

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 147– 148

Chapter 147

Angrily turned back and laughed, she suddenly changed her tone, and smiled leisurely, “I first discovered that Mr. Yan is handsome...the temperament is also very good, when he does not exist, it is impossible, unless I am not a woman Let him send me to the company, it should be pretty cool.”

Yan Ke, “...”

Bryan downplayed, “His girlfriend is studying abroad, so you don’t have to think about it.”

“...”

The smile on Miriam’s face instantly froze, and the whole person is not good again. She gritted her teeth and spit out a word, “Go!”

She hung up with a beep, her pissed chest was undulating.

Yan Ke opened the rear door and reminded respectfully, “Miss Lu.”

Miriam stared at the car with a cold face for a few seconds, and the scab scar on her forehead was almost torn apart. She suddenly squinted at him, “Your girlfriend is studying abroad?”

They don’t look much younger than them, and it’s not surprising to have a girlfriend.

Yan Ke was taken aback for the first time, and for the first time a dazed expression appeared on his serious face, but he nodded in a flash, “Yeah.”

Miriam pursed her lower lip, bent over and got into the car.

Yan Ke breathed a sigh of relief in his heart, closed the door, and entered the driver’s seat around the front of the car.

The car stopped not far downstairs from the company.

“Miss Lu, in order to avoid suspicion, I will not go down. I will always wait here. You can come directly after get off work.”

Miriam paused for the money, and said in astonishment: “Still off work? You won’t have to wait for a day here? Are you so idle?”

“No time, this is my daily work, even if it is to perform other tasks, most of them are waiting.”

Miriam frowned, handed over a ticket, and said coldly: "I don't care what your job is. This is the travel expenses this time. I won't sit anymore. You don't want to wait."

After speaking, she pushed the door and got out of the car, slammed the car door, and walked towards the company building without looking back.

The two young ladies at the company service desk saw her and greeted her familiarly, "Mr. Lu is early."

"Well, early." Miriam replied indifferently.

The two of them were startled, and said with concern: "Manager Lu, your face is not so good, are you sick?"

"It's okay, maybe I didn't sleep well." Miriam smiled, carrying the bag, and walked back to the department.

It's strange to have a stomachache early in the morning and feel good.

The wound on her forehead wasn't completely healed, and her anger began to faintly hurt again.

In the morning, after dealing with urgent matters at hand, Miriam booked a long-distance bus ticket to Lincheng from the Internet, cleaned up, and asked Henry for a day off before leaving the company.

But she didn't forget Yan Ke, who was staring at a certain corner, but he found out that she was going to be entangled again. She went around one more circle and walked in another direction.

Lincheng, Hongxing District, Cypress Cemetery.

Miriam used a navigation search, and it took a long time to find the location of the cemetery, and asked the administrator to check the system before finding the owner's tomb.

Known to be an old friend, she specially wore a dark dress today. She lowered her head and placed the flower gently in front of the tomb. Looking at the name on the tablet, she smiled and murmured, "Aunt Mushan, sorry, excuse me Here you are, I am Lu Wenhai's daughter, entrusted by him..."

The breeze disturbed her long hair, and the entire cemetery was quiet. Although the sun was warm enough, there was no warmth, cold and heavy.

Miriam murmured, as if talking to herself for a while, and then left.

She didn't know who this woman was, nor did she ask about her father's relationship with her. She didn't even ask how she died. The deceased is dead, and it's from the previous generation. She really doesn't have the energy to pursue anything.

Chapter 148

It's just that she didn't notice the black figure slowly coming out behind a row of cypress trees. She was straight and slender. The cap on her head was pressed extremely low. She stared in the direction where she was going, her falling palms clenched into fists.

The location of the cemetery was a bit remote. Miriam walked along the outer highway for a while but did not find a taxi. He stopped and stopped, looked around, and continued walking along the road.

On the wide road, there were few cars back and forth, and her slender figure slowly walked along the side of the road, making the line even thinner.

At a crossroad, she stood for a few seconds, seeing the green light on the opposite side, she walked forward carelessly.

Suddenly, a car popped up from nowhere, and the weird change of lanes accelerated towards her very quickly.

Miriam sensed that she turned her head to look over, staring at the fast gray car, her brain went blank and her limbs became stiff.

She was trying to hide in a panic. Suddenly, a black car rushed out from the side very quickly, stopped in front of her with a thunder and blocked the car.

“boom!”

With a loud noise, Miriam was awakened abruptly, staring at the scene in front of him with a pale face, stunned.

The person in the black car pushed the door and got out of the car, walked quickly in front of her, and asked unsteadily, “Miss Lu, are you okay.”

Miriam heard the voice, raised her eyes, her eyes widened for a moment, “Yan, Yan Ke?”

At this moment, the sound of the engine suddenly increased. The two of them were taken aback and looked over quickly. The gray car had already gone so fast that it was too late to stop it.

Miriam stared incredulously, “This... he just ran away?”

Hit-and-run in broad daylight, is this person so bold?

Yan Ke looked at the direction the car was leaving with a serious expression. He narrowed his eyes and asked quietly, "Miss Lu, did you see anyone in the car just now?"

Miriam frowned, "I didn't see clearly... He seems to be wearing a black suit and a hat, so he can't see anything."

And the speed was too fast, and she panicked and didn't pay attention to anything.

As if waking up, she looked at him up and down, and asked anxiously: "Are you okay just now? Did you bump into it?"

"I'm fine." Yan Ke shook his head, then turned to check the car.

Miriam also followed and walked around the front of the car, only to find that the other side of the car had been knocked out of a concave block, and her pretty face turned white again, "So serious."

There was a deep fear in my heart. If this shock force hit her just now, would she be able to go back alive today?

She looked into the car, the airbag had also been bounced out, and she couldn't help but looked at Yan Ke worriedly, "Are you really all right?"

Yan Ke twisted his sword eyebrows slightly, not knowing what he was thinking, but didn't seem to hear it.

A trace of inquiry flashed through Miriam's eyes, she raised her hand and waved in front of his eyes, and said in a deep voice, "What's the matter? Is there any problem?"

Yan Ke blinked, looked at her, and shook his head, "It's nothing, I'll call the traffic police to deal with it, Miss Lu, it may take you a while."

"This matter was caused by me. If there is any delay, you should call first." Miriam said with a faint smile after regaining her calm.

Yan Ke nodded, walked a few steps and called the police, then came back and tried to restart the car.

Miriam looked at the car that had been hit, stroked the hair around her ear, and said very apologetically: "This car belongs to your company, thank you for saving my life. Looking back, these losses and compensation are all due to you. I will bear it."

Although she is in a pinch now, they saved her one life today, no, it was three lives, and nothing she said could cause him any trouble.

Yan Ke did not refuse in person either. He squatted down while inspecting the car and explained: "This is a company car. With insurance, there will be a lot of procedures. There will be no exact numbers for a while. I will deal with it later. You contact."

Miriam readily agreed, "Okay, but I really thank you just now."

Otherwise she must have something to do today.

"Mr. Shao hired me to protect Miss Lu. Your safety is of course the most important thing. You don't have to thank me." Yan Ke smiled lightly.

Hearing Bryan, the smile on Miriam's face slowly faded, "You found out when I left the company, so you followed me all the way?"

Yan Ke stood up and patted the dust on his hands, with almost no fluctuations in his expression, "Mr. Shao is worried that Miss Lu is going out alone."

Miriam looked at the young handsome man in front of him with a calm face, and sneered slightly, "You would listen to him. If the car was faster, you would not be dead or half disabled, and you would regret doing this when you lie in the hospital. ?"

Yan Ke stunned and replied faintly, "I don't rely on academic qualifications like Miss Lu to eat. This is my profession. Mr. Shao's salary is enough to make me take this risk. Even if I had an accident, I think he shouldn't. Will treat me badly."

"Have you never thought about your girlfriend?" Miriam frowned.

Yan Ke glanced at her weirdly, then lowered his eyes and spit out a few words lightly, "She will understand."

"..."

Miriam stared at him incredibly.

If he really loves his girlfriend, will he worry about her? Will you let yourself take risks? Why don't you understand? Not for the rest of your life?

He was not a soldier, but sacrificed for the country.

Miriam really wanted to scold her, but she also thought about how other people's private affairs had anything to do with her. Everyone had a different concept, so she had something to question.

Yan Ke probably never thought that a word he said casually directly changed the image in Miriam's heart.

Later, Miriam didn't talk to him again, standing quietly at the scene of the accident, looking around, thinking about the previous accident in her mind, but the more she looked at it, the more it felt wrong.

Located in the suburbs, on such a wide road, there are not many cars going back and forth, let alone walking people. She didn't find a single figure for a long time. The driver of that car just now was blind or too bright, so he stared at her and hit her. .

Just as she was thinking, Yan Ke looked at her suddenly, frowned and asked, "Is there anything strange happening around Miss Lu recently?"

"something weird?"

Miriam thoughtfully for two seconds, then slowly shook her head.

"Such as tracking?" Yan Ke's eyes darkened.

Miriam's expression changed, "You also see that there is a problem with the matter just now?"

Sure enough, she didn't guess wrong.

Is it her father's enemy again? Can actually follow Lincheng.

Miriam's heart was cold, and her back felt a chill. Suddenly she was a little worried. She lowered her head and hurriedly took out her mobile phone and called her mother.

After anxiously waiting for more than ten seconds, she hurriedly said, "Mom?"

"Miriam, why did you call back suddenly?"

Miriam hung a heart and asked, "Are you at home?"
