

Let me go, Mr. Hill Chapter 2672

Chapter 2672

“What’s your business?” Charity appeared unconcerned. She neither admitted nor denied her relationship with Monte.

Monte was taken aback by this point.

“Let’s go, Eliza.” Monte placed a gentle hand on Charity’s shoulder.

“It appears that Young Master Patterson wants me to contact the Thompson family.”

Chester said as he took out his phone, “Just so, I have some friendship with the master of the Thompson family. It’s just that Young Master Patterson is carrying her daughter outside to hook up three. Take four, tsk, how long will this marriage last?”

Monte’s eyes were filled with rage. But he was powerless at the point.

If the owner of the Thompson family called his father, he would undoubtedly be chastised, and the relationship between the Thompson and Patterson families might even break down.

Charity said as she removed Monte’s hand from her shoulder, “Let’s go first, Young Master Patterson. There are so many cameras here, Mr. Jewell has just been released from prison and I believe he dare not do anything to me.”

“All right...” Monte quickly found a step to take, but before leaving, he gave Chester a warning look, “Mr. Jewell, our hotel is not a place for you to act arbitrarily. If something happens to Eliza here today, the cops will be at the door, and I will undoubtedly cooperate with the investigation.”

Monte turned and walked away after speaking.

Chester sneered contemptuously at his back, “Eliza, this is the man you once fell in love with, but is that so, tsk, I’m your enemy, so he treats you like this. Throw it away, and the final warning is to cooperate with the police investigation while laughing yourself to death.”

“I don’t think it’s funny.” Charity’s gaze was serene.

When Chester saw this, he suppressed his thin-lipped smile, but his dark eyes flashed sharp and playful. “How come, after exacting vengeance on me, the new target is Monte?”

“I’m not sure what you’re on about.” Charity said.

“Don’t try to deny it.” Chester approached slowly with his long legs, and as he approached her side, an elegant fragrance of the woman struck him.

Chester noticed that the woman in front of him had shaved her head. He never liked short-haired women, but Charity was dressed up tonight, with picturesque brows, red lips, and white teeth, and her cold eyes were also dyed with a touch of glamour.

His eyes flashed and he said with a smile, “Look at you, dress up tonight and show that you are prepared, but I have dealt with you a few times, and Eliza is definitely not a sc*mbag man who will turn around. But it’s true that Monte has previously played with you. You must repay for such a flaw. It's impossible to forgive Monte or even be his lover.”

Even, a thought arose in his heart.

Monte did not deserve her at all.

Even if he now despises Eliza, his admiration is undeniable.

Charity raised her head and sighed quietly as she looked into the man's dark eyes. Despite her hatred, Chester had to admit that he knew himself very well.

It's just that she won't admit certain things.

“Thank you for looking down on me, Mr. Jewell, but I'm just a little woman with emotions and things I can't forget.”

Charity said, looking up and down at Chester, “It looks like three months in prison. Now you've a good life and become a lot stronger.”

Chester grinned and said without laughing. “It's okay, I help you as a coolie every day. I've never experienced anything like this in my life. thank you for providing me with such an unforgettable experience. I miss you every day in prison, and I couldn't wait to see you on the first day I got out.”

Let me go, Mr. Hill Chapter 2673

Chapter 2673

Charity said calmly, “It’s really a shame that I don’t miss you at all. In the last three months, I have had a very fulfilling life and it’s all thanks to you, Mr. Jewell, for your generous donation of % 1 billion. I’ve helped a lot of people.”

Chester said with a thoughtful and evil smile, “In this manner...It appears that I will force you to be my woman in vain, otherwise, I will do it again. Play with you for a while, and I’ll send you in for another three months, and I’ll give you % 1 billion to help more people. Anyway, you enjoy doing good deeds so much that it is not an exaggeration to carefully sacrifice your body.

“It sounds very appealing...”

Charity said, raising her eyebrows, “But if I want to help others, I may not be short of a billion.”

“What exactly do you mean?” Chester was stunned for a moment, and his mind was racing.

Charity smiled and said, “Because I don’t want to run out of money in the future. I invested in a business and it made a lot of money. There will be 10 billion dollars in dividends if I do it well every year. To be honest, I don’t care for that kind of money.”

“10 billion dollars?” Chester examined Eliza carefully for a long time, seeing that she didn’t appear to be lying, and many doubts arose in his heart, “What business is so profitable, it’s pretty good. What intrigues me is that you, Catherine, and Freya have jointly invested in something?”

But Chester was still surprised; even if Catherine is very powerful. It is unlikely that he is unlikely to make so much money so soon after becoming a shareholder.

After all, Jewell Corporation shareholders have previously paid dividends in this amount.

Charity said mysteriously, “That isn’t it. The main reason is that the president of the company I invested in is quite powerful, and he is very despicable and unscrupulous. I believe that such a president exists to maximise profits for the company’s money.”

“...”

Chester became increasingly suspicious as he listened. “Is it possible that Shaun established a new company and Catherine invited you to become a shareholder?”

It’s all in good fun.

She is now anticipating the moment Chester discovers the truth.

But Chester just arrived, so he should be very busy, and he hasn’t had time to learn that Jewell owns 10% of the company.

Very interesting, indeed.

Chester frowned rarely and always thought the woman in front of him had an odd expression.

“By the way, you said you were quite wealthy. Why didn’t you take pictures of the banquet tonight? do you need me to give you something?” Chester abruptly changed the subject.

“I’m sorry, but there are far too many people who want to spend this money on me tonight. Wait in line if you want to buy something for me.” Charity finished speaking and walked arrogantly past him on her high heels.

Chester seemed to be moved by something in his heart. He returned his gaze, grabbed the woman’s wrist, and drew her to him with all his might. His tone was gentle, but his eyes were as cold as ice. “Eliza, you’re insane in front of me. Do you think I really forgot to send you to prison in person?”

“I didn’t.”

Charity said indifferently, “It is only right that you do something wrong and go to jail. If you are dissatisfied, file a complaint with the judge, the police, and the president. Because you have such a large network of contacts, perhaps someone will accept your appeal, and the state will speak for you in person, proving that it is not illegal to persecute women.”