

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 257– 258

Chapter 257

He turned around with his waist, his smile was closed, and his complexion was faint, and he knew that this woman was not good after a glance.

Sophia gritted her teeth and hated her the most for her untouchable look, as if the whole world was surrounding her.

“What are you doing here again? The marriage is your own divorce, and you just bite on Brother Chen. I’m happy for you with a little shame!”

Her face is almost acrimonious, and she dresses up quite contrary to her noble lady.

Miriam felt that she was almost immune to the woman in front of her, and no matter what she said, she could listen calmly.

Glancing at her deeply, lowering her head and chuckles: “Well, you really worry about me, I thank you,” deliberately glanced at her watch and smiled, “Your brother Chen is going to take me home soon. Go out and wait for him.”

Sophia was furious, and when she saw that she was about to step forward, she pulled her back and sneered, “Listen to me! Even if you cheated Brother Chen, let him go around you, you can’t cheat! As long as his mother refuses to accept You, you never want to enter the gate of the Shao family again!”

Startled by her actions, she backed back while protecting her belly, but her wrists seemed to be clamped.

“You let me go.” His expression turned cold.

At this moment, the woman is almost devoid of consciousness, as long as it can hit Miriam, she said everything, glanced at her lower abdomen, and sneered: “Isn’t it a child? Isn’t it because the child will buy you? A bitch who depends on the child!”

“Snapped!”

This slap resounded across the hall, and everyone looked over with open mouths.

Miriam exhausted all her strength. After the fight, she felt a little numb and her expression was a little numb.

Who made her poked her own heart without a word.

Sophia turned her head to the side and was sluggish for a moment, then slowly turned her head, her face deformed and her eyes flushed.

I was shocked, struggling to earn his wrist, pinched tighter, bones hurt.

Seeing that she raised her other hand in the next second, she was about to fall, and she was ready to catch it.

Can't be beaten back again, it's not worthwhile.

"Stop it!" The voice came from the elevator, and the man's voice was low and shocking.

Sophia was completely indifferent, smiled strangely, let go of her hand, and her raised arm fell down immediately.

After all, she didn't fall to her face, otherwise she was about to knock herself off in this posture.

Bryan's face was so dark that water was almost dripping out, and the woman was thrown to the ground with a wave of hands in the next second.

"Are you living enough?!" Shen Sheng shouted, and then said to Yan Ke, "Kick this woman out!"

Sophia turned her head to cover her face, angrily and aggrieved, staring at the man: "She hit me first! Can't you see it?"

Miriam's face was expressionless, and she didn't even mean to excuse.

The man glanced sternly at Yan Ke: "Did you hear what I said?"

In the next second, Yan Ke pulled Sophia up without any qualms, letting her struggle to take it out.

The staff watching the show around knew that it was over, and they dispersed in a hurry while the CEO didn't notice.

The man lowered his eyes and glanced at her wrist, which was already bruised and frowned.

"I'll take you back." He took her hand.

Miriam didn't move, and said coldly, "Do you know why I beat her?"

The man condensed his eyebrows, and said for a while: "Naturally she said something that shouldn't be said and did something that shouldn't be done."

Miriam couldn't help but laugh, it was too late in the eyes of others that there was such an envious man who was protecting him.

But she couldn't help being sore in her heart.

Gently broke away from her hand, turned around blankly: "Let's go."

The man stood there, pondered for a moment, and raised his heel.

"She won't appear in Longteng in the future." Half like a guarantee, half like an apology.

She apologized for not protecting her well.

Miriam didn't seem to care about this, so she responded with an 'um'.

It doesn't matter where the woman is. In fact, she sees more transparently than herself, and what she says is her own key.

And how did you do it? In most cases, he would only choose to ignore it, be greedy for a moment of tranquility, and dare not delve into what the man next to him thinks.

I couldn't help laughing, how could he allow others to see through with such strict restraint.

"You sent me to Tian Tian school. School will be over soon. I'll wait a while and take a taxi to take her home." She looked lazy, a little unconscious.

The man didn't answer right away, opened the door to protect her, and got into the driver's seat again. He said, "You don't need to take a taxi. I will ask Yan Ke to send you off."

"No, Lin Shui is on vacation. He must be busy, so I won't bother him with this little thing."

The man was silent, glanced at her side face, and said nothing more.

...

In the next two days, there was nothing else but to take care of Tian Tian, and soon Mr. Henry called her to visit Yingxin.

A few business cards were pushed in front of Mr. Henry.

"This is the person in charge of the relevant magazine. You have communicated with them well. You are the person sent by Yingxin to be responsible for the investigation. You can grasp the specific measures yourself."

Miriam smiled and picked it up: "It's better for Mr. Henry to come forward and do things well. I will consider Yingxin."

“Well,” President Henry nodded, pondered for a moment, and then asked with a playful smile, “Why don’t you ask President Shao to help you? With his ability, he might be able to find people out for you directly.”

Miriam’s expression remained unchanged, Chang Jie lifted up slightly, looked away from the business card, and laughed at herself: “A divorced woman can’t be that wayward.”

President Henry raised his eyebrows, watching her leaving behind thoughtfully, and immediately called Bryan.

The man sits at his desk, playing with a valuable black pen in his hand.

“She really said that?”

President Henry laughed: “How dare I lie to you.”

The man’s thin lips moved slightly, his eyes looked down, and he couldn’t see his emotions: “I see, you continue to follow up, and I will arrange the rest.”

“it is good.”

The man put down his phone and his emotions were slightly leaked. How can she accept it?

Even if Miriam went to find a few magazines, they were all entertainment gossip clubs. They always refused to come to all kinds of breaking news. They paid to buy or sent paparazzi to shoot. Therefore, there is an unwritten rule: not to disclose and provide breaking news. Human privacy.

Therefore, when Miriam first went there, the other party was reluctant to say, but because it was on behalf of Yingxin, if you did not provide information, it would be rumors. It is also okay to file a lawsuit against them. For a small magazine, a lawsuit is troublesome. Can tell it all.

“It was sent by an ordinary paparazzi. Originally, we didn’t want to receive it. Who knows who the woman is, there is no selling point, but it was different when we contacted the president of Longteng Group. Then we learned that other magazines had also exploded.”

The editor-in-chief of the magazine was wearing heavy glasses and looked wilted, as if he had just gone out to squat back in person, rubbed his eyes, stared at Miriam, and said in doubt, “If I remember correctly, that woman looks pretty similar to you. Like, white skin...”

When Miriam came here, she had her hair loosened, and her face had become a lot more rounded recently, so she didn’t quite look like herself in the photo.

Chapter 258

He smiled and said: "The people in the company also said that we are a bit like, but it just looks like it suddenly, it won't work if you look closely," and then returned to the topic just now, "You can give me the contact information of the paparazzi, I Find him yourself."

The editor-in-chief nodded: "Okay, you can solve your problems yourself," he paused before going to find the contact information."However, anyone with a discerning eye can see that this matter is obviously malicious. If he and the woman Yes, that is, if your colleagues have no grudges, there must be others behind."

After coming out of the magazine, Miriam stopped a car and took her away, Yan Ke drove out from the corner of the street.

Miriam was thinking about how to let the paparazzi come out when the phone rang.

It is to the southeast.

"Brother?"

"Well, I'm going to pick up Tian Tian today. You and your uncle and aunt have worked hard these days." As always, the tone was gentle.

"Have you been hurt?" After thinking about it, "Tian Tian is very good at home, and my parents like her too. It's never too late to answer after you are well hurt."

Xiang Dongnan smiled and said, "Don't lie to me. I know the character of this child best. The first two days may be okay, but I will definitely be awkward in the future, and I will also pick food."

Miriam couldn't help but smile: "Knowing daughter Mo Ruo father," followed for a little thought, "Then come over at noon, and I will take her home immediately."

I hung up the phone and rolled his eyes.

The reason why paparazzi is a shameful profession is to infringe on the privacy of others. The most feared is the lawyer, so he simply asked the professional lawyer Xiang Southeast to contact him.

I just hung up the phone and told the driver to go to Tiantian school, and the phone rang again.

Bryan said he had arrived at school and was waiting for her there.

Before getting out of the car, I saw the man next to the car at a glance. His slender figure was wrapped in a high-class suit. His perfect facial features did not show much expression. He was thoughtful with his hands in his trouser pockets, and his temperament was quite different from the surrounding environment. .

I couldn't imagine that he would pick up the children home like this every day.

Miriam paid the money, and as soon as he closed the car door, he arrived by his side.

Seeing her coming from another direction, I couldn't help asking: "Where did you go?"

"Magazine, I found the paparazzi who provided the photos." After reading the watch, there were still a few minutes before school.

The man nodded, not too surprised, and said lightly: "When will I meet? I'll be with you."

Miriam raised her head to meet his gaze, and blinked: "I didn't want to show up at first. When I saw you, the victim, I was afraid to avoid it. Let's talk about it..." His eyes squinted, "You are so Big shots, doesn't it add pressure to others? It may be difficult to speak."

There are thorns both inside and outside.

The man frowned, not knowing what she was awkward, and suddenly thought of what she said in Mr. Henry, his tone was soothed: "I don't need to go, let Yan Ke send you off, and you must be safe when you see strangers."

Miriam knew that he could only retreat here, and also out of kindness, nodded in agreement.

He opened his mouth and wanted to say that he wanted to go southeast together. It was obvious that he had turned his head to look elsewhere.

He laughed with self-deprecating laugh, he didn't necessarily care, saying that it might only increase embarrassment.

After Tian Tian came out, he saw the two quite eye-catching.

Miriam smiled and held her hand, and said softly: "Tell Tian Tian a surprise. Dad is back today and you can see it at noon."

Who knows that Tian Tian hasn't reacted yet, the man next to him raised his eyebrows and raised his voice: "Is it all right so soon?"

Miriam was angry, but was afraid that the child would know, so she glared at him without answering.

The man nodded clearly and said to himself: "Then Lin Shui should also come back to work."

“...” I couldn't help but slander, the evil capitalism.

When the two arrived home, Xiang Dongnan had already arrived, and their faces were slightly bruised, but not so scary.

At the sight of Tian Tian, he hugged him with a smile and kissed him twice.

The child stared at his face blankly, wondering what was wrong.

“Dad painted a small painted face to see Tian Tian's characteristics. Does Tian Tian think it looks good?” Xiang Dongnan said softly.

The child touched it and laughed.

Miriam breathed a sigh of relief.

Xiang Dongnan thanked Lu's father and Lu's mother again, and was about to leave.

Miriam saw that it was already noon, and usually eats after school, so he said, “Let's go after lunch.”

The man beside him lowered his eyes calmly.

Mother Lu suddenly uttered an 'Ah Yo', and said embarrassingly: “I was patronizing her dad to play chess in the morning, and cooking was delayed! Look at my memory!”

Xiang Dongnan's brows moved slightly, his eyes flashed, and he quickly smiled: “It doesn't matter, Auntie, I heard Miriam say that Tian Tian wants to eat the bento I made recently. I'll go back and make it for her.”

Mother Lu smiled: “Hey, okay, your father and daughter should have some time alone when they first met.”

Miriam stared at her mother suspiciously. He clearly smelled the food just now.

After the father and daughter left, Lu's mother told Bryan to sit down first, and the meal would be fine later.

The man agreed with a smile.

Miriam suffocated her breath and pinched him secretly, her eyebrows stretched: “Why do you have food, no one else?”

Men are not afraid of pain, they smile even more, and the corners of their eyes are slightly raised, and they are quite proud: “Others can compare with me? Mom treats me well naturally because I have merit.”

Miriam gritted her teeth and was about to reason with him about his merits, but was interrupted by Lu's father quietly.

"Bryan, you come over and help me see how the game breaks while the meal has not started."

The man dyed his eyebrows with pride, and said leisurely in her ear: "Look, good chess skills are one of them."

"..."

Before leaving for work in the afternoon, Bryan saw her lying on the sofa watching the cartoon seriously. She climbed up her face with a smile, approached her relatives and kissed her on the cheek, and said softly: "If you are bored, you can go out to play and let Yan Ke send it. you."

Miriam blushed at his gentle behavior, and pushed: "I see, you go."

...

In the afternoon, I called Xiang Nannan to talk about the specific situation, he immediately agreed, after thinking about it, and then said: "You call him first, just say that Yingxin's lawyer asked him to meet and chat. If he disagrees, you just say no. Mind using some special methods, they are not good at this business, he alone can't withstand the toss of a big company, and he will definitely agree."

Miriam felt very reasonable: "Okay, I see."

"Tian Tian sent to class, I can go to see her with you now."

Miriam thought about it for a while. It was getting inconvenient day by day. It ended early and got better, so I made an appointment to see you downstairs.

After walking two steps downstairs, Yan Ke drove the car and parked in front of him.

Miriam choked, opened the car door and glanced at him weirdly: "Being a secretary, a driver, and a fight, how much did Mr. Shao pay you?"

Yan Ke still had a serious face and replied solemnly: "50,000 a month, 100,000 at the end of the year, for special performance, Mr. Shao will be awarded separately."

"..."

It's really hard for him to be so sincere.

"Wait on the side of the road, pick up Mr. Xiang." Miriam reminded.

