

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 263– 264

Chapter 263

“It’s good to look for a wife.”

After speaking, he took her waist and got into the car.

Lin Shuile hahaly closed the door for the two of them.

After walking for ten minutes, Miriam realized that this was not the way home.

Angrily asked the man next to him: “Where are you taking me? I want to go home.”

Seeing her look bad, she was afraid and angry, so she comforted her softly: “You are in a bad mood now, and you are still in the room when you go home. It’s better to relax and meet friends.”

Miriam knew how bad she was now, but she wasn’t in the mood to see any friends, she just wanted to go back to sleep, and forgot about him.

“I want to go home.” said it again.

Lin Shui’s eyes moved, and his heart hung up, fearing that the two would quarrel.

“Kristy is also pregnant, you don’t want to talk to her?” The man informed her of the news calmly.

Miriam was surprised, “Follow...”

Bryan nodded.

“that...”

“May be getting married.”

He didn’t even inform himself, but told this man first! Whose girlfriend is she on earth!

Miriam was stunned, but the news came too fast and couldn’t digest it for a while.

“How do you know?” Yang Mei asked him.

The corner of the man’s mouth was raised, his smile grew stronger, but he refused to say it.

“Kristy’s company is in contact with Long Teng again, and her Mr. Huo’s position is not low,” her eyes narrowed. “Could it be that you took him as a brother again?”

The man turned his head, looked at her with a smile, and said non-committal: “It proves once again that I have a good vision and I am very smart.”

Miriam couldn’t help but twitched the corners of her mouth, but she still didn’t look good: “Sure enough, things are gathered in groups, and people are divided in groups.”

Bryan was not angry either, knowing that she was fighting injustice for a good sister.

The expression was faint and said: “Like a person drinking water and knowing it is cold or warm, Miss Kristy is interesting to Mr. Huo, and she must want to be with him in her own heart. Mr. Huo is a responsible person and may not be irresponsible, although she was a little hasty in the beginning. The ending may not be bad.”

The beginning is hurried, the ending may not necessarily be bad.

They started hastily, but what happened to the end?

Seeing her lowering his eyes, the man moved his mind slightly, wrapped his hand on his leg, and said in a deep voice: “If someone wants to persist, there will be results. Don’t worry.”

Miriam was startled slightly, her heart was shocked by the man’s voice.

Who wants to persist between them? Does he want?

Near noon, the car stopped in front of a restaurant. Miriam looked up and looked familiar. After thinking about it for two seconds, she remembered that it was the porridge restaurant he took her to last time.

Kristy waved to her through the floor-to-ceiling windows with a lovely smile, her complexion was not so good.

The man sitting next to him was Mr. Huo, with bright eyebrows and starry eyes, and he was also a prominent person in the crowd.

“She is Mr. Shao’s ex-wife?” Mr. Huo looked at Miriam with a smile, and asked Kristy.

“Yes, how? My best friend is not so good, right?” Kristy touched his arm, confident from nowhere.

Mr. Huo smiled at the corner of his mouth and nodded obediently: “Well, it goes well with Mr. Shao.”

Kristy was actually not so happy when she heard this. In addition to being better and having a bit of bad money, that Bryan really didn't have anything good. She covered her unwarm iron heart and made Miriam suffer so much for nothing.

Miriam smiled and looked at Kristy with a weird smile: "Are you willing to bring it out to meet people?"

Kristy got up and put her arms around her with a smile on her eyebrows: "If you don't bring it out again, I'm afraid you will hit me." Then she looked at her around and condensed her eyebrows. color."

Turning his head and staring at Bryan, his tone was not very good: "Shao is always reluctant to eat or drink. If you really want to take care of it, I just took it back and raised it, and the two children would just consider me the father."

The man remained calm and collected all the scorns: "It is my fault, Miss Kristy, despite the punishment."

Miriam glanced at him, pursed her lips, and pulled Kristy next week.

"Do you still want me to have a good meal? Mr. Huo is still there!"

Mr. Huo smiled and nodded: "Kristy, finally see you once, let Miss Lu sit down and order."

Kristy moved the corners of her mouth, swallowed the words that came to her lips, and pulled Miriam to sit down.

The man put the menu in front of her and poured another cup of hot water.

Mr. Huo watched the action on the other side, drank his saliva, and said with a smile: "Mr. Shao said that you like this porridge. He made a special appointment here. You can see which one is delicious and let us try it.

Miriam looked up, with a gentle expression: "The porridge is really good, but Kristy doesn't seem to like it too much. Let's order more dishes."

Mr. Huo was taken aback for a moment and nodded quickly.

Miriam glanced at Kristy who was across from her, which was very meaningful.

She doesn't like to drink porridge. I am afraid that anyone who eats a few more meals with her can detect it. Now that the children are there, the man is unconscious.

Kristy glared back at her and lowered her head to order.

Bryan suddenly took out the menu from her hand, and Miriam looked at him in surprise.

“Every dish must be spicy, normal people can’t stand it.” He said that he crossed out the selected dishes and added some light ones.

Kristy snorted and blinked: “It turns out that I made a mistake. You are the one who tossed you like this. Pregnant women don’t know what to eat.”

Miriam was dumb.

After the dishes came, several people were eating and chatting, mainly two women talked a lot, from clothes to cosmetics, and from work to travel.

“By the way, now that the children are there, don’t you hurry up to have the wedding?” Miriam asked abruptly.

Kristy looked unnatural, deliberately put the vegetables into her mouth, and gave the words to the man next to her.

Mr. Huo was silent and thought about it next: “If Kristy wants the wedding to achieve satisfactory results, she must prepare for at least two months. I have been discussing with the wedding company in the past two days.”

Miriam glanced at Kristy, still stuffing her mouth recklessly, couldn’t help kicking him under the table, but didn’t see her react.

He can only nod his head and said: “Well, if you have any plans in this regard, you still have to hurry up. You and Kristy should not be young anymore, you should have a home.”

Kristy finally raised her head and protested: “Who said that you must marry when you are old? Why do you worry about me as beautiful as a flower?”

Miriam: “...”

The man next to him never said a word. Miriam looked down, took off his napkin to go to the bathroom, looked down and saw a footprint on his straight black trousers, and his head was stunned.

He was stepped on just now...

No wonder Kristy didn’t respond.

The man lifted his eyelids, looked at her sluggish expression, his thin lips were slightly raised, and his eyebrows were raised: “Should I be with you?”

Miriam returned to his senses and glared at him. Why would he accompany a woman to the toilet?

Pass by.

For a moment, Kristy put down the tableware and followed directly. The two men tacitly knew that they had a whisper to say, and smiled at each other.

Chapter 264

Wiping her face in the mirror, Kristy appeared behind her with a smirk.

“I suspect that you will become a rural woman after giving birth to a child. How to make it like this makes me silent.” He looked at her with disgust.

Miriam didn't get angry, and blinked and smiled: “Your passion is going on at the same time as having a baby, but it's a spring breeze. You can stay beautiful and experience extraordinary happiness. I envy me too.”

Kristy took out the powder to touch up her makeup, and gave her a white look: “It's okay if others can't see it. It's boring for me to be so sarcasm when you see it,” she said, her expression faded, “He didn't really want to marry me. I just thought it was right. I happened to be pregnant again. I didn't have to work hard to solve two major problems in life. As long as there are no special circumstances, everyone would be happy.”

Miriam turned her head to stare at her delicate side face, and said for a while: “You don't care? Even if he doesn't love you.”

Kristy is the most arbitrary and unrestrained. For many years, she has firmly believed that she will find the person who is willing to share life and death. Only the one who loves her the most can be worthy of living such a fresh life.

But the reality was so cruel, she could tell at a glance that Kristy was not happy, but instead needed to deceive herself by the glamour on the surface.

The hand shook slightly, and the start became heavy, and it was obvious that there was an uneven patch.

It doesn't matter: “What can I care about? Is there any other choice besides marrying him?”

Miriam opened her mouth and closed it again, her eyes dimmed.

“You want me not to step in your back.” Kristy took the makeup box and looked at her quietly.

Miriam smiled bitterly: “I just don't want you to be in such a dilemma.”

“He treats you very well.”

It is very good, considerate and meticulous.

But if this happened at any time during those three years, she would wake up from a dream, but after the divorce...

“He is for the child, and his mother, even more so,” laughed self-deprecatingly. “After they are born, I am afraid I will be useless.”

Kristy frowned: “You think too much, right? Although Bryan hasn’t done well enough in loving you, but based on his understanding of him in the past few years, he won’t be able to do such a desperate thing.”

He smiled, and said, “It’s just that I think too much,” and then he said, “If you really want to try, then marry your child and always have a father.”

“Speaking of father, when are you going to remarry with him? It’s been five or six months, and he didn’t mention it?”

My heart was slightly agitated: “No hurry, I don’t want to remarry now.”

Kristy stopped her and couldn’t help sighing: “Why do women have to suffer more...”

Miriam suddenly remembered something, and took out a string of numbers from her pocket and handed it to her: “Don’t you have a brother with good internet skills? Ask him to help find out who has used this number.”

Then he took a curious look, with a teasing corner of his mouth: “What’s the matter? Caught Mr. Shao’s mistress?”

This man couldn’t help rolling his eyes when he was not serious for a minute.

“I don’t bother to check his mistress, don’t ask, work matters.”

When they came back, they saw Bryan and Mr. Huo chatting together, and they laughed at Yan Yan.

Kristy’s mouth was sharp, and she pretended to be angry and said, “Why, we two are covering your mouths and not letting you talk? We got active while we were away.”

Mr. Huo pulled her down and explained with a gentle smile: “We are talking about business matters, I’m afraid you will be bored.”

Bryan asked Miriam’s hand to let her sit down slowly. Seeing that the food was getting cold, he ordered another serving.

“No, I’m almost full.” Miriam refused.

The man didn’t follow her, his face was faint: “Eat too little, Mom said you didn’t eat much in the morning.”

As he said, she sent her water-stained forehead back and flicked it gently.

Opposite Kristy smiled strangely, couldn't help but cough, leaned back and avoided his hand.

But he didn't seem to notice, he frowned and asked the waiter for a dry towel to wipe her hair.

The intimacy made her ears red, and the two people on the opposite side pretended to eat seriously.

"Don't move, let me eat well." He picked up the chopsticks and ate his head.

The man had a smile in his eyes, watching her eating with satisfaction.

Kristy glanced at the calm and indifferent man beside her, and sighed.

Miriam, don't be blessed in the blessing.

Miriam felt a little uncomfortable after eating this meal after two o'clock in the afternoon, and wanted to go out for a walk.

Kristy slung Mr. Huo's arm and said goodbye with a smile: "We will go to the wedding company in the afternoon and we will not accompany you."

Miriam could not see her hypocritical appearance, waved her hand and quickly let her go.

There were two more people left, thinking that there was nothing interesting here, so they simply went back and walked around the community.

But Lin Shui was not driving over.

"There is a shopping mall nearby, let's go around." The man beside him said.

I still remember the last time he went to the mall to buy her clothes and shoes.

Miriam uttered an 'um' if there was nothing to do.

The man picked her up, raised his foot to go, but was pulled back.

Pointing to the footprints on his trouser legs, handed him a tissue and said awkwardly: "Wipe."

"Yeah." The man lowered his head.

His feet were not light, he didn't even frown at the time, and he was really able to pretend, Miriam couldn't help but curl his lips.

The mall is very big, there are no people in the afternoon, and the clerk is lazy at the door.

“There is the baby area, you can go shopping.” The man reminded.

Miriam turned her head, and a piece of pink and tender clothes and shoes were neatly laid out, looking softly.

Mother Lu has never done needlework. Recently, she also learned how to make small clothes following the tutorials on TV, but most of them were unsuccessful. Occasionally, she had to study for a long time when her small belly was done, thinking about how to wear it.

The footsteps moved over unconsciously.

When the clerk saw a pregnant woman with a big belly, and the couple came together, they immediately cheered up and greeted them with a smile.

“It looks like it’s July or August during your pregnancy, right?” the clerk asked with a smile.

Smiled and shook his head: “Five and a half months, because they are twins, they look big.”

The clerk smiled in surprise: “You are so lucky! You will enjoy two blessings in the future,” he glanced at Bryan, his face was a little red, “Your husband and wife look so good, and the baby must have a high value.”

Although I knew it was flattery, I was still happy to hear it.

“But it seems that you should work harder than the average expectant mother,” followed by introduction, “We also have products for expectant mothers, which can alleviate the mother’s hard work. You can choose.”

Miriam was originally attracted by the little things in front of him, and didn’t want to leave, but was directly pulled by the man to see the product of his mother.

The clerk’s eyes were vivid, and he saw that Bryan was interested, and he quickly introduced him. All the things he said were bought by men.

Miriam had a black face now, buying so many things was useless, besides, there were only a few months left, and there was no use except waste.

“Don’t do this.” It was taken out of the shopping cart.