled.

“What can I say to you! Tell my lawyer!” Pushing her away, she insisted to leave.

Sophia grabbed her with a fierce look.

“Your lawyer? You ruined all my business and didn’t give us any way to survive! I listened to all of you at the beginning, but now it’s better. I can do this without me?! You are the murderer! You did my car accident!”

Mother Shao took two steps backwards, staring at her in disgust, trying to get rid of the woman.

But she was firmly grasped by her, and she couldn’t help but feel a little frightened.

“Your car accident has nothing to do with me. Don’t always get involved with the nasty things your family did yourself!” Turning around and rushing to the forest, “What are you doing in a daze! You can’t take this crazy woman away!”

Lin Shui trembled and went forward immediately.

“Miss Fu, you let go first, and you can talk about anything.”

Before he could reach out, Sophia turned her head abruptly, a knife flashed out of her hand and pointed at Mother Shao.

“Don’t come here! I thought about it before I came. Either we will die together today, or we will admit that you instigated my car accident now, let the police come over, and you will think about it yourself!” Sophia was almost crazy, her big eyes flushed, take it The hand holding the knife kept trembling.

Mother Shao struggling backwards suddenly, screaming uncontrollably in fright, Lin Shui also really panicked, and immediately backed away.

Unexpectedly, she could do it.

“You calm down! Let us go now and we will assume that it hasn’t happened. You’re a hijacking! It’s a felony!” Lin Shui tried to remind her.

She sneered, and the irony in her eyes couldn’t hide: “I can come here because I have made plans. It’s hard to hear what I said?! Give you five minutes to choose!”

Mother Shao panted heavily, staring at the knife in fear, and Sophia got a point closer when she was excited.

“Okay, okay, I admit, you let him call and let the police come! I admit that I did it!” Shao’s mother immediately said when she felt the coldness of the knife.

Sophia turned her head and the corners of her mouth curled up: “Are you coaxing a three-year-old child?! Have you always thought of me as a fool? Take the phone to record! Explain the whole process of your plan clearly, and I will call the police!”

Mother Shao frowned, but she had to take out her phone immediately, winking at Lin Shui while she was looking at the phone. Lin Shui had already dialed Bryan’s phone at this time, but because she couldn’t speak, she could only wait and hope him. Can hear it wrong.

As soon as Bryan and Miriam arrived in the ward, their mobile phones rang, and Sophia over there was halfway through, and she immediately noticed when she listened further.

“Something happened, I’ll go down and take a look, you stay in the ward.” The man condensed his eyes and turned and left.

Miriam opened her mouth, but he has disappeared.

After thinking about it, there are only Shao Mu and Sophia below. I remembered that Sophia’s expression was not right today, and I faintly felt what was going on.

Bryan arrived at the scene two minutes later, and the moment he saw Sophia only clenched his hands slightly, showing no expression.

Quickly asked calmly: “What do you want?”

Sophia’s expression changed when she saw Bryan. No matter what, she didn’t want her to be seen by him like this, but she aroused her emotions and dragged Shao mother back: “What are you doing?! Don’t come over! Otherwise she will die!”

Bryan didn’t even move his eyebrows, blinked, his voice was cold and his eyes were torch.

“I ask you what the conditions are, if it’s just for killing, there is no need to drag it like this.”

The man's calmness made Sophia panic. The man in front of her was what she had always wanted, but it was because of the woman in her hand...

"I don't want anything... I just want you..." His eyes were a little lost, but Shao Mu let out a sigh of relief, and immediately made her nervous again, "You! Now announce, marry me!"

Bryan was silent, but Shao's mother suddenly shouted: "No!"

Sophia immediately lowered her head and shouted, "Shut up! Don't you want to live?"

Mother Shao immediately lowered her head to watch her knife rest on her neck.

"I will release her when I see the news. I want to marry you so that the whole world knows that you married me! I am the mistress of the Shao family! Hahaha!"

The smile is extra crazy.

Bryan kept his eyes on the knife in her hand, and when she saw her inadvertently, he approached.

As soon as she found out, she said, "Lin Shui, do as she said. The wedding will be held in a week."

Lin Shui immediately agreed to go out, but ran into Miriam head-on. Miriam immediately signaled him not to say anything.

Step back a little and immediately whispered: "I just looked at the layout inside, behind the window, I have already called the police, they will set up an anesthesia gun on the opposite side, but now the sun will polarize the line of sight, we need to find a more suitable location, delay Ten minutes is fine, right?"

Lin Shui immediately said, "No problem, even the fastest news will take half an hour to release. There is President Shao in it, so there is no problem."

Miriam nodded and asked him to contact the police, but stayed outside.

There were blood stains on Shao's neck, and the pain spread.

Sophia's hands were still working hard.

"What about Miriam. Why didn't you let her come over at such an exciting moment? Or did you want to protect her? Hahaha... After all, you care about her alone from beginning to end, but I don't care, unlike Qi Yun, It's obviously for your people! But I only want Mrs. Shao's position!" She was talking without scruples, even regardless of how Bryan looked at her.

Bryan just listened, Shao's mother was already a little unsupported, panic and lack of physical strength, gradually paralyzed downwards.

"But I'll be honest, Qi Yun isn't a good person either. It's too self-defeating to want to be able to step in among you! This old thing might just have a fancy to her family background, and in the end there was no good result!"

Miriam was listening outside without expression.

Sophia was really not stupid, and perhaps an outsider could see it more clearly.

Bryan could notice that someone on the other side was preparing, his expression remained unchanged, he just glanced at it, and immediately regained his sight.

"Call Miriam over! Witness this moment with me! I want to make her sick!"

"Should I call her now?" the man asked lightly.

Sophia's throat moved, and the next second she suddenly stiffened, and the glass behind her also shattered instantly, and the whole was scattered on the ground.

Bryan rushed over as quickly as possible and took the knife in her hand. She had to resist, but she was invincible and was pushed to the ground at once. Mother Shao had fainted.

Chapter 314

Miriam was shocked, only one hand hurried over with the wheelchair, Bryan was already holding Mother Shao, Sophia was lying in the glass slag, and she shed a lot of blood instantly when she pressed her hand on the ground.

Bryan didn't even look at her. He raised his foot and walked over. He was not surprised to see Miriam. He was about to speak, but when she saw her eyes widened, she screamed, "Be careful behind!"

Sophia took a piece of sharp glass in her blood-stained hand and pierced it straight towards his back.

When he made a mistake, he plunged into his shoulders, the suit was poked through, and the glass sank deep.

Miriam's pupils widened and she couldn't make a sound, but Sophia obviously didn't want to give up. She immediately pulled it out and saw the attack on Mother Shao. Bryan only frowned from the beginning to the end. After the reaction came back, she evaded very quickly, Sophia Never touched Shao's mother.

But she seemed to have completely lost her mind, no matter how many attacks, Bryan still suffered injuries in several places.

Miriam's mouth couldn't stop shaking, and in a panic saw another small vase next to the wall, regardless of the wrist injury, he picked it up and slammed it at Sophia.

The probability of hitting was very low, but maybe the anesthetic had already taken effect, and her reaction became slower and slower, and the vase was directly pressed on her head, and then she halted, fell down, and no sound was heard.

She was stunned when she saw this scene, looked at her hands, and fear struck her heart.

Bryan looked over with comfort in his eyes.

Putting Mother Shao on the ground, she immediately checked Sophia's wound.

Lin Shui followed a lot of policemen and ran over when he saw this scene.

Bryan looked a little solemn, stood up and said lightly, "First take Sophia to the hospital for rescue."

Lin Shui looked down and saw a pool of blood on the ground, all flowing from Sophia's head.

Bryan walked straight to the police, passing by Miriam without giving her a look.

But Miriam saw that several places in his dark gray suit had been penetrated by blood.

The police quickly took samples and took photos at the scene. After Shao Mu and Sophia were sent away, the police in the lead began to question.

"Mr. Shao, how did Miss Fu's injury cause it?"

Miriam opened her mouth, and was interrupted by the man just about to speak.

His expression was faint, and his thin lips were whiter than usual: "For self-defense, I can only do that."

The police did not say anything and asked to take samples of the vase and check for fingerprints.

But he did not panic at all.

Only then did Miriam feel the pain in her wrist, as if she was broken again.

The man talked to the police briefly about the situation and turned to her.

Looking down at her wrist, with some hostility in her eyes, she asked with a deep eyebrow, "Does it hurt?"

Miriam's eyes were sore for an instant, and she nodded invisibly.

Bryan suddenly bent over and dropped a kiss on her forehead, with tenderness in her eyes, and whispered in her ear: "Let's go see a doctor."

Miriam was taken away by the man.

Along the way, Miriam had mixed feelings in her heart. The moment of fear and the huge emptiness she was about to lose made her unbearable. She seemed to be changing little by little when she was calm in the past.

I have said so many words to comfort myself and deceive myself, and at that moment I seem to forget all of them.

The man looked at her from behind, the tenderness in his eyes without knowing it.

"Let's see your injury first." Miriam frowned when she saw the two characters of orthopedics.

He was injured in several places by Sophia just now, and he didn't take it lightly, and he would lose too much blood regardless of whether he asked.

The man kept silent, only pushing her in.

The doctor didn't understand the situation, and just scolded the two.

"This is a fracture! It's not a joke! It happened before this day, don't you want it?!"

Miriam lowered her eyes and listened obediently. Bryan's breath deepened. The doctor glanced at him and couldn't help but silence.

Although he didn't speak or expressed dissatisfaction, he dared not speak loudly to that face.

Miriam glanced at the man obliquely, her eyes swept across his hand, and a cut was made on the back of his hand, but she accidentally moved inward, making it difficult for her to spot it.

"Can you see trauma?" Miriam asked the doctor.

The doctor was in his fifties, wearing glasses, gave Bryan a glance.

As soon as Bryan came in, he noticed the blood on his clothes.

"Let me see first." He bandaged Miriam's wrist.

“No, I’ll go to the special department to see it later.” The man’s expression was light and his tone was steady.

Miriam glared at him: “I’m afraid you will lose blood and faint when you go there. First take off your coat and let the doctor see it, and stop the bleeding.”

The doctor put down the bandage and briefly, and snorted softly, “She’s right.”

Bryan pressed her thin lips slightly, and took a few seconds to take off her coat.

Miriam was shocked in a cold sweat, and the white shirt inside was soaked with blood for more than half.

Just now I saw that he was just like a okay person, thinking it was not that serious, but now thinking about it, it was already very serious just by putting it on his back.

The doctor frowned suddenly.

Bryan glanced at Miriam and saw that she was worried, and the pain in her body was nothing.

When Miriam saw that he could still poke the corners of her mouth as usual, she couldn’t get out of anger.

“Can you still laugh? Don’t you feel it after bleeding so much?”

The man blinked, with a smile: “Do you feel so sorry for me?”

Miriam choked, “I don’t care about myself, why do I feel sorry for you?”

Bryan’s eyes were more smiling, and he raised his eyebrows: “You like duplicity so much?”

The words of the two of them were more like flirting and cursing, and the old doctor who listened to it almost blushed and couldn’t help but cough.

Miriam felt embarrassed, her expression still calm, but she stopped talking.

The doctor cut open Bryan’s shirt with scissors, and couldn’t help but feel cold when he saw the wound: “Such a deep wound is no longer just a trauma. I’m afraid it will be a problem whether this arm can be lifted after dragging the floor for a long time!”

Miriam’s heart tightened, “Doctor, how is his situation now?”

Bryan turned his head and glanced at the doctor as if he hadn’t heard it, and said unhurriedly, “I know how serious it is, so I don’t need to say more.”

The doctor obviously had something to say, and he was holding back.

Although this young man is not old and his aura is not small, he still thinks about everything for this woman and doesn't want her to worry about it.

He could see through the young man's mind at a glance, but he didn't wittle it.

During the treatment of the wound for more than half an hour, he didn't say a word, even looking for glass shards in the depths, and then took it out, he didn't frown.

Sometimes Miriam couldn't stand it, let alone how he could have such a strong endurance, as if he had experienced these hundreds of times.

"If you hurt, just speak up, no one will laugh at you." Miriam couldn't help shouting to him.