

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 2054

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South Chapter 2054

“Uncle, I’ve communicated with my dad regarding Jessica’s plans. My parents think that it’s best if Jessica inherits your position.” Ryan smiled and said, “It’s okay if you don’t want to step down for now. Just ask Grandpa to hand over 50 percent of the shares to Jessica temporarily. Of course, I understand your worries. Therefore, I suggest that if Jessica were to remarry, her child who’ll inherit Snow Corporation in the future must have the last name Snow. If Jessica’s child is incapable of handling the responsibility, we can choose one of Carson’s future children as well for the sake of Snow Corporation’s future. As for Rodney’s children, only Dani can be in the running. His other children... They’re not allowed.”

Jessica pressed her intricate lips together and did not say a word, but she had already given her silent agreement.

After feeling shocked, Jason laughed bitterly. “No wonder Jessica dares to be so fearless in front of me. It turns out that you all have colluded earlier on.

Ryan, why are you doing this?”

Ryan smiled faintly. “It’s for my future, of course. My dad is the prime minister. Even if I can’t become the prime minister, I can still rank below the prime minister and be above everybody else. Snow Corporation is the crucial aid that I depend on.

Rodney’s private life is a mess. He believes in everything Sarah says. He’s too easily deceived. The saying goes that there should be a strong woman behind every successful man. I’ll never leave such weakness with me. It’ll be troublesome if it drags me down. Therefore, I must quickly remove those weaknesses.

“As for Carson, he’s not mature and steady enough. He’s not ruthless enough either. Thus, I think Jessica is the most suitable person.

“My dad and I are only hoping that the Snow family can go further. Since Rodney likes Sarah, we’ll fulfill his wishes and let them be together. He’s divorced anyway, and he intends to marry Sarah.

“Uncle, it’s already the new generation. Some of Grandpa’s and your ideas should’ve been eliminated long ago. To be honest, when my dad was running for prime minister, he wouldn't have been able to assume that position if it weren't for Jessica and me."

"Alright. It's the young people's world now. I'm old. I don't want to care anymore."

Jason waved his hand. He smiled bitterly. He finally understood. Rodney was a disappointment. He was dragged down by Sarah in the end.

However, Ryan's words were logical. Sarah was a scheming woman, yet Rodney believed in everything she said as if he was brainwashed. It was indeed detrimental toward future developments.

"Uncle, think positively. They're all your children anyway."

Ryan smiled and winked. "You should be happy to have taught such a great daughter like Jessica."

Jason was speechless.

Yes. He should be happy, but he felt like crying too.

After leaving the office, Ryan extended his hand naturally.

"Jessica, congratulations. Everything is within your control now. Grandpa will still have to give you the shares even if he's unwilling."

"Thank you." Jessica shook his hand. She suddenly asked, "Are you really helping me only because I can be a better helper for you?"

Ryan smiled. He did not give a reply. He simply took out a box of medicine from his pocket and handed it to her. "I bought it on my way here. Apply it to your face. After all, you're the president. Don't let people make fun of you." "You can really predict everything accurately." Jessica accepted the medicine. She said, "Rodney might not know that he lost not because of me but because he shouldn't have been on opposing sides with you. You like Freya, don't you?"

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 2055

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South Chapter 2055

Ryan raised his eyebrows. "Jessica, you're so smart."

"You too."

Jessica gave him a weird gaze. Then, she suddenly thought of something and chuckled. “Do you know why my parents and even Grandpa hoped Rodney could marry Freya? Actually, no matter how good her character is, she’s just an elite lady from a small place. She even had embarrassing scandals before.”

“Were there other reasons for that?” Ryan showed a rare expression of curiosity.

Jessica looked outside the window of the corridor. “ Last year, my mom took Freya’s birth date to a fortune-teller, Master Roberts, to check her fortune. My mom asked me to accompany her that day. Master Roberts said that Freya’s life would be extravagant since young and that she would be showered with love by her parents, but her love life would be bumpy. However, after overcoming that, she would have good fortune like queens in ancient times. She would also bring good luck to her husband and family. I didn’t believe in these things, but older people do.”

When she paused for a moment, she saw Ryan smiling. “We thought the bumpy part of Freya’s love life was referring to her previous relationship and the incident involving Thomas and Sarah. After that, Sarah left, so we thought Freya and Rodney had finally overcome all adversities. My parents felt that Rodney’s fortune was almost equivalent to a prince in ancient times, so his wife would surely have a queen’s fortune too. Thinking back, it was wrong. Freya’s fortune might be better than that.. ”

“I see.”

Ryan was astonished for a moment. Then, he chuckled. “I believe in this reading. Look at how successful Rodney’s career became after he married Freya. Actually, I started liking Freya a long time ago, but I didn’t share a good enough fate with her. I showed up later, but I’ve never thought of snatching her away. After all, they already have a child. Since I love her, it’s enough seeing her happy. Unfortunately, a certain someone could not give her happiness. Therefore, I decided to make her happy myself.”

“I think nobody will give you two their blessing. Freya might even find it absurd herself.” Jessica shook her head.

“Haven’t you heard of making someone let their guard down? I’ll first make her unable to leave me. Then, she’ll gradually fall in love with me. When she realizes it, I would’ve already become an essential part of her life like oxygen.”

Ryan’s expression was full of confidence. “When I like someone, I won't care about what others think. To be honest, I don't put much emphasis on power. However, some choices can't be made in our family. Just like you. Do you truly want Snow Corporation? You can even create a second or third Snow Corporation with your abilities. It's just that... you won't be satisfied."

Jessica did not know whether to laugh or cry. Indeed, she had some dissatisfaction.

She did not expect that the person who understood her the most would be Ryan.

"Ryan, I wish you success in advance."

Ryan took the elevator down to the parking lot.

Just as he walked out and was about to head toward his car, a white sports car stopped in front of him all of a sudden.

The car's door opened upward. Rodney's long legs touched the floor, and he got out of the car. "You really appeared. When did you start conspiring with my sister?"

"Rodney, why are you still here? I thought you would've gone to the police station to make a report."

Ryan smiled and said, "Didn't you say that you'll go to the police station and accuse Freya of kidnapping if she didn't give Dani to you today? Hah, but Snow Corporation has already made a public statement dismissing your position. I think the police might not even talk to you."

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South

Chapter 2056

Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South Chapter 2056

Rodney felt as if his face was slapped hard. He lost.

He knew that he had failed miserably, and he could sense Ryan's sarcasm.

That feeling was too f*cking awful. He would rather lose to Jessica than Ryan.

Maybe it was because Ryan was his brother, or maybe... It was because Ryan kept helping Freya. There was also an ambiguous relationship going on between them.

"Ryan, you utilized your position to cover the truth. Look who's talking." Rodney's pretty eyes had a furious, icy gleam.

"Protecting criminals and oppressing your brother. Is this your principle?"

“Yes. I’m not as selfless as you are. You even have it in you to send your wife to prison,” Ryan mocked.

“She’s no longer my wife. Since the day she became a kidnapper, she had no right to be my wife,” Rodney shouted angrily, “You’d better be careful at all times. Don’t let what you’ve done today become a tool that’s used to make you fall from the top in the future. There aren’t any permanent loopholes in this world.”

“You’re wrong. You’re the only one talking about the kidnapping. Do you have witnesses?”

Ryan shrugged his shoulders nonchalantly. “If you’re talking about those people from Snowden who rushed inside with you that day, are you sure they’re still willing to be your witnesses? Or did Sarah see with her own eyes that the person who tortured her was Freya?”

Upon listening to those words, Rodney clenched his fists.

His handsome face gradually lost its usual radiance in the dark parking lot. He looked dispirited as well.

“Rodney, people are always aiming to go higher. When you’re the person who holds the major right of inheritance in the Snow family, everyone will be flattering you. When you lose that right, everyone will avoid you. You must’ve experienced that feeling before.”

Ryan gave him a rare gentle gaze. “Nevertheless, this is a good ending for you. Haven’t you been feeling guilty toward Sarah all along? You think that she sacrificed her happiness to let you return to the Snow family back then. It looks like everything is back to square one. You two can finally be with each other. She’s still alive. You can treat her well for the rest of your life.”

However, perhaps Sarah would not treat Rodney as well as before if he lost the right to inherit Snow Corporation.

Ryan did not say those words out loud. Some truths were better discovered by Rodney himself.

The moment Rodney saw Sarah’s true colors clearly would be the moment when it was too late for him to regret.

Nevertheless, by that time, Ryan would not let Rodney have the chance to woo Freya back.

“Happiness?” Rodney looked as if he had heard a joke. “Her limbs are disabled and her face is disfigured. How can she be happy?”

Ryan, I never thought you would be so cruel. No matter how much you hate Sarah, she's still human. Don't you have any compassion?"

"Isn't having you by her side her greatest happiness? After all, she loves you so much," Ryan said sincerely while hiding the mocking in his eyes. "Otherwise, if you were to inherit Snow Corporation and Sarah marries you, she'd think that she doesn't deserve you because she's a disabled and disfigured woman, right?"

"Shut your mouth."

Rodney could not bear to continue listening anymore. He was like a firecracker that was ignited. "Stop pretending, Ryan. You've schemed and done so much. Isn't it because you're coveting Freya? Ha, you'll never have her. The prime minister's son wanting to marry his sister-in-law and godsister will be a joke to the whole of Australia. No one will accept that."