

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 569– 570

Chapter 569

After three days, Bryan rushed to the Song family in Kyoto.

It was already evening when the plane landed, and he deliberately waited around for a while. When it was completely dark, he let Lin Shui drive and stopped by the street near Song's house.

Two blocks away, then walk over.

Just after Rania and his family had dinner over there, a servant came to inform him that Mr. Shao from City Two had come to visit.

Hearing Bryan's arrival, Father Song smiled unconsciously.

He also read the news that Bryan spoke to the media on behalf of Long Teng and You Mao a few days ago. Compared to those corporate representatives who kept silent or had ambiguous attitudes at critical times, he admired the courage of this young man.

"Regardless of whether he is sincere and able to make such a choice at a critical time, not everyone has the courage."

In the face of Rania's unintentional evaluation, Song's father responded to her in this way.

After greeted the introduction of people, the old man got up and came out of the dining room, and signaled to Rania who was already sitting on the sofa in the living room, "Mr. Shao will leave it to you to entertain, and your mother and I will go upstairs to see the child.

Rania was holding a book in one hand. Hearing what the old man said, he waved his hand without raising his head, "I see."

Father Song was a person who had seen strong winds and waves. He was not very concerned about the crisis of the Song family this time. He was more willing to regard this incident as a test of Rania. After all, she took over the Song family for so many years. Haven't encountered such a setback now.

The market and position the Song family occupies in Kyoto is not what he is pursuing wholeheartedly.

He only hopes to see his daughter's ability to support this family independently 100 years ago.

Not long after Father Song went upstairs, Bryan was led to the living room. Rania got up and gestured to the study room. Without greetings, he invited people in to talk.

There was a faint scent of tea in the study. She had ordered someone to make jasmine in advance. Bryan sat down on the side of the sofa chair to meet the guests. Rania personally poured a cup of tea for him, and then asked, "I came here on purpose at so late. , For what?"

Without waiting for Bryan's answer, she went on to explain to herself, "The Song family is indeed overwhelmed now, but you can rest assured that the previous promise to pay for goods will not change. After a few months, our business will return to normal and the contract can be performed as usual. ."

Bryan chuckled when he heard the words, and nodded half teasingly, "Then I'm relieved."

After speaking, he lifted the teacup in front of him and took a sip before raising his eyes to meet the woman in front of him.

Rania could see it. He put his arms on the armrest of the sofa arbitrarily, leaned against the back of the chair, and squinted his eyes to look at it, "Say, what's the matter?"

Seeing his ease and ease, she felt that it might not be a bad thing.

Sure enough, the man didn't sell it. He took a sealed document from Lin Shui next to him, put it on the coffee table and pushed it to her, while asking, "How far have you found out about Fengrui? Up?"

Rania lowered his gaze, his gaze swept lightly from the document, and he didn't mean to pick it up for the time being."It's obvious who did it. At present, several financial-related personnel have been removed. The specific situation is still under investigation. No other gains."

Before Shang Rui left, he would bury Feng Rui with such a thunder. According to Rania's consistent judgment of him, this approach was really unexpected.

After thinking about it, she also took a sip of her tea, and continued, "Shang Rui is not a person ignorant of current affairs. He knows that it's no good to offend the Song family. He won't do it for the sake of temporary anger, so... .."

"There is someone behind him."

Bryan added what was not finished.

In the dim sight of the study, the two looked at each other tacitly.

Song Ren said in a deep voice, and did not respond to Bryan's conjecture, but he didn't realize the previous accident in his mind. Just like Rao Shan said, someone wanted to take advantage of the vacancy.

After a long while, the woman sighed and sneered, "If he had a backer behind him, it wouldn't be surprising that he would do this."

People like Shang Rui who are only profitable are always the best to buy.

"Who is that, have you found it?"

"It's not difficult." Rania waved his hand slightly and leaned forward to pick up the papers on the coffee table. While opening it, he replied casually, "Wait for a while and see who has put the most orders on the projects put on hold by the Song family. Whoever is most likely."

At the end, he pulled out a bunch of materials in the file bag, and asked with his eyebrows: "What is this?"

Behind Rania is a large floor-to-ceiling window, and outside the window is the backyard. Song's mother has meticulously managed a large garden. Across the curtains blown by the wind, you can see a bunch of irises illuminated by the street lights. flower.

Bryan seemed to be attracted by the flower, so he got up and walked to the window, opened the curtains with his hands, and looked down for a while. After retracting his eyes, he half leaned against the window and looked at the woman's side face on the sofa.

"Check, is there anyone named Liao Qiu in the staff list of Fengrui Finance?"

"Liao Qiu?" Rania hesitated, and immediately determined, "No, I have seen the list of personnel in the Finance Department, and there is no such one."

At this point, she understood Bryan's purpose, stood up and looked back, "What do you mean?"

On the day Fengrui's tax evasion news broke, the head of the finance department and the manager disappeared in one day. Rania's target was on these two people. It's just that, looking at Bryan's current meaning, it seems that things are not that simple.

While thinking like this, the man had already raised his foot and walked to her side, took over the thin pile of information, pointed to one of the video screenshots, and said: "Miriam recognized that this woman is very similar to what she had done before. Liao Qiu, who has worked for a period of time, was helping Shang Rui before. If it is really her, then she may also be the implementer of the plan."

After speaking, he pulled out the last page of the information, “This is her previous employment information at Yingxin. You can hand it to the police or send a private investigator to investigate.”

Rania stared at the information in his hand and compared it back and forth several times.

The entry information is an upright one-inch photo, but on the video screenshot, the woman who was specifically circled is wearing a mask and a peaked cap, wrapped tightly, with only one pair of eyes exposed.

But when Miriam saw those eyes on TV, he unconsciously “cocked” in his heart, and suddenly flashed through his mind that Liao Qiu’s face.

“I know.”

After a moment of silence, Rania placed the bunch of materials on the coffee table at will, as if she didn’t care much, but she still nodded to Bryan with basic politeness, “Thank you Miriam for me, she was bothering.”

Bryan also nodded. Seeing that she was lacking in interest, he also had a general guess, “The damage this incident has caused to the Song family is indeed irreversible. I understand your feelings now.”

Rania felt that she didn’t want anyone’s understanding.

But in the dim sight of this room, with the help of the lamp on the desk and the faintly illuminated street light from outside the window, she could clearly see the dark and deep breath of the man’s eyes, and unexpectedly an extreme appeared in her mind. Absurd idea.

Realizing the absurdity, she immediately stepped back and turned on the chandelier above her head by the study door.

With a “pop”, the surroundings became bright.

She pursed her lips and smiled, and opened the study door, “I will take care of the Song family’s affairs. It’s getting late, and I’ll send you out.”

Chapter 570

Rania personally sent Bryan out of the Song House courtyard.

Lin Shui took the lead to go out to pick up the car in the direction of the street, leaving the two of them walking along the roadside street.

It was early at this time, but Song's House was located on the outskirts of the city. Except for a few vehicles that shuttled back and forth, it was rare to see a few casual and elegant passers-by.

Walking along the road to the first intersection, Rania took the lead to stop. Standing under a street lamp, he raised his head and glanced at the man next to him briefly, "I'll be here."

"Yeah." Bryan also stopped, as if deliberately took two more steps forward, and distanced herself from her.

This distance makes Rania and Bryan feel comfortable.

Rania knew in his heart that Bryan was different from most of the men she met. He was shrewd and savvy, yet he was upright and trustworthy. He was the kind of person most recognized in his father's heart.

After knowing that he was the one who really saved himself many years ago, Rania was confused for a while.

If there was no such misunderstanding at the beginning, would she and Bryan have the possibility of further development?

It's like now, when two people are walking forward side by side, the air is quiet and deserted. Both of them are silent and silent, but inexplicably immerse themselves in such an atmosphere.

It seems that two people with the same aura, should have a picture.

But it didn't take long for her to think clearly again, she was not Miriam, so she was not suitable for Bryan.

Miriam is the person in this world who truly fits with Bryan's soul.

Thinking of this, she also took a step back, most of her body hidden in the darkness beyond the streetlights, "Say hello to Miriam, when will you have your wedding, I will definitely be there."

If you don't believe me, when it comes to Miriam, the men's brows and eyes are soaked with countless tenderness.

"Soon." He put one hand in the pocket of his trousers. Yu Guang had already caught sight of the car approaching here, so he raised his foot to the edge of the road and stepped out again. At the same time, he said, "When the invitation is ready, you must Delivered."

Then the man pulled the car door, bent over and got into the car.

After listening to the sound of the engine, the body has already gone.

After staring at the vehicle and walking away, the empty road, the woman wrapped her hands to her chest, and stood there silent for a while.

She is very tired, from body to heart.

Before confirming Bryan's heart, Miriam had been very tired. She took up the position of head of the data department within three years, and spent another year to study. After returning, she worked directly in the finance department. Deputy Director.

At that time, she was also a strong woman in the eyes of everyone, a workaholic.

But later, after the relationship with Bryan was reconciled, she realized that she was not a natural workaholic, and she wanted to be a little woman when a man was used to it.

And Rania, who has been a workaholic for thirty years, has yet to meet that guy who will make her a little girl.

The evening breeze was cool, she tightened her arms, turned her head and walked back.

But as soon as he turned around, the step forward suddenly stopped. The calm eyes suddenly gathered, and the man who was a few meters away from the street light railing looked up coldly. .

Shanrao smiled evilly, with one arm resting on the railing, the other hand in the pocket of his trousers, and a dark blue suit jacket over his arm.

The dim light above his head was shining all over him, making the picture in front of him a bit faint.

He is like the young man who has just entered society in the plot of the movie, with an unrealistic smile on his face, trying to seduce the girl who has been standing not far away.

But the girl obviously couldn't see how good his appearance was, so she asked two words with a cold face: "Something?"

The man who had been posing for a long time finally dropped his sore arm, stood up straight and turned his lips in the direction behind her, "Who was that man just now?"

Rania's face, which had maintained basic politeness, slowly became gloomy. She raised her foot and continued to move forward. After rubbing against the man, she replied: "It has nothing to do with you."

She could see the thoughts of Shanrao.

This response was basically within his expected range, so he licked his lips slightly, and his body followed with a bend, following her unhurriedly.

“I know, that is President Shao of City Two Longteng Group, who is already married.”

A few days ago, Bryan publicly spoke for the Song family. He had read the relevant news and checked Bryan’s information, and he knew that he was not a threat to him.

But Rania paused when he heard this. The moment he turned his head, he moved his eyes down and stared at his waist, “Is your injury better?”

“It’s almost there.” Rao Shan shrugged, “It will be better to change the medicine two more times.”

When she was speaking, her gaze remained constant, and all fell on the woman’s face.

This urgent gaze made her quite uncomfortable, but she still raised her head to look at him, and said calmly: “I hope you don’t think that after saving me once, I owe you something. You can do whatever you want. Mention, but Rania will not owe you anything because of that.”

She would not make this mistake again.

The attitude was expressed, and she sighed slightly and asked, “So, come to me so late, what’s the matter?”

Since the last time he was separated in the hospital, Rania had sent an assistant to see him, but the report came back that he had been discharged from the hospital and was not in Kyoto.

If you want to come and go in a hurry, you should be anxious to do something.

Sure enough, after she finished her question, the man looked down and smiled, then lifted the suit in his hand and took out a copy of the document from his pocket and handed it out.

“I have taken down the investment plan of Phoenix Ancient Town.”

Rania stared at the attached manuscript of the contract in the man’s hand, with no expression on his face, but smiled and answered, “Congratulations.”

After speaking, he raised his foot and continued to the direction of the courtyard gate.

The man caught up in time and explained: “I didn’t intend to continue this case, but I know you have this heart, so I took it because we wanted to wait for this incident to pass and we had a chance to cooperate.”

“Cooperation?” Rania glanced sideways at the man next to him, “How do you want to cooperate?”

“I need your plan. Of course, if you want, we can also accept your capital into shares. At that time, all income will be divided according to the proportion of shares. I guarantee...”

“Mr. Shan...” The man was interrupted when he was half-talking. Rania had no patience. He settled his eyes and let out a sigh of relief, picking up the topic and saying: “Mr. Shan’s methods of chasing women are really not clever. .”

Between the dumbness of the man, her eyes became colder again, “We Song currently have difficulties, but we won’t have to change the method to win back a project that has been rejected. Even if you take this I will not thank you for doing the project for us.”

After a pause, she wanted to understand, she suddenly changed the subject and asked, “You haven’t visited my father for a while, right?”

This made Rao Shan a little overwhelmed. He took the file back and nodded in silence, “Yes.”

The woman faintly retracted her gaze, raised her foot and took two steps forward, and waited until she was away from the other party before inviting, “Since it’s already here, come in and sit down.”

The moment she opened the courtyard door, her heart was extremely calm.

I thought to myself that some things should be made clear, and always clear.