

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 383– 384

Chapter 383

At the dinner table, Xun Yang waited for Bryan to leave and lit the cigarette silently, his eyes gradually darkened in the cloud and mist. The assistants around him saw his thoughts clearly and took the lead in analyzing: “This assistant of Mr. Shao, look at his body. The outline looks like a waiter who came to the private room to deliver wine that day.”

Xun Yang returned to his thoughts, remembering the back that he saw at the door of the bathroom that day, hiding in the women’s bathroom, and he became more confident: “There is no need to check City Two, just keep an eye on Bryan.”

Hearing the assistant’s deep voice, he extinguished the smoke in his hand and got up and left neatly.

Miriam specially drove the plane to Kyoto in the early morning. After landing, he chartered a car to the downstairs of Zhiheng Building, handed out the business card, and confirmed the message with the front desk, “Yingxin Technology, Miriam, I have made an appointment before.”

The lady at the front desk inquired about the appointment record, and then called to communicate the situation, and then apologized to Miriam: “Sorry, Miss Lu, our manager Huang is not in the company today. You should come back another day.”

Miriam stared coldly, and looked back across the gate and landed in the parking lot not far away, “I saw your CEO Huang’s car is still downstairs. If it is not convenient to see me now, then I will wait a while.”

After that, he nodded slightly, raised his foot and said in a deep voice before walking towards the sofa in the waiting area: “Thank you, please give me a glass of warm water.”

“Hey, Miss Lu...” The lady at the front desk deliberately reached out to stop him, but unexpectedly Miriam looked completely unaffected and had to give up.

Miriam waited for a whole day. Most of the time sitting on the sofa was turning on the computer to do work. It was not much different from her state at the company. The front desk lady quietly observed her for a long time, but she didn’t expect anyone else to do so. Anxious look.

Before leaving get off work in the evening, I finally saw a middle-aged, slightly blessed man stepping down from the elevator. Miriam took care of his things and stopped him when he was about to step out the door.

“Mr. Huang, hello, Yingxin Technology, Miriam.” Miriam’s expression was warm and clear, and she stretched out a hand to maintain basic etiquette.

When Mr. Huang was stopped by Miriam, he was slightly surprised. After seeing the person and hearing her self-report, his expression instantly collapsed. He snorted displeasably while ignoring the hand she extended. , Stepped further out.

Miriam withdrew her hand in a little embarrassment. This situation was considered to be her expectation, so she did not hesitate for a moment and quickly chased up, "Mr. Huang, I hope I can talk to you."

Mr. Huang walked quickly towards the parking lot. After being stopped by Miriam twice in a row, his expression became dignified. He stared at her with sullen expression, "I'm sorry, Miss Lu, I want to last time." We talked very clearly that Zhiheng currently has no plans to cooperate with your company."

Seeing that people were about to get in the car and leave, Miriam had to stop the car door alone, and took out Xun Yang's personal mobile phone from his pocket. Turning on the screen was a picture of a man's narcissistic face.

Recognizing the person on the screen photo, Mr. Huang was swallowed back when he was about to have another attack, and he stopped reaching for the doorknob. He turned his head to look at Shang Miriam's eyes, a bit shocked, but also immersed in the thick. Strong curiosity.

Miriam put the phone back in her bag, and said in a deep voice: "I know Mr. Huang is very busy at work and time is precious, but I still hope to enjoy his face. Let me buy you a cup of coffee to promise it will not be too long."

President Huang pondered for a moment, and finally opened the car door and sat in, then rushed to Miriam outside the door and said, "Come in."

Not long after, the two sat down in a coffee shop on the top floor of a shopping building. When Mr. Huang saw the waiter brought the coffee up, he took away Miriam's gaze and fell on the cup in front of him.

Thinking deeply, there seemed to be some concerns.

Miriam saw through his jealousy, and quietly stirred the coffee cup in front of him with one hand, and said in a serious manner: "I talked about cooperation with Zhi Heng before, and there was a small misunderstanding in the middle, but it is my work anyway. It's reasonable for you not to see me."

Miriam's expression was elegant, and he was not eager to seek success. Huang's expression finally eased when he saw this, but his emotions were still not clear."That's right, since you also admitted that it was your dereliction of duty. There is no favor. If you do something wrong, you should pay the corresponding price. If you are still obsessed with the case of cooperating with Zhiheng, then I advise you to give up as soon as possible."

Miriam smiled lightly, took a sip of coffee, "Cooperation can be negotiated, and my work bonus in the second half of the year will be a considerable figure. This is one of the reasons why I strive for it, but apart from this..."

She paused and pushed a U disk in front of him, "There is another more important reason, that is, I have a common interest relationship with Mr. Huang."

"I don't really understand what Miss Lu meant." The man who said this frowned slightly, and subconsciously squeezed the U disk in his hand, his expression more serious.

Miriam simply opened up the topic, "Actually, the main purpose of my visit to Mr. Huang today is not to discuss cooperation. I just have some important information I want to disclose to you. The lawsuit between Zhiheng Jewelry and Xun's is raging. Evidence sufficient for Zhiheng to defeat Xun's."

Mr. Huang was a little shocked when he heard this, and he couldn't believe it more, but he still held the USB flash drive firmly in his hand, "Why are you..."

According to the current progress, due to the lack of evidence, Zhiheng was beaten down by Xun's. The case of accusing plagiarism and infringement has almost no chance to turn around. If the court finally verifies that their infringement is established, they will not only face huge compensation, but also a hundred years of Zhiheng. The traditional reputation of the old store is no small blow.

After weighing it, he finally did not question Miriam's motives, but tentatively asked.

Miriam didn't conceal anything when he saw it, and said frankly: "I did this naturally not just for you, Mr. Huang, because I had a feast with the Xun family. Helping you is equivalent to helping myself."

In this case, Mr. Huang can be more or less relieved that everyone is an egoist, and it is impossible to help others for no reason. Even because he always admires people with a strong purpose in doing things, he has made a little change in Miriam.

When Miriam understood what he had said, he didn't mean to stay any longer. He raised his wrist and glanced at the time, then stood up and nodded slightly apologetically: "Because I have to return to City Two, I won't bother you much. This can be regarded as an apologize to President Huang, I hope you can accept it."

Seeing that people really just got up and walked away, without any hesitation, Mr. Huang finally got up and stopped her: "If Zhiheng can really win this lawsuit because of Miss Lu's help, then I Will reconsider the cooperation with Yingxin."

Miriam nodded slightly when she heard the sound, her expression did not change much, and she even faintly replied: "Don't force it."

After that, he turned his face and looked at the man. He seemed to hesitate for a while before he reminded: "I think Mr. Huang should pay more attention to the people close to him. The leakage of Zhiheng's design draft information is not necessarily the fault of the design department. .”

After speaking, he didn't stay longer, and left with a small smile.

After coming out of the coffee shop, Miriam didn't leave directly, but took the elevator to go downstairs.

When Mr. Huang asked him to drive here, Miriam was still in a daze. At this time, the ghost walked in the direction of the jewelry store in his memory. Every step he took, he felt that the ups and downs in his heart would crush her.

The memories carried here, many nights over the year, will be accompanied by the quiet wind blowing into her dreams. After waking up, the melancholy and disappointment will fill her chest, squeezing her through those The unbearable pressure and shackles were just to be able to stand by his side with a firmer posture as soon as possible.

In a daze, he stopped in front of the familiar and unfamiliar store.

In the dizzying sight, I saw a pair of young men and women holding hands while choosing a ring or something, and then their eyes closed slightly, as if they saw a familiar figure.

Certain emotions in my heart collapsed suddenly.

Chapter 384

Bryan looked up and saw Miriam.

The two looked at each other at a long distance, and they almost stood as sculptures for a long time.

My heart is flustered and silent.

Miriam tolerated the dampness in her eyes, and the next second it spread uncontrollably. At this time, her nose was sour, and her feet were numb when she wanted to go.

She thought, if she hadn't had the life-long encounter that she had been destined for earlier, she would probably not be able to hide from Bryan in her fate. She looked at each other without warning just like today, if he walked over to her at this time and said something to her. She will have no ability to resist.

But he just didn't.

The woman standing next to him seemed to be aware of something. The line of sight that was originally staring at the glass window slowly moved up, and then followed Bryan's gaze to see Miriam standing outside the door.

His face was instantly covered by unstoppable shock, his mouth opened slightly, and finally he said nothing.

It took Miriam some time to barely calm down, her expression returned to her usual indifference, and she turned and raised her foot to leave.

She strode very far, as if she was afraid that he would catch up to explain something, but after another thought, it was inevitable that he would catch up.

Sure enough, there was a calm force behind her that soon pulled her back, and she was about to move towards the escalator. She looked back and met the seldom flustered under his eyes, and her heart suddenly hurt.

“Miriam, listen to my explanation.” He squeezed her wrist forcefully with one hand. He lost his feet for a while and caught her aching.

Not long after Tao Waner's pace also hurriedly followed, she pinched the hem of her clothes with her hands, and explained in a bewilderment: “Don't get me wrong, Brother Chen said that I wanted to come and have a look, so I followed. He didn't want to take me. I followed it myself.”

Tao Waner's cheeks were reddened, and she glanced at Bryan's expression from time to time while explaining, for fear that what he said was wrong, making him doubt his own intentions, and at the same time, his heart was uncontrollably sinking and floating with some selfishness.

Miriam turned her wrist slightly, and finally broke free of Bryan's shackles, raised her eyes and stared at him shallowly, and tolerated the emotions in her heart, “Bryan, you don't need to explain anything to me. First, there is no need for this, second... ..”

She paused and glanced at Tao Waner, “Secondly, I never doubted you.”

She was not confident enough that Bryan would never like others after leaving her for a year, but she knew Bryan, if she had other thoughts, she would not have pretended to be so affectionate.

Bryan was taken aback for a moment, Miriam's words made him a little confused for a while, and Tao Waner was also at a loss.

She didn't expect Miriam to be angry, but she didn't expect that she would react like this.

Composure and desertedness, almost shielded all the jealousy and suspicion that a woman should be born with. I don't know if she is too rational or too confident in Bryan's feelings.

But no matter which reason it was, Tao Waner received a heavy blow in his heart. In comparison, the difference in rank between the two of them was really quite different.

I don't know what was in my mind at that moment, but at the moment when Miriam turned around and continued to move towards the escalator, he reached out to fish, grabbed her sleeve with one hand, trying to explain something, saying "Don't go now." As soon as he said it, his body was staggered by the force, and he knelt down with a thump in his legs.

When Miriam reacted, she had already led her to kneel on the ground. She looked back and saw that the knees of the woman's legs were marked with two bright red holes by the steps of the escalator. The blood oozes out and is soaked with strange things. Lines.

She had no time to think, so she could only climb up the escalator again. At this time, Bryan also reacted and squatted down to check Tao Wan'er's condition. At this time, her lips were so painful that her forehead was soaked with fine sweat. , The body also moved closer to his words.

The warm breath that belongs to the man alone made Tao Wan'er intoxicated and unable to extricate himself. At this time, the pain in his heart was obviously worse than the pain in the body.

Reflecting what he was doing, surprise and contempt simultaneously pinched him, and at the same time infinite grievances rose to the top of his heart.

Before that, she had never thought that she would do such a thing for a man. She didn't know how to face it, so she simply closed her eyes and leaned in his arms and pretended to fall asleep.

Miriam saw the injury on Tao Wan'er's leg. Seeing that Bryan had picked her up, she turned around and ran to the elevator on the side. When she got down to the first floor from the elevator, she hurried out of the door. Go, "I'll call a car."

Miriam stopped the taxi. At this time, Bryan also hugged him. He stuffed Tao Wan'er into the back seat of the car. Then he got up and grabbed Miriam, who was opening the door to get in the co-pilot, "Sit back. And take care of her."

As he said, he squeezed into the passenger seat first and closed the door with a cold expression.

Miriam was inexplicably stunned by the loud slamming of the door, but she turned around and folded into the back seat of the car without arguing.

When he arrived at the hospital, Tao Wan'er was pushed by the nurse to treat the wound. Miriam and Bryan in the remaining corridor looked solemn.

Bryan leaned against the wall of the corridor, with a gloomy and unidentified aura floating in his eyes. Miriam had originally thought that this disaster had come inexplicably, but at this time he still had to look at Bryan's face, and it was holding a wicked fire.

She paced back and forth for two steps, and finally couldn't hold back. She put her arms around her chest and confronted the man: "I said Bryan, you don't suspect that I hurt her on purpose?"

After hearing the sound, Bryan glanced at her calmly, and replied with her previous response: "First, it is not necessary; second, I will not doubt you."

Miriam was speechless for a while, "Then what is your expression?"

Bryan pondered for a moment, not knowing how to explain to Miriam. The reason for his depression was only because Miriam had been paying attention to Tao Waner's injuries from beginning to end. Seeing him holding people in his arms, he didn't mean to be jealous at all. .

After thinking about it, I felt that it would be a bit of a loss of identity to say such a thing, so I simply did not say anything, half leaning against the wall and looking at the woman who was also leaning on the opposite side, "What are you doing in Kyoto again?"

Miriam narrowed her eyes, "I shouldn't need to report to you about work matters?"

Bryan seemed to see through her mind at a glance, "Did you look for Zhiheng? You took Xun Yang's mobile phone, and the contents in it had better not be moved."

"I've already given everything to President Huang." Miriam frankly, without hiding anything, saw that Bryan's expression was slightly stagnant, she did not notice that she raised her eyebrows, "Is there any problem?"

The man narrowed his eyes and said in a deep voice, "The problem is not big, but I told you that you don't need to intervene in this matter."

Miriam faintly displeased, and glanced at Bryan, "I asked President Huang not only to avenge Xun Yang, but also because this is my job. If Zhiheng's case can be won, my debt will be before the end of the year. It can be paid off. In addition to the money borrowed for my dad before, there is also a large bank loan. I don't have a big cause for everyone, and my family depends on me..."

After a pause, her expression became more clear, "As for Xun Yang, I can see what you are planning. If you can give a reasonable reason, I may not refuse to listen to you."

Bryan was silent for a while, and his eyes fell down. In the end, he didn't explain anything. Miriam didn't have the desire to explore when he saw it. He just laughed quickly, "Bryan, if you always protect the people around you, no one can follow. If you stand shoulder to shoulder, you will feel tired like that?"

She thought that their previous relationship was like this.

As he stared at each other, some emotions flashed under the man's eyes that he had never had before. Such emotions made Miriam feel full of distress.

She didn't control herself at that moment, letting her will drive her to walk to him, raised her head and kissed his lips.

At this time, Tao Waner just finished treating the wound and was pushed out by the nurse. Seeing this not a glamorous scene, his heart suddenly seemed to sink to the bottom of the sea.