

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 1921

Rodney's expression was filled with frustration. How could the past compare to the present?

It was different for men once they had s*x. The sensation of it was unforgettable.

However, Rodney could see that Freya really did not want to do it.

Maybe it was because he had been returning home too late in the past few nights.

He did not want to do that either, but Sarah was down with a cold and her leg was injured.

He was worried, so he would go to visit her after he got off work.

After that, when he saw Sarah having her meal all alone, Rodney would think she was pitiful.

Therefore, he would have his meal there before he returned home.

Forget it. He would not go over for the time being. He would accompany Freya more.

Since then, Rodney returned home to be with Freya and their child every day after he got off work to make Freya happy.

Sometimes when Freya monitored his whereabouts, she would suspect whether she had been overthinking it.

After all, Rodney would either be at home or the company. Sometimes, he would have a meal with his business partners. His schedule was very organized.

On Sunday, the wedding planner came over to consult Freya and Rodney regarding the plans for the wedding venue.

The next day, the news that they were about to hold a wedding was trending and went viral.

[They're finally having a wedding. Congratulations.]

[It seems that the Snow family is going to rent a private island to hold the wedding. That's so enviable.]

[Right? I heard that Courtney Green designed the wedding dress. She's an internationally renowned wedding dress designer. Her designs are worth tens of millions of dollars each.]

[Tens of millions is nothing. I heard that Young Master Snow even won a bid for a pink diamond worth 300 million dollars. He plans to put it on the bride's finger on the day of the wedding.]

[Young Master Snow is such a good man. He's handsome and rich. That Sarah didn't treasure him in the past.]

[That's right. Freya is so fortunate. Maybe she has a high EQ. She managed to turn a bad situation around into a good one.]

The netizens were all discussing that matter. The spotlight was on Freya, and everyone in the country was envious of her.

Freya, the person in the spotlight, was sitting in a cinema and having a date with Rodney.

She only knew that she was trending after glancing at her phone. She saw that everyone was envious of her. Actually, she felt pretty nervous.

The fact that she and Rodney were having a wedding could not be hidden. However, she did not think it would spread that wide. If the wedding ended up getting canceled, it would be utterly embarrassing.

"Wifey, do you still want some popcorn? I'm about to finish it if you don't take any." Rodney handed the bucket of popcorn to Freya.

Freya glanced at the bucket. Rodney had almost finished up the popcorn.

She was speechless. This man liked to eat sweet stuff too much.

"I'm not eating. You can have it. I'm on a diet." Freya waved her hand. Although she wanted to eat the popcorn, she still wished to lose ten more pounds.

"You don't have to lose weight. You're already beautiful." Rodney quickly flattered her.

"No, I'm not as pretty as you," Freya said coldly.

Rodney was rendered speechless.

Just as he was about to speak, his phone rang. It was the housekeeper he had hired for Sarah.

A gleam flashed across his eyes. "This place is too noisy. I'll go out to pick up the call."

Rodney hurriedly walked out. After the call was connected, the nanny's lowered voice could be heard. "Young Master Snow, do you want to... come over tonight?"

Miss Neeson drank a lot of wine.

She's drunk."

Rodney's expression darkened. "Sarah's leg injury hasn't recovered yet.

How could she have wine?

Where did the wine come from? Why didn't you stop her?"

"The wine was delivered to the doorstep. I wanted to stop her, but I saw that she was in a bad mood. I think she even cried in her room this evening. She didn't have much food

during dinner either. She told me not to tell you, but I think she's quite drunk right now..."

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South Chapter 1922

"Try to persuade her. I'll come over later..."

Just as he finished speaking, he heard the housekeeper's voice. "Miss Neeson, don't move..."

Ah, let's get up... Young Master Snow, I can't talk to you right now. She's drunk and she fell."

The call ended with a beep. Rodney became anxious.

However, the movie still had an hour remaining.

He looked at the time and went downstairs immediately.

In the cinema, a phone buzzed with a notification.

Freya lowered her head and took a look. Rodney had sent her a Whatsapp message. [Freya, something happened in a company that's under my name. I'm going over first, so I won't be watching the movie with you. I've already informed the driver to pick you up. You can contact the driver after you're done watching the movie.]

After remaining silent for a long time, Freya could only process the information after gazing at the message again.

She had been abandoned halfway through the movie.

What urgent company matters had occurred that made him be in such a hurry?

Freya turned on the tracking device on her phone. She saw that Rodney's location was moving quickly. It seemed that he was really in a rush.

Half an hour later, Freya confirmed that Rodney was not going to the company. Instead, he was heading to an unfamiliar place. It was a property that was developed a few years ago.

After the movie ended, she got in the driver's car. She saw that Rodney's location was stationary at that place.

Upon checking it on her phone, that place seemed to be a high-class condominium.

Technology had become so advanced that she could simply search it up on her phone without going to the exact location.

"When Rodney got to the condominium, Sarah was already lying on the bed. Her face was flushed red from being drunk. The housekeeper was afraid that he would blame her, so she quickly explained, "I just managed to help her onto the bed. She kept saying that she still wants to drink."

"Why did she suddenly want to drink wine?" Rodney asked puzzledly.

The housekeeper thought about it for a moment. "She was already quite unhappy as she was staying home every day. She was playing on her phone this evening.

Then, she went back to her room. After that, I accidentally saw her crying..."

Phone?

Rodney frowned. Could Sarah have seen the trending news that he and Freya were about to get married?

He had a feeling of helplessness in his heart. He rubbed his brows and said, "You can go out first."

After the housekeeper left, Rodney walked to the bedside.

Sarah looked at him with reddened eyes. Her gaze seemed unfocused.

“Give me some wine.

Let me be drunk. Living is just too tiring.”

“Sarah, don’t be like this.” Rodney did not know how to console her.

“Rodney, is that you?” Sarah cocked her head to the side. “Am I dreaming? Haha. How can you possibly be here? You should be accompanying your wife and child.”

Tears flowed as she spoke, “Actually, I’m really envious. I’m jealous of Freya and Catherine.

Which part of me isn’t good enough compared to them? I just want to have simple happiness too. When I was young, my mom passed away. My dad married my stepmother soon after that. I know that she liked Charity more, so... I tried hard to be obedient and lived cautiously. I clearly knew that my brother wasn’t reliable. I clearly understood that... He did many unforgivable things. But I had no choice. I only have my brother. I don’t have anybody else...

“Uhhh... I just want a man who loves me. I want a family. Why is it so hard...

“I’m like a mouse that can only hide in the corner forever. I feel disgusted with myself.”

Sarah slapped herself hard. Rodney’s throat felt bitter.

“Sarah, don’t be like this. ” He quickly pulled her hand. “Listen to me. I’ll protect you.”

“ I’m so, so tired. Sometimes, I feel like it’s better to die rather than continue living.” Sarah flung herself into Rodney’s embrace and started wailing.

Facing Sarah, who was crying, Rodney could not push her away at all.

New Chapters Download Here: