

Let me go, Mr. Hill Chapter 2668

Chapter 2668

“Reborn?” Chester was taken aback.

“Are you talking about the Reborn who once stirred up Wall Street?”

“Yes, that is her.”

Shedrick coughed lightly, “Young master Jewell, are you talking to this guy?” “Reborn has a holiday?”

Chester frowned deeply, “I’ve never seen this person before and we’re not in the same social circle, and whenever she appeared abroad, I usually didn’t pay attention. In other words, there aren’t many people on this world have seen her true face. This person is both mysterious and low-key.”

“Is it related to Eliza?” Shedrick inquired tentatively.

Chester, on the other hand, seemed to hear a funny joke, “What is Eliza’s birth, and someone who can reach the level of Reborn. I think it is foreign medical resources who also want to enter our market and Reborn should be Jewell’s in the market. Eliza may have secretly collaborated with them from foreign competitors, but it should only be a chess piece arranged.”

After a pause Chester sneered, “No wonder Eliza dared to declare war on me in such a high-profile manner, it turns out that there is a strong backstage behind her, but she is too stupid. In their eyes, she is just an abandoned child who can be thrown away after using it.”

Shedrick coughed lightly, “She’s not stupid as you compensate her. If she wants to replace me, she took % 1 billion to hide abroad, regardless of what netizens say. After all, how many people can earn % 1 billion in a few lifetimes?”

“And then you, How do you know she can earn another billion in the future, especially since she is retired? What do you think Eliza wants to do?” Chester frowned and squeezed a fly.

Shedrick was speechless.

He suspected that Eliza didn’t care about money and even if there was no money, there would still be land in the countryside.

Can Chester believe it?

He didn’t quite believe it himself.

At Night, a charity event is being held at Jesmong Hotel.

Charity is making her first public appearance since moving from the Northwest. Her curly short black hair is fluffy and unkempt. She is as delicate as a flower in the world after her facial features are adorned with eyeliner and lipstick. She wore an A-shaped pink long dress embellished with flowers in the evening, emphasising her perfect and sexy figure.

When she appeared at the event, she immediately became the focus of the audience. If she was just a star in the past, many wealthy families would not even look at her.

However, since Chester's imprisonment and Eliza's donation of % 1 billion, it has been widely reported in the mainstream media, and even the Prime minister's wife has publicly praised it.

In her heart, whether it is Eliza or Charity, it has long been different from what it used to be.

Many nobles and wealthy people greeted them as soon as they walked through the hotel door.

“Long time no see, Ms. Eliza.”

“Ms. Eliza, your short hair-style suit you so well, and it's very beautiful.”

“Did you go to Northwest Beauty, Ms. Eliza? You're getting better and better.”

“... ..”

Everyone was courteous.

Whoever dares to be rude can send Chester to prison, which no man can do anyway.

No one dared to mention Eliza being the woman Chester had played with, and everyone seemed to forget about it.

Monte, the president of the Jesmong Hotel, looked at the brightest woman in the crowd with some interest.

How come I had never noticed Eliza before? When I first met Eliza, her sweet and pure appearance drew my attention.

When he didn't get it, he was itchy and tried his best to pursue it.. After he got it that after being together for a long time, the more Eliza managed, the more boring it became.

However, she put Chester in prison.

Monte realised that he had previously misunderstood or he didn't know anything about her.

Although Eliza has been with Chester, for men like them, the first time for a woman is not uncommon, and what makes a woman different is more rare.

When combined with today's Eliza, the beauty is breathtaking, and she is also astute.

"Mr. Patterson, Eliza's taste in bed is quite different, but you and Mr. Jewell would like one or two." A chubby-faced boss suddenly teased.

"What are you talking about, Mr. Lord? Mr. Patterson and I got it a long time ago, and Chester is just playing with the woman left by Mr. Patterson." Another boss who recently asked a joke from Monte.

"What qualifications do you have to discuss Eliza?" Monte asked as he held the goblet and returned a cold stare to the two of them.

The faces of the two bosses stiffened.

“Eliza is willing to donate one billion dollars, and you are hesitant to give even tens of millions to your wife,” Monte remarked sarcastically.

Monte then stopped paying attention to them. He left with a cold face, turning around and grabbing his pockets.

After a short distance, his fiancée Sophie Thompson called, saying, “Monte, tonight your hotel is hosting a charity party. You can assist me in photographing with a necklace which is designed by the famous jewellery designer Jame, Right.”

“Didn’t you just shoot something similar last month?” Monte smirked.

“I like it, you take care of me.” Sophie Thompson hummed. “You can buy that necklace for me.”

“Okay.”

Monte felt a twinge of boredom after hanging up the phone.

He doesn’t mind when women spend money, but Sophie Thompson is far too generous.

“Go and find out about Jame’s necklace.” Monte looked over to his assistant.

The assistant frowned, “That one must have cost at least % 7 million. Mr. Patterson, You only took a similar one to Ms. Thompson last month, and last month, you also gave a bracelet worth % 8 million. Although you have money, and you can spend it like this...”

Despite the fact that the Patterson family has a large business and Monte has not yet taken over the Patterson family and Sophie Thompson receives the majority of the money earned each month.

Monte couldn't help but recall his days with Eliza. He handed all his cards to Eliza, but she didn't go for shopping. She occasionally buys her a bag worth tens of thousands of dollars.

Monte thought she was stingy and out of place at the time. Only now he realised how frugal Eliza was and how much she cared about herself.

Monte's gaze was drawn to Eliza, who was not far away.

Charity simply looked up, her eyes meeting him in the air for two seconds before she calmly looked away. But those two seconds cut Monte's heart like a knife and tickled him right away.

“Mr. Patterson, I think Eliza hasn't forgotten you.” The assistant said, following his gaze.

“I'd like to hear it.” Monte arched his brow.

The assistant said with a smile, “Look, after Eliza returned, she refused to invite many events but she may have come to meet you by chance this time in our hotel. Dare I say that Eliza is the most smitten with you of all the girlfriends you date?”
