

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 261– 262

Chapter 261

Close your eyes and refuse to take another look.

The man turned silently.

...

Sophia couldn't help being surprised when she heard Shao's last words, but she didn't expect this woman to be more ruthless than her, and she deserves to be the head mother of the house for so many years.

He sighed softly, still covering his face with his hands: "Auntie, don't be too angry. Brother Chen is also for the child. I don't see her as much important..."

Shao's mother was silent, but her sharp eyes hit her and she couldn't help but stop her mouth.

He almost saw her thoroughly, and sneered: "You are a master who can pretend. It's a pity that you are not too shrewd. You are not Miriam's opponent at all."

Sophia's heart sank cruelly, her face turned pale, and she twitched her mouth, smiling ugly: "You... why do you say that?"

Shao's mother gathered the cardigan, with almost no obvious wrinkles on her well-maintained face, leaned back on the sofa.

Being able to raise a child like Bryan with one hand, she would never be as simple as the surface, Sophia couldn't help biting her lip.

Realizing how stupid it is to say half and half in front of her.

"I should have told you that Miriam don't want to enter my door, but she can't live without the children in her stomach," the voice fell cold, "Are you trying to kill two children today?"

Sophia opened her mouth, but did not dare to deny it.

Shao's mother closed her aura and held the water glass gracefully.

"Okay, I know you are also anxious, and still care about Bryan too much in your heart," he breathed a sigh of relief, thoughtful.

Sophia then raised her eyes to look at her.

“Yeah, you didn’t see how defiant Miriam was at the time, so I just said a few words and slapped me when I came up. I...Neither my parents have touched me...” He cried again.

Mother Shao couldn’t help feeling irritable when she saw her like this. She thought she could be smarter, so she would take Miriam out of her son’s heart, even if she entered Shao’s house.

But I didn’t expect it to be of no use except to add chaos.

“Okay, what does it look like to cry! Come to City Two with me tomorrow to see Miriam.”

Sophia couldn’t help but pause. Seeing that Mother Shao didn’t seem to be talking casually, she couldn’t help feeling happy.

“Look at her?”

Mother Shao glanced at her, she immediately saw through her mind, and sneered: “At least I was pregnant with my Shao family. Some things should be said clearly in advance.”

...

Miriam didn’t sleep almost all night, and the child kept tossing in her stomach, as if feeling the mother’s anxiety.

When she woke up early in the morning, Mother Lu couldn’t help worrying when she saw her haggard and black eyes.

“You and Bryan quarreled again?”

Seeing her mother’s expression on her face, Miriam felt distressed and couldn’t bear to bother her anymore, so she said, “No, the child was too dishonest last night and didn’t let me sleep well.”

Father Lu looked up from the newspaper and asked, “How long have you not gone for a birth check?”

After I said that, I remembered that a week has passed since the scheduled time.

“Then hurry up today and call Bryan later and let him accompany you.” Mother Lu didn’t even think about it.

Miriam’s face was expressionless, with a faint expression: “No, his company is very busy recently, I can just go by myself.”

Mother Lu’s tone was not very good at once: “No matter how busy you are, you can still spare this time. Is his own child not worth his job?”

Stirring the porridge in front of me, I felt dull.

There was a breath of air in his chest, thinking that the more important the child was to him, he refused to go.

But my eyes couldn't help but feel sore. What are you doing? Punish him or punish the child?

I love him, so I can't rub the sand in my eyes.

He doesn't love himself, so everything he does is so rational.

He lowered his head and smiled bitterly, and couldn't help asking himself, Miriam, it has been so long, when can you let go?

Seeing that she was in a bad mood, Shao's father touched Shao's mother under the table and told her to stop talking.

Shao mother thought for a moment, got up and went to the kitchen to call Bryan.

After the meal, Miriam was about to go out. When Shao's mother saw that Bryan hadn't arrived, she stopped her.

"I called Bryan, wait for him, and you will be here soon."

Miriam paused, frowning slightly: "You told him that it's not going to be used, I have already gone."

After speaking, take the bag and go downstairs.

Mother Lu opened her mouth without stopping.

As soon as he got out of the elevator, his face saw Yan Ke's car parked outside yesterday. The suppressed anger in his heart suddenly rose. He walked out quickly, knocked on the driver's window, glared, and prepared to vent.

But the car window slid down, and it turned out to be the man's calm face.

His face was full of anger and he was stunned, quite a bit strange.

The man saw that she was so sluggish, her fair skin was not at all blemishes, and she had some morning laziness, she was so cute.

Can't help but smile.

Miriam laughed when he saw him for no reason, and gritted his teeth: "Yan Ke doesn't need it anymore. Come and guard yourself. You really have spare time."

The man blinked and raised his eyebrows: "Mom said that I will go to the check-up today. Of course I will accompany you. Yan Ke can't take care of you for me."

Can't help but sneer: "Yan Ke can't, and you may not be able to."

Turn around and leave after speaking.

Bryan opened the car door and held her back, condensing her eyebrows, "What the hell are you making? If you think I'm not doing well, just say it, I will satisfy you."

Slowly turned around, glanced at his grasped wrist, and looked directly at him: "Who were you calling last night?"

The man's thin lips did not move, his expression changed.

Miriam smiled and said softly, "Doesn't my mother need to be present to discuss children's issues? Or do you think you can decide and deal with it privately?"

"I didn't make any decision. I will discuss with you about the child." The man explained.

What she said yesterday was misunderstood.

He didn't doubt that a mother could do anything to protect the child, and wanted to explain, but obviously she didn't believe it.

Miriam shook off his imprisonment, so she raised her eyebrows in time: "Okay, let's discuss it now, let's talk, what do you plan to do with them?"

The man frowned, his expression stern, and patiently looked at her.

A black Audi drove over and stopped beside them.

Shao's mother got out of the car, revealing her natural aristocratic temperament in front of Miriam. She glanced at the two of them lightly, and paused for a long time in her lower abdomen.

Miriam's expression changed slightly, but she also moved slightly, and then she saw Sophia getting down from the driver's seat.

Yesterday's palm prints were still clearly visible, and couldn't help but sneer.

The man's eyes were cold, he glanced at Sophia, then turned to face Shao's mother.

"Why didn't you tell me when you came to City Two?"

Mother Shao snorted and said, "I said you will let me come over?" After a pause, he took a sigh of relief, "I have nothing else to do, just look at Miriam. After all, it's hard to be pregnant with a child."

Sophia approached, encircling Mother Shao's arm, with an intimate look, and smiled: "Miriam, auntie has been thinking of you for so long. You haven't visited her for so long. We can only come in person."

Miriam didn't answer, just staring at her face, scanning it back and forth several times, until she got angry when she was seen: "Aunty, don't you say hello when she is here?! What are you staring at me for?"

Chapter 262

The voice was sharp, and the pretended lady's appearance was suddenly broken.

Shao's mother was not depressed, and stared at her.

Miriam smiled and said unhurriedly: "Auntie came here, why are you still following? This face... is really not suitable for going out. You might be responsible for scaring a child."

Sophia stopped at one point and pointed to Miriam's eyebrows.

Mother Shao's eyes were cold, and she reprimanded in a deep voice, "Miriam, what do you look like when you talk like this? I haven't found you so fangs and sharp mouth before, why? It changed when you divorced Bryan? Or did you have children on your own? Can you have no scruples?"

The man looked coldly: "Mom, she didn't mean that, don't deliberately misinterpret it."

Miriam smiled sarcastically. It seems that today I am specifically looking for painlessness for myself. In this case, there is no need to keep backing down.

"You haven't spoken to outsiders like this before. Do you think I am not a member of the Shao family when I am divorced? You need to be polite?"

Shao Mu's face suddenly became ugly.

Bryan called her in a low voice, which was full of meaning.

Can't help but frown, surrounded by three people, feeling depressed and out of breath.

He stepped back, unwilling to look at them again, and said indifferently: "I am going to go for a checkup. If there is nothing wrong with you, I will leave first."

Sophia hates the itching of the roots of her teeth, isn't she just a child? Proudly like this!

I bitterly thought: Wait, as long as the child is born, you don't even have the status of a normal woman!

“Don’t leave now, I have something to tell you.” Mother Shao said, turning her head to Bryan, “Go ahead, and I’ll take her to the hospital after talking.”

The man remained motionless and said beyond doubt: “This is what I should do. If you have anything to say, we will go.”

Mother Shao constricted her eyebrows: “What? You don’t even believe me now? Can I still harm her?”

Miriam was irritable, just wanting to end this situation quickly, and raised her head lightly and said to the man: “You go first, just say something, I’m not that vulnerable.”

Sophia sneered secretly.

The man was silent and walked in front of her with a gentle expression: “I will wait for you in the car, and accompany you to the hospital after finishing talking.”

Miriam didn’t respond, and turned to look in other directions.

With only three people left, Miriam condensed her eyebrows: “You can say anything if you have anything.”

Shao’s mother’s eyes flickered faintly, and the light flashed by, and her eyebrows sank. After years of experience, she brought her own scrutiny when she saw people.

When the two did not get divorced, they looked down upon this woman. For three years, the son was not enthusiastic about her. Although he didn’t add help to his career, it was nothing wrong.

But now, being divorced has fascinated him, and left his deadliest hand, the child.

Even oneself did not admit her existence, and had to admit that the methods were indeed clever.

But it’s useless, after all, a child can’t grow on him forever, there is always one day to be born.

Miriam doesn’t like this feeling the most. There is no kindness, no concern, but coldness, which makes people feel uncomfortable.

“Is the child okay recently?”

The reason for her to come in person is of course the child.

His face couldn’t stop ridiculing, but he also endured it, thinking about leaving after talking.

“Everything is fine, there is no problem.”

“Which one is in the prenatal education class?”

“No.”

The brow furrowed and the tone was raised: “Did not attend prenatal education? Can you give your child a snack?”

I just felt choked in my throat and couldn't speak, so I didn't say anything at all.

Seeing her indifferent face, there was no reaction at all, and she was even more angry. Years of restraint made her silent, and then said: “Tomorrow I will find one for you, and you will report as soon as possible.”

Can't stop sneering.

Sophia couldn't see her doing this, and said in disgust: “Auntie is not a joke, what are you laughing at?”

He glanced at her coldly, and wrote lightly: “I'm not going.”

She is a person, not a thing, so she must do what she does.

Shao's mother rarely receives such disobedience, and her exquisite makeup can't conceal her anger.

“Miriam, I am doing this for you and your child, what are you doing?”

Feeling like this is going to be endless, he drew his hair impatiently, then looked at his watch.

Coldly said: “I didn't want to do anything. I haven't had time to go to prenatal education recently. The appointment time with the doctor is approaching. If you have anything to say next time.”

Miriam turned to leave, but was stopped by Sophia.

“You don't even care about what your auntie said?!” His eyes were sharp, but he was obviously provocative.

Miriam didn't have a hint of temperature in her eyes: “Do you want to slap again?”

Before she could react, she turned and left.

Bryan had been paying attention to this side, and saw her rushing to the entrance of the campus, starting the car to catch up.

Miriam could not tolerate anything except grievance and anger. The man honked the horn beside him and turned a deaf ear to him. He stopped the car when he left the complex.

The man got out of the car and took her to the car.

“Don’t touch me!” Miriam almost yelled, her face flushed with excitement.

“I regret leaving the child behind, and I regret giving you such a chance to approach me, Bryan, don’t wear away the last trace of my feelings for you...”

The man’s face turned pale, and she was with a trace of despair before him.

She still has a touch of affection for him, so why not believe it?

“Miriam, you have never believed it, I treat you out of my sincerity.”

The man’s voice was flat, but it pierced into her heart, pulling like a thread, so painful that she couldn’t breathe.

There is no temperature in the eyes, and so is the voice: “Whenever I want to believe, I will be taken into the abyss in the next second, I am afraid.”

Miriam took a breath and went to the side of the road to wait for the bus.

Bryan followed closely, still worrying about going on her own.

Now he didn’t even have the strength to stop him from following him, and let him follow, as if he hadn’t seen it.

He does all the numbers and consultations at the hospital. It seems strange, too, he doesn’t need to do this kind of thing himself.

The doctor glanced at the medical record sheet, and glanced at the two of them, rather coldly: “It has been a week since this came. You should pay more attention to the twins, and pay attention to the normal fetal position and various indicators.”

Miriam blinked, feeling embarrassed.

Immediately after, they prescribed two health products for pregnant women and handed them to Bryan: “Dad, go and get them. I will tell the mother of the child some other precautions.”

Miriam was taken aback, a trace of complexity flashed in her eyes.

Bryan was also stunned. This was the first time he was regarded as a father from someone else, and his hand that held the list trembled slightly.

After the two came out of the hospital, there was still no conversation, and the man walked beside her silently.

I don't know when he brought Lin Shui over. He drove a new car, which was very valuable at first glance.

Seeing that Miriam refused to move, she could only say softly: "Mom told me to send you back, and don't worry her."

Lin Shui got out of the car, opened the door eagerly, and said with a smile: "Mr. Shao specially asked me to change to a comfortable car. I bought a new one. After a long trial, there is a seat exclusively for pregnant women."

Miriam couldn't help but sneered: "President Shao has a good eye, and the people he finds are heartfelt, and he is very good at assisting."

Seeing her willing to say a few words awkwardly, the corners of the man's mouth moved slightly.