

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 373– 374

Chapter 373

Miriam inevitably met Rania again when going to the bathroom halfway.

Rania came out of the innermost compartment, and when he rubbed shoulders with Miriam, there was an unclear smell of smoke in his footsteps. Although the two looked at each other during the period, they both kept a proper distance tacitly and did not even say hello. hit.

Miriam's eyes were deep, and when he lifted his foot to go to the inner compartment, he heard a small commotion at the door, and then a white medicine bottle rolled to her feet.

She bent down to pick it up and walked towards the door. She saw Rania leaning halfway by the door, her face a little pale, and a young woman squatting in front of her, shedding cosmetics, keys and the like scattered on the ground. The items are packed in a ladies' square bag.

"Miss Song, I'm really sorry." The young woman returned the returned bag to Rania with a deep apology on her face.

After a brief recovery, Rania's expression relaxed a little, stretched out his hand to take it and smiled lightly, "It's okay."

Seeing that the person was about to leave, Miriam ran after him.

"Miss Song, please wait a moment, your things have fallen." She chased after Rania's eyes slightly, and handed the medicine in her hand to her.

On the cover of the white bottle, the words "bupropion" were printed impressively.

The moment Rania looked down and saw the medicine bottle, his face was obviously stiff, but he quickly recovered as usual. He reached out and took it, "Thank you."

Then he turned and left, his face was calm and calm, as if he had no intention of concealing or tangling the facts that had already been discovered.

"Bupropion." Miriam whispered softly as she watched the thin back gradually disappear, with many inexplicable emotions in her eyes.

After the listening session in the afternoon was over, Miriam failed to get rid of Bryan in time, so he could only let him follow him out of the Great Hall. The crowd of people gradually dispersed. Bryan stood in front of a car body, "Get in the car. , On the way."

Miriam stood at a distance of four or five meters from him. Before she refused to say anything, she saw the passenger seat door opened. Song Bo got out of the car and waved at her constantly, "Director, here! "

His cheeks were flushed from his nose to his nose, and his eyes were still half-squinted. As soon as he saw that he had drunk a lot of wine, Miriam felt helpless.

"No, you should go back first." Regarding that Song Bo still needs their support, Miriam didn't say too badly. He just waved his hand in the direction of the car body and the person turned and headed in the opposite direction.

As he was walking along the street, Lin Shui drove up to chase him up, and Bryan rolled down the car window with a cold expression, "Get in the car."

With a hint of forbearance in her tone, Miriam suddenly paused after hearing this, and glanced at the man in the car window, then raised her watch to look at the time, "Bryan, I am not going back to the hotel now. There are some personal matters that need to be dealt with, do you still want me to report the specific content to you next?"

After saying that, one hand was on the roof of the car, and he bent over and leaned forward to meet him, his eyes were extremely cold, "Keep a proper distance, I won't push you too far."

Bryan understood the deep meaning of the words. The next second he rolled the car window and said to Lin Shui, "Let's drive."

She always reminds him, consciously or unconsciously, that it is not the time yet.

When Bryan's car had just blended into the traffic, a silver-gray car that came from behind Miriam stopped steadily on the side of the road. The man in the driver's seat rolled down the window and called her name softly with a bright smile on his face. .

"Miriam..."

"Brother." Miriam turned her head and saw Xiang Southeast, then opened the car door and got in.

Not long after the car stopped at the entrance of a community, Miriam followed Xiang Dongnan and walked along the lush boulevard to the depths of the community, watching from side to side as she walked, "The environment here is good and suitable for life."

Holding a basket of vegetables to the southeast, a clear smile appeared on his face when he bowed his head and walked."Lin Quan is used to living abroad and he has no choice but to demand high living conditions."

That's how it is said, but the spoiling in the tone is very obvious.

Miriam laughed unconsciously, and the two of them entered the unit building one after the other.

The door upstairs was open. It seemed that someone would have expected someone to go home at this time. After entering the door to the southeast, he greeted Miriam to sit down, and then took the basket into the kitchen. After a while, Lin Quan came out of the kitchen and the two greeted him.

This is the second time they have met since the last time they were in the hospital. Lin Quan has basically not changed except for a more homely dress. Women who have integrated into the family life will always have a stronger scent of fireworks. On the other hand, Miriam is currently too pure-hearted.

When Tian Tian came out of the room, he hesitated for a long time with both hands on the edge of the door, her big eyes flashed twice, and she stared directly at Miriam.

“Don’t remember Aunt Miriam?”

Miriam revealed the prepared gift, and the little guy walked out in shattered steps, wrapped her hands around her waist, and shouted slimly: “Aunt Miriam.”

After Miriam and Tian Tian played for a while, they heard Lin Quan greet the direction of the living room to start the meal. At this time, Miriam, who smelled the scent of the food, felt hungry. After taking Tian Tian to wash her hands, she took the lead and took the seat. .

The atmosphere at the dinner table was harmonious. Miriam waited after the meal, took out a check from her bag and pushed it to Xiang Southeast, “This was borrowed from you last year. Now I will pay half of it first. I will try to pay the rest within half a year. .”

Seeing that the check was pushed in front of him by Xiang Dongnan, Miriam didn’t say what he wanted to refuse. Miriam interrupted as if he could see through his mind, “I’m very embarrassed after such a long delay. If anything else, I’ll leave immediately.”

Hearing this, Xiang Dongnan smiled helplessly, “I just accept it, and I don’t contact once a year, and I still say this when I contact.”

When Miriam saw him handing the check to the hand of Lin Quan next to him, his expression relaxed slightly, she lowered her head and pulled the broken hair behind her ears, and slowly let out a sigh of relief, “It’s hard to be in debt. You should be considerate of me. .”

It’s just a little ridicule, but it faintly feels that the atmosphere on the table has changed significantly after speaking.

Without inquiring into the reason, Miriam immediately provoked another topic when she saw this. She put her chin in one hand and looked at Lin Quan a little seriously, “I heard that you are now engaged in drug research. There is something to think about. Please do me a favor.”

Lin Quan didn't seem to mind what Miriam would ask for help. He put down the chopsticks in his hand while surprised, and his expression became a little serious, “Say it, why are you busy?”

Miriam listened, and took the opportunity to take out a paper towel from the bag next to it. The paper towel was opened, and a cream-colored pill was wrapped in the center.”I want you to help me research, what are the ingredients in this medicine and what is the cure? .”

Lin Quan didn't seem to understand her intention very well. As he reached out his hand to take the pill, he glanced towards the southeast with a little hesitation, then put the pill under his nose and smelled it, and agreed, “Okay, it's not difficult.”

Miriam was slightly grateful. Seeing that she turned around and took a small plastic box from the shelf on the side, and put the pills into the box, she said, “Thank you. Please call or text me when you find out if you have trouble. .”

After eating, I sat for a while, and it was dark when I got up to say goodbye. She got up to the southeast and took the key to go back from Miriam. She refused, “No, I want to go to the nearby supermarket.”

This was just an excuse. After she had finished speaking, she turned and went downstairs, and when she walked back along the dark and deep tree-lined path, she always felt that there was a figure following her in the darkness.

Chapter 374

Hospital emergency department.

The female doctor wearing reading glasses opened the curtain to Bryan after treating Bryan's wound. She took off her gloves and glanced at Miriam who was holding her chest while waiting.”The young couple quarreled and quarreled. There was no real action. The harm of spraying can be big or small. If it weren't for the timely treatment, the consequences would be hard to say...”

Miriam was originally pacing outside. After seeing the doctor came out before he had time to ask, he was blamed weirdly by Yin and Yang. When he was about to argue, he saw that the door curtain was opened again. Bryan came out from the inside while tying the buttons of his suit. .

“Thank you, doctor, I have nothing wrong with me, so I won't bother you to blame.” As he said, he stood next to Miriam naturally, obviously meant to protect his wife.

The doctor looked at him when he heard the sound, his original gloomy face suddenly brightened, smiled and patted his arm, "You guys really hurt people. If you didn't get married, I would definitely introduce my daughter to you."

Miriam wrapped her hands around her chest, watched this scene, and stepped out without saying a word.

Not long after Bryan caught up with him, his eyes were still red and swollen. Miriam listened to his footsteps and kept level with himself, and then said without emotion, "Did you talk to the doctor? The young couple quarreled?"

"I said you are a child's mother, isn't it a distortion of the facts? As for how others understand, I can't control it." Even Bryan himself didn't notice how soft and clear his face was when he said this.

Miriam's footsteps suddenly stopped, and she turned her head and looked unhappy about breaking through something, but after facing his expression that hadn't had time to converge, she was at a loss for a moment. She pursed her lips and finally said nothing.

He stared straight at his red and swollen eyes, suppressed the thought of reaching out and touching from the heart, turned his head and continued to take a step forward, "I haven't seen it for a year, but I don't know how to track people."

Bryan had no way to argue, and he didn't seem to have any plans to argue. He walked behind her until she exited the hospital gate before stopping people, "Let's talk."

His expression was serious, and his dim eyes fell under the street lamp, with unknowingly deep affection, as if he was about to swallow people in an instant.

Miriam avoided his sight, waved his hand and planned to walk away, but was stopped by him again not surprisingly.

After pondering for a moment, before speaking, I heard the man ask the first question: "Miriam, I heard you talked to Zhiheng about the cooperation case?"

You don't need to think too much about where you heard this "heard". Miriam didn't hesitate to break it through, "You know even a case that hasn't been negotiated. This is your purpose for letting Lin Shui drunk Song Bo. Right?"

Bryan directly avoided the deep meaning of her words and picked up the question more clearly, "You are looking for Zhiheng, is it because of their dispute with the Xun family?"

Miriam was silent for a while, replacing the answer with silence.

Had it not been for Zheng Yun's cross-cutting, her case had already been negotiated, and with the help of Zhiheng's power to deal with the Xun family, she would have a lot of chances of winning.

In the gap between her silence, Bryan's eyes gradually darkened. He sorted the broken hair from her temples behind his ears, and at the same time reminded him with no light or seriousness: "Xun's water is deeper than you think. No need to interfere."

Miriam quickly understood what he meant and looked up at him, "Are you investigating Xun Yang?"

Bryan was silent and did not deny, then raised his eyebrows slightly as if he had seized a rare opportunity, and his body leaned forward, "You want to know, you can talk to me about terms."

"No need." Miriam glanced at him coldly, then turned around and waved towards the empty car coming not far from the intersection.

The taxi stopped in front of her. Miriam opened the door and went up. It was not long before Bryan followed in and sat next to her and shouted to the driver: "Zhaohe Hotel."

On the way to the hotel, Miriam leaned on the car window and fell asleep in a daze. When she was unconscious, she felt Bryan holding her hand. The touch of her ten fingers was very clear. At that moment, there seemed to be a sense of touch. An unknown force grabbed her heart, and her heart twitched with pain.

Pretending to be sleepy, he turned around out of the window, and at the same time increased the strength of his palms.

Bryan was taken aback for a moment, and then moved his gaze away from the clasped hands, staring at the woman's unclear side face in the dim vision, and then smiled suddenly.

"Yeah, don't wake up, it's different when you wake up." He leaned his body on the back of the chair and whispered behind her ears.

Miriam slowly opened her eyes, and saw the scenery flying backwards outside the window in her dim vision. She always felt that the mood of leisure and ease always did not belong to her, at least not now.

Miriam hopes that Bryan can understand that in the relationship between the two of them, it is very hard for her to always play the role of rejection. The pain is so painful that sometimes the heart is so painful that she has to pretend to be calm. Look like.

Before the car arrived at Zhaohe Hotel, Miriam's eyes were all filled with breath, her expression was leisurely, her dark voice slowly shouted: "Bryan..."

Bryan's body stiffened, his half-closed eyes suddenly opened, still recalling Miriam's whispering "Bryan".

One year later, when I heard her such a gentle and intricate address again, there was an illusion of a world away.

After a long while, she retrieved her voice and gave a soft “um”, and in the next second she turned her face, and leaned in and kissed it almost without any hesitation.

The thin lips were covered, wrapped in cold desire, intertwining all the grievances and anxiety in Miriam’s heart.

Bryan hesitated at this moment.

When she wanted to deepen the kiss to another uncontrollable situation, he suddenly stretched out his hand and pushed her away, with an inaudible shock and forbearance in his eyes.

“Miriam...” He whispered her name, and watched the dampness fill her eyes again before finally enduring everything else he had to say.

The car body slowly stopped, and the driver also followed in silence, unable to bear to break this picture.

Not long after, Miriam chuckled her lips and opened her mouth with a smile, or reminded, “Look at Bryan, who among us is harder?”

He understood it suddenly, his eyes dimmed, his Adam’s apple moved up and down, his voice was dull: “Sorry, Miriam...”

In fact, even he felt that now is not the best time. She and her child were hurt a year ago. In the final analysis, it was because of his enemies that Shang Rui and Qi Yun were eyeing him. Now his promise has not been achieved. Some things are not done yet.

It is precisely because of Miriam’s repeated indifference and resistance that he can do things close to her with peace of mind, but once the attitude between the two people changes, this balance will be broken.

When faced with Miriam’s active approach, Bryan suddenly became sober, and the obstacle that lay between them was never love itself.

Her unwilling refusal is harder than her own request.

Miriam smiled pale, did not say anything, just pushed the door to get out of the car, and saw Lin Shui and Song Bo standing side by side at the hotel entrance, both with a stunned expression.

Miriam glanced at the two with an indifferent expression, and moved away without stopping. Soon Song Bo followed, bowing his head and confessing his mistake and said, “Director, I know I was wrong...”

Miriam kept walking for a while, as if he was afraid of being overtaken by someone, until the elevator door was closed, he calmed down a bit, and then glanced at the people around him, “Go back and practice your drinking. If you are drunk, you will throw everything out. Sooner or later, you will suffer a lot.”

She didn't blame much, Song Bo breathed a sigh of relief, and hesitated again and again after responding, “But Director, this time it's not without gain. I heard Assistant Lin call Manager Shao and mentioned something about me. I think you will be interested.”

“What's the matter?” Miriam looked sideways, her expression serious.

“About Xun's chief Xun, he thought I was fainted, so he was not afraid.”

“...”