

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 1907

“No.”

Rodney was calm. In fact, Sarah did not take advantage of him at all.

She was nice to him.

Even so, he could not say that now.

“Don’t worry. My relationship with her is over. Now, all I want is to live a happy life with you and Dani.” A serious expression washed over Rodney’s face.

Freya fell silent.

She just hoped that he would not let her down.

After breakfast, Rodney drove her to the office. Only after she went upstairs did he call Shaun. “I heard you’re looking for Sarah.”

“Mm.” Shaun replied in a low voice, “How dare that woman trick me? I must torture her little by little.”

Rodney felt bad. “Are you sure she’s back? How did you know?”

“I have my own means. Why are you asking this?” Shaun raised his brows.

“I heard it from Freya. Since you want to look for Sarah, I can get some Snowden members to help you out. But there’s no need to ask my uncle for help. I’m worried that this issue will cause the public to hazard guesses and panic.”

Shaun hesitated for a moment before he responded, “Alright. Thanks, then.”

“Not at all. We’re buddies.” Rodney touched his nose awkwardly. “By the way, how have you been lately? You still can’t recall your past?”

“...Not really.” Shaun was quiet for a moment before he continued, “At times when I’m asleep, I will dream about some scenes. At first, I thought those were just dreams, but they felt familiar. It feels as if I’ve experienced them.”

“What kind of dream?” Rodney asked hurriedly.

“It seems related to Cathy and me. After I get up, the memory becomes a little hazy, but I’ve been dreaming about it often lately," Shaun said.

"That's pretty good. Perhaps your memories will recover real soon." Rodney was now convinced by Shaun's words.

"I have no idea. Don't tell your wife yet, lest she tells Cathy about it. I hope to give Cathy a surprise when I've recovered all my memories. But... it might be quite tough." Shaun felt powerless.

"It won't be tough. Be confident." Rodney encouraged him.

After he hung up, he quickly gave Sarah a call and told her about Shaun's condition.

Sarah said softly, "That's a sign of recovery. If he can recall his dreams when he's awake, it means that his memory is gradually being restored."

Rodney was overjoyed. "How long will it take?"

"As I said, it'll take around one month. But if he dreams frequently, he'll be able to get an impression of those scenes. That way, his memory will be restored even sooner."

"Will he also recover memories of him meeting Catherine in Melbourne?"

Sarah answered, "Mm. I was too careless back then. In fact, once a man changes his mind, there's no point forcing him since he doesn't like me anymore. I think it was really my mistake. I should've helped people with my knowledge in psychology rather than hurt them."

"Don't say that... Everyone makes mistakes." Rodney took pity on her. "What matters is that you learn from your mistakes. Shaun knows that you're back, and he has been looking for you. You'd better hide, and don't ever step out of the house."

"I will. I'm just... quite worried about you." Sarah was worried. "If they find out that you're hiding me, you guys will have a blazing row. I'm afraid Freya will be furious too. Given that she has always hated me, she might divorce you."

"But... I can't let something happen to you. You should just stay there for now. When Shaun has recovered a month later, I'll take you out to explain to them and beg for mercy.” Rodney comforted her.

“What if... they don’t forgive me?” Sarah asked.

Rodney was distressed. “Don’t worry. I’ll protect you anyhow.”

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 1908

In the main office building.

Freya stood in front of the floor-to-ceiling window, gazing at the cars below her feet.

Her eyes flashed with a hint of unspeakable confusion.

Her mind was in a mess. She probably started feeling this way after learning that Rodney lied to her yesterday morning.

As such, she could not help but call Catherine. “ When I had breakfast with Rodney this morning, we talked about Sarah, and I felt that his attitude was strange.”

“What was strange about him? ” Her words made Catherine uneasy.

“He wasn’t as... disgusted as he used to be. It felt like he was trying to avoid the topic. But I can’t put my finger on what it is.” Freya slid her finger over the window, not knowing why she did so, just like her mood at that moment.

“Could it be that you’re overthinking it?” Catherine fell silent for a moment before she comforted Freya, “Sarah has done a lot of evil deeds in the past. She even cuckolded Rodney and humiliated him. No man can forgive her.”

A thought struck Freya’s mind. “Yeah. Whenever we used to mention this woman, he would make no pretense of resenting her. But today... I didn’t see it on him. He kept lowering his head.”

Catherine could not deny Freya’s thoughts. As women, they had very keen senses when they were with their partners.

“One more thing...” Freya continued uncomfortably, “As you know, he was on a business trip earlier. Yesterday, a friend of mine spotted him in Canberra in the morning, but he lied that his flight was around five or six in the evening. He only returned home at night and had even changed his clothes. I went to his office yesterday, but he wasn't there or at Osher Corporation. I don't know why he lied to me..."

"I suspect... he's hiding Sarah," Catherine voiced out the thought that she did not wish to be true.

Freya instantly felt as if she was plunged into a deep abyss. She kept falling but could not reach the end. The feeling of being lost was miserable.

After a while, she muttered, "Maybe I am overthinking things. He might have something else to deal with."

She did not believe that she was so unlucky.

In her first relationship, she was betrayed. Just as she planned on getting married in her second relationship, it turned out to be a mess.

Rodney claimed that he loved her.

In fact, she had only agreed to marry him because she found it blissful to be loved by him.

"Yeah, that's possible." Catherine understood Freya's feelings and consoled her, "What's more, this one time doesn't mean anything. It could be a misunderstanding, or he did something that he doesn't want you to know. It's impossible for all married couples to be completely honest with each other. This happens to Shaun and me as well. How about you keep an eye on him and see what happens?"

"By the way, he said he'll get Snowden members to hunt Sarah down." Freya felt better after hearing Catherine's words.

"Let's hope that we can find out Sarah's whereabouts as soon as possible." Catherine said, "After checking the footage of the surveillance camera, we can confirm that Sarah is back in Canberra. But she seems to have vanished into thin air. Shaun suspects that she's staying in an old residence that doesn't require any identity documents. He's trying to look for her by targeting those areas."

"Okay."

"Don't overthink things. We'll handle this issue."

As soon as Catherine hung up the call, she happened to spot Shaun's car entering the manor.

He soon went upstairs and hugged her from behind.
“Cathy, I just dropped Lucas and Suzie at preschool.
Their teacher said that there’ll be some Halloween activities in a few days and asked us to join.”
“Their preschool really does have quite a lot of activities.”
Catherine sighed.

New chapters PDF