

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 251– 252

Chapter 251

Miriam tugged at the corner of her mouth, and got out of the man's arms, her hair was a little messy.

Qi Feng was half a head taller than her, a neat black-and-white casual outfit lined up a shapely slender figure, shoulder-length hair casually scattered, delicate features full of aura, anyone would be amazed at first sight.

He came closer and squinted his eyes to look at Miriam up and down. Such actions are not considered polite.

Holding his arms, his eyes turned to Liuli.

Miriam revealed some embarrassment in her eyes. For the first time she was scrutinized with such unscrupulous scrutiny. She was very uncomfortable. She cleared her throat and faced her: "Miss Qi, what is there in me that is worthy of your interest?"

Qi Feng was a little surprised that she was so calm, her big eyes blinked, Peugeot's facial features were stained with a smile, obviously more interested.

Miriam wanted to raise her hand to fix her hair, but gave up halfway through.

What else to organize? She lost to this woman in any way.

Suddenly being pulled back, the whole body was surrounded, and the warmth came instantly.

Miriam's heart was slightly settled.

Qi Fengliuye's eyebrows were slightly raised, this woman could have allowed him to maintain this way.

But seeing her hands on the visibly raised lower abdomen, her eyes dimmed slightly.

"I didn't want to eat her, what are you afraid of?" squinted and smiled.

Miriam's expression was faint: "Don't say if it's a friend, since we came to take pictures, you just treat guests like this?"

The man stayed silent, seeing that she was sweating slightly from her neck, her face became heavy and Shen Qifeng said, "I heard that Young Master Gu has been hiding from you?"

Qi Feng's expression changed, knowing that he and Miller are iron buddies, and they speak with weight...

He lowered his arms wittily, the smile spread to his face, and stretched out a hand to hold Miriam: "I have known Bryan since childhood. He has a better relationship with my sister. I just made a joke with you, don't mind, you want to shoot Tell me what, I promise to satisfy you."

Miriam pulled her hand out without a trace, and softened her face: "Well, in that case, let's start shooting as soon as possible."

Bryan hugged her and walked along the corridor.

Qi Feng glanced at the girl who had been standing next to him: "Go and get my best equipment, and ask a few more people to take care of these two."

Walking on the promenade, Miriam thoughtfully.

Her surname is Qi, and what she has heard of in the City Two celebrity circle is the Qi family, who is famous for literature. She should be correct in terms of her temperament and appearance.

However, the sister she said did not show up in front of the public much, and could not help but raise her head and glance at the man's profile. She couldn't imagine the opposite s3x who was particularly familiar with him.

"She is a cameraman?" Miriam asked suddenly.

The man looked at her and nodded lightly, and his thin lips lightly opened: "It's just an interest, but maybe because of some talent, I got some big prizes by mistake, and later opened this store because of this interest."

Miriam couldn't help smacking his lips. It was luxurious enough to use such a large plot of land to cultivate interest in a place close to the city center.

The man thought about it and added, "The technique is still good, you can rest assured."

Miriam glanced at him: "What can I worry about?"

"Don't you also like to take pictures? You should not be low-sighted."

When she first got married, she brought a camera from home. Later, I often saw her go out to play and hold it, and bought a newest model for her, but never used it.

Miriam stunned, her skills are considered top-notch in this photo tour, but it is simply unsightly when compared to professional ones. I am afraid that comparing with Qi Feng is even more of a hobby.

Seeing that she was silent, the corners of her mouth raised, and she bowed her head and kissed her: "I will do a little too, I will shoot you later."

...

After a short time, the atmosphere in the studio suddenly cooled, and Qi Feng confronted Bryan.

Qi Feng hugged her baby's camera and questioned: "The location of pregnant photos is not coordinated at all. The background that reflects the relationship between mother and child should be simple and pure."

The man pulled Miriam with a smile but a smile: "A lifeless curtain and simple props can be reflected? Not necessarily."

The eyes flowed between the set and Miriam, once again determined that it was not appropriate, such a dull studio was only suitable for commercials.

Miriam stared at the rocking chair and the lilies on the curtain, and it was really not easy to make her look tender.

"What do you think about taking pictures outside?" Miriam turned to ask the man.

"No idea, better than wasting time here, let's go out."

The man squeezed her wrist and moved forward, showing no mercy.

Qi Feng felt that his professional level was questioned, but he could not be rejected by a person with no photography skills. His eyes flashed brightly, staring at the backs of the two and suddenly awakened.

"Don't go," Qi Feng said suddenly, stepped up to them in two steps, handed the camera to Bryan, blinked and smiled: "You are right, you can shoot yourself, where you want to be, how to shoot and how to shoot. ."

He left without looking back.

Several assistants looked at each other, not knowing whether to leave or stay.

Miriam smiled at them and said gently: "You go out first, I will stay alone with him for a while."

With only two people left, Miriam didn't bother to be restrained anymore, and poured a glass of water on her own, then turned to Bryan and asked, "Do you want it?"

But in a blink of an eye, he actually started to fiddle with the camera.

He really wants to shoot himself...

After a long while, Bryan looked faint, and stood at the door and said to her: "Let's go to the yard."

Miriam was eating a watermelon in the recliner, gulping in her mouth, staring at him blankly.

Unexpectedly, the next second "click" was photographed.

Frowning, he swallowed the melon and raised his voice: "You are too casual, wait for me to pose..."

Before the words were finished, the 'click' sounded again.

Miriam put down the melon and got up, from standing to his side, he took almost dozens of pictures.

Can't help but question: "Do you really know how to shoot? Normal people don't press the shutter like this."

Reached out and took the camera from him, but was avoided.

Bryan checked the negatives with one hand while being careful not to fall.

After turning many pages, she finally loosened her eyes, with a smile on her eyes, and handed it to her, "Look at this one."

Miriam's attention was instantly shifted.

In the photo, I was pulling one of his hands, the other was holding his waist, his face was smiling and angry, his skin was extremely white and smooth in the sun, and his eyes were clear...

It's really good.

The man hummed with a low laugh, raised his eyebrows and said, "This is my photography technique. I can always find a satisfactory one by taking pictures without interruption."

Miriam's mouth twitched: "It's really amazing."

Two hours later, Qi Feng couldn't help grind his teeth when he flipped through his camera. After a short while, he took thousands of films. In what year will he choose?

Miriam was very empathetic and said: "I can take the film back and pick it slowly, and finally arrange it and send it to you."

Bryan was silent, and said: "Long time watching the computer is not good for you. Let her choose, it is her business."

He opened his mouth and poked his waist secretly. Seeing that he was indifferent, his eyes moved agilely, with a smirk: "You took the photos. You know which one is good. You should do it best. ."

The man's face turned black in an instant, but he didn't expect her to tilt her elbow out.

Chapter 252

It was almost evening when I came out of the photo studio, and the sultry heat finally dissipated.

Before getting into the car, Miriam stretched out her hand, lying on the palm of her hand with the USB flash drive, smiling rather gloatingly: "Thank you."

The man took it, put it in his suit pocket, and didn't move his brow.

"You call mom to tell me, they have been worried these days," said the car has started, "Let's go to the supermarket first."

Miriam nodded, and the moment he took out the phone, he suddenly remembered that in the three days when he disappeared, he had the most missed calls.

One second before I pressed the call, I couldn't help but turn my head and asked: "Are you worried about me too?"

The car had already merged into the traffic flow and it was during the rush hour. He didn't hear it clearly and asked her to say it again.

Sometimes courage only appears when she is impulsive, and Miriam regrets it the moment she finishes asking, and now she is even more reluctant to ask it a second time.

"It's okay, let you drive carefully." With a faint look, he moved his gaze out of the window, the neon light just turned on, and the flashing person was dizzy.

Bryan clicked on the brakes and took a moment to glance back at her. She was talking on the phone with Mother Lu, and the corners of her mouth were raised slightly, her expression gentle.

At the entrance of the supermarket, Bryan almost stuffed his trunk.

It is rare for him to be so proactive and courteous. Miriam couldn't help but sarcastically said: "Aren't you going to see your mother-in-law, why do you buy so much?"

Bryan paid the two porters, closed the car door, and said with a smile: "When I first got married, I did not do well in this aspect. You have to behave well while your parents are still willing to see me."

Miriam rolled her eyes inwardly, which would sound nice.

At the beginning, it was more than a bad job. After three months of marriage, his parents saw him for the first time. Halfway through the meal, he answered the phone and hurriedly left the table saying that the company was in a hurry. He still stupidly tried to speak good things for him and find reasons.

Heart can't help but feel sour.

"My parents don't want to waste the most. Don't say that I bought them when they are nagging." After speaking, they squatted down and closed their eyes in the car seat.

Bryan looked helpless, and felt the temperature in the car was low, so he took a blanket from the back seat to cover her.

When she got home, Miriam got out of the car and smiled harmlessly: "You have to move things up by yourself. I can't help it." After a pause, she glanced at the trunk, probably estimated, "It's almost three round trips. , I will go up and wait for you first."

Just about to slip away, Miriam was pulled back by the man and hit his slightly hard chest. Miriam couldn't help rubbing her face.

Soon he heard a low laugh from the top of his head, and raised his eyes to face his long eyes, which seemed to be smiling but not smiling, deep to the end.

"I'm disappointed. I haven't fallen to the point where I can do hard work myself. Lin Shui will be here soon."

The thunder couldn't move, the calm face was close at hand, and Miriam almost couldn't hold back his fist.

He took a deep breath, adjusted his emotions, and smirked.

"It's because I didn't think well. Shao's general industry is huge. How can there be a shortage of people to serve you?" He blinked again, "I am an unemployed vagrant who only knows how to eat and not be hungry. Can you let me eat first?"

The man held her increasingly sensual face and kissed, with a smile: "It's enough for you to have me."

Miriam choked, feeling a strong force hitting the sponge, wasted.

Being hugged upstairs, as soon as the door was opened, a little thing rushed over, Miriam stepped back, and Bryan immediately reached out to protect her.

"Tian Tian!" Xiang Dongnan was rarely angry.

Tian Tian's small body shook, she stood by the door and curled her lips, bowing her head in silence.

Miriam pulled away Bryan's hand, hugged Tian Tian in her arms, and said to the southeast: "It's normal for a child to be lively and active. She doesn't know that I'm at the door. Don't be really angry with her. Don't be scared of you again."

Xiang Dongnan relaxed his expression, and smiled helplessly: "Every time I say that she can't listen, it's not a trivial matter if I hit you."

After finishing talking, he walked over and hugged Tian Tian, then nodded to Bryan, which was regarded as a greeting.

"I was here to see Auntie, just to say that you are coming back, so I stayed for a while." Xiang Dongnan explained with a smile.

Bryan welcomed Miriam in, with a slight smile on his face, no emotions, and lightly replied: "Mr. Xiang has bothered."

Miriam teased Tian Tian and said with a smile: "I heard my mother say that you have come to help these days, and you have taken care of Tian Tian and have worked hard for you."

Mother Lu had already come out of the kitchen, and then she began to blame: "It's not just Xiaonan's hard work, you go out to play by yourself, but Bryan is looking for you all over the world, even if you don't care about yourself, you have to think about your child!"

When Father Lu came out of the study, seeing Mother Lu was angry, he secretly greeted the children and then retreated. His decades of experience in married life told him how to protect himself when his partner caught fire.

Miriam was silent and listened with a low eyebrow.

My mother didn't say anything on the phone just now, and she must be criticized after meeting.

"We are still counting on you to be the pillar of the family. It's good for you to leave without saying anything. Did your dad and I teach you this since we were young?"

Mother Lu has lived in a privileged environment all her life, has a high level of education, and has always been strict with Miriam, and can't help but say a few more words.

Miriam was downcast, standing quietly with her waist supported.

Bryan had a bracelet around her waist, sharing part of her body's weight.

"Mom, I don't think much about what I do, and it's normal for Miriam to be angry."

When Mother Lu finished speaking, she threw down the sentence "Ready to eat", then turned around and went back to the kitchen.

Miriam breathed a sigh of relief, slowly raised her head, and chuckled at Tiantian: "Auntie has been violent, and she is in a bad mood. She will eat more supplements later, and Tian Tian will accompany her aunt to eat more."

The sympathy of a child is easily provoked, and he nods his head.

Xiang Southeast smiled slightly, the whole person revealed warmth, and softly comforted: "Auntie said just now that you are definitely not eating as good as at home, so I added two more dishes for you."

Miriam pursed her lips and smiled.

Turning to see Bryan taking off his coat and adjusting his sleeves, he was surprised: "Are you cooking?"

The man smiled and nodded: "Mom can't do it alone, I'll go in and help, you talk."

Miriam nodded in a daze, but felt weird in her heart, and I never saw him take such initiative in the past.

"By the way, we just bought a lot of food in the trunk. We originally planned to bring it up after eating. Now that there are too many people, we may need to add more. I have to trouble Mr. Xiang to get it. The car key will be given to you by Miriam." He spoke warmly and politely, and his expression was natural and sincere, which made people unable to refuse.

He paused to the southeast, looked at Miriam, and agreed.

He went out with his front foot, and Bryan came out of the kitchen with his right foot, and smiled helplessly at Miriam: "Mom said I was clumsy and just waited outside to eat."

Miriam is angry, this old fox...

He squeezed himself on the sofa with an innocent look, and Miriam glanced at him: "You didn't mean to let Lin Shui bring it up?"

"He hasn't arrived yet, he is in a hurry."

"What are you using in a hurry?" Miriam sneered.

The man was serious: "Crayfish, I still live when I buy it. I'm afraid I will die if I don't eat it tonight," he squinted at her, "Don't you like it best?"

"..."

