

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 547– 548

Chapter 547

When Assistant Mu Ming's call passed, Longteng's senior project planning seminar was proceeding to the most critical moment.

During the short project integration time, the meeting room was silent. Lin Shui, who was sitting in the last row, was doing the minutes of the meeting. The mobile phone next to the computer was lit several times. He twisted his eyebrows, and finally got up and paced quietly. Arrived outside the conference room.

When I opened the door again, my steps were gone.

The sound of "Kang Dang" made the crowd frowned and looked over, and Bryan also looked up and glanced in the direction of the entrance of the conference room.

Seeing the hesitation and worry in the eyes of the man who has always been serious, he unconsciously condensed his eyebrows, lowered his voice and asked, "What's wrong?"

When Lin Shui came to his ear and explained the matter clearly, if he carefully observed Mr. Shao's face in the conference room, he could see that his eyes lit up with a thick fire almost instantly.

Then he heard a "clang", and the man stood up.

It took a moment to sort out his thoughts, but in the end he forgot to ask anything, grabbed the suit jacket on the seat behind him, and strode out.

There was an instant noisy in the originally quiet conference room.

"Today's meeting is here for the time being. Directors will reintegrate the plans in your hands, and we will notify you of the new meeting time later."

Lin Shui hurriedly cleaned up the things on the table, and quickly chased it out.

When I came to the hospital, I saw two old people guarding outside the operating room, and the man who had been silent against the corridor wall.

His body was still stained with a faint blood stain, and the high-definition suit clasped in his hand had several large dazzling blood red patches.

In the promenade, the footsteps of the man approaching were very clear, one after another, as if knocking on the hearts of everyone.

After complaining to each other, the two elderly people who were immersed in their own thoughts raised their heads one after another. Mother Lu's eyes were blood red from crying, and Mother Shao's frowned eyebrows were filled with deep anxiety and worry.

"Xiao Shao, what can we do, Miriam..."

Mother Lu, who was the first to get up, firmly clenched Bryan's hem with both hands, and when she spoke, her voice was trembling and hoarse.

After hearing this, Mother Shao looked up, squeezing her face and complaining angrily, "I know that crying, crying can solve the problem? If it wasn't for your old lady who had nothing to do and had to follow along, how could something happen to Miriam?"

Mother Lu was so wronged, the hand holding Bryan's clothes couldn't help trembling, "It's your Mo family who hurt her, it's your unbelievable younger brother and sister!"

When the two old people quarreled, Bryan's suppressed emotions were slowly driven into desperation. His expression quickly condensed to the extreme, and the cold light from his eyes almost made people ice-blocked.

Mother Lu noticed that she took the lead in stopping the conversation, and then slowly stopped her mouth.

Mother Shao sat on the iron bench and waved her hand. She planned to say something more, but after seeing Bryan's face, she silently swallowed everything.

The man stared at him and asked coldly, "Where is Zhu Shaoquan?"

At the moment he called his name directly, it was the aunt who caused trouble.

He asked, looking in the direction of Mu Ming.

Hearing this, the man slowly raised his drooping gaze, and after a brief glance at the visitor, he pointed in the direction of the elevator entrance next to him, "In the car, do you want to greet you?"

The two men raised their feet one after another and walked towards the end of the other side of the corridor.

Before he stepped out, Bryan was patient, his hands gently clasped Mother Lu's shoulders, and his eyes looked firmly, "It doesn't matter if this child is gone, I still love her, and I will treat her better."

In fact, when she said this, Mother Lu's wet eyes looked over, and she clearly saw the tears in Bryan's eyes.

This child has a different meaning to Bryan.

He felt the joy of becoming a father from the very beginning, and even learned the news earlier than Miriam. When taking care of this little life with her, he was always worried, expectant and happy.

But naturally, what he is saying now comes from true feelings.

After hearing Bryan's words, Mother Lu's eyes burst into tears, and she nodded and sighed and said "Okay", "Okay, okay, okay, having you, a good son-in-law, is my mother's greatest relief."

Then she stepped out to treat others. She looked back at Mother Shao, who was sitting in a daze in the chair. She had no interest in arguing with her anymore, so she moved aside and sat in the position farthest from her. .

Silently gritted his teeth and looked up at the huge red letter on the door of the operating room, tears rolled down.

Mother Shao quietly glanced over her eyes, and finally couldn't help but slap her thighs and stood up, "Okay, don't cry! The doctor hasn't come out yet, you're just crying here."

Mother Lu was wronged and didn't want to provoke the old woman, but she couldn't help crying, so she buried her face in her palm and sobbed.

While sobbing, he said in a buzzing voice: "Miriam is not your daughter. Of course you don't feel bad. If it wasn't for this little grandson in your stomach, you would still be arguing with us..."

"Why isn't it my daughter?"

Mother Shao's voice appeared to be much crisper than Mother Lu, but her eyes were slightly red at this time, "She has obtained the certificate from Bryan, so isn't it my daughter?"

She knew very well in her heart that Miriam's accident was the same as Lu Mu's car accident, and she could not shirk her responsibility.

In addition to this daughter-in-law, there is more guilt in his heart, and the little grandson who doesn't know if he can keep it.

So after the roar, she calmed down slowly, moved two steps to sit down next to Mother Lu, and muttered quietly, "As long as Miriam is okay, the little grandson will have a chance to be able to hold her. When the child is discharged, she will I don't gossip about things with Bryan."

After a pause, he promised, "Regardless of whether the children can be kept, I will not object to their marriage. You can rest assured of this."

After hearing what Shao's mother said, Lu's choke paused slightly.

It was surprising that she could hear such words from this old woman in her lifetime.

The original worry also had this level of meaning. Originally, Shao's mother couldn't wait for the wedding ceremony because of this little grandson.

Everyone understands this.

So after reacting, she rounded her eyes and turned her head and asked her: "You mean it?"

Although Mother Shao still felt a little awkward in her heart, she nodded her head and promised, "Really."

After fighting with the Lu family for so long, I met Sophia, Qi Yun and even Tao Wan'er during the period, and then slowly realized that his son's vision of seeing people really had a different way, and those women were generally inferior to Lu. Miriam's, no matter how you say it.

After hearing this, Mother Lu was finally willing to wipe the tears on her face. When she was about to say something, the red light on the door of the operating room not far away suddenly went out. The doctor opened the door and took off the mask and asked: "Who is the patient's family?"

"I....."

The two elderly people stood up almost at the same time, and then they couldn't help but stare at each other.

Chapter 548

The nanny's car door was opened, and the man stepped in with long legs, and saw the old woman who was shivering in the corner, trembling all over.

The trembling eyes were projected out, and the acquaintance who came in was recognized, and he rushed forward as if grabbing some life-saving straw, firmly holding the man's arm with both hands, and shouting twice, "Bryan, Bryan. ..."

Bryan sat near the car door and shook his hand in disgust.

Following Mu Ming, who stepped in, sat down in the opposite position, and the assistant at the back of the car gestured a look, and the man pulled the woman back with force.

The man settled his eyes and asked in a cold voice: "Because I removed Director Mo from the position, you held grudges, so you hit my wife on the head?"

Bryan guessed that, based on the timid and fearful temperament of this family, the possibility of doing so is slim, but he still picked up the most serious allegations.

Sure enough, half of the story, this Madam Mo was already pale with fright, waved her hands to veto her, "No, no, this incident was purely an accident."

The rebuttal of the language was too pale. After saying a few sentences, I felt that the other party would not believe it. Then he crawled in front of him and grabbed his arm with his hands mixed with tears, "Bryan, listen to my aunt Say, my aunt didn't mean to..."

Bryan's eyes trembled, staring at the sharp fingerprints on his arm, and looked at the man next to him suspiciously.

Mu Ming's lips curled up with a faint smile, and when he faced his questioning eyes, he just shrugged his shoulders lightly, and didn't mean to explain anything.

He didn't do anything, just before Bryan stepped into the car door, he had arranged the assistant next to him to talk about President Shao's usual means of doing things several times.

Although this Madam Mo was skeptical, the moment she saw Bryan coming in, she still felt frightened and weakened her legs.

At this moment, she bowed her head, saw the mark on the other's arm, she shrank again in fright, and whispered in a low voice: "You can tell me how you want me to compensate, as long as I can do it, but don't forget, I am Your aunt, Bryan."

The heart is tied to the woman who is still in the operating room. At this moment, Bryan does have a murderous heart.

He curled his lips quite indifferently, and slowly spit out two words, "Compensation?"

If Miriam and his child had an accident, no compensation in this world would be enough to fill his inner regret.

Slowly gathered her eyes in the gradually cold eyes, and then turned his face to look at her leisurely, "If Miriam has any accident, I will retaliate to your Mo family in the same way."

This is actually more emotional to vent his anger, but when the old man heard it, he instantly lost his judgment instinct, choked on the spot twice, and almost lost his breath.

Bryan watched, slowly constricting his eyes, opened the door of the car next to him, and turned around.

The atmosphere in the car was depressing and he was particularly uncomfortable.

From the bottom of his heart, this President Shao Da has never been arbitrary and ruthless.

Standing by the door, breathing two breaths of fresh air, the door behind him was opened again. Mu Ming followed down and turned around and told the driver in the driver's seat, "Send this man Mrs. Mo back to life."

After the car drove away slowly, Bryan slowly calmed down his emotions. At this time, the mobile phone in his pocket suddenly vibrated, and after taking it out, it was connected. Although he tried his best to restrain it, his voice still quivered slightly: "How is it?" "

From Mu Ming's perspective, it is rare to see the exceptionally clear expression on the face of this man who has always been calm and restrained.

When the call was hung up, he had a judgment based on the change in the other person's expression, and then he breathed a sigh of relief and asked, "Is it all right?"

The air was silent for a moment, and the man in front of him did not respond for a long time, as if he was adjusting some emotions.

After waiting for a while, he nodded.

At this time, Bryan, who turned around, remembered and asked: "Why are you saving her?"

For him, Mu Ming is the person he and Miriam really need to be vigilant at all times.

The first sentence after seeing the other party's reaction was this, and Mu Ming suddenly laughed after a short stunned. He stared down at his toes for a while, and when he raised his head again, all the cares that had just flowed in his eyes were swallowed up.

He sneered, then raised his lips diagonally, "They are all businessmen, naturally they have a purpose."

At this time, I am afraid that only by finding some tangible and credible bonds of interest will this man let go of his guard against his behavior.

"I came to Jincheng to discuss cooperation with you." He said, reaching out a hand to the other party. "I am no longer an obscure little attendant back then, and there is no reason to do those illegal things to judge myself. Future. I saved Miriam. It should be regarded as a big favor for you. Then, in future cooperation, shouldn't Shao always give me more face?"

Bryan lowered his eyes and stared at the hand he extended.

After a moment of silence, he briefly shook his hand, then curled his lips, "I have heard that Mr. Mu, the new generation of Fengrui's helm. Young and promising, he is a legend."

After the Song family took back the management rights of Fengrui, they divided the original subsidiary Yunteng and gave it to Shang Rui, and promoted Mu Ming to Fengrui's new CEO.

If the guess is correct, there should be no lack of Rania's help.

Wanting to change the identities of Laishang and Mu, the man who has always been arrogant and arrogant must feel very uncomfortable in his heart.

But today, even if Mu Ming does not rescue Miriam, it is impossible for Bryan to easily reject the proposal of cooperation with Fengrui because of Rania's face.

At present, I am unwilling to entangle too much. After the two of them simply greeted him, Bryan raised his foot in the direction of the hospital gate, and at the same time turned his head to respond politely, "I will go and see Miriam first, Mr. Mu will wait a moment, and I will notify the assistant to come over You go back to the hotel."

All in all, there was no intention of inviting him upstairs together.

"No need." Mu Ming said, raising his hand slightly, "I'll call the car away, don't bother Mr. Shao."

After that, he turned around and stopped the car in the direction of the intersection.

Bryan gazed at the back, until he pulled the car door up, the little vigilant light in his eyes slowly extinguished, and he turned and continued to walk forward.

The man who bent down and stepped into the car door lost his mind at the suit jacket that was stained with blood after reporting the hotel address.

He unconsciously recalled that in the ten minutes or so when he rushed all the way to the hospital, the consciousness of the woman in his arms was vague, but one hand was still firmly clasped with his index finger. Later he became a little more sober and treated him. The first and only one said was, "Don't harm my child."

He laughed, put the clothes aside, then leaned his head on the back of the back seat and closed his eyes to rest.

In the ward, Bryan opened the door and saw the woman lying on the hospital bed who had just woke up.

She had pale cheeks and no blood stains on her lips. Her eyes followed the prestige. After meeting the man's gaze, her eye sockets instantly turned red.

When the man strode over, she gently raised the corners of her lips, and when people approached, she took one of his hands and placed it on her abdomen, and solemnly and thankfully said: "Bryan, it's dangerous. Ah, fortunately, I didn't lose him."

These words made Bryan's throat dry for a while.

He endured it, sat down beside her, and then tightly held her weak hand, covered her thin lips, kissed and kissed, "It's okay, Miriam, you're fine."

At this moment, Mother Shao and Mother Lu were standing on both sides of the bed. Seeing this scene, Mother Lu secretly wiped away tears, crying so that her nose and eyes were red.

Although Shao's mother was sighed, when the tears were about to fall, she instantly became angry when she saw the old woman crying next to her.

The old man snorted and said impatiently: "Okay, I know crying, cry when I don't know the situation, now I'm all right and crying, how come your old lady has so many tears..."

Mother Lu's cries stopped abruptly, turning her head and her eyes rounded, "Why is my mother-in-law not as good as my mother? Miriam is not your daughter, don't you feel bad for me..."

"I said no matter what, I think she is my Shao family's daughter-in-law, what else do you want, do you want to find it hard?"

"..."

Unknowingly, the atmosphere in this ward began to slowly change under the agitation of the two old ladies.

Ignored by the side, Miriam and Bryan looked at each other, both helpless and indifference in their eyes.

I want to see the excitement in this house after coming.