

Let Me be Your Ex Chapter 287– 288

Chapter 287

At noon, Henry Zong and Mu Ming came over and asked them when they would go back. If it was convenient, they could be together.

Miriam was very happy, but Bryan did not express his position.

They are all human beings, and Mr. Henry immediately laughed and haha: “The flight we took may not be a good time. You are not suitable for a pregnant woman, so you should choose a suitable time.”

Miriam choked, didn't he say he wanted to be together? Why is it reluctant?

However, as soon as the two of them left, Miriam received a call from Mother Lu and wanted to take Father Lu to the hospital, saying that he had been too easy to forget things recently.

Miriam didn't take it seriously. It was normal for the elderly to forget things.

I hung up the phone and told Bryan about it. Seeing him think about it, I decided to go back as soon as possible.

“It's okay here. Since they need us, go back as soon as possible.”

Miriam has no opinion.

The two set off in the afternoon and arrived around the evening.

But when he got home, the atmosphere was obviously not so good. Mother Lu sat on the sofa and did not cook. Xiang Southeast sat next to him, Tian Tian piled Lego on the side.

I didn't see Father Lu, probably in the study again.

To the southeast stood up and said hello.

Miriam put down her bag and smiled: “Is the office okay today?”

“Well, when I came here, I knew that you had been out for several days.” Xiang Dongnan said gently, glanced at Mother Lu, whose face was not so good, opened his mouth, and stopped talking.

Miriam saw that he was not looking right. Mother Lu kept silent and frowned, “What happened?”

Bryan's expression changed slightly, he paused, and said, "Sit down and say."

As soon as she sat down, Mother Lu couldn't help crying, and Miriam was shocked.

"In the morning, my aunt was so worried that I called me and asked me to take my uncle to the hospital. She said that he was too fond of forgetting things recently and went to the brain department to be diagnosed." After a slight pause, he paid attention to Miriam's face and said. It's Alzheimer's disease."

Bryan's complexion darkened, and his brows frowned slightly.

Miriam's mind bounced, not knowing what to do, and mechanically recalling what Alzheimer's disease was. After thinking about it for a long time, she didn't think of anything.

Condensed his eyebrows and turned his head, a little dull, looking at Bryan.

"Very serious illness?"

Although it was a question, it didn't mean to ask, and the focus in his eyes gradually lost.

The man felt a little pain when he saw her appearance, and said in a deep voice: "It's not very serious, and the development of control will not be too fast in time. We will find the best doctor for treatment."

Mother Lu obviously couldn't take it anymore, and cried louder and louder: "He just got out of the ghost gate, so how come he got this disease! How will this make me live in the future?!"

Miriam seemed to have been hit, her face changed slightly, and after a few seconds of contemplation, she felt an instant burst of breath, stretched out her hand to hug Mother Lu, and comforted: "It's not a terrible disease. This disease usually develops slowly. Paying attention to exercise more body and brain will not delay the development of the disease. Besides, it is not a fatal disease. We can take good care of him. It's okay, Mom."

Comforting her is like comforting oneself.

Seeing that the adults were in a bad mood, Tian Tian stopped her movements, curled her lips to cry, and hugged her to the southeast.

Bryan got up: "You go back first. Taking care of the children is important. Today's affairs are troublesome. Thank you again tomorrow."

Nodding slightly to the southeast, looking at Miriam and Lu Mu.

Mother Lu received her emotions and lowered her eyes and said, "Yes, I scared the child like this. Go back first, Southeast, thank you."

“It’s okay, Auntie, things are not as bad as you think. Besides, we will definitely take care of Uncle.” After speaking, he patted Miriam on the back and nodded to leave.

The man called Lin Shui and asked him to bring food.

Miriam knew that this was the backbone of her parents, and quickly adjusted her emotions. If she was not optimistic, how could she reassure the two elders?

Bryan stayed for another two minutes, got up and gestured to her slightly, and entered the study.

Father Lu was still holding the book as usual, and when Bryan entered, he smiled and waved his hand to let him pass, just as usual.

“Miriam’s mother is better?” He chuckled again, “My illness is like dying, crying, how can it be so serious!”

The man smiled and went to sit down.

After a little pause, he said relaxedly: “Let the experts take a look again tomorrow and give some advice in time. It is still easy to control in the early stage.”

Father Lu put down the book and sighed, there was a lot more around his forehead.

“When people are old, it is normal to get sick, and I can accept it,” looked at Bryan with a slightly old look, and showed concern.”It’s just that you don’t need to worry about the mother and daughter. You don’t have to comfort me. I know that the disease has not been much. A good treatment effect requires a lot of worry in the later stage.”

“I will try my best to treat you, Miriam and mom, and I will take care of them. These are not problems.” Bryan spoke unhappily, but was extra serious.

Father Lu eased his brows and smiled, as if he was relieved: “I know you are a good boy, Miriam and the child can only be relieved if they are handed over to you.”

Father Lu was calm in the face of illness. Whether it was punishment for the things he had done before, or God’s will, he could see it, but he couldn’t worry about some things and people.

Bryan got up and pushed him out for dinner.

“Bryan, there is something...” He said at the beginning, then stopped, and shook his head again, “It’s okay, let’s go out.”

The man nodded.

Miriam kept serving Lu's mother at the dinner table, but he didn't take much care of the real patient. Lu's father couldn't help but joking: "When I am sick, you will be taken care of. You will treat me well in the future."

Mother Lu glared at him and couldn't help laughing.

After the meal, the two elderly people fell asleep, and Miriam sat on the sofa in a daze.

Bryan changed into a beige sweater, revealing the charm of a mature man, adding a little gentle temperament to the supernatural features.

The sofa next to him was sunken, and then a strong man's breath came in.

"Tomorrow the best brain specialist will come over and go to the hospital for consultation. We will do our best to do our best."

Xuxu whispered, trying to make her feel more at ease.

Miriam smiled and looked down, owing him more and more, not knowing when to pay it off.

The long eyelashes cast a shadow on the eye sockets, and the emotions were hidden.

"You go back first, you have been tired for a few days, take a good rest."

The man deceived him and hugged her: "Don't go, I've been living here recently," Miriam didn't wait for Miriam's objection, then said, "There are more crowds, and everything can be handled in time."

Not allowing her to say more, he leaned over and picked her up and walked to the bedroom.

Feeling the vibration of his mobile phone, the red ear whispered: "Answer the call, put me down first."

The man lowered his head and pecked his small pink lips, with a smile in his eyes, and his sexy voice said solemnly: "The order is reversed. The phone call is not important."

Miriam was flushed with his amusement. With a move of her hand, she touched the phone in his pocket, her eyes moved slightly, and she pulled out.

Some people showed Qi Yun.

Look at the time again, it's almost ten o'clock.

He has already come to the bed, put down by him, and handed over the phone.

"What's the matter?" The man asked succinctly and quickly.

I don't know what was said over there, but I didn't miss the slight flicker of his eyes.

"Well, I see, you rest early."

Miriam looked at him: "In a hurry?"

Bryan's eyes were up and down, with a slightly cold face, and sneered: "Sophia had a car accident in Jincheng. The police investigation said it was related to my mother."

Miriam frowned, surprised: "Is it serious?"

"Rescue." The man covered her with a quilt.

"When did she go to Jincheng? Besides, she has always had a good relationship with your mother..."

This kind of thing happens only when the relationship is close.

Chapter 288

Bryan's eyes were long and deep, but he quickly covered it again without revealing it in front of her.

Miriam moved her lips slightly. At any rate, she lived with him for so long. Although the grievances with Shao's mother were getting deeper and deeper, it was his mother after all. She moved because of the reason that blood is thicker than water.

Pulling the quilt, with some concern: "Go back and have a look, you must be needed over there."

But the man quickly got up and said, "No, Lin Shui has passed. Sophia has her parents in charge. Let's talk about what happens at the police station."

Following his gaze, Miriam raised her head and opened her mouth.

This man seems to be confident and deep-minded at all times, but never reveals anything to her.

All she can see is when he is willing to expose it.

Without speaking, he pushed him to take a bath. Since he didn't leave, he would take a good rest. After following him for a few days, I found that he sleeps very little and is used to handling documents at night.

The slender fingers were placed on his chest, and the hard muscles flowed so well that he didn't push the slightest effort.

The bright eyes stood up, but they happened to crash into his deep eyes. The next second, the man made a low voice grin, raised his hand to wrap her hand, and the other hand supported her back and elbow from behind. Prop up on her.

The tips of their noses touched each other, and they were close at hand, breathing the same piece of air, and the room instantly fell silent.

Miriam didn't want to admit that her heart was beating fast at this moment, her handsome face was right in front of her eyes, she was reluctant to blink, and she saw the looming affection in his eyes.

He might be crazy, and for an instant it seemed as if he was returning to the first time I saw him, and I just saw it.

I couldn't help but cursed at myself. I didn't know what to do, my whole body was scarred, I still don't remember the pain.

There was a smile in the man's eyes, and when she saw her from throwing into a trance, her body suddenly fell down, she covered her lip again, bit her, and a voice full of magnetic and sexy questioning: "You're distracted, thinking what?"

Miriam had a pain in her mouth, blinked, and a trace of anger condensed in her eyes, like an angry rabbit, without any threatening words: "You care what I think! Hurry up and take a bath, I'm going to sleep."

The man pressed his body down again, with some nasal sounds, and whispered, "I washed it just now, don't despise me."

Miriam's hair exploded, he... was acting like a baby with himself?

Immediately the whole body was taken by him and rolled a half circle. He protected her lower abdomen very well and didn't make any major movements, but the two bodies stuck together without any gap.

Thin lips spread down from her forehead, extended to the corners of her eyes, then the tip of the nose, and finally found the petite lips.

Miriam gritted his teeth. As long as he wanted to do this kind of thing, his body couldn't control the reaction, and there was no room for resistance.

The teeth were finally pried apart, and he drove straight in for an instant, and his big hand entered from under his clothes, and Miriam trembled.

Because the air conditioner was not turned on, the heat of the whole body caused fine beads of sweat to ooze out of his forehead, especially on the man, with forbearance and wildness in his long eyes.

Miriam started to play, and while he was attacking his neck, she whispered: "Now that the child is a month old, he can't do this anymore."

The man visibly paused on her body, raised his head, his eyes were like a lake, and the calm was a storm that he endured.

"It's all time, I'm afraid I won't do it in the future? You are the one who suffers." The man saw her through at a glance, teasing.

Miriam blocked her chest in one breath: "How do you know that you have to do it?"

The man smiled uncontrollably: "Then who dare you tell me?"

Miriam didn't look at the way he ate himself to death, frowning immediately, but the man leaned down quickly as if he hadn't seen it, and asked in a deep voice in her ear, "Can you?"

Miriam was angry and did not speak.

Soon the clothes on his body were removed by him, and he was able to react.

Entering very gently, with gentle movements, but his breathing is getting heavier, he unconsciously loops around his lean waist and closes his eyes.

Countless times of combination, each time he can be taken into another world, I have to say that he... is very powerful in this respect.

After being tired, he was hugged by him to take a bath, returned to the bed, and immediately fell asleep.

Mother Lu was woken up the next day.

Seeing her coat on the sofa, she knew she hadn't gone, but she didn't know that Bryan was there. He knocked on the door and then pushed in. Miriam called out 'Mom' in a panic.

Mother Lu was taken aback, and quickly realized that the young man knew a lot about everything, but he couldn't help but blush and closed the door in response.

Miriam stared bitterly and smiled at a leisurely man, turning over to get up.

The man glanced at the red marks on her neck and said casually: "That yellow silk scarf suits you well."

Miriam was taken aback, and quickly reacted to what he said, rushing to look in the mirror angrily, and there was even his tooth print! This person is a dog, right?

When she came out of the bathroom, the man was already dressed, his expression was gentle, he looked full and he was in a good mood.

“Get out of the way.” Standing in front of him angrily.

The man didn't move, laughed, and changed the subject before she exploded: “Experts from abroad arrive in the afternoon, and go for a checkup in the morning.”

I thought he didn't leave last night, and he must leave today. Hearing that, I was stunned.

“What about your mother?”

Bryan put on yesterday's casual beige cardigan and didn't care much: “She will handle it by herself.”

Indeed, living in a wealthy family like the Shao family for so many years has experienced more ups and downs than this, and more cruel, and there will be no shortage of wrists and brains.

In addition to the disturbances a few days ago, I am afraid that Shao's mother has not had much energy to distract to City Two recently.

If that is the case, Miriam is happy.

Coming out of the bedroom, Father Lu sat in a wheelchair, playing with the flowers and plants that he had just planted.

“Miriam, bring me the pliers,” Father Lu pointed to the corner of the wall, but when he saw Miriam, he was taken aback and quickly smiled, “Bryan, take it.”

He forgot just now.

Miriam looked a little ugly, but still smiled.

“In the morning, I will go for a checkup, and in the afternoon I will take you to the hospital, and an expert will come.”

Father Lu was quite indifferent. He nodded casually, but instead focused on her body. The wrinkles on her forehead became more obvious in the sun. With an old manner, he said with a kind eyebrow: “Dad wants to follow you to the checkup, okay?”

As if feeling that I was causing trouble, I frowned when I said it.

Miriam replied without thinking, “Okay,” he said with a smile, “I say hello to the police station.”

Bryan handed the pliers to Father Lu, and said gently: "Dad said if he wanted to join us, Miriam also hopes that you can be with her."

The corners of Lu's mouth moved slightly, his eyes were slightly startled, he turned his head to look outside and blinked vigorously.

Miriam felt sore in her heart, pursed her lips, and went into the kitchen.
