

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 487– 488

Chapter 487

After everyone took out the prepared gifts, Miriam, who was still in shock, had to ask for help from Bryan, who was calm and calm.

Seeing the man drinking sake, he replied slowly: “Your birthday is next week. It happened to conflict with Tao Waner’s engagement, so you passed it earlier.”

Miriam was stunned for a second, then a little bit dumbfounded, “Then you have to tell me in advance, right?”

“Some people say that it will be better if you don’t tell you the surprise.” Bryan drank the wine while looking at the opposite Miller.

As soon as this was said, everyone on the scene turned their eyes on Miller again, thinking that no one but him could give Bryan such an idea.

He laughed out loud, and accepted the gifts one by one, thanking everyone, “Unexpectedly, there are surprises.”

After receiving the gifts, Xiao Miao still noticed the clues. She stared at the fluffy mobile phone pendant in Miriam’s hand, smashed her mouth, “Xiao Miao has given gifts to Aunt Miriam, why is Uncle Bryan No indication?”

Miriam played with the pendant for a while, followed Xiao Miao’s words and looked at Bryan, as if he curled his eyebrows and thought for a while before attacking, “Yes, Xiao Miao made sense.”

Speaking of it, she thought that everyone would make a fuss together. Unexpectedly, everyone present had a weird expression. In the end, Miller motioned over with one eye, “I heard my sister-in-law likes to eat Japanese food?”

The question was endless and endless, making Miriam dazed, and she looked around, only to find that everyone was looking at her with a smile.

Bryan saw that he couldn’t hide it from this group of people sooner or later, so he took out a contract from behind and put it in front of Miriam, and said, “Happy birthday.”

His expression was calm and calm. Miriam thought to himself whether it was a personnel insurance. After opening it, he realized it. He closed the contract abruptly, then looked up and looked around, “Are you serious?”

Looking around, it is a bit unbelievable.

“Mom said that you want to open a Japanese food store before you graduate. I think it’s a good idea.” He casually sipped the remaining sake in his glass, then glanced at Miller, “He manages the decoration of the lot, you If you are not satisfied, just say it, we can refuse to pay the balance.”

There was a bit of ridicule in the words, which should have been lively, but Miriam couldn’t laugh when staring at the contract in her hand. She kept thinking about how much effort Bryan had made silently behind her. At that time, she had escaped from the dragon and seemed to be doing nothing every day. In fact, she had already made a plan in her heart.

Later, everyone ate the cake together. On the way to the end, Miriam and Bryan walked on the street holding hands. She raised her head and exhaled a breath of warmth. She was still reminiscing about the intimacy of the cashier girl at the front desk when she was just leaving the house. .

Thinking about it, he couldn’t help but grinned out of his lips.

Then he frowned again and asked Bryan, “What if the business in the store is not good?”

“It doesn’t matter if it’s not good, we still have You Mao, who can feed you and your children.”

The man looked calm and answered very calmly, and then he said: “At that time, I thought, in case Youmao does not develop well, we still have a store. You can still be a boss, let us live the most ordinary life together. It’s good too.”

Miriam couldn’t help thinking, it was good, but he felt that something was wrong, and suddenly stopped and looked up at him, “Bryan, you are born with this talent, but setbacks and failures in life are inevitable. , No matter what, I’m on your side, so...”

She said while tidying the collar of his long trench coat, and when everything was compliant, she opened her arms to embrace his neck, tiptoe to his ear and whispered, “So, just do it. What you think is right, I believe in your judgment and my husband’s ability.”

Many nights, when Miriam wakes up in her sleep, she can see her husband’s tired eyes through the neon lights of the windowsill. As a pillow, she knows that Bryan’s success is not as costly as outsiders speculate. The power of blowing dust.

And her words and the cool breeze of the early spring night suddenly blew into the man’s heart, as if instantly swept away the haze in his heart.

The husband and wife here are very affectionate. After the other side, Shelly led Xiao Miao out. When he was waiting for the bus on the roadside, he met Miller and asked the car to drive on the side of the road.

The man sat in the back seat of the car, raised his hand slightly, and the driver understood the instruction, and then watched him open the door and stretched out his hand in the direction of the door to signal, "Get in the car, I will let the driver see you."

Shelly was just raising his wrist to check the time. After lowering his arm, he saw that the person had come down, still with a serious expression on his face. She only glanced at him lightly, then pulled Xiao Miao towards the street, "No need, I'll be picked up."

According to taking care of Zheng's past temperament, he would not stop being uninterested at this time. Shellyshun took a look through the car window and secretly thought that it was the mistress in the car, but she didn't. Fa hates women who are wise and reasonable, so he is polite.

Sure enough, she saw Miss Bao poking her head out of the car window and greeted Xiao Miao with a smile, "Miao Miao, get in the car with your mom, and Uncle Miller will take you back."

Xiao Miao is very good at seeing Shelly's face, and she smiles and shows her leaky teeth, "No need Aunt Bao, Mommy will pick it up if she has an uncle..."

After speaking, he pretended to look at Miller, then lowered his tone mysteriously, "Uncle more handsome than Uncle Miller."

Miller chuckled softly when he heard the words, and kept holding Xiao Miao's fleshy face with his hands, "Unscrupulous little guy, there are a few people around your mom who are more handsome than me, why don't I know?"

Miller also knows Shelly, knows her arrogant temperament, and never pays attention to appearance when looking at men.

But as soon as the voice fell, a silver-gray car pulled over and parked behind him.

When the car door opened, Xiao Miao saw the man getting out of the driver's seat, her eyes brightened, and the next second she threw herself into the arms of the person who came and yelled, "Uncle Mu."

After speaking, he raised his head and raised his nose to challenge Miller, "Uncle Mu is more handsome than Uncle Miller, this is what Mommy said."

After the words fell, the eyes of the two men couldn't help falling on Shelly's body, as if each wanted to confirm something.

In the end, Mu Ming took the lead in reaching out to lift Xiao Miao up, hugged him, and took out a box of beautifully packaged biscuits through the window glass, "It's not in vain that Uncle Fei Mu bought your favorite biscuits specially for you. ."

Seeing the little guy laughing happily, he put the person down, and then opened the back seat door. The little girl got in by herself and waved to Shelly, who was calmly watching everything on the side of the road, "Mummy, come in."

The expression on Miller's face changed slightly inaudibly, but the smile was still frozen, except for a bit stiff, no other abnormalities could be seen.

On the side, if Mu Ming was unaware of everything, he just opened the co-pilot door very familiarly, and hurriedly said "Get in the car", and then walked around to the driver's seat. During the period, he was very peaceful and casual, as if he had never worried about anything. One opponent will refuse.

Shelly was stunned for a moment, and as expected he stepped forward until he fastened his seat belt after getting in the car, during which he didn't have a word of kindness.

When the engine started slowly, Xiao Miao happily ate the biscuits and greeted Miss Bao in the car window, "Aunt Xiao Bao, Mommy and I are leaving first..."

As the car went far, Miller narrowed his eyes, turned his head and opened the car door to enter.

Miss Bao seemed to have not noticed anything. She still took the man's arm and leaned half of her body against him. She closed her eyes all the way and whispered, "My dad said I will find a time for the parents to meet, but I think it's a bit It's early, what do you think?"

The man raised his head and looked out of the window, a gap in the window was constantly pouring in cold wind, blowing the ends of his hair. With a soft smile on his face, he turned his head and gently kissed the forehead of the woman in his arms, and responded: "I listen to you."

Chapter 488

As soon as Monday's morning meeting ended, someone knocked on the door of Miriam's office. He was a new employee who had just joined the company last week. He stood at the door holding a stack of documents in both hands and pointed out the door very anxiously, "Director Miriam, Someone is coming and it looks like a quarrel at the door."

It was only after Miriam passed that it was discovered that one of the disputes was Xiao Wan, who had just joined the job two days ago, and Miriam's so-called younger brother and sister.

And the other was a little bit beyond Miriam's expectations.

The last time I saw her, she still looked tired of running around. Compared to the present, for Miriam, this woman in a professional suit and capable aura is really a long time away.

Seeing clearly from a distance of a few meters, he stretched out his hand to stop the hurried person next to him, and faintly ordered: "No need to go."

After that, I stood there, looking down and watching quietly, waiting for a good show. The new employee scratched his head because of unknownness, but didn't dare to say anything, so he looked at it together behind Miriam.

At this time, Zheng Yun obviously had no patience. He patted the handbag on the front desk with a "pop" and looked up and down the slender woman in front of him. "The front desk is the facade of the company. Make-up at the front desk for breakfast?"

When speaking, his hands were naturally folded on his chest, and the domineering and arrogant aura was no different from before.

Xiao Wan seemed to be a little shocked. He still held the half-melted lipstick in his hand. After blinking his eyes twice, he looked at the visitor and muttered, "Who do you think you are?"

While talking, he raised his eyes to observe the people coming, and put the lipstick on the bag in a calm manner.

"Who hired you to come in?" Zheng Yun looked down and picked up the registration form at the front desk. He stared at the large and crooked characters on the page, and put it aside with disdain, "You Mao is a regular high-tech product company. , You don't need to dress like this to attract customers. And this word..."

After a pause, she licked her lips and glanced at several revised typos in the remarks column of the register, and asked bluntly: "What degree are you?"

These words finally hit the other party's sore spot, and the woman who always seemed to be gentle finally stood up, holding her eyes aggrieved and angry, and raised her chin in response to her: "What education do I have and what do you have? Relationship? I just sat here by my own ability. Our leaders didn't say anything. Why are you making any sense?"

As she said, she took the register off the counter, buckled it on the table very aggrievedly, and added fiercely: "This lady, if you are here to find someone, please make an appointment to register according to the regulations. If you are here, The troublemaker, please leave immediately, otherwise I will call the security!"

Having said that, I already picked up the phone at hand and was about to dial the number.

Zheng Yun cut off her phone with one hand when he saw her, and when he looked at her, his eyes softened a little, as if he couldn't bear it. Finally, he extended his other hand to her, "Give me the registration form."

When she held the registration form in her hand again, she took out the pen she used to use from her bag, and drew out the cap to sign her name.

The pen is unrestrained and unrestrained, showing a kind of domineering that matches her character.

Xiao Wannane looked at her words, and felt a tight throat.

After completing the registration, Zheng Yun turned the registration form around and handed it to her again, "I'm looking for Miriam."

Speaking directly to Miriam's name, the little girl standing behind Miriam couldn't help but look up at her superintendent's expression, but when she saw her mouth was still filled with a smile that seemed like nothing, she seemed to be I am generally complacent when I have captured the desired information in the situation just now.

After putting the pen back in the bag, Zheng Yun still commented pertinently and indifferently: "With your qualifications, you can't do this job. If you came in by your relationship, I'm sorry to inform you. , Prepare a new resume as soon as possible."

While the woman was still stunned in front of her, she had already turned her own bag and went straight to the gate entrance. After walking two steps, she looked up and met Miriam, who had a cold expression. She understood without thinking about it. She smiled and asked her, "Is the play good?"

Miriam buried her head and chuckled, avoiding her question, and then reached out and gestured in the direction of the office, "Go in and talk again."

When the two walked into the office one after the other, the group of people who had pretended to be busy outside the door became alive. Someone caught the new employee who was just behind Miriam and asked, "Who is that person? and Our director relationship seems to be good, is Xiao Wan going to be unlucky?"

The big-eyed female employee blinked her eyes extremely innocently, then glanced at Xiao Wan who was stunned at the front desk, "I don't know, but I heard that Xiao Wan is a family member of Director Miriam, so maybe she won't."

Whether it will be, outsiders don't know, only Miriam knows it in her heart.

Zheng Yun followed Miriam and entered the door. As soon as the door was closed, she unceremoniously judged, "If you, You Mao, invite such qualified employees to be the front door, then I think it is necessary to reconsider my decision."

She sat down in Miriam's gesture, leaning against the back of the soft leather chair with a serious expression on her face.

Miriam was rather embarrassed, pursing her lips and confessed, "Xiao Wan is a distant relative of my family."

This acknowledgment made Zheng Yun even more apprehensive. He had to get up with the bag. Fortunately, Miriam was the first to see through, and stretched out his hand to press the person down. "Don't worry, I won't make fun of You Mao's future."

Originally, she was only placed at the front desk for observation. Even if there was no such thing as today, Miriam had already made other arrangements.

After Miriam finished talking, and then turned to ask her opinion, Zheng Yun nodded thoughtfully and agreed: "I had already got the offer from Zhiyuan before I came, and decided to give up after thinking about it. I will guarantee my work strength, but I hope You Mao will not let me down."

At the initial stage of You Mao's birth, it was natural for Miriam to invite someone like Zheng Yun with rich experience.

In the afternoon that day, the curiosity of the company's people who eat melons was satisfied, the new personnel were mobilized, and Xiao Wan was re-arranged to the warehouse in the south of the city to be a warehouse inventory.

This job sounded less respectable than the front desk, and occasionally had to do physical work. After the notice, Xiao Wan knocked on the door and entered Miriam's office with aggrieved expression, "The south of the city is far from home, can I not go?"

Miriam was busy sorting out the materials at the time. He didn't raise his head when he heard the words, and only faintly replied "No."

There was no other explanation. She just waited for someone to retire when they found it difficult. She didn't want to let the other party know that even the position of the warehouse manager was that she had sold her face and asked Kristy to vouch for it, and then vice president Huo reluctantly agreed. of.

Xiao Wan gritted his teeth and stood at the door for a while, and then saw that there was no hope, so he turned around and planned to go out. Unexpectedly, the moment he wanted to open the door, he faced a broad chest in front of him, raised his gaze in a panic, and recognized that the person here was the one in the guess.

Except for Vice President Huo, who doesn't come to this department often, Bryan wears such a well-cut handmade suit, and every stitch is impeccable.

He narrowed his gaze in panic again, hurriedly yelled "Manager Shao", pushed the door and ran away.

Hearing Xiao Wan calling Mr. Shao, Miriam had time to look up. Just seeing Bryan looking back at the distant figure, he briefly said the whole thing during the period. When he looked up at him, he couldn't help but shook his head. "The two old men appointed to call my mother at night."

Bryan buried his head in listening, and then looked at her with a chuckle, "That's why you gave her to Lao Huo. This is also a good idea."

I waited until she had almost finished sorting out the things on hand, and then proceeded to the next topic, "My mother called for the engagement banquet on the weekend, meaning that since I am going to Jincheng, I will stay one day in advance and want to ask you. meaning."

When Shao's mother called this call, Bryan originally refused directly, but the old man snorted, "If you don't ask Miriam's opinion, I will call her personally. If she doesn't agree to come over, this will be the case. When I didn't ask."

It is very good at taking people seven inches.

Bryan had no choice but to come over and ask Miriam. After the topic was clear, he comforted her, "Just forget it if you feel embarrassed. Getting along with her elderly is not something to look forward to."

Miriam listened, just seeing the bright bracelet on her wrist, she straightened up, "Go, of course I'm going."