Let me go, Mr. Hill By Shallow South Chapter 2057

“Even if I can’t have Freya as my wife, I can protect her and be her strongest backing. I won’t let her be... bullied by just anybody.”

Ryan took his car keys out. He unlocked his car and opened the car door. He turned around and glanced at Rodney. “What about you? Freya was your wife and your child’s mother, but how did you protect her? You feel guilty toward Sarah, but do you even have a trace of guilt toward Freya? Even if Freya had really hurt Sarah, think about it. What if your wife frequently stayed out for the whole night and was always with her ex-boyfriend? She would say that it doesn’t count as a betrayal, but she had gotten pregnant with her ex-boyfriend’s baby. Would you feel like killing her ex-boyfriend?

“If you were really able to handle everything well, you wouldn’t have driven your wife to become a woman filled with hatred. You say that she’s evil and selfish, but it’s all because you tortured her that she became like that.

Therefore, don’t always blame other people. Even if Freya becomes a demon, you’re the person to be blamed.” After Ryan spoke, he got in the car and left.

The car traveled a distance away. Ryan could still see that Rodney was standing at the same spot like a statue from the rear-view mirror.

He sighed.

There was no need to tell Rodney all that. However, it might be because Ryan felt it was unfair to Freya. He also sighed at Rodney’s selfishness.

20 minutes later.

The car stopped at Militaire Hospital.

Ryan walked toward the VIP ward. When he stood at the door, he heard Mr.

Lynch’s angry voice coming from inside the ward. “Freya Lynch, you’ve gotten bold. You got a divorce, got hurt, and were admitted to a hospital.

You didn’t even tell your family about such a huge problem. If we hadn’t seen the news, we wouldn’t even have known that you’re divorced.”

Mrs. Lynch sobbed. “We’ll find Rodney. Is he still human? He kicked your ribs until they broke. I don't care who he is. The Snow family must give us an explanation today. Otherwise, we're meeting the media."

Mr. Lynch said, "Yes. We'll meet the media. Although the Lynch family can't compare to the Snow family, we can't let our daughter be trampled upon like this."

Ryan knocked on the door lightly. The voices in the ward stopped.

Forrest opened the door. His cold expression was like ice. He grabbed Ryan's collar. "You came at the right time. Ask the members of the Snow family to come over."

"Brother, don't yank Ryan." Freya, who was lying on the bed, exclaimed, "He has helped me a lot throughout this period. He was the one who protected me too. If it weren't for him, I would've been ruined long ago."

Forrest stared at Ryan for a while. Then, he let him go. His temples were throbbing. "What about Rodney? Where is he? Since he and my sister are divorced, I won't make a fuss about that. But I just have to break his ribs just like how he kicked my sister's ribs."

"Forrest, you don't have to look for Rodney."

Ryan's gaze was calm. His voice was smooth and gentle. "None of us in the Snow family can accept what Rodney has done. Therefore, after discussing, we've dismissed all of Rodney's positions during Snow Corporation's meeting just now. Moreover, my uncle has decided to transfer Snow Corporation's shares to Jessica soon. This means that not only has Rodney been dismissed from all key positions in Snow Corporation but he has also lost his inheritance rights to Snow Corporation."

It was only a few sentences, but they were packed with too much information.

Especially Forrest. He had interacted with Jessica before, so he knew what kind of woman she was.

It was most likely that she took the opportunity and snatched the leadership role in the Snow family while Rodney's reputation was tarnished.

Forrest's sharp brows were knitted together into a tight frown. He had no words all of a sudden.

On the other hand, Freya was shocked. "That's impossible. Isn't Rodney in charge of the alternative energy project?"

"Don't worry. There's a proper solution to handle this matter. Moreover, his rights to Snowden have been stripped too."

Ryan walked to the bedside. His eyes were warm and gentle as he smiled.

"Rodney will never pester you again in the future. He doesn't have the resources to take the child from you too. He's probably only left with the paralyzed Sarah, Osher Corporation, and other minor investment companies. He won't be able to stir up anything else, and the public already knows that the Snow family has abandoned him. It won't be easy for him to work in the business world in the future, especially after he quarreled with Shaun and became estranged from Chester."

Freya was dumbfounded.

Who could tell her what exactly had happened? In just a few days, Rodney had fallen from the clouds.

She could not understand the situation.

However, no matter how stupid Freya was, she knew that Ryan had something to do with all of it.

He even told her to trust him just the day before yesterday.

He had fulfilled every promise that he made to her.

He was always calm and collected, yet he had everything under his control.

Ryan was a mysterious figure to Freya. He was outstanding.

Such an outstanding person was her brother. That kind of feeling... was pretty good.

The feeling of being protected by somebody was pleasant.

“Ryan, thank you.” Freya’s eyes reddened. “Thank you for helping me to keep Dani.”

Thanks to him, she did not have to go to jail either.

“You don’t have to thank me. The Snow family owes you this.” Ryan wanted to pat Freya’s hair, but the Lynch family members were present. He held himself back. “Besides, Rodney’s in the wrong here.”

Mr. Lynch said angrily, “Rodney deserves it. He brought everything upon himself. Okay, since the Snow family has given a proper solution, I won’t make a fuss anymore. But we’ve made up our minds after this incident.

We

can’t play up to a grand family like the Snow family all the time. After all, we’re from different worlds.”

After pausing for a moment, he turned to his daughter and said, “When you’re discharged, follow us back to Melbourne. Canberra isn’t a good place for you.”

“That’s right. ” Mrs. Lynch nodded too. “I’m more relieved if you’re by my side. I won’t let you stay in Canberra alone anymore. Look at what happened in these two years you were here... I’m worried sick. Frankly speaking, I’d rather you weren’t some prime minister’s goddaughter.

You

just have to be our baby.”

Freya sniffed. She was touched. “Mom, Dad, if I go back to Melbourne with you, what about my company? It has just made some progress. I can’t let the company’s shareholders suffer losses.

Besides, there are so many employees too. I can’t go back.”

“Alright. How much do you owe those shareholders? I’ll give you the money and you can compensate them with that.”

Mr. Lynch said angrily, “After we return to Melbourne, I’ll build a laboratory for you. You can do your research there. You’re a woman. Why do you have to make yourself so tired?”

“That’s right, Freya. The Lynch family has been developing well. We’re not short of money anymore.” Mrs. Lynch advised painstakingly. “ Moreover, we’re old. Our bodies are not as healthy as before...” Freya felt sad upon hearing her parents’ words. Her heart wavered.

All these years, Freya had been away from home, so she hardly kept her parents company.

This made her feel remorseful.

Deep down, Ryan began to feel nervous. He promptly said, “Mr. Lynch, Mrs. Lynch, if Freya goes back to Melbourne, Dani will definitely have to go back as well. I’m sure my uncle won’t be used to not seeing his granddaughter. Also, as far as I know, your business is growing across the country. However, Melbourne is only the second-most populous city in Australia, which might limit Lynch Corporation’s development. I heard Forrest is looking for land in the most populous city. He’s planning to relocate the headquarters of Lynch Corporation and its factory.”

Forrest raised his brows. “Who did you hear it from?”

Ryan smiled. “Freya.” Freya was speechless. When did she say that?

However, considering that Ryan had helped her a lot, she silently watched him bluff without exposing him.

Forrest fell quiet. He never told Freya about it, but he might have told his parents.

At this moment, Ryan curled his lips. “ So how do you find Weston Creek in Canberra, Forrest?”

Forrest froze for a moment and frowned. “Of course, the land there is good, but...”

However, not only was the land costly but it was also not easy to obtain even with money.

This idea had never struck him previously because he never thought of begging the Snow family.

“That’s great. I can easily have that plot of land given to Lynch Corporation.”

Ryan said with a smile, “At present, the light rail and a new airport are being built there. It’s going to be the most developed area in the future. If Lynch Corporation builds a company and factory there, it’ll be more convenient to distribute the products across the country and even the world. What’s more, you’ll be head and shoulders above your competitors with such a location. Besides, Lynch Corporation is planning to grow its business overseas...”

He did not continue and held back.

He knew that Forrest and Mr. Lynch, who were both intelligent businessmen, must be tempted.

Sure enough, he saw the glow in Forrest and Mr. Lynch’s eyes. Soon, Forrest lowered his long lashes. “I admit that what you said is tempting, but I don’t want my sister to be deeply involved with the Snow family...”

Ryan grinned and shook his head. “Some involvement can’t be completely avoided. Dani is the bridge between the Lynch and the Snow families. What’s more, even if Freya returns to Melbourne, she’s still the prime minister’s goddaughter.”

Forrest stayed quiet for an instant before he asked, “Young Master Snow, why are you so willing to help us?”

“You might see me as helpful, but in my eyes, this is no trouble at all.”

Ryan said humbly, “Of course, I’m doing this partly for Dani’s sake. After all, if she grows well under her grandmother’s care, she’ll be more respected in the future. Despite having divorced parents, no one will look down on her.”

“Another reason is that my parents are very fond of Freya. Recently, they’ve been grumbling to me about how miserable Freya is. They want me to try help her and the Lynch family as much as possible. The better the Lynch family is doing, the more regretful Rodney will be.”

Undeniably, these two reasons were very convincing, especially the latter.

Mrs. Lynch was tempted, what more Mr. Lynch.

Indeed, Rodney had let them down and hurt their daughter just because the Lynch family was weak. Perhaps Rodney had always thought that was no match for him.
