Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 806

“Shaunic, I miss you so badly.” Sarah nestled in Shaun’s arms, her tears wetting his shirt. “I’ve been reflecting on myself these days. I was too silly and foolish. I swear that I won’t wrong you anymore. Come back to me. I really miss you.”

Shaun narrowed his eyes and carried her to the bed. After that, he turned around and said to the doctor outside, “Come in and treat her.”

“No. If you don’t promise me, I won’t get treated. ” Sarah struggled in agitation.

At the sight of her expression, Shaun’s eyes flashed with annoyance. His handsome face slowly revealed a sense of sternness. “Enough. Stop using your body to threaten me.”

He had no idea why Sarah had become so impudent and unreasonable. She was even threatening him now, which was the tactic he hated most.

It was his first time using such a grim tone to speak to Sarah. After being dazed for a moment, she began to weep more. “I hate to behave like this too. I hate what kind of a person I am now, but what can I do? Do I just allow myself to lose you? I can’t bring myself to do it.”

“Sarah, why can’t we just separate without holding grudges?”

Shaun was not touched at all. Instead, he felt a wave of tiredness sweeping over him. "Your legs belong to you. Even if you're crippled in the future, I won't take responsibility for it because I wasn't the one who pushed you down the stairs."

Sarah looked at his handsome face incredulously. He had always been gentle and tolerant. Based on the remark he made tonight, she had a totally different impression of him.

"Eldest Young Master Hill, you can't provoke Miss Neeson anymore." Yael became anxious. "Have you forgotten that Miss Neeson was the one who cured your illness? If it hadn't been for Miss Neeson being in the same mental hospital as you, you wouldn't have been bold enough to get back up on your feet."

"That was why I decided to marry her, yet she was the one who did those things," Shaun said grumpily, "Now, I've become the laughing stock among everyone in Canberra. When someone exposed me as a cuckold during our wedding, I endured it and forgave you. But why won't you let me go? If it hadn't been for Lucifer's death, you would've carried on doing those bad deeds with him. Sarah, don't treat me as a fool."

At that instant, Sarah's face turned ghastly. "I wouldn't, Shaunic. Don't think of me so negatively."

She suddenly threw the blanket on the floor like a madwoman and wept bitterly. "Why are you making me out to be this way? Being forced upon by a disgusting man again and again was miserable for me too."

"Miss Neeson, don't move around. Your legs are injured."

Yael urged Shaun restlessly, “Eldest Young Master Hill, soften your tone and advise her. If she continues to behave like this, her legs might really be crippled.”

Looking at Sarah’s hysterical expression, he felt so weak that his head began to hurt.

He turned around and said to the hospital staff, “ Just press her down and tie her up to bandage her injuries first.”

The hospital staff looked at each other for a while. Then, they followed his instructions and pressed Sarah on the bed.

Sarah, who had only pretended to lose control, never expected Shaun to be so cruel. She thought that he would calm her. Now that he was asking the staff to tie her up, she was so furious that she kept kicking. She even injured a hospital staff member with her kick.

Shaun went to her and held one of her legs so that the doctor could apply medicine to her injuries.

However, once the doctor was done applying the medicine, Sarah took off the bandage. She said amid her sobs, “No. Without you, I’d rather be crippled. ”

After being provoked over and over again, Shaun flew into a rage. “Go ahead and be a cripple, then. I don’t f*cking need to take responsibility for your life.”

“Shaun, is this what a human would say?”

Rodney, who had rushed over, happened to hear Shaun’s words and lost his temper right away.

“She’s your woman! She’s your fiancée! You have to take responsibility for her.” Rodney pulled Shaun aside. Feeling devastated, he pointed at Sarah on the bed who was badly injured. “Have you forgotten that you promised to take care of her? And this is how you hurt her.”

“How did I hurt her?”

Shaun’s impatience had reached its limits. “Rodney Snow, you’re not me. You know nothing.”

“All I know is that if you don’t marry Sarah, her reputation will be ruined forever,” Rodney responded angrily, “She loves you. Do you think she did all those things on purpose? She’s a victim. What’s more, you’re still involved with Catherine, but did she criticize you? What gives you the right to criticize her?”

“Are you done?”

Shaun lost his temper. “That’s her reputation. I have no responsibility for it.”

“You’ve been with her for over ten years. If not you, then who’s supposed to take responsibility for it?” Rodney asked furiously.

For the first time in his life, Shaun felt that his relationship with Sarah made him feel completely drained.

He just did not want to marry Sarah. What was so difficult about it?

Was he the one who had gotten a man to force himself upon Sarah in the States? Was he the one who made Sarah and Lucifer sleep together?

No.

“Rodney, if you like her so much, go ahead and marry her. Don’t come to me all the time just to force me.”

Shaun strode toward the door as he felt like smoking.

After glancing at Sarah’s pale expression, Rodney could not help but follow Shaun out.

He gripped Shaun’s arm and whispered, “Do you think that I don’t want to marry her? The thing is, she’s only in love with you. You’re the one she wants to be with. Shaun, you can’t pass her to someone else just because you don’t want to be with her. She’s a human, and she loves you with all her heart.”

“... I don’t love her anymore.” Shaun suddenly lifted his head. With dark currents surging in his deep-set eyes, he looked like a lion who had been provoked.

“What did you say?” Rodney was dazed.

“You can treat me as a scumbag. Anyway, it’s impossible for me to marry her again,” Shaun said resolutely.

“What a b*stard you are!” Rodney was so infuriated that he punched Shaun in the face. “It must be Catherine who seduced you again, right? I’m going to kill her.”

He turned around and was about to leave. However, Shaun blocked his way and warned him impassively, “You’re not allowed to look for Catherine. It has nothing to do with her. Even without her, I still won’t marry Sarah.”

“Don’t think about deceiving me. Everything was fine before Catherine returned. I’ll make sure she’ll pay for Sarah’s suffering.” Rodney could not be bothered about Shaun.

The two men pushed and shoved each other in the corridor.

At last, Rodney punched him as he could no longer tolerate him.

Shaun’s anger had reached its peak as well. The two of them began to fight in the corridor.

“Stop fighting!” Chester, who rushed here after hearing the news, hurriedly separated them. “Both of you are distinguished people. Don’t you find it shameful to be watched as though you guys are animals?”

The two of them were shocked. Only then did they realize that there were many onlookers around them.

Fortunately, this floor was for VIP patients, so there were not many people. Most of them were doctors.

“Carry on with your work. If any of you dare to spread about tonight’s incident, you’ll be fired straight away,” Chester warned them before he dispersed the crowd.

Rodney, whose face was injured, made a cruel remark to Shaun. "If you dare dump Sarah, we won't be buddies anymore."

"Suit yourself." Shaun maintained an impassive face, which made Rodney almost go mad again.

"Enough, Rodney. This is Shaun and Sarah's affair. Why do you keep meddling in it?" Chester warned him helplessly, "What's more, Sarah is in the ward. Knowing that the two of you are fighting for her, she must be heartbroken."

At the thought of Sarah, Rodney was immediately at a loss for words.

Similarly, Shaun remained silent while standing at one side.

In the ward, Sarah gnashed her teeth as she heard the two of them fighting.

Never had she thought that Shaun would heartlessly say that he would not marry her.

'Shaunic, how cruel of you!'

She loved him so much, yet she demeaned herself again and again because of him.

In the morning.

When Catherine was preparing breakfast for Suzie and Freya in the kitchen, Freya shouted from outside all of a sudden.

Then, Freya walked into the kitchen with her phone. “Cathy, I’m going to show you something. Don’t be mad.”

Catherine grabbed the phone and looked at it. Today’s news headline was ‘Sarah Injured, Young Master Hill Immediately Rushed To The Hospital. Their Break—up Rumors Quashed.’

When she clicked open the video, the reporter gave a detailed explanation of the news.

“Young Master Hill and Sarah’s wedding was canceled all of a sudden previously, and there was no news about it later. Rumors about their break-up had been spreading like wildfire. However, our reporter, who kept watch at the hospital last night, happened to learn that Sarah was admitted to the hospital. Shortly after, Young Master Hill rushed to the hospital with a somber look, probably because he was worried about Sarah’s condition. It wasn’t until seven o’clock in the morning that our reporter saw Young Master Hill leaving the hospital wearily

Catherine turned off the news straight away. Then, she returned the phone to Freya. Her pretty face was calm and nonchalant as if it had nothing to do with her.

“Are you okay?”

Freya looked at Catherine uneasily.

To be honest, Freya never thought that Shaun would be so scummy. Last night, Shaun had even offered her an apartment to make her move out, so she thought he was insistent on pursuing Catherine. Nevertheless, he still ended up going to look for Sarah. Even an outsider like her felt indignant over it.

“Of course, I am. But I’ve underestimated this shameless person.”

Catherine scoffed deep down. Last night, Shaun had even sent her a selfie that he took at home and she actually bought it.

‘Shauncierely Yours’? Go to hell!

Well, it was a slap in the face for her. It got her to become calmer and more alert.

“Let’s have breakfast. After that, I’ll send Suzie to preschool.”

Catherine brought breakfast to the table.

After breakfast, she drove Suzie to preschool.

When she dropped Suzie off, she came across Sheldon who was dropping Lucas off at the gate.

“Thanks again, Uncle Sheldon.” Catherine was grateful to him. In order to prevent Lucas from being suspected, Joel got Sheldon to pretend to be Lucas’ father. Fortunately, Sheldon looked like Joel, so no one suspected him.

"You're most welcome. It's because of your dad that I managed to come back to Yule Corporation and become the manager," Sheldon responded with a smile.

Catherine grinned. She bent over to kiss Lucas on the forehead. "Lucas, do you miss me?"

"I'm not Suzie." An arrogant look crossed Lucas' face. Even so, he began to walk toward Catherine's arms to get some affection.

"I'll accompany you to have dinner at Grandpa's place tonight," Catherine said softly.

"Mommy, I want to come along," Suzie shouted.

"No way. Now that you're a member of the Hills, people will suspect you if you always stay with me," Catherine warned her.

After sending Suzie and Lucas off, she received a WhatsApp message from 'Shauncierely Yours'. [Darling, have you sent Suzie to preschool?]

Catherine lowered her head and glanced at it. After that, she blocked him again.

Shaun drove to the office after sending the message. On his way there, he checked his WhatsApp from time to time.

He did not receive a reply from Catherine even after he arrived at the office.

Irritated, he sent her another message. [What are you busy with? Why aren't you replying to my message?]

Nevertheless, his messages only showed one tick. At that moment, he realized that he could not see her profile photo anymore.

Shaun was speechless.

What did this mean? Last night, he was still able to see her profile photo and his messages showed two ticks. Could she have blocked him again?

Somehow, he experienced a burning sensation in his chest, which also carried a hint of gloom, grievance, and annoyance. At this very moment, Hadley came in. "President Hill, please sign this document as soon as possible." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 809

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 809

Shaun stared at Hadley grimly. Hadley was speechless.

What had he done wrong? All he was asking for was a signature. Indeed, being Eldest Young Master Hill's assistant was getting tougher.

"Pass me the document."

Shaun slowly opened his mouth while giving him a death stare.

Hadley handed it to him. It was only after Shaun signed it that Hadley said, "By the way, there's one more thing, Eldest Young Master Hill. You've made the news for visiting Sarah in the hospital last night."

Hadley clicked open the news and showed it to Shaun. "Now that you're pursuing Ms. Jones, I think if she sees this piece of news, she might feel... some disappointment."

"Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

After Shaun watched the video, his face turned grim straight away. "Which reporter is it?"

"It's the reporter from Sun Weekly. The news organization always reports trivial matters that happen in society. There are always reporters keeping watch in the hospital."

Shaun gritted his teeth. "I'm giving you half the day to make this news organization disappear. At the same time, get all the news about last night's incident deleted. Also, warn other news organizations that they're going to suffer the same consequence if they dare report on me."

"Alright."

Hadley also felt that Sun Weekly was asking for death.

After he left, Shaun immediately drove to Hudson Corporation, only to find that Catherine had not arrived yet.

Harvey was annoyed at how Shaun was playing the field. However, due to Shaun's identity, he had no choice but to pour a cup of hot coffee for him. "Chair woman Jones doesn't come to the office every day. She follows her personal schedule sometimes."

"Give her a call and ask her to come here," Shaun said in a strident tone.

Harvey then called Catherine in front of him. "Chairwoman Jones, President Hill is in Hudson and says that he wants to meet you."

"I'm too busy to entertain him. Ask him to go to hell." Catherine hung up the call as soon as she finished her sentence.

Shaun's face darkened in an instant. Harvey dared not to breathe too loudly.

In the afternoon, Shaun went to the hospital again when Rodney was not around.

"Shaunic, you're here." The moment Sarah saw him, her eyes glowed.

When the news was released this morning, those rich young ladies in Canberra who had shunned Sarah before immediately called her to send their greetings. Quite a number of them came to visit Sarah in the morning, and there were different kinds of health supplements on the table.

At that moment, Sarah was extremely complacent. As such, she could not bring herself to let Shaun go.

"Are you feeling much better?" Shaun asked in a low voice.

“My legs still hurt. The doctor said my tendons are injured.” Sarah looked at the wound on the corner of his mouth. “I’m sorry, Shaunic. Because of me, you got into a fight with Rodney. Do your injuries hurt? Let me apply some medicine for you.”

“No need.”

Shaun took out a document. “Sarah, I came here today to make something clear to you. I...”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 810

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 810

“Shaunic, I’m not feeling well. Let’s talk about it sometime later.” Once Sarah caught sight of the title deed in the folder, she had a sinking feeling deep down. She quickly feigned feeling unwell and lay down.

“Sarah, stop running away from it.” Shaun did not feel like dragging the matter on anymore, so he acted ruthlessly. “This is the title deed to the seaside villa. Also, I’ll compensate you with one duplex apartment and ten commercial properties.

Here’s a card with 100 billion dollars inside, which is enough for you to live a luxurious life.”

“Stop it. I won’t break up with you.” Sarah spilled the glass of hot water beside her in agitation and consequently burned her hand.

“Miss Neeson...” Yael was so shocked that she immediately pressed the bell to call the doctor over.

“My hand hurts. It hurts so badly.” Sarah began to cry in pain.

Yael advised Shaun, “Eldest Young Master Hill, Miss Neeson hasn’t recovered yet. Why must you provoke her at this time?”

If this had happened back then, Shaun would have tolerated it.

However, Sarah had refused to accept the fact and kept kicking up a fuss since last night. Moreover, Shaun had spent the night keeping her company yesterday and did not get to sleep. With all kinds of emotions overwhelming him, he barely had any patience left.

“Sarah, don’t go too far. We can never get back together.”

Shaun put down the document before he turned around and left.

Whenever he saw Sarah making a scene now, he somehow had a strong urge to run away. It also confirmed his intentions to end his relationship with Sarah.

While sobbing, Sarah smashed a lot of things.

When Rodney arrived, he was heartbroken to see her swollen hands.

“Rodney, Shaun has decided to abandon me. He gave me these things to get rid of me.” Sarah fell into his arms and burst into tears. “What am I to him? I’m the person who cares about him the most.

I’m not even concerned about his identity or wealth.”

“He has gone too far.”

Looking at those documents, Rodney felt that Shaun deserved to die. How could he treat Sarah the way Chester played around with those women out there?

“Sarah, stop crying. I’ll deal with him on your behalf.” Rodney clenched his fists. “If Shaun abandons you, I’ll marry you. I won’t let you become a laughing stock. I come from the Snow family. Although I’m not as influential as Shaun, my family has quite a high status too.”

“Rodney...” Sarah was dazed for a moment. Then, she shook her head incredulously. “No way. How could I possibly hurt you like this? What’s more, your family won’t approve of it.”

“As long as I approve it, my family can’t do anything.” Rodney wiped her tears away. “Sarah, I’ll always stay by your side. If you want Shaun, I’ll do anything I can to make him yours again. If you choose to give up on him, I’ll marry you.”

“Thank you, Rodney.” Sarah nestled in his arms and wept bitterly.

Sarah smiled a little without Rodney’s realization.

She felt fortunate to have Rodney as her backup. Rodney might not be as great as Shaun, but once his uncle was elected as the next prime minister, the Snows would be at the height of their power.

At this very moment, Rodney's assistant ran in. "Oh no, President Snow!"

"What's the fuss?" Rodney glowered at him in annoyance.

"Look, President Snow." With a long face, his assistant took the phone and showed him. "Old Master Snow was interviewed at the entrance of Snow Corporation just now."

Rodney clicked open the video and watched Old Master Snow say, "About 20 years ago, I decided to divide the Snow family's property among my children. Fortunately, these children have not disappointed me over the years. Now that Jason is in charge of Snow Corporation, I'm at ease. I still own 30% of the company's shares, which will be passed to Jessica and Carson in the future."

The reporter asked curiously, "But don't you have a grandson called Rodney?"

Old Master Snow replied with a snort, "Rodney has let me down. The Snow Corporation's shares will have nothing to do with him. If he's planning on inheriting the Snow family's assets, he can dream on."

Rodney's phone dropped to the floor.

His handsome face changed. Then, he rose to his feet all of a sudden. "Sarah, I need to go home now as something has come up."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 811

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 811

Sarah's mind was in a mess too.

She did not have the mood to persuade Rodney to stay at all.

Just a moment ago, she thought she would get married to Rodney if she could not get Shaun back.

After all, he was the successor of Snow Corporation and the nephew of the future president.

It was not less honorable than marrying Shaun.

However, in just an instant, Rodney was disqualified by the Snow family from inheriting Snow Corporation's shares. Without the support of the Snow family, Rodney, who only had Osher Corporation, was nothing. She would have a worse marriage than Cindy.

Sarah was about to go insane. Why was she so unlucky?

Rodney rushed back home immediately.

In the gazebo, Old Master Snow and Jessica were talking about the company's matters.

"Jessica, if only you were a boy. You're much more capable than Rodney." Whenever Old Master Snow listened to his granddaughter talk about work, he would get emotional.

"Grandpa, you sound as if you're discriminating against us women," Jessica said jokingly.

Just as Old Master Snow was about to speak up, Rodney lifted the curtains and barged in. "Grandpa, don't I have the right of succession to Snow Corporation too? Why did you disqualify me?"

"Because you're too stupid." It was as if Old Master Snow had expected his appearance, and he touched his coffee coaster lightly.

He was too stupid?

Rodney's blood boiled in anger. "How am I stupid? Ever since I was born, I have been the quickest learner out of everyone in the Snow family at whatever I learn. The year I had my final exam, my results were placed third out of the whole country. I even studied at the top university in the whole world. You even said I am smarter than my uncle."

Old Master Snow laughed coldly. "That's why I said you're stupid. You still haven't realized the reason why I'm scolding you. Indeed, you were clever when you were young, but you got dumber as you grew up. I don't feel at ease handing over Snow Corporation's shares to you. Unless... you get married according to my arrangement."

Only then did Rodney realize. "To put it bluntly, this is just your tactic of forcing me to get married."

"No, this isn't a tactic. It's your one and only chance." Old Master Snow took a sip of coffee as he said calmly.

"I won't follow your arrangements and marry a woman that I don't love." Rodney thought for a moment and suddenly said, "But I can marry a wife and let you have a great-grandchild soon."

"You don't mean that you're marrying Sarah, right?" Jessica said. Her refined eyebrows were knit in a frown.

“Yes. Sarah is a good lady...”

Old Master Snow threw his cup to the floor before Rodney could finish speaking. “If you dare marry Sarah, don’t ever come back to the Snow family. ”

“Grandpa.” Rodney was shocked and enraged. “Did you listen to the rumors? Weren’t you the one who said that we should believe in what we see and not what we hear? Sarah has never treated me as a substitute.”

Jessica sneered. “If she doesn’t take you as a substitute, why will she want to get married to you after Shaun rejected her?”

She could not understand why she had such a stupid brother.

“I was the one who proposed to her...”

“Shut up and get lost.” Old Master Snow was afraid that his anger would put his health at risk if he looked at Rodney some more. “Don’t talk to me.

I’ve made up my mind.”

After that, Old Master Snow walked away.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 812

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Jessica glanced at Rodney helplessly. "Grandpa is serious. You should think this through. Is it worth it for a woman? How far can you go without the Snow family's support?"

"I've thought it through. Unlike you, I won't marry someone that I don't love," Rodney said furiously.

Jessica's expression changed, and a trace of sadness flashed across her eyes. Then, she walked out of the gazebo and left too.

Rodney stood there for a while before he walked out of the Snow family's house annoyedly.

When he got in the car, he received a call from General Manager Stevens. "President Snow, our company's acquisition of Country F's SKITTL Group has failed."

"What happened? Haven't you took two full years to prepare for SKITTL Group's acquisition?" Rodney felt an inexplicable anger wash over him again.

Initially, he wanted to take the opportunity of acquiring SKITTL Group to let Osher Corporation step into the shampoo industry and even expand it globally. That way, he did not need to pay SE Group any mind at all.

If a company wanted to grow bigger, it had to expand its range of products. He thought that the acquisition would surely be successful.

General Manager Stevens laughed bitterly. "President Snow, SKITTL Group initially wanted us to be the acquiring company. But after news got out that the Snow family has canceled your right of succession, SKITTL Group made some considerations. They were afraid that Osher Corporation's future developments might not be good without the support of Snow Corporation, so they went for a large company in the US."

"Bullsh*t, did I come this far by relying on Snow Corporation? I relied on myself." Luck was not on Rodney's side today.

"President Snow, the most important thing now is to stabilize the position of Osher Corporation's skincare brand in Australia. There are rumors that Freya and SE Group's general manager is planning to collaborate. Once they develop a new product, Osher Corporation's position will plummet. We might even be eliminated."

General Manager Stevens continued, "The products are upgraded and replaced too quickly these days. We need an excellent, top cosmetic chemist. Since you have lost the support of the Snow family, you'll become a laughing stock among the wealthy families in Australia once Osher Corporation starts going down."

Rodney gripped his phone tightly. The veins on the back of his hand were throbbing.

He had never imagined that he, the favored one in the Snow family, would be in such a situation one day.

Osher Corporation was his blood, sweat, and tears. If he lost Osher Corporation, he would be left with nothing at all.

"President Snow, no matter what, you have to beg Freya to come back to the company," General Manager Stevens said bitterly. "We've thought of every possible way. But that year, it was you..."

“Shut up. Enough, I got it.” Rodney almost smashed his phone.

He never thought that there would come a day where he had to beg Freya.

Above all, that woman even ruined his reputation just a few days ago, but he could not tear her apart yet. F*ck.

At night, Catherine had a meal with Joel and Lucas at the Yule family’s manor.

When Joel and Lucas learned that Catherine would be staying overnight, they were thrilled.

The huge villa felt too empty with only the two of them and a few servants.

At 8:00 p.m., just as Catherine was about to fill up the bathtub for Lucas’s bath, Hackett Institute’s management gave her a call all of a sudden.

“Ms. Jones, according to your neighbor, a man has been waiting for you at your door since this evening and hasn’t left yet. It looks like it’s your... ex- boyfriend.”

“Ex-boyfriend?” The corners of Catherine’s mouth twitched. Her neighbor had seen Shaun going in and out of her door a few times before. However, he had not shown up for a while now. Her neighbor must have mistaken Shaun as her ex-boyfriend, who had broken up with her.

“Yes, ” the management said, “of course. I’m just informing you. It’s your choice whether to come back or not. If there’s any dispute or disturbance, you can choose to report this to the police. ” After hanging up, Catherine immediately called the police. “Hello, is this 000?”

9:30 p.m.

Shaun leaned on the door of Catherine's house and looked at his phone from time to time.

Why was that woman not back yet when it was already so late? Could she be on a date with some guy again? If Shaun had not tracked Isaac's whereabouts beforehand and found out that he was working extra hours at his company tonight, he would not have waited here foolishly for seven hours.

He had never waited for a woman like that before. Ding. A sound came from the elevator.

A few policemen walked toward him with a frown. "It must be you."

Shaun was dumbfounded.

"Let's go. Either you leave this neighborhood, or follow us back to the police station." The police said coldly, "The owner of this house has already made a police report. She said you're her ex-husband who has been pestering her so much even after the divorce that she doesn't dare come home." "She called the police?"

Shaun's handsome face twitched, and he exuded a terrifying aura. Unbeknownst to him, it made the police more certain that he was a violent man with bad behavior.

"Nonsense. Should she allow you to pester her if she doesn't call the police?" A policeman started to educate Shaun. "I've seen many men like you who still abuse their wives even after they're divorced. Let me advise you on one thing. Since you're already divorced, just live your own life. Are you still a man if you keep clinging on to her?" "Very well."

Shaun clenched his fists and walked toward the elevator in long strides.

When the elevator doors closed, he heard the policemen outside talking.

"This guy's temper is so bad. If I were a woman, I'd divorce him too."

Shaun walked to the parking lot. He slammed the car door shut and made a call to Master Ziegler of Liona.

"Find out Catherine's location for me. I want to know where she is."

Not long after, Master Ziegler sent him an address: [Catherine is at the Yule family's villa.]

Shaun's expression loosened up a little. Luckily Catherine was not on a date with another man. If not... he might murder that man.

The next morning.

Catherine had a good night's sleep with Lucas. When they woke up to have breakfast, the butler came in and said, "President Yule, a sports car arrived at the door around 10 p.m. last night and has been parked there ever since. The guard said the lights on the car came on several times at night, so there is someone inside. The model of the sports car is a global limited edition. Currently... only Shaun has it in the whole of Australia."

Joel's expression turned cold. "Why is he waiting at our door? I've never seen such a shameless person in my whole life."

Lucas looked at Catherine nervously. "Mommy..."

"Don't worry. Let's have our breakfast first. I'll meet him once I've eaten."

With that, Catherine filled Joel and Lucas's plates. She would still have to meet Shaun anyway.

"Catherine, listen to me. Stay away from that guy. Isaac's pretty good too. You can get to know him more," Joel advised her earnestly. "Shaun is a fickle scumbag. If Sarah didn't get into trouble, he wouldn't even turn back and look for you."

"I know. Dad, let Uncle Sheldon send Lucas to preschool later, and don't let anybody find out," Catherine reminded. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 814

After breakfast, Catherine walked out from the main entrance of the Yule family's villa.

Shaun immediately opened the car door and walked toward her. Having not been home for two consecutive nights, the shirt he wore was crumpled, and there was stubble on his face. However, that did not affect his good looks at all. In fact, it strengthened his presence further. Even his gloomy mood was filled with a compelling taste of a bad boy that women loved.

“You called the police last night?” Shaun stared at Catherine with bloodshot eyes.

“That’s right. You kept standing at my door, not wanting to leave. It was a huge inconvenience to me,” Catherine said coldly without any hint of guilt.

“You...”

Shaun’s chest heaved. As a highly regarded man, he had never been humiliated by a woman like that before.

“What about me? I’m not a person who’s at your beck and call. Mr. Hill, you can’t choose a useful woman when you need her but abandon her for another attractive yet useless woman when you don’t.” Catherine scolded him bluntly. “I remember telling you this clearly the night before, that if you went to Sarah, you shouldn’t bother coming back to me anymore.”

When Catherine recalled that he sent a selfie of him at home to her but went to find Sarah the next moment, she was truly disgusted with him.

“I... I had no choice. Sarah fell down from the stairs that day, and she hurt her leg. If I didn’t go, she would refuse to get treated. In the end, I went and made things clear to her. See? Rodney even fought with me over this matter.”

Shaun pointed at the wound on his mouth. All he could do was act pitiful as he hissed in pain. “It still hurts a lot.”

“Serves you right,” Catherine said those three words and sneered.

Shaun stiffened for a moment before he said brazenly, “Yes, I deserved it. You have foresight after all, babe. You told me not to go.”

“Who’s your babe? Watch your mouth.” Catherine’s scalp tingled from him calling her babe, to which she glared at him with her bright eyes.

Her discerning big eyes, delicate fair skin, and juicy pink lips made Shaun’s heart melt. It melted more when he recalled the kiss emoji that she sent him.

He was determined to get her to forgive him that day, even if he had to be brazen-faced. Then, he would slowly savor the taste of kissing her.

“Cathy, I’ve already cleared things up with Sarah. I don’t love her anymore, and it’s impossible for me to get back together with her and marry her.”

Shaun held Catherine’s petite hands and grabbed them tightly. His deep, obsidian-like gaze was serious.

Catherine’s mind wandered for a moment.

He had once looked at her with contempt and said that the one he loved was Sarah.

So, when she heard him saying that from his thin lips again, she did not feel touched. Instead, she thought it was ironic.

“Babe, can you give me another chance?”

Shaun thought her remaining silent meant that she was touched. Hence, he stretched his hands and wanted to pull her into his embrace.

However, Catherine put her hands against his chest. “Shaun, I really don’t know whether I should believe you again or not. I’ve been hurt by you too many times now. I’m afraid that if I start having expectations of you once more, Sarah will call you away again or threaten you with her life. I haven’t been with you for long, but you and Sarah have known each other for more than 10 years...”

“No, Cathy. I won’t fail you anymore.” Shaun hugged her tightly. “Don’t you know what type of person I am by now? I won’t say such words if I’m not sure of my feelings.”

Catherine’s face was buried in his embrace. At a place where he could not see, there was mockery in her eyes.

She knew him all too well. He could utter any sweet words when he was in love. That was why she fell for him again despite being hurt by him time and time again.

However, when he was not in love, he was cold, heartless, and cruel.

“Babe...” When Shaun saw Catherine still in his arms, a wave of passion surged in him. “You owe me a kiss.”

After that, he lowered his head and kissed her. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 815

A hand covered Shaun's lips before he could kiss Catherine.

"When did I owe you a kiss?" Catherine was puzzled. She was about to be defeated by his shamelessness.

"The night the day before yesterday." Shaun took his phone out and showed her the kiss emoji that she had sent him.

Catherine's pretty face flushed when she saw the kiss emoji on the phone. She had done it at the spur of the moment purely with the intention to make this man yearn for her. However, she did not expect him to remember it so well.

"Oh, I remember. But... did you go look for Sarah immediately after receiving my emoji?" she asked with a fake smile.

"No."

Shaun's expression stiffened, and he said unnaturally, "I went to take a cold bath after I received it."

Since they were adults, Catherine found herself understanding his words right away.

Her eyes widened in disbelief before her cheeks heated up. She was speechless.

Seriously? Was it not just an emoji that everyone was using? Why was he so horny?

“You just broke up with Sarah a few days ago. Was that necessary?” She could not help but mutter softly.

However, Shaun’s hearing was excellent. Having heard her clearly, a hint of embarrassment flashed across his eyes. Then, his lips moved. At first, he wanted to say that he could only react to her, but he wanted to avoid her from thinking that he only loved her body and not her person if she found out the truth. It would be troublesome if she overthought.

“No. You’re the one who has a destructive power over me.”

Catherine averted her gaze. “Does it mean that you owe me a beating if I send you a punching emoji next time?”

“Sure.” Shaun stared at her lips with a scalding gaze. As long as he could kiss her, he would take any beating in the future.

That man had no bottom line at all.

“I think you’re still dreaming. I’m too lazy to waste my time with you. I’m going to the company.”

Catherine could not care less about him anymore and turned around straight away.

“Wait, I’ll take you to the company.” Shaun grabbed her arm and opened the door to the passenger seat.

Catherine glanced at the passenger seat. “No. I don’t want to sit in a place where other women have sat before.”

After that, she walked toward the main entrance of the villa. The guard had already driven her car over.

Catherine opened the car door and got into the driver’s seat. However, Shaun immediately sat on the passenger seat and buckled his seat belts.

“Brother, why are you following me? I have to go to work.” Catherine snapped.

“I’ll send you to work. We can spend more time with each other on the way.” Shaun’s thin lips lifted in a smile. “I just realized even the air is sweeter when I’m with you.”

Catherine shuddered. “Shut up.”

Shaun frowned, looking aggrieved. He did not sleep in the car all night just so he could say these touching, romantic words. He had been learning on his phone, but she did not give him the chance to use them at all.

“Alright, I’ll shut up. But my mind is filled with your voice, so it doesn’t matter if we talk or not.” He smiled affectionately.

The corners of Catherine's mouth twitched as she put her hand on her forehead. "What about your sports car? Are you just going to leave it there?"

"You said you don't want to sit on it, so I don't want it anymore. I'll just get a new car." Shaun took his phone out and called Hadley. He looked at the logo on Catherine's steering wheel and said, "Get me an Aston Martin."

"But you just bought your car not long ago." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 816

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 816

"I'm not driving that anymore. Cathy doesn't like it, so there's no need to keep it."

Hadley felt embarrassed. "But will an Aston Martin be too cheap? It doesn't really match your status."

"Never mind. Cathy drives an Aston Martin too. Since she drives a white one, you can get a black one for me. Just nice, we'll have matching cars."

Shaun hung up after he said that. It was as if changing a sports car to him was as easy as shopping for vegetables.

Catherine concentrated on her driving and let him do whatever.

As she drove, Shaun said, "This isn't the way to Hudson Corporation."

"Mm, I'm going to Yule Corporation. The toxin in my dad's body hasn't cleared yet, so I'm going to his company to have a look."

It was mainly because Joel told her last night that Old Master Yule had agreed to let Melanie return to the company. As such, she had to go and take a look personally. Otherwise, Yule Corporation would become a total mess because of Melanie and her father again.

"If you're going to Yule Corporation, it means that you're going to meddle in Yule Corporation's matters. Will you be able to manage everything?" Shaun frowned when he heard her words. "Do you still have time to be in a relationship with me?"

"When did I agree to be in a relationship with you?" Catherine complained.

"It doesn't matter whether you agree or not because I've agreed anyway." Shaun smiled at her.

After glancing at him in silence, Catherine could not resist saying, "Can you go back and get some sleep?"

"Are you worried about me?" Shaun's eyes lit up.

"No, your dark circles are too deep. It makes you look like a panda, and it affects your looks." Catherine gave him a merciless blow.

Shaun was suddenly at a loss for words. He had the urge to take his phone out to look at his face, but his pride and honor did not allow that. Instead, he just put on a long face.

The car drove into Yule Corporation's parking lot.

When Catherine parked the car and was about to get down, Shaun grabbed hold of her and said with a hoarse voice, "Cathy, can you add me to your WhatsApp contacts? Remove me from your blocked contacts too. If you don't, I'll follow you everywhere you go."

Catherine sighed. Then, she added him to her WhatsApp contacts right before him and removed his number from her blocked contacts. "Can I go up now?"

"Okay."

Shaun got down from the car with her. "Cathy, I heard Yule Corporation and Campos Corporation are planning to establish a joint venture."

"There was that news before, but since I'm here, I won't agree to it."

Shaun nodded. "Campos Corporation isn't that simple. In the ten years of collaboration they had with Hill Corporation, they basically paralyzed the senior management of Hill Corporation. Be careful."

Catherine was taken aback, but she nodded. After she stepped into the elevator, she noticed that Shaun was still waiting outside.

She lowered her head and smiled. She did not expect that this day would come for him.

The elevator went up and led her straight to the floor where Joel worked.

Joel's right-hand man, Secretary Coleman, had been waiting there for a while. When Catherine turned up, he led the employees of the secretarial department forward immediately and said, “Eldest Young Lady, Old Master Yule has brought Melanie to the company today, and they’re currently holding a meeting.”

“Why does my dad not know of this?” Catherine raised her eyebrows doubtfully.

“It was a last-minute decision from Old Master Yule. The senior management of every department and a few important shareholders are at the meeting. By the way, the Campos Corporation’s people are here too.”

“Lead the way. I will sit in too.”

Catherine had a bad feeling. She turned around and immediately went into the elevator again.

At the conference room on the 3rd floor.

When Charlie Campos ended his long speech, he said, “Everyone, we all want to earn money. If we want to earn more money, then we have to enter the finance sector. Now is the best opportunity to do so. Yule Corporation has been developing well in recent years, but it’s still a bit lacking as compared to the Hill family and the Snow family. Grandpa, what do you think?”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 817

Having not managed the company’s affairs for many years, Old Master Yule was dragged into today’s meeting coincidentally by Melanie.

However, Charlie's speech had moved him.

He was most upset about the fact that Yule Corporation would never be one of the top three wealthiest families in Australia.

"Old Master Yule, say something. We believe in your views." President Parker flattered him. "Now that Director Yule has been poisoned and is not as healthy as he used to be, Yule Corporation can only rely on you."

"That's right, Old Master Yule. Come back to the company." A few shareholders advised him. "Campos Corporation has been developing rapidly over the years, and they've advanced to the second largest corporation in Australia. I think we shouldn't miss out on this chance."

"Yes. Regardless of personal grudges, if it weren't for the e-commerce that we've previously established with Campos Corporation, Yule Corporation wouldn't have developed so fast for the past few years."

"Old Master Yule, you should lead Yule Corporation to glory again."

Old Master Yule was instantly fired up by the comments. Although he had retired for many years, he was still as ambitious as before. The reason he retired was due to his health problems. However, his health had gotten better from recuperating all these years, so he started to become ambitious again.

"Old Master Yule, let me tell you the truth." President Parker went to Old Master Yule's side and whispered, "Although Director Yule appointed Catherine as his successor, her last name is still Jones. Yule Corporation can't possibly change its name to Jones Corporation in the future, right?"

Old Master Yule's expression changed. If no one had brought that up, he would never have realized it.

Melanie smirked. She turned her head and said, “Grandpa, I’ve heard Charlie mention about starting a joint venture many times, and it is indeed viable. Currently, there are many people who want to become shareholders as well. If it weren’t for our marriage between the two families, Charlie wouldn’t have prioritized Yule Corporation for such a good project too. But to invest tens of billion dollars into this project, we’ll need someone as bold as you to make a decision.”

Old Master Yule took a deep breath before he pounded on the table. “Okay. It’s decided, then.”

“Grandpa, what did you decide on?”

The office door was suddenly pushed open. Catherine entered in her high heels with a smile. She was in a white blazer that made her look competent and not any less beautiful.

“About starting a joint venture with Campos Corporation. I think it’s very viable,” Old Master Yule said as he smiled. “Catherine, why are you here today?”

“Dad said Melanie is coming back to the company today, so he told me to come over and have a look.” Catherine gave Melanie and Charlie an eloquent glance. “I didn’t know that Sis had planned something grand to do on her first day back.”

“I’m only doing it for the sake of the company’s development,” Melanie said humbly. “Besides, Campos Corporation has already been preparing this for half a year. It cannot be delayed anymore.”

Catherine’s eyebrows moved. Melanie would have been smug in the past, but today, she could keep her composure well. Sure enough, she changed a lot ever since Nicola went to jail.

“So you’ve agreed to it, Grandpa?” Catherine looked toward Old Master Yule.

“I’ve heard Charlie explaining it in detail just now, and I’m quite satisfied. We’ll get a net profit of more than 10 billion dollars in the first year. Why shouldn’t we do it?” Old Master Yule was full of confidence.

Catherine frowned. “Grandpa, sometimes when a plan sounds overly good, it’ll easily...”

“Ms. Jones, I’ve never been unrealistic. This is not the first collaboration between Campos Corporation and Yule Corporation either. Everyone is clear on what kind of person I am, and I always keep my promises. After all, the success of the Campos family today did not come for free.” Charlie raised his eyebrows. “I understand that you have a grudge with my wife. However, it’s not the time to fuss about those small grudges when it comes to bigger things.”

What he really meant was that if Catherine did not agree to the plan, it would be because she could not stand Melanie.

Deep down, Catherine sighed. Melanie’s trick was a clever one. She had secretly egged Old Master Yule on to come to the company and let him make the decision. If Catherine did not support his decision, she would be offending him. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 818

However, Catherine still did not agree to the collaboration with Campos Corporation.

“Grandpa, I still think it’s better to inspect this matter thoroughly. For example, after the joint venture has been established, who will provide the professional team? Who will be the managing director? Yule Corporation isn’t well versed in the finance sector, so we don’t have the necessary resources as well. If we step into the sector rashly...”

“What do you mean? Are you questioning my decision?” Old Master Yule’s expression darkened.

“Catherine, I’ve been in the business world for tens of years. I’m more experienced than you. There’s no need for you to meddle in the affairs of Yule Corporation any more.”

“Grandpa, it’s not that I don’t believe in you. I just think that it’s better to discuss this when my dad comes back...”

Charlie said sarcastically, “Ms. Jones, are you saying that Old Master Yule isn’t as visionary as you dad?”

Old Master Yule became upset when he heard that. “I’ve managed Yule Corporation for tens of years. No one knows the business world better than me. This matter has been decided. Catherine, since you don’t know Yule Corporation well, you should come here less in the future.”

He stood up after he spoke. “Okay, that concludes today’s meeting.”

“Grandpa, I’ll send you home.” Melanie followed after him immediately. As she left, she cast a smug glance toward Catherine.

The employees of the senior management gradually left. Not one of them cared about Catherine.

Charlie walked to her side with a smile and said, “So what if you’re the successor of Yule Corporation?”

No one takes you seriously. I’d advise you to go back to where you came from.”

“Charlie, I don’t believe you’re sincere in collaborating with Yule Corporation. After all, the Campos family was the one who took advantage of Hill Corporation. Didn’t all of you earn your fortune from cheating the Hill family? Now that the Campos family is the second wealthiest family in Australia, I guess you must really want to be in first place.”

Catherine looked at Charlie coldly. To be honest, she had never understood Charlie.

At Melanie’s and his wedding three years ago, she always thought of him as a flirtatious, indecent, and greasy man. However, in just three years, Campos Corporation had unexpectedly become the second wealthiest family in Australia.

The Campos family was not simple. She had a feeling that there was a mysterious force helping the Campos family behind the scenes.

“You’re not wrong. I do want to be in the first place.”

Charlie touched his chin. “Look, maybe we can collaborate with each other?”

“Didn’t my grandpa agree to the collaboration between Yule Corporation and Campos Corporation already?” Catherine frowned.

Charlie laughed. “ I meant the both of us. I heard some news lately. Isn’t Shaun trying to woo you? Are you really fine with the fact that he abandoned you three years ago? Don’t you wish to trample over the scumbag that betrayed you before?”

Catherine was astonished.

Shaun and Sarah had only just appeared on the news a few days ago, so all the wealthy families in Australia thought that Shaun and Sarah had made up again. Yet, Charlie already found out that Shaun was wooing her.

“Are you surprised? Actually, the Campos family is more powerful than you think.”

Charlie reached his hand forward to touch her face as he smiled.

Catherine stopped him halfway. She looked at Charlie’s greasy face in contempt. “Brother-in-law, my standards are very high. Normally, I won’t even turn my gaze toward a mediocre-looking guy like yours.”

After that, she turned around, ignoring Charlie’s awful expression, and left without looking back. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 819

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Charlie looked at her pretty silhouette with a dark expression and wiped his lips hard.

Ha! So what if she looked down on him? He would surely teach her a lesson one day.

After returning to the office, Catherine’s head spun from looking at Yule Corporation’s documents for a while. Hence, she started playing games on her phone.

When she had finished one round of the game, a player called You’re In My Heart came to form a team with her.

Once Catherine approved the request, both of them went onto the battlefield.

However, Catherine's expression went dark just after playing for a while. That player had to be a newbie as he was nowhere to be found after parachuting.

She could not help but turn on her microphone and reminded, "Hey! Hey sister, stop running around.

You'll trespass the border if you go any further and die."

"I'm a guy. Which way should I go?" The raspy voice of a man came from the game.

Catherine was almost captivated. That voice was too sexy, and it sounded a little familiar, but she was so focused on the game that she could not recall. " Open the map on the top right corner. Don't run out of the white circle. Meet me at my location."

"Okay."

Not long after the man replied, he started to run toward her.

Catherine let out a sigh of relief. Luckily, that guy was not too stupid.

However, the system gave a reminder that the area of the map was about to shrink. He would surely get them eliminated with that speed of his.

Catherine immediately found an off-road SUV and sped toward him. When she arrived, she found out that guy was still empty-handed. She was utterly speechless.

“Brother, where are your weapons and equipment? You’ll get killed any time.”

“...Where should I look for the equipment?” That man’s hesitant voice came over.

Catherine was exasperated. “Bro, is this your first time playing a game? How exactly did you find me?”

“Mm, it’s my first time. I’m accompanying my girlfriend.” The man lowered his voice.

“Then, you should go look for your girlfriend. Why did you look for me instead?” Catherine looked at his ID, You’re In my Heart. Not many guys would set such a transparent game ID. That guy would have to be an innocent, good man in real life.

He remained silent for a while before he said, “

You’re my girlfriend.”

“...What?”

Catherine was stunned. She felt as if she was struck by lightning. Could people become couples just by playing games?

Wait, something was not right. That person’s voice was similar to a particular scumbag’s voice.

The next second, the man in the game said, “ I’m Shaun. Can’t you recognize my voice?”

The speeding off-road SUV crashed into a tree with a bang.

Catherine fell from the car. Before she could even stand properly, someone suddenly shot her a few times from afar. Then, she just... died.

It was the quickest death in her gaming history.

Next, she saw Shaun being shot to the ground as well. He carried his wounded body and tried to crawl toward her. They looked like a couple who were about to die together.

At that moment, she heard a certain someone’s chuckle from her phone. “Even if I die, I’ll die by your side.”

The corners of Catherine’s mouth twitched. She was speechless.

Who would want to die with him? With that, she logged out of the game to look for Shaun’s contact and called him.

“Babe...” The same voice from the game came through. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 820

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

“Who’s your babe?” Catherine snapped. “Shaun, aren’t you a president? Do you have a lot of spare time to disturb me in my games?”

“I’ve earned enough money. The most important thing right now is to pick up girls and get a girlfriend.” Shaun’s reply was confident. “It’s my duty to accompany my girlfriend to play games.”

Catherine held her forehead. “How on earth did you find my account?”

She remembered that she did not register her WhatsApp number in the game.

“I noticed it when you were playing that game on the day we watched a movie,” Shaun said in a low voice. “This is my first time playing games. I used to think playing games is a waste of life, but now I understand that being in a game with the person I love is pretty romantic too.”

Although they were on a call, Catherine got goosebumps from his flirting. She did not know how to continue the conversation.

“Good girl. What time are you getting off work this evening? I’ll pick you up.” Shaun continued flirting with her in a gentle voice.

“I drove myself today.”

“I know. I’ll ask Hadley to send me there. I’ll wait for you by your car.”

In the end, Catherine told him the time.

In the evening.

Catherine took her bag and walked into the private elevator.

The elevator stopped on the 25th floor, where Melanie looked at her smugly and was about to enter the elevator.

However, Catherine pressed the close doors button straight away, sandwiching Melanie between the doors.

“Catherine, are you trying to murder me?” Melanie yelled. She was in a mess from being sandwiched between the doors.

“You think too much.” Catherine pressed the open doors button again and pushed Melanie out. “Didn’t you see what’s written outside? It says ‘

Director’s Private Elevator’. What right do you have to use this?”

Melanie sneered. “Aren’t you just counting on the identity of a successor that Joel gave you? But now, I’m an important person who’s in charge of Yule Corporation’s future development. You may not know this, but Grandpa has already approved the finance department to assign 12 billion dollars to me in order to develop the joint venture with Campos Corporation. You didn’t expect this, did you? You deliberately chased my father and me out before, so you must not have expected that we’ll be back so soon.”

“I can see that you’ve been trying hard to please Grandpa and Granny at home recently. But Melanie, you should remember that your last name is Yule. Don’t foolishly be a pawn for others. You have to understand this. Once you’re worth nothing to the Campos family, will that playboy, Charlie, still want you? Just like before. Didn't you complain in the hospital that Charlie hit you when you were dismissed from your job?"

Catherine tucked her hair behind her ear while she sneered. "Furthermore, Charlie even tried to flirt with me, his sister-in-law, at the conference room this morning. If you don't believe me, you can check the security footage yourself."

After she said that, she released her finger on the open doors button, and the elevator doors closed.

Melanie's pretty face twisted in anger. She had initially wanted to get off work, but now, she went straight to the security room instead to get this morning's footage of the conference room. That was when she saw Charlie extending his hand to touch Catherine's face. His movements were flirty.

A trace of anger swept across her eyes. 'Charlie, you're such a heartless bastard,' she thought.

Meanwhile, Catherine arrived at the parking lot. Before she made it to her car, she could see Shaun leaning on the front of her sports car. He wore a pair of long white pants and a shirt with blue and white stripes. There was a pair of sunglasses hung at the front of his shirt. He exuded a dashing and handsome presence. His long legs, especially, were comparable to a top global male model's legs.

Catherine stood there and studied him for a while. She felt like Shaun was getting younger as he aged. People might even believe that he was 25 years old.

"Cathy..."

When Shaun saw her coming, he opened the passenger door immediately.

Catherine handed him the car keys and got in the car.

“I can do this myself.”

As half of his body shadowed hers, she was overwhelmed by the cool, musky scent of a man that had a hint of intimacy to it. Catherine raised her head awkwardly.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 821

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Unexpectedly, the roof of the sports car was very low.

Shaun was directly above her head. So when she raised her head, he was lowering his body, and her juicy lips just so happened to brush his thin lips.

The air went still.

Shaun’s throat tightened. He felt as if sparks were thrown into a bunch of firewood and ignited a flame.

He stared at her. Looking closely, he realized that Catherine had very good skin. She did not have a pore nor a pimple. Yet under his gaze, a pink layer of hue gradually tainted her milky-white skin, making her look even more stunning.

“Go away.” Catherine pushed him away.

“I’ll go away after another kiss.” Shaun held his body still. Although it was just a light kiss, he could not forget the taste of it. It felt like he was finally liberated after tens of years of being a celibate.

“What do you mean by ‘another’? That was just an accidental touch. ” Catherine retorted awkwardly.

“I don’t think so.” There was a smile in Shaun’s eyes. “I won’t go if we don’t kiss.”

“Shaun.” Catherine gritted her teeth. She never thought he would be so shameless.

“Oh, who is that over there?” Shaun suddenly pointed out of the window in surprise.

Catherine immediately looked over, only to find that there was nothing at all. It was at that moment she realized she was tricked. However, at that moment, Shaun’s thin lips swooped down and landed on her lips. His lips stayed there for two to three seconds before he withdrew quickly. He was all smiles and smug, like a cat who had stolen a fish.

She was speechless.

He had only broken up with Sarah not long ago, yet he made it seem as if he had not kissed a woman in a long time.

As soon as Shaun got in the driver’s seat, he started the car and drove off. “Babe, what do you think of Yule Corporation today?”

“Nothing much.” Catherine’s eyebrows moved. “Yule Corporation and Campos Corporation have already decided to start a joint venture, and a lot of money has been invested. They are very ambitious.

I think the Campos family intends to start the largest finance company in Australia. I’m afraid the Hill Corporation’s finance subsidiaries might be pushed aside.”

“Blame it all on my disappointing Second Uncle. The Hill family has not been making any progress in the finance sector these years.”

Shaun put on his sunglasses. “But... The Yule family isn’t well versed in finance at all. Aren’t you afraid that Yule Corporation will become the Campos family’s pawn if you enter the finance sector so rashly?”

“I had the same thoughts too. But the shareholders have already had a taste of sweet success during their previous collaboration with Campos Corporation on e-commerce. Now, they are fooled and filled with ambition. Melanie even convinced my grandpa to come out of retirement.”

Catherine sighed. She had wasted so much energy going against Sarah for the past few weeks that it made Melanie and her father resurface again.

“Although Old Master Yule has retired for many years, he still has some prestige in the Yule family,” Shaun said. “Your cousin isn’t that simple.

If Old Master Yule returns, it’ll be very troublesome. According to my grandpa, Old Master Yule is... slightly stubborn, foolish, and haughty. Strictly speaking, he’s someone who thinks he’s great but not that capable in reality. However, no one can say that about him.”

Catherine was ashamed. As expected, the older generation’s comments were straightforward and precise. “What kind of person do you think Charlie is?”

“He’s ambitious, and he can do whatever it takes to reach his goal. According to my understanding of the Campos family's usual tactics, they're not sincere in supporting Yule Corporation. They approached Yule Corporation these years because they think they can reap profits from them. Maybe the joint venture this time will suck Yule Corporation dry."

Shaun rapped the steering wheel lightly and said, "Only when he sucks Yule Corporation dry can he compete with the Hill family without holding back."

Catherine was so shocked that she remained silent for a while.

Upon noticing her silence, Shaun thought she was worried. Hence, he chuckled and said, "Don't think too much about it. Although you're Yule Corporation's successor, it only counts when Yule Corporation is in your hands. Your last name is Jones after all. In the eyes of the two stubborn elderly of the Yule family, you're still different compared to Melanie and Damien, whom they've brought up." "Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 822

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

"I know. That's why I'm not too bothered about it. Since my grandpa is insistent on collaborating with the Campos family, then I won't meddle in their affairs, lest I lose out on both sides." Catherine shrugged her shoulders nonchalantly. "To be honest, I don't have any attachments to the Yule family and Yule Corporation."

"Mm, you don't have to care much about Yule Corporation. Since you'll be my wife in the future, and the whole of Hill Corporation will be yours." Shaun suddenly grabbed her hand. "You have Australia's wealthiest man in your hands."

"Forget it. After all, women have to rely on themselves. Perhaps... you'll abandon me again."

Catherine withdrew her hand. Her eyes were downcast to conceal the coldness in her eyes.

“It’s fine if you don’t believe me. I have plenty of time to prove it to you.” Shaun smiled calmly.

Catherine looked at his side profile, puzzled. “Aren’t you worried that the Campos family will become the wealthiest family in Australia after they take over Yule Corporation?”

“No. Hill Corporation has already invested a lot of funds into research and development for the past few years. We’ve already achieved an important breakthrough as well. We’ll only climb higher in the future.” Shaun smiled confidently. “The Campos family mainly earns money from the domestic market, while Hill Corporation targets the global market. They can never surpass us.”

Catherine was taken aback. He still had the same handsome face, yet the confident gleam in his eyes at that moment strangely made her lose her voice.

Although that guy was a scumbag, she had to admit that he was a business prodigy.

A handsome and tall business prodigy. No woman would be able to resist being attracted to him.

Forty minutes later.

The car drove to a high-class restaurant by the seaside. The interior of the restaurant was very exotic.

Shaun had already booked an outdoor table. With the warm sea breeze, they could even smell the seawater. There was even someone playing the guitar on the beach nearby.

Catherine ordered a few seafood dishes.

Due to Shaun's special identity, the kitchen had served the dishes very quickly. Every plate of seafood was freshly cooked, and it was very delicious.

Catherine enjoyed the food very much. "I noticed you guys are really good at picking places to eat.

The restaurant that Chase and Joseph brought me to last time was quite good too."

Shaun's expression instantly darkened. "Next time, you're not allowed to go out for a meal alone with people of the opposite gender, especially Joseph. "

"What's wrong with Joseph? He's my best friend." Catherine sneered. "If it weren't for him, Hudson Corporation would've been done for because of you."

Shaun was embarrassed. Fine, he could only blame himself for doing too many scummy things and unconsciously asking for trouble himself. "Ahem. What I meant was next time when Joseph comes... you can bring me along. I'll treat him to a meal to thank him for saving my little babe's company."

"As long as you know that. Shell the crabs." Catherine pushed the whole plate of crabs to him. "Do you know why women have boyfriends? It's to have them do these kinds of stuff."

Shaun had a headache looking at the plate. He would usually never shell the crabs himself.

However, he was willing to do it to please her.

During the process, he even pricked his finger clumsily, and it bled.

“You’re really... clumsy.” Catherine grabbed his finger and looked at it for a while before she put it in her mouth. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 823

Shaun was startled.

At that moment, it was as if lava was about to erupt in his body.

His breaths became heavy as he stared at her fair, petite face with a heated gaze.

He suspected that she was intentionally flirting with him.

“Alright. It’s not bleeding anymore.” Catherine’s lips left his finger. She was not oblivious to his scolding gaze. However, men had to be flirted with occasionally and given some benefits. If not, how would she leave a deep impression on him?

Shaun looked indifferently at his finger that had stopped bleeding. After a moment, he picked up the crab and pricked another of his fingers. Then, he offered his finger to her. “It’s bleeding again.”

Did he think she was blind? Did he not want his dignity anymore?

“Waiter.” She raised her hand and waved at the waiter. “Please bring me some salt.”

Shaun frowned. Why was it different from what he imagined? “Aren’t you going to take a look? More blood is flowing out.”

“It’s okay. It’ll be fine once we sprinkle some salt on it later. ” Catherine smiled like a sly fox. “When the wind blows and the fire grills it, it can even be eaten as a sausage.”

Shaun’s expression darkened at her words. “Why did you suck it for me before but not now?”

“Am I crazy? People will think I’m a lunatic if I keep sucking on your finger. Besides, don’t you have germs on your hands?” Catherine lost her temper too.

Shaun immediately fell silent from being scolded.

Since he could not get away with it anymore, he could only stop the bleeding with the napkin.

“Forget it. Let me do it myself. My boyfriend is too useless. He can’t even shell a crab properly.” Catherine sighed and started shelling the crabs herself.

“I’m fine. I’ll do it.” Having received another blow, Shaun continued shelling the crabs for her obediently. He felt like he was becoming more and more humble in front of Catherine.

However, when he recalled the scene of her sucking the blood from his finger, his heart fluttered.

Not long after, Chester brought Cindy over.

“Shaun, it really is you. I thought I was mistaken.” Chester had his hands in his pockets. His gentlemanly face was filled with astonishment.

When they often had meals together in the past, Sarah always came along with Shaun, and Chester had only seen Shaun putting food on Sarah’s plate at most. He had never seen Shaun shelling crabs and treating someone like a master.

Cindy was even more surprised. She knew how cold Shaun was during usual gatherings, so she had never expected that he would treat Catherine so well.

Cindy secretly clenched her teeth in contempt. She thought Shaun would surely abandon Catherine. Yet, in the end, it was Sarah who was too useless, and she had wasted three years of her time pleasing Sarah.

“Young Master Hill...” Cindy acted like she was in a dilemma. “I couldn’t believe it when I was watching from afar, but you... You’re accompanying Catherine. Does Sarah know about this? She’s still hospitalized. Isn’t this a bit inappropriate?”

Shaun shot an icy glance at her.

Cindy shuddered, as if a swift blade had swept past her face. “I’m sorry. I... I may be meddling too much. Perhaps it’s because I have a good relationship with Sarah. She’s quite pitiful now.”

Catherine slowly took a sip of water. “I can see that your relationship with Sarah has always been very good. Otherwise, how did you know that Shaun went back to Sarah’s place after every gathering three years ago? You even saw the hickeys on her neck the next day.” Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Everyone's expression changed. Chester's deep-set eyes were focused on Cindy, and Shaun's handsome face had turned dark too. "When did I... leave hickeys on Sarah's neck?"

Shaun could not even touch Sarah at all. How could he leave hickeys?

Cindy forced herself to stay calm and said, "Catherine, I really don't know what you're talking about."

"Actually, I'm quite thankful to you," Catherine said. "Back then, I was pregnant and put on house arrest by Shaun until I finally had to go and do a checkup. If it wasn't for you, I wouldn't have known that the media had spread the news about Freya getting hurt. And I wouldn't even have known that Thomas had publicly announced that Freya was the one who seduced him. That infuriated me so much that I went back and smashed everything. I even quarreled with Shaun, which resulted in him pushing me to the ground..."

That was the time she lost the twins.

Shaun's expression changed drastically.

Catherine seemed as if she had gone crazy that day. She even took a knife and tried to stab him. That made him overlook how Catherine had found out about all that stuff.

It turned out that it was Cindy who told her.

If it were not for her big mouth, he might not have lost both of his children.

“So it was you.”

He stood up abruptly. He yanked Cindy’s arm and pressed her down on the table hard. “Who allowed you to be so talkative? Is your tongue bothering you? If so, I’ll cut it off for you.”

After he spoke, he took a knife from the table.

Cindy’s eyes widened in fear, and her whole body trembled. “I didn’t. I’m innocent. Chester, save me.”

“Shaun.” Chester grabbed Shaun’s hand. “Please do me a favor.”

“Do you know it was her mouth that made me lose my children?” Shaun’s eyes were cold.

“Forget it. Just don’t push the responsibility on others.”

Catherine wiped her mouth with a napkin before she suddenly interceded for Cindy. “Cindy was just telling me the truth. At that moment, I was really grateful. Otherwise, I would’ve been kept in the dark like a fool. Now that the children are gone, it’s nobody else’s fault but ours.”

Shaun’s body stiffened in embarrassment. He knew she wanted to say that losing the child was mainly his fault. Thomas was the trigger, and he was the one who added insult to injury.

Chester took the knife away from Shaun and released Cindy from his grasp.

“Shaun, we’ll head upstairs to have our meal. We won’t bother you.”

Chester held Cindy’s hand and left. Cindy was still weak in the knees. She never thought Shaun would be so creepy and terrifying. However, she was not at all grateful to Catherine for saving her just now. If Catherine had not said those words, she would not be taught a lesson by Shaun. She would not even...

She secretly glanced at Chester’s unpredictable, handsome face, and an uneasy feeling grew in her.

When they entered a private room, Chester slammed the door shut and lit a cigarette. There was a trace of hostility on his gentlemanly face. “

Cindy, that mouth of yours has been causing me a lot of trouble.”

“Chester, I’m sorry. Catherine, Freya, and I are good friends. I just thought they were quite pitiful back then, so I couldn’t help but tell the truth,” Cindy explained with tears in her eyes.

“Forget it. Don’t take me as a fool.”

Chester tapped her face lightly. He exuded a hint of coldness and hostility. “If you really care about them, why did you get so close to Sarah in the last three years? One moment, you’re feeling unfair for Sarah, and another, you say Catherine and Freya are your friends. Well, your heart goes out to so many people.”

His voice was calm, yet to Cindy, it sounded like stormy waves. It made her feel uneasy. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 825

“If you weren’t useful to me, I would’ve broken up with a pretentious woman like you a long time ago.” Chester warned her sternly, “You better stay put from now on and shut your mouth. If not, don’t even think about being cast in a movie and making a comeback.”

With a pale face, Cindy nodded her head obediently.

Catherine had utterly ruined her reputation the last time. Besides appearing in some variety shows in the past few months, she had yet received a casting offer for a new movie. As such, she was counting on Chester.

“Chester, I have something to say... But I don’t know whether I should say it or not...” She stammered.

“If you think you shouldn’t, then shut your mouth,” Chester scolded.

“No. I just find it puzzling.” Cindy gritted her teeth. She had to finish her sentence. “Young Master Hill had hurt Catherine so cruelly in the past. He put her on house arrest and caused her to miscarry. He even sent her to the mental hospital. If I were a woman, I wouldn’t forgive him at all. But why is she suddenly ... back together with him again? Doesn’t she feel uncomfortable?”

“What are you trying to say?” Chester’s eyes narrowed.

Cindy was startled. "I'm afraid that Catherine is now trying to take revenge on Young Master Hill. This is just my instinct as a woman. I'm not trying to frame her intentionally. I'm just scared that Young Master Hill will get hurt once he falls too deep in the relationship."

"Go and order some food." Chester shot her an icy glance.

"Okay." Cindy nodded and ran out in a hurry to call the waiter.

Chester took a drag on his cigarette. He found it quite weird as well after Cindy mentioned it.

9:00 p.m.

A sports car was parked at the parking lot of Hackett Institute.

Catherine undid her seat belt. Just as she was about to get down the car, Shaun suddenly grabbed her.

His throat moved, but he did not know what to say.

They were having a good time during the meal. However, they became silent after Cindy came and messed things up.

"Cathy, I'm sorry..." Shaun was filled with regret. If he knew that he would fall in love with her, he would never have been so ruthless back then.

“Do you still hate me?”

“It’d be a lie if I said I don’t hate you.” Catherine’s eyes trembled. There was a hint of bitterness in her eyes. “Whenever I think about those two children when I was overseas, I wanted to chew your meat off desperately. When I came back, I was determined to make you guys suffer. But when you forced me to get a divorce, I realized I was still powerless to go against you guys. And now you’re here, wooing me. I feel conflicted and anxious.

Sometimes I want to get back together with you again, but sometimes I’m really scared...”

Shaun pulled her into his embrace before she could finish her sentence. He hugged her tightly. “It won’t happen anymore. Trust me. I’ll never hurt you again. I screwed up last time, Cathy. Let’s have a pair of twins again in the future, okay?”

Catherine chuckled with her eyes downcast. She sounded helpless. “Do you think it’s that easy to have twins?”

“Then, we’ll have two kids. Our daughter will surely be as adorable as Suzie.” Somehow, when Shaun said that, he suddenly longed to have a child that belonged to them both.

“Suzie...”

Catherine found it hilarious. Suzie was his daughter from the start.

However, she would never let Shaun find out. A person like him did not deserve to be a child’s father.

“We’ll talk about this again next time.” She looked up. “You didn’t eat much tonight. Are you hungry? I can go upstairs and make you some risotto.”

Shaun's eyes lit up. He thought remembering the past would make her upset. He, too, was very anxious, but he did not expect her to still care for his stomach.

Especially when she invited him up on a night like that, he did not feel like going back.

Once they were upstairs, Catherine used yesterday's leftover rice and made risotto for Shaun. There were also ham, corn, and vegetables in it.

The whole room was filled with the fragrance of the food. Shaun devoured the whole plate of risotto. He used to complain that she made him risotto because she was too lazy to deal with him. However, he was not picky at all that day. Having something to eat was good enough. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 826

"Babe, why is your cooking so delicious?" Shaun lamented again. "I want to eat it for the rest of my life."

"Yeah. You once had the chance to eat it for the rest of your life, but you drove me away." Catherine got up and collected the plates. "Go back. It's late."

When she turned around, Shaun came up from behind and tightened his arms around her waist.

"I don't want to go back. I want to stay. I can sleep on the sofa."

“Shaun, I’m not any other woman, ” Catherine said solemnly. “When I slept with you before, what I got in return was your disrespect and birth control pills. This time, I want to love myself more. I don’t want to give myself away so easily.”

Shaun was speechless. It was his fault for having done so many scummy things.

If he knew that this day existed, he would have gone back in time and punched himself a few times.

In the past, he had never cherished sleeping with her. Yet now, he could not even sleep with her even if he wanted to.

“Okay, I’ll go. But I want a kiss.” Shaun shamelessly turned her around and kissed her pink lips.

Catherine was a little resistant at first, but slowly, she held his waist.

Shaun’s kiss was long and hot.

When the kiss ended, he was pushed out the door with his eyes still filled with lust. “Babe, I’ll bring you breakfast tomorrow, okay?”

“ Sure. ” Catherine then closed the door, rushed to the bathroom, and brushed her teeth, cleaning them thoroughly.

Just the thought of his mouth kissing Sarah before filled her with disgust.

Shaun was the opposite of her.

His mouth felt sweet as if he just ate honey.

Even after Hadley had driven over to pick him up, he kept relishing the taste in his mouth.

Unfortunately, the kiss was too short. It was only five or six minutes. It would have been better if it lasted longer.

“President Hill, you look like you’re in a good mood.” Hadley could tell, so he teased boldly, “Like a young man who has just fallen in love.”

“Like?” Shaun frowned in dissatisfaction. “When a m I not young?”

As a man in love, he was very sensitive about his age, especially since Catherine was five or six years younger than him.

“Uh, I misspoke.” Hadley hurriedly apologized. “What I meant is... you’ve changed a little, Eldest Young Master. There was never this kind of feeling when you were dating Ms. Neeson.”

“You’re right.”

Shaun also realized it, but he could not understand. He had always remembered that he loved Sarah.

Though when he was with her, he was always unhappy.

Hadley's lips moved. He originally wanted to suggest that Shaun was hypnotized, but then, he thought about it. The doctor said that if he tried to recover, it might damage his brain and result in him becoming a fool.

Forget it. He should just let it be. At least everything was going well.

At that moment, Chester called Shaun. "Is the date over? Come over for a chat."

Shaun looked at the time and agreed before he had Hadley send him to the bar Chester was at. When he arrived, only Chester was there. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 827

"That woman went back?" Shaun sat beside Chester. "Chester, are you going to keep tolerating that woman? I've never had much of an impression of Cindy, but after tonight, I found that she really isn't great. She's not worthy of you."

"There are some things that can't be helped." Chester took a sip of wine. His eyes were deep. "What about you? Are you really getting back with Catherine?"

"Yeah." Shaun was in a good mood tonight. Of course, it might be better if he did not meet Cindy halfway.

Chester looked at him worriedly. "Have you ever thought about whether Catherine sincerely wants to be with you or... to get revenge on you?"

The happy and handsome face immediately froze. Shaun put down his wine glass, and a frosty sharpness flashed in his eyes.

If it were anyone else, they might have been afraid. However, Chester had known him since they were children, so he understood him. He continued with a straight face, "Think about what you did to her in the past because of Sarah. You put her on house arrest, forced her to divorce, pushed her down, caused her to lose her children, sent her to the psychiatric hospital for treatment, and the list goes on. Do you think she can completely put aside the grudges in her heart until there's no hatred left?"

Shaun's eyelids twitched with each thing Chester said. His chest felt like it was being whipped.

If Chester had not brought it up, he would not dare to recall that he had done so many things to hurt her.

"You think she's trying to get back at me?" he said hoarsely after a long time.

"It's not impossible." Chester patted his shoulder. "I'm just reminding you. Don't go in too deep just to find out that she's toying with you, or maybe she has other ways to get revenge on you."

Barn.

The glass in his hand suddenly shattered, and bright red blood flowed out with the alcohol. Shaun's handsome face was cold. "Impossible. She loves me. I can feel it. I didn't love her last time and that was why I went so far, but I'll love her from now on. I'll give her all of the best with all my heart."

"Well, if that's what you think, then there's nothing I can do. I've said what needs to be said. ”

Seeing him like this, Chester snorted and handed him a tissue. “ Say, why do you and Rodney always behave like that because of a woman? What’s the point? Fortunately, I’m not as terrible as you both.”

“Ha! Well, who was the one who called us to go drinking the entire night when he found out that Charity was having a tryst with another man.”

“Don’t mention that woman to me.” Chester’s deep eyes flashed with disgust.

“Alright. Anyway, she’s already dead. There’s nothing to mention.” Shaun took the tissue and wiped off the blood on his hands. “Have you heard about Rodney? How is he doing now?”

“The failure of SKITTL’s acquisition was a blow to him, but we don’t know much about the cosmetics industry, so we can’t help.” Chester sighed. “If I were to say, he should just go along with the marriage that Grandpa Derek has arranged, but he refuses. It’s probably because he wants to marry Sarah.”

“I can’t compare with him when it comes to having feelings for Sarah.”

Then, Shaun got up and said, “ I’m heading back. ” In the car, he leaned into the seat.

Would she get revenge on him? Was it possible?

The next day.

Shaun brought breakfast over early. When Catherine came over to open the door, she was still wearing a pink ice silk pajama and had a drowsy look on her face.

“Bro, it’s only 7 a.m. Why are you here so early?”

“It’s not early. I got up at 6 a.m.” Shaun glanced at her chest, and his temples jumped, to which he immediately walked in and closed the door.

He did not want other women to see her wearing nothing inside.

In the early morning, it was too hot and titillating for a young and vigorous man like him. “Go and change your clothes. Don’t test my endurance.”

Then, he turned his face and looked away.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 828

Catherine looked down, and the corners of her mouth raised. Although she should feel embarrassed, she had used this trick before when they used to live in Melbourne together.

Heh. He acted as if he had never seen a woman before.

“Fine.”

She half-bit her pink lips and went back to the bedroom to wash up. Then, she came out after she had changed her clothes.

Shaun sat at the dining table with the breakfast he bought from a famous breakfast restaurant.

“I asked the best chef in Forkful to cook you this breakfast. There are waffles, avocado toast, breakfast wrap, French toast...” Shaun listed them one by one.

Catherine could tell they were delicious just by smelling the aroma.

Hence, she picked up a fork and started to eat. After eating for a while, she found that Shaun had not moved. “Aren’t you eating?”

“I don’t have an appetite.” Shaun was telling the truth. He was not very interested in anything other than her homemade food.

“That won’t do. You have to eat breakfast. I’ll feed you.”

Catherine raised her brows. Then, she put a piece of toast in her mouth and leaned towards him.

Shaun held his breath. She was so close to him that he could see her long eyelashes. She was... using her mouth to feed him.

Shaun originally had no appetite for these kinds of breakfast, but his Adam’s apple bobbed. He lowered his head and bit on the other half.

“Is it tasty now?” The long-haired woman looked at him with a smile. It was as if the morning sunlight was shining in her eyes.

” It’s tasty.”

Unable to resist, Shaun then pulled her to his lap and buried his face deep into her shoulder. He felt like Catherine was poisonous. They used to quarrel every day, so he had never noticed it. However, he now realized that this woman was too good at teasing.

He clearly only began to like her a few days ago. Yet now, he liked her even more, or even... love.

It was as if he liked her a lot in the first place.

“Cathy, even if you want to get revenge on me, I still want to be with you.”

He buried himself in the nook of her neck and murmured.

Catherine’s body stiffened, and she looked back at him. “What are you saying?”

“I feel like I’ve done a lot of really bad and scummy things before.” Shaun cupped her small face. “

Cathy, even if you hate me and want to take revenge on me, I won’t let you go.”

“Shaun Hill, listen up. I do hate you, and I do want to take revenge on you. But I want to get back at Sarah even more. I want to take you away and hold you firmly in my hand so that she will be miserable and unhappy.”

Catherine then hugged his neck and said with calm eyes, “What do you think about my revenge method? Is it good?”

For a moment, Shaun did not know what to say.

He actually hoped that Sarah would walk out of this sooner instead of living her life suffering.

Otherwise, he would feel bad.

“Forget it. I know that Sarah has been with you for twenty years. There’s no way I can compare.” Catherine suddenly leaned into his arms. She took the ends of her hair and swept it against his Adam’s apple, acting like a vixen. “Of course, if it weren’t for Sarah, your illness wouldn’t have been cured. It’s normal for you to feel guilty about her.” “Mmhm.” Shaun’s throat was itching badly from her hair. He could now fully understand why so many people in ancient times became muddle-headed when a woman was in their arms. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 829

“But...” Catherine changed the topic. “There’s someone I want to teach a lesson to. If you don’t let me vent my anger, I’ll have doubts about your feelings.”

“Yael Chadwick.” Catherine slowly spat out the two words. Her tone sounded like she was gritting her teeth.

Shaun was shocked, but he immediately frowned. “How did Yael offend you? Is it because I asked her to protect Sarah...”

“No.” Catherine glared at him with hatred. “The day you made me sign the divorce agreement, didn’t you let Yael search for the marriage certificate on me? But she stripped my clothes in front of other Liona men. If Hadley hadn’t spoken up, she would’ve stripped my pants. I will never forget this shame.”

Shaun’s black eyes were slightly cold. Things were very chaotic that day. All he remembered was that he had gone out and only came in after hearing Hadley and Yael’s voices. However, he saw that Catherine was well and fully clothed at that time...

“What do you mean? You don’t believe me?” Catherine got out from his arms in anger. “I have nothing against Yael. Why would I falsely accuse a bodyguard? If you don’t believe me, you can ask Hadley and the other Liona members who were there that day. If I, Catherine Jones, am lying to you, I won’t die an easy death.”

“I won’t allow you to swear on such a vicious thing.” Shaun’s face changed as he warned.

“I have a clear conscience because I’m not lying, so I’m not afraid.” After Catherine spoke, she lost interest in the breakfast on the table.

“Shaun, you’re the one who says you like me and won’t let go. But what do you like about me?

Sleeping with me? You don’t have the slightest trust in me at all. I can’t even compare to a Liona member.”

Catherine began to lose her temper.

“It’s not that I don’t believe you...” Although that was what his mouth said, his heart was not sure. Yael was wary of Catherine because of Sarah, so it was not impossible that Catherine was doing this because of a personal grudge.

However, to Catherine, his hesitation added fuel to the fire.

“Shaun, why don’t you go and check it. I don’t want to listen to your perfunctory words.” Catherine suddenly turned away and clenched her fists tightly. She had a look of restraint on her face. “I don’t want you to coax me either. Just bring over Yael after you’ve investigated.”

Then, she pulled him up from the chair and pushed him out.

Shaun’s head hurt. She was quite sweet just a while ago, and she even fed him toast with her mouth.

How did he get kicked out in the blink of an eye?

He thought of the reason for the quarrel.

His eyes became cold, and he immediately called the two members of Liona who were there that day to the office.

Before long, the two members of Liona, Irving and Roy, showed up in his office. When they arrived, they saw Hadley there too.

“Eldest Young Master, did you call us over for urgent matters?” Irving asked respectfully.

“I called all of you here today just to ask you one thing.” Shaun tapped his desk with his hand. His calm voice made the three people in the office uneasy. “You will answer me truthfully, right?”

“Yes.” Irving and Roy immediately said, “Eldest Young Master Hill, as long as we are members of Liona, we belong to Liona even if we die. We will only listen to you.”

“Then, I’ll ask you. What happened that day when I asked Catherine Jones to sign the divorce papers?” Shaun suddenly stood up. His eyes were intimidating. “What did Yael do?”

Irving and Roy were similarly shocked. They were so nervous that they did not know what to do.

Shaun was the god of Liona, but Yael was Master Ziegler’s woman, so they just turned a blind eye to it. After all, Catherine was just a woman that Shaun did not want, but why was he suddenly asking about it now? Could the rumors be true? Was Eldest Young Master Hill planning to get back with her?

“Hadley, you speak first.” Shaun turned to Hadley. “Did Yael take off Catherine’s clothes?”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 830

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Hadley looked up in surprise. It seemed like Ms. Jones was settling her old scores. If it were him, he would be unhappy as well. “I can’t say either. That time, I saw Yael take off Ms. Jones’s coat, revealing the straps inside. She lifted her clothes, and many areas were... exposed. I only stopped her when she was about to take off Ms. Jones’s pants. But Yael thought I was doubting her for doing a bad job at searching, so she wanted me to do it instead. That was when you came in.”

Shaun clenched his fists and stared at Irving and Roy. "Tell the truth."

Irving was so scared that he blurted out, "It is as Assistant Young says."

"So... Yael was trying to take off Catherine's pants?" Shaun narrowed his eyes.

Roy nervously choked on his saliva. "Yael said that she was afraid Catherine Jones was hiding it inside her pants..."

Before he could finish, Shaun threw him a fierce punch.

Irving and Roy were beaten black and blue, but no one dared to fight back or make a peep.

"So you saw everything." The veins in Shaun's arms bulged. These people had seen his woman, and he wanted nothing more than to pluck their eyes out.

"We... We didn't." Irving and Roy were shaking. They did not dare to admit it even if it meant death.

"How could you not have seen her? You two were the ones holding her down. You must have seen it very clearly." Shaun stepped on their hands ruthlessly. "Why didn't you say anything at that time? Even if I wanted to divorce Catherine, she was still my ex-wife. How dare you humiliate her?"

"We're sorry, Eldest Young Master." The two men knelt on the ground and bowed. "At that time, you were very disgusted at Ms. Jones. We thought you hated and despised her, and since Yael is our colleague, we thought we could... turn a blind eye."

Shaun's blood boiled.

He knew they were telling the truth. It was because he looked down on Catherine that they dared to humiliate her.

At the end of the day, it was because of the stupid things he did. When Catherine brought it up earlier, he was skeptical. He thought that she wanted revenge on Yael because she was dissatisfied.

Now that he thought about it, he simply did not deserve to say that he liked her.

How many stupid things had he done to hurt her?

On one hand, he said that his feelings for her were as deep as the ocean, that he would change in the future and love her for the rest of her life. However, he did not believe in her at all. He did not even place her above a member of Liona.

It was no wonder she was so angry. He deserved it.

"Fine." The two people ran out quickly as if they were freed.

"Wait," Shaun spoke out. "The two of you did something wrong this time, so go to Liona's punishment room to be punished of your own accord. In the future, you'll be as respectful to Catherine as you are to me. She is my woman."

"Yes. We'll go at once."

The two people were stunned. Yet, at the same time, they secretly complained. They originally thought Sarah was the one, but it seemed they had been holding on to the wrong person. It was all Yael's fault. She was the one who caused this.

In the afternoon.

Catherine was in the office when Shaun called. "Catherine, come down. I'm downstairs. I investigated it. I'll bring you to Yael." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 831

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 831

"You really investigated it?" Catherine scoffed. "It seems like you really didn't believe me."

Shaun could not find the words to reply to her.

He was exasperated. He completely understood what it meant to shoot himself in the foot.

"As expected. The internet said that if a dominant president falls in love with me, I can say anything, and he'll choose to believe me unconditionally. But it turns out to be false." Catherine sighed quietly. "It's understandable. You used to believe whatever Sarah told you, but you never believed anything I said. If it were Sarah, everything would be different."

"I'm sorry..." Shaun's heart moved.

Yes. Every time she fought with Sarah, he would always choose to believe Sarah unconditionally. However, after this time, he realized there were perhaps times that he had misunderstood her in the past.

Maybe Sarah lied as well. After all, he did not expect Yael to do something like this as he was right outside the door that day.

"I'm coming down. I'll take my own revenge for that day," Catherine suddenly said coldly.

"Okay."

Shaun waited downstairs for ten minutes before Catherine got into the car.

"Cathy, this is a gift I picked out for you on the way here." Shaun handed her a box.

Catherine opened it and saw that it was a pair of diamond drop earrings.

"I noticed you looked quite beautiful wearing earrings the last time," Shaun explained tenderly.

"Is this an apology gift?" Catherine asked directly. "...Yes." Shaun bit the bullet and answered honestly.

"I don't like diamond earrings." Catherine threw the box over. "I like gold. Diamonds are just polished stones, and they're very common. It's very sought after because some women say that diamonds represent love and loyalty. Ha! Love can't be proven by something like that. Thinking about it, gold is still worth more. It can be exchanged globally, and it rises in value. Like what women often say, between men and money, money is more reliable.”

Shaun was speechless.

He felt that he had deeply offended this woman today.

Though when he thought about it, it was Yael’s fault. Now, all he wanted was to teach Yael a lesson.

“Okay. I’ll give you gold in the future,” he said helplessly after a while.

He would show her with his actions that between men and money, he was also quite reliable.

Before long, the car drove into a courtyard on Sherman Mountain.

Although it looked a bit old here, the sculptures on the corridor looked older.

Catherine looked around, and Shaun explained to her, “This is Liona’s headquarters.”

She was slightly stunned. She did not expect Shaun to bring her directly to Liona’s headquarters. For many people, this was the most mysterious place in the country. It was said that many experts around the world gathered here.

After the car was parked, Irving limped over and opened the door.

Catherine looked at him. Although the man’s face was bruised and swollen, she still recognized him as one of the people who restrained her during the divorce. However, the man immediately said in fear,

“Ms. Jones, I was blind before. Please forgive me.” Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 832

“It’s fine. I know you were just listening to orders.” Catherine glanced at Shaun. “Why did you beat him up like that? Weren’t they just heeding your orders?”

Shaun’s heart hurt from all the holding in, but he did not dare to say a word because she was right.

Irving looked at Shaun’s defeated expression, and his jaw almost fell to the ground in astonishment. This was his first time seeing Eldest Young Master Hill so obedient to a woman. Not even Sarah had received this kind of treatment before. It seemed like he had to respect Ms. Jones in the future.

“Eldest Young Master, Yael is in the punishment room.” Roy also ran over, trembling. His bum was beaten until it bled, and it was still hurting.

“Okay.”

Shaun took Catherine and walked in.

In the punishment room.

Yael was brought here as soon as she was called back. Her phone was taken away immediately, and the uneasy feeling in her heart grew more and more.

“Get out of the way. I need to go to the hospital,” Yael said sternly to the people at the door. “The Eldest Young Master has arranged for me to protect Ms. Neeson. Don’t waste my time here.”

“No. You have to wait here. The Eldest Young Master will come in a while,” the gatekeeper said in a low voice.

“Why did he call me here? I didn’t do anything wrong,” Yael yelled angrily.

“Is that so? Are you sure you didn’t do anything wrong?”

Shaun kicked open the door and strode in with Catherine. His handsome face was cold.

“Eldest Young Master...” Yael had a bad feeling when she saw Catherine beside him. However, as his subordinate, she did not dare to shout. She could only feel her heart ache for Sarah, who was alone in the hospital.

After all, they were all women. She felt that the Eldest Young Master was really too heartless.

Then, Irving and Roy walked in, bruised and battered, and said with hints of resentment, “Yael, the Eldest Young Master already knows what you did when we went to Ms. Jones to get her to sign the divorce papers.”

Yael’s pupils trembled. She had almost forgotten that incident and did not expect Catherine to remember it still. In an instant, her hatred of Catherine suddenly intensified. “What did I do? I don’t even know myself. It was the Eldest Young Master who told me to search her.”

“Yeah?” Catherine smiled. “Then, do you still remember when you said in my ear that you were going to strip me bare and let this handsome guy take a good look at my naked body?”

Shaun’s face changed abruptly. If looks could kill, Yael would have died countless times. “You said such a thing?”

“I didn’t. You’re slandering me,” Yael denied loudly. “Ms. Jones, you can’t frame me like this just because I’m protecting Ms. Neeson. I’m also working according to Eldest Young Master’s orders.”

Catherine chuckled and looked at Shaun. “She’s hinting to me that if I want to blame someone, I should blame you. It has nothing to do with her.”

“I’m not.” Yael got a fright and shook her head hard.

However, Shaun had also heard that. He stepped forward and kicked Yael hard. Yael fell to the ground and could not stand up due to the pain all over her body.

“Eldest Young Master, you can’t do this.” Yael lay on the ground with a pale face and said, “It was you who told me to search for the marriage certificate, and it was also you who asked me to protect Ms. Neeson. I didn’t do anything wrong. Ms. Jones clearly hasn’t liked me since the start. She can’t deal with Ms. Neeson, so she’s causing trouble for me instead. You’re acting out of line.”

Shaun’s eyes narrowed, and the muscles of his body tensed up in anger.

Catherine’s delicate body suddenly leaned against him. She tilted her head up and smiled at him. “Didn’t you say that members of Liona are subservient to the person in charge of the Hill family? It seems that your subordinate isn’t very good.”

Shocked, Yael hurriedly defended herself, “Don’t be ridiculous. The Chadwick family has been loyal to the Hill family since my grandfather’s generation. ”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 833

“Well... I’m Shaun’s girlfriend. Isn’t your tone now disrespectful to me? Or is it because I’m not Sarah, so you hate me and treat me with hostility. You even looked down on Elle for protecting me. Maybe you’ve protected Sarah for so long that you now see her as your true master?” Catherine raised her eyebrows. She had hit the nail on the head.

“No.” Yael’s face went pale.

In Liona, the most taboo act was disloyalty to the Hill family, and the consequences to that were very serious. “Ms. Jones, why are you slandering me like this? I have no grudge against you. I’m just a lowly bodyguard.”

“You’re a member of Liona, so you’re not as simple as a bodyguard. You think too little of yourself.” Catherine smiled and asked Shaun, “May I be so bold as to ask you a question? How long has Yael protected Sarah?”

Shaun frowned. “ Including the time before Sarah disappeared, around seven or eight years.”

“Seems like she has been protecting Sarah since she was very young.” Catherine pointed out.

Yael quickly understood her point. "Although I've protected Ms. Neeson for a long time, it has nothing to do with time. I obey Liona's commands."

Shaun rubbed his brows. He suddenly realized that he had been negligent. Since Sarah used to be the most important person to him, he told Liona to arrange for the most attentive person to take care of her. That was Yael.

Later, after Sarah returned, he said he wanted to arrange a bodyguard for her. Sarah proposed the bodyguard to be Yael because she was familiar with her, and so, he agreed.

However, he had forgotten that the longer two people were together, the easier it was for them to develop their master-servant relationship. It was just like Elle and Aunty Yasmine with Catherine.

Yael had been with Sarah since she was as clean as a blank sheet of paper, so Sarah naturally meant more to her than normal.

"Yael, that's enough. It's a fact that you hurt Catherine behind my back. You'll have to accept Liona's punishment," Shaun ordered coldly.

"Can I do it? I'm a girl, so I'm not used to seeing all those blood and injuries. I don't like violence."

Catherine's voice was soft and gentle. It made people want to listen to her.

"What do you want to do?" Shaun asked indulgently.

“Give her a taste of her own medicine.” Catherine looked at Yael, whose cheeks suddenly changed color. “Since she made others look at me that day, I’ll let her taste the same humiliation today. Some people won’t be able to understand until they’ve experienced it for themselves.”

Shaun was stunned but nodded a moment later. “Do as you please.”

“No.” Yael had a bad feeling about it. “Eldest Young Master, please just use Liona’s punishment. No matter how many whips or how many canes you give, I can persevere.”

“Yael, you would rather suffer physical pain than endure being stripped naked in full view of the public. This shows that you understand this humiliation, so why did you humiliate me like that in the first place?” Catherine sneered. “Don’t do unto others what you would not have them do unto you. Don’t you understand this truth?”

“I didn’t do it. You’re falsely accusing me.” Yael glared at her. The hatred in her eyes could no longer be concealed.

“Everyone has already confessed. You’re the only one not admitting to it. How interesting.” Catherine traced Shaun’s palm with her fingers. “What do you think?”

“We’ll do as you say. Lock Yael up.”

Then, Shaun turned around and walked out. “I’m not interested in watching.

“Me neither...” Irving and Roy were also about to slip away.

“Wait.” Catherine stopped them with a grin. “You were very happy watching that day, which shows you don’t hate watching women’s bodies. In that case, stay and have a look.”

Irving and Roy immediately turned pale.

Shaun simply glanced at them coldly and went out.

Soon, Yael was tied to a pillar by Liona's enforcers. No matter how she struggled, no one heeded her.

Catherine asked for a pair of scissors and slowly cut Yael's clothes, piece by piece.

"Catherine Jones, I'll never forgive you," Yael said in a low voice. Her gaze was hideous and twisted.

"Don't be complacent. Eldest Young Master just wants to play with you because he has an obstacle in that aspect. He can't touch any other woman except for you. He's only interested in you because of that. Do you understand? You're just a tool for him to satisfy his physical needs." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 834

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 834

Catherine froze, and surprise flashed in her eyes.

However, Yael thought that she was provoked, so she said viciously, "If it were possible with Ms.

Neeson, he wouldn't even look for you. If you don't believe me, you can secretly check it yourself. Once he gets better, you'll be of no value to him. You better save some face for me, or I won't let you off."

"Is that so?" Catherine took a deep breath and nodded incredulously. "I'll go ask Shaun later."

“Don’t you dare.”

Yael was frightened. She had only wanted to provoke Catherine. If Shaun found out that she told Catherine such a thing, he would definitely kill her. After all, men cared about their pride a lot.

Catherine chuckled. Yael was afraid, which meant that what she said might be true.

She never expected that nothing happened between Shaun and Sarah despite them being together for so long.

Tsk. This was quite interesting.

His brain was hypnotized, but his body instinctively resisted?

Somehow, her hatred for this man suddenly softened a little, and she was not as revolted by him as before.

“Yael, you don’t understand why he’s only interested in me. It’s because he has me in his heart.”

Catherine’s scissors slowly cut down her trousers.

Yael was no longer in the mood to talk to her because she was screaming out of shame.

“Come and take a good look. Don’t look away. I’ll tell Shaun if anyone dares to move away.”

Catherine glared at the men on the side.

The group of tall men broke out in cold sweat and flushed red.

Sh*t. They had spent a lot of time in the punishment room before, but this was their first time encountering such a dilemma.

However, they had to admit that Yael had a good figure, and she was wearing something very sexy underneath. They could not tell at all.

More than ten minutes later, Catherine came out of the room with a smile on her face.

Seeing her in a good mood, Shaun somehow loosened up a lot.

He strode over, and Catherine suddenly grabbed his hand. “Thank you. I feel much better.”

“I’m sorry. It was my fault.” Shaun apologized sincerely. In the end, it was him who gave others the opportunity to hurt her.

Catherine looked at him with an odd gaze.

Frankly speaking, if Shaun could do it with other women as well, he might not have returned to her so easily today.

“Why are you looking at me like that?” Shaun was puzzled by her look.

“Eldest Young Master Hill.”

At that time, a tall and burly middle-aged man strode over. “I heard that Yael offended you?”

“Yes. Master Ziegler, you should train Yael well so that she remembers who her true master is.”

Then, Shaun pulled Catherine and walked away. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 835

“This is...” Catherine could not help but turn around to look at the man.

Before she could get a good look, she was pulled back by a powerful force.

Shaun looked at her dominantly. “You’re not allowed to look at other men curiously.”

Catherine was speechless. “I don’t have a hobby of liking middle-aged men. I just thought he had a strong presence.”

“He’s Liona’s master and one of Liona’s bosses. He only follows my orders.”

Shaun explained to her, “To become a master in Liona, one’s skills have to be the top in the country. The people who join Liona also have to undergo tons of obstacles, so it’s only natural that Master Ziegler’s presence is very strong.”

“Oh.” Catherine nodded. “By the way, I cut up all of Yael’s clothes inside. I guess she’ll hate me a lot.”

“She won’t dare.” A chilling coldness was seething in Shaun’s eyes. “You’re my woman. Hating you is equivalent to hating me. Those who dare to turn their backs on me will die with nothing left of them.

Catherine secretly looked at Shaun. All those in power seemed to have a common fault — they thought no one would dare to betray them. They thought everyone should be loyal and afraid of them, but they did not know that the human mind was the hardest to grasp.

“I’m just reminding you. Since Yael dared to humiliate me before your eyes, it means that between you and Sarah, she might care about Sarah more. Don’t get me wrong. I’m not deliberately targeting her since I’ve already had my revenge earlier. I just hope you keep an eye out.”

Catherine said frankly.

Shaun could not help but look at her and smile. “Are you concerned about me?”

“Duh. Not that I’m back with you, I don’t want you to get unlucky.” Catherine lowered her head and said.

“I won’t.” Shaun held her tightly. “Babe, in the future, I will protect you with my power.”

Instead of being the one who always hurt her. Shaun made a promise in his heart.

In the punishment room.

Master Ziegler opened the door and saw Irving untying Yael.

Irving's jacket was draped over Yael. Her upper body was covered, but the lower half was exposed.

Fabric was scattered all over the floor. It was clear at a glance that they were women's clothes.

"Master..."

Yael's tears poured out as soon as she saw him. "Catherine cut all my clothes off. They all saw me."

"What happened?" Master Ziegler's face was dark. "When did Liona come up with this kind of punishment?"

He thought it would be two whips or a few strokes of the cane at most.

Irving quickly explained, "It was the Eldest Young Master's orders. He said that Yael took off Ms.

Jones's clothes in the past, so Ms. Jones was just giving her a taste of her own medicine.

Master Ziegler took off his coat and threw it at Yael. "Come with me."

Yael sobbed and followed Master Ziegler. Every step she took, she felt the people behind her looking at her weirdly.

It was not until Yael and Master Ziegler left that they started to discuss in the punishment room.

“It’s no wonder Yael could become Master Ziegler’s woman. I never realized before, but after she was stripped today, I found out that she’s really lewd.”

“Keep your voice down. Hey, do you think we should tell the Eldest Young Master about Master Ziegler and Yael’s relationship?”

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 836

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 836

“That’s true. Yael is just a woman.”

In the room.

Master Ziegler had just walked in.

Yael shut the door behind them and ripped off his jacket before she hugged him around the waist from behind. "Chance, I want to die! I can't continue living in this life anymore."

Master Ziegler turned around. When he saw Yael's unclothed appearance, a hint of grimness flashed in his dark eyes.

"Don't be ridiculous." Chance Ziegler said coldly, "I've warned you long ago that Sarah Neeson is just someone you protect. Why did you interfere in the personal feud between her and Catherine Jones? All you have to do is perform the task that Eldest Young Master arranged for you."

"But I was really falsely accused." Yael sobbed. "I was just following the Eldest Young Master's orders to search her body, but Catherine secretly harbored a grudge against me. Why did she have to take it out on me because she has a grudge against Ms. Neeson? Eldest Young Master too. When he was on good terms with Ms. Neeson, he could pluck out the moon from the sky, but when he's with Catherine, all of his orders became our fault. It's too hard to be someone else's subordinate."

"Yael, shut up." Chance warned in a low voice.

"I'm just sad and can't hold back. Chance, you don't understand the feeling of being stripped naked in front of so many men."

Yael burst into tears. "I can't forget their look. They... They kept staring at me so disgustingly. I feel so dirty. I want to die."

After that, she turned and threw herself at the door. "Yael, don't be ridiculous. You're not dirty."

Chance immediately grabbed her and pulled her back into his arms tightly.

"Chance, don't stop me. What should I do? I don't deserve you." Yael cried out as she fell into his chest.

"Don't be silly. You're the little girl I grew up watching." Chance gently brushed her hair.

"Chance, hold me. Otherwise, I'll feel so bad." Yael suddenly lowered her head and pulled the clothes on his chest haphazardly.

Then, she kissed him.

Chance was a middle-aged man. Faced with her young and passionate body, he was soon unable to resist himself.

When it was over, Yael leaned into his chest and murmured with her eyes closed, "Chance, I feel so tired sometimes. I always have to listen to the Eldest Young Master. I'm living like... like a dog."

"Don't speak nonsense. We're indebted to the Eldest Young Master. If not for the Hill family fostering us, we wouldn't be here today."

Chance gripped her shoulders. "You shouldn't go to Sarah Neeson's side for the time being."

Yael panicked. "But Ms. Neeson really needs..."

"Yael, you have to remember that Sarah is only someone you're protecting." Chance reminded her. "If you keep this up, you'll easily be expelled from Liona. You know how painful the price of leaving Liona will be."

A chill washed over Yael. If she left Liona, her muscles and tendons would have to be severed, she would lose her martial arts, and her money would be confiscated too.

For people like them who practiced martial arts their entire lives, losing their martial arts would be equivalent to being crippled.

She gritted her teeth secretly as hatred overflowed from her eyes.

She would definitely take revenge for this.

In the evening, not long after Yael left, Chance received a call from Shaun again.

Shaun said directly, "I'll give you two choices. One, transfer Yael out of the country. Two, expel Yael from Liona."

Chance's face changed in horror. "Eldest Young Master, Yael only made a small mistake. I've already criticized her. Isn't it too serious for you to do that?"

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 837

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 837

Shaun's voice was slightly cold. "Master Ziegler, don't think I don't know about your relationship with Yael."

Chance was shocked. He always thought that Shaun did not know. "Eldest Young Master, I..."

"I understand. Yael is young and beautiful, but at your age, what kind of woman have you not seen?" Shaun lowered his voice. "Yael is no longer completely loyal to me. I don't trust her to remain in Liona."

Chance smiled bitterly. Yael was different as he had watched her grow up. When she grew from that little girl into a graceful woman that loved him, something in him that had settled for many years suddenly seemed to come alive.

"Master Ziegler, are you sad?" Shaun suddenly asked.

"No, Eldest Young Master. She's just a woman. However, I'm afraid that expelling her from Liona like that will cause criticism from others. Let's transfer her out of the country," Chance said cautiously. As a master of Liona, he was not allowed to be emotional.

"Okay, then I'll go with your arrangement. Master Ziegler, I'm doing this out of respect for you."

Then, Shaun hung up the phone.

Chance tightened his grip on his phone. After a while, he called Yael. "Pack up and go to Country X for a mission. I'll go see you when I have time."

Yael was shocked. "What do you mean? I don't want to go to Country X. What do you mean you'll come and see me when you have the time? Won't I be able to come back anymore?"

"It's the Eldest Young Master's orders. You've touched a nerve in him. The Eldest Young Master suspects that you're no longer loyal enough." Chance smiled bitterly. "He wanted to expel you from Liona at first, but he gave me a choice, so I chose to let you leave the country. Yael, listen to m e. Country X's science and technology are well- developed, and the environment there is also good. I t won't be tough going there to carry out your mission."

"I don't want to go to such a faraway place, " Yael said hysterically. "The Eldest Young Master has already given me the harshest punishment. Why is he still treating me like this? Does the Chadwick family have to live like dogs for generations to be loyal to the Hill family?"

"Shut up." Chance warned. "I'll bring you back after a few years when his anger subsides."

"It won't. As long as Catherine Jones is around, she definitely won't let me come back. Chance, I can't bear to leave you." Yael cried.

"...I'll visit you often." Chance hung up the phone, upset.

In the hospital.

Sarah was restless.

Ever since Yael was called away in the morning, she had not called once. This gave Sarah a bad feeling.

Rodney also did not come today, and he left as soon as he came yesterday. He was always in a hurry.

She used to be a delicate flower in everyone's palm. Every moment, whether it was Shaun, Rodney, or Chester, they all surrounded her. Yet now, only a caregiver was left.

"Ms. Neeson, I've peeled a plate of apples for you

." The caregiver fawningly handed over a plate.

"Get lost." Sarah knocked over the plate angrily.

The caregiver also became angry. "Fine, I will. I'm a human too. I'm only taking care of you because you're paying me, but money can be earned anywhere. I don't have to earn it from you. I've really had enough of your horrible temper. It's no wonder Eldest Young Master Hill can't stand you."

With that, she turned to pack her stuff and left.

"You're all snobs." Sarah cursed behind her, but the caretaker did not care about her at all. All of a sudden, she was the only one left in the ward.

She panicked and hurriedly dialed Shaun's phone number. When it connected, she immediately cried. "Shaun, hurry up and come over. I'm alone in the hospital. Yale was suddenly called away in the morning, and the caretaker bullied me and just left. I miss you so much..." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 838

“Ms. Neeson, President Hill is in a meeting.” Hadley interrupted her.

“Assistant Young...” Sarah was stunned. “Then, once the meeting has ended, can you...”

“Ms. Neeson, if the caretaker has left, I will arrange for another one to go there. But I hope you won’t lose your temper at the other caretakers. They’re also human beings, and they’re all working hard for money. No one is superior to another person.”

Sarah’s eyes reddened with every word Hadley said. “Assistant Young, what do you mean by that? You are looking down at me too. I’m telling you, my position in Shaun’s heart is irreplaceable.”

“Ms. Neeson, that’s all I have to say.” Hadley hung up after he finished speaking.

Sarah was so angry she almost smashed her phone.

Fortunately, it did not take long for Yael to come over. However, Yael burst out crying as soon as she saw her. “Ms. Neeson, Catherine Jones is too vicious. She then told Sarah what happened in Liona that afternoon.

Sarah’s whole body trembled. It was not that she felt bad for Yael, but rather, she did not expect that Shaun would be so fond of Catherine in just a few days. He even brought her to Liona.

“Yael, I’m sorry. It’s because I got you involved.” She shed tears of guilt. “I’m useless. I can’t even protect you. Now that I’ve lost my power and influence, I’m belittled and bullied.”

“Ms. Neeson, don’t say that. I’ve never blamed you.” Yael hurriedly said, “But I can’t protect you anymore. Liona will send someone new over, but I predict that they’ll leave after you are discharged from the hospital. The Eldest Young Master has really been bewitched by Catherine Jones this time. He’s a scumbag.”

“Don’t say that,” Sarah murmured. “Catherine dealing with you is only the first step. I’m afraid that she’ll come to me next. She has always hated me for suggesting to send her to the mental hospital for treatment. A vengeful person like her will never let me off.”

“Yes. Young Master Snow also has his hands full.” Yael gritted her teeth. “Ms. Neeson, don’t worry. I won’t go to Country X. I will secretly stay behind to protect you.”

“But you...”

“Actually, there’s something I haven’t told you. The master of Liona is my boyfriend.” Yael suddenly said shyly, “He loves me very much, so he’ll definitely help me to keep this secret.”

“What? I didn’t know that.” An odd look flashed in Sarah’s eyes, but she calmly held Yael and said, “Congratulations, Yael. You’re happier than me.”

“Not necessarily.” Yael sighed. “In the end, we’re just the Eldest Young Master’s dogs. We always have to be careful when we’re together.”

“It doesn’t matter. You’re so cute and kind, I’m sure that Master Ziegler will always like you.”

Sarah coaxed Yael until she left.

Then, she lowered her head and let out a low chuckle.

She did not expect Yael to be Master Ziegler's woman. How interesting.

If Shaun really did not return to her, she would not mind destroying someone she could not obtain.

However, now was not the time.

When she called Rodney again, her tone was soft. "Rodney, what are you doing?"

"Sarah, I'm waiting for Freya." Rodney's grumpy voice sounded. "Now, only Freya can help Osher, so I need to get that damn woman back to the company."

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 839

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 839

Sarah's blood boiled upon hearing him.

Shaun's heart had been hooked by Catherine. Then now, even her backup plan, Rodney was surrounding Freya all day.

She really lived up to the title of Catherine's best friend. She was just as annoying and cheap.

“Rodney, I’m so annoyed.” Sarah sounded sad. “I used to have Yael with me, but now, she has also been transferred away.”

“Hasn’t she been protecting you all these while?” Rodney’s voice suddenly exploded.

“She’s just following Liona’s orders.” Sarah sighed bitterly. “The caretaker left too, saying that I have a temper. I really didn’t expect that I would end up in this situation.”

“F*ck. Shaun is ridiculous.” Rodney did not expect Shaun to be so heartless. Even if he wanted to break up, did he have to be so impatient and transfer her personnel away? “Don’t think about it. I’ll come right away.”

However, when he hung up the phone and turned around to leave, he saw Freya standing behind him. He did not know how long she had been there.

She was wearing a white knitted dress and a white baseball cap on her head. With the faint smile at the corner of her mouth, she looked beautiful and mysterious at first glance, like a low-profile celebrity.

“Hi, President Snow. How did you know I’ve moved to Brighton Gardens?” Freya grinned. “Did Eldest Young Master Hill tell you?”

Rodney became furious at the mention of that.

It was Chester who told him. He remembered that this was Shaun’s house, but he had transferred it to Freya.

Freya sighed faintly. "Eldest Young Master is too generous. I wanted to stay with Cathy, but he felt that I was third-wheeling them, so he gave me this duplex. Living here alone is... just great."

"Have you said enough?"

Along the way here, Rodney had told himself to control his temper. However, he found that whenever he communicated with this woman, his blood pressure would go up. He wanted nothing more than to cut her to pieces.

"Sure. I'm done. Are you leaving?" Freya looked at him quietly.

"...Yeah. I'm leaving." Rodney was frustrated when he said it. He had been waiting for her for so long, yet when she appeared, he promised Sarah that he would go over.

"Tsk. President Snow, you're really blinded by love." Freya admired. "In order to accompany Sarah, you don't even care about your own company. If you don't work hard, I might collaborate with SE Group in the next few days. Not to mention, I have a newly developed essence in my hand. The effects are really good, and the raw materials aren't expensive. President Hatch wants it very badly."

Rodney thought about something, and he was just about to speak when Freya walked past him in her heels.

"Wait..." He hurriedly spoke out.

"What? Aren't you leaving? Aren't you going to see Sarah?" Freya asked in surprise.

Rodney was embarrassed. How could he still be in the mood to see Sarah? "Freya Lynch, let's talk."

“Talk? There’s nothing to talk about. Every time you talk to me, you get angry and start yelling. I’ve been pissed off recently, so I don’t want to argue with you.” Freya waved her hand with a helpless face.

Rodney’s beautiful face twisted in anger like he was constipated.

Damn it. She made it seem as if it was all his fault. She was the one who angered him. He was usually very gentlemanly to other women.

“Freya, I know that I’ve gone too far before, but you found... those ugly women to torture me the last time. You’ve ruined my reputation...”

“What are you saying? You should be thanking me. If not for me, your parents would force you to go on blind dates. But now, because of me, no one is willing to go on a blind date with you, so you can continue waiting for your Sarah Neeson. Isn’t that great?”

Freya immediately retorted, and ‘I’m doing this for your own good’ was written all across her proud face.

Rodney once again took a deep breath and exhaled. “Okay, thank you. You’re my benefactor. Can I buy you dinner, benefactor?” Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 840

Freya shook her head. “I don’t want to go out. I’ve been eating out every day recently, and my stomach isn’t feeling well, so I want to eat in. You can cook for me.”

“What?” Rodney thought he was deaf.

“You don’t want to? If you don’t want to, then forget it. I thought we could take this meal to talk about it...”

“I... I’ll do it. I’ll do it.”

Rodney bit the bullet and chased after her.

He never thought there would come a day where he had to listen to Freya’s whims.

After going upstairs, Freya threw herself on the sofa. Then, she tore open the snacks on the table and started to eat. “Hurry up and cook. If it’s bad, then there’s no chance to talk. Also, don’t even think of asking someone for help. I’m the kind of person who likes sincerity.”

Rodney opened the refrigerator with a grim face. There were many things inside, but they were only yogurt, milk, fruit, and cheese. There were no cooking ingredients. After searching for a long time, he found three steaks, sashimi, and some frozen shrimp in the freezer.

He looked at the date. They would expire in two days.

He silently looked at the woman outside and could tell what kind of woman she was. She was definitely not a virtuous woman, and no one wanted a woman like that.

Freya came in after eating a pack of potato chips and saw him defrosting the steak.

She had cooked it once before when she just bought it. However, since the steak was not marinated, it tasted particularly bad. The insides were raw too.

“You’re making steak? That’s hard to cook.” Out of the goodness of her heart, Freya reminded him, “Why don’t you go downstairs and buy some vegetables to cook a few home dishes?”

“No need.” Rodney gave her a deadpan look.

His expression made Freya think of her dog in Melbourne.

Then, she turned around and video-called her mother. “Mom, where’s Milo? I saw a guy who looked like Milo and suddenly missed her.”

“What man?” Her mother laughed as she quickly brought over a fluffy brown puppy. “He must look quite strange if he looks like our little Milo. Milo is a dog.”

“Oh, are you talking about those effeminate men? Silly daughter, if you’re looking for a boyfriend, you should look for the masculine ones. Don’t keep staying single. You should start dating.”

In the kitchen, Rodney hated himself for having good hearing.

She saw a man who looked like a dog? That man was like a girl?

He was effeminate?

Rodney was 100% sure that Freya was talking about him.

This was simply an insult to him.

He tightened his grip on the kitchen knife and took a deep breath. He had to endure it.

After chatting with her mom for more than 40 minutes, a fragrant smell came from the kitchen, and she hung up the video call.

Before long, Rodney came out with plates of steak, sashimi, and fried... tempura. She was dumbfounded.

“Holy sh*t. You can actually cook?”

Her eyes widened as if she had seen a ghost. Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 841

Rodney gritted his teeth. “Do you have to be so surprised? Is it strange that I can cook?”

“Yeah. In my eyes, you’re just a useless, pampered young master who doesn’t know how to do anything other than follow Sarah’s orders and do her bidding every day.” Freya nodded without hesitation.

He should have put some poison in the dish earlier to end it all.

Freya cut a tiny piece of steak and tasted it. The taste was surprisingly... damn good. It was as authentic as the steak she had in Country F.

The tempura tasted like it was from Japan, and even the sashimi was especially tender and fresh. Ahem, of course, this had to do with her good ingredients.

“Did you really make this yourself?”

She was curious. “You didn’t have your subordinates send it in from the kitchen window with a drone, right?”

“No, I made it myself. I’ve liked to cook since I was young, okay?” Rodney really could not stand it.

“This is really unexpected. Shaun’s cooking is a disaster, so I never thought he’d have a friend like you. ” Freya sighed again. It was the first time she carefully observed Rodney.

The man’s features were handsome, and his peach eyes seemed like they could entice someone at anytime. His slender figure brought out the best in any clothing.

If he were to join the entertainment industry, he would definitely be the type that women go crazy for.

“Why are you looking at me like that? I’m telling you. I won’t fall for you.” Rodney felt uncomfortable under her gaze and quickly said, “

Can we talk about the formula now?”

“Sure. Go ahead.” Freya nodded.

Rodney said, “I know you want to collaborate with SE Group, but I have to remind you that SE has always been a secondary association skincare brand in the country. It usually targets students. The upper-class women look down on the brand. If you work with them, you’ll be lowering your stature.”

“Secondly, SE Group has fewer outlets than us, whether it’s domestic or abroad. If you choose Osher Corporation, your products will have a chance to be popular worldwide. But if you choose S E, it can only be sold in Australia at most. Besides, President Hatch is a stingy, extremely cruel, and merciless man...”

“As if you’re not cruel and merciless too.” Freya mocked.

Rodney braced himself and said, “President Hatch has a habit of keeping women. He throws money to the women outside but doesn’t give a single cent to his wife at home. Believe me.

“He’s so rich, but his wife and daughter still live in a two-bedroom house. Once this scandal breaks out, it’ll be a huge blow to SE. After all, SE earns money from women.”

“Aren’t you afraid that I’ll tell President Hatch?” Freya raised her eyebrows.

“I’ve already sent all the evidence related to his cheating to his wife. She’ll probably make a scene soon.” Rodney slowly and methodically cut his steak as he said, “Even if his wife doesn’t make a scene, I have the ability to escalate it.”

“ I believe you. Who doesn’t know that the Jewell family owns half of the country’s online media?” Freya laughed. “President Snow, it seems like I’ve underestimated you.”

“No, you didn’t underestimate me. You just overestimated SE Group.” Rodney shook his head. “ The remaining domestic brands aren’t big enough t o compete with Osher. Although we’ve had many unpleasant incidents before, you’re a smart person, Ms. Lynch. Why make it difficult for your money and career?”

Freya sneered. “ If I hadn’t fought hard, my future would’ve been ruined by you guys. Rodney Snow, ask your conscience. Have you ever felt guilty about me?” “That year, even if I didn’t get along with Sarah, you could still come at me. Why did you have to be s o ruthless at work?” Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 842

“To you, I’m just an ordinary cosmetic chemist. But have you ever thought about how hard we work to climb up to where we are?

“When all you young masters were out drinking and playing, we were still burning the midnight oil i n the laboratory. When you went out to play ball and go fishing, we stayed at home hitting the books.”

Freya's eyes could not help but redden as she spoke.

"Do you understand how desperate you made me when you shut me off back then? The incident with Thomas Neeson coincidentally happened at the same time as well, and I was egged on at the supermarket. I couldn't find a job and couldn't stay in the country, so I had to go overseas.

"As a newcomer, I was looked down upon overseas. I didn't even go back to my apartment every day. Out of 365 days a year, I spent 350 days in the lab and fainted several times.

"There were two times I lay on the cold ground all night and woke up by myself to go to the hospital. I have thought of giving up, but I wanted to fight back and regain my lost self-esteem."

The more she thought about it, the sourer her heart felt, and her tears rolled down.

"Hey, don't cry."

Rodney felt a little guilty as he listened, and he became at a loss seeing her cry.

She made it seem as if he was really a scumbag.

"I'm sad and hurt, but you don't even let me cry." Freya's tears fell down in large drops.

However, there was a saying that if a person was beautiful, they looked beautiful no matter how hard they cried. It was like raindrops falling on flower petals.

“Okay, go on and cry.” Rodney fell silent from her scolding.

“Rodney Snow, are you a man? I’m crying, but you still don’t know how to comfort me. It’s no wonder you can’t find a girlfriend.” Freya threw the tissue that she had used to wipe her tears with at him.

“...Freya Lynch, you’re being a little unreasonable.” Rodney was exasperated.

“Women are always unreasonable.” Freya sniffled.

Her tear-stained delicate, petite, and fair face now had a reddish tint to it.

Looking at her, Rodney somehow thought that her skin was really good, and she actually looked a little cute after crying. 1

“I’ve thought it over. We can cooperate.”

Freya suddenly said, “The formula is 20 million dollars each. At the same time, I also want 10 percent of Osher Corporation’s shares. Every year, Osher will have to invest 40 million dollars in developing new products. On top of that, I want to serve as the director of Osher’s R&D department.”

Rodney was shocked. “The other conditions are fine, but you want 10 percent of the shares? That’s daylight robbery.”

“Think about it. If you don’t collaborate with me, I’ll still choose SE. Even if SE is plagued by negative gossip, why won’t I want to earn money? Besides, you should understand my strength. A talented cosmetic chemist like me can be discovered but not sought after. Whether you seize this opportunity or not will depend on you.”

Freya blew her nose and started to eat the steak gracefully.

That appearance made Rodney suspect that her crying earlier was just an illusion.

Rodney left after dinner, but Freya's conditions were still on his mind. Hence, the first thing he did was head to the company for a meeting.

It was not until 11:00 p.m. that Sarah called, and only then did he remember that he had forgotten to visit Sarah in the hospital.

"I'm sorry, Sarah. I've been busy with meetings. I didn't mean to."Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South]

Sarah was furious.

She never thought that Rodney, her backup plan, would one day have a meeting and forget her. In the past, she was always on his mind, and as long as she said the word, he would come as soon as possible no matter how busy or far away he was.

Let alone stand her up in the evening because of Freya Lynch.

However, she could not say that, so all she could do was pretend to be polite and generous. "It's okay. How did the talk go with Freya?"

“The talk was settled, but she asked for 10 percent of Osher Corporation’s shares, ” Rodney said helplessly. “So I went back to the company to discuss it with the executives. Everyone thinks this plan is feasible. If we can tie Freya Lynch to Osher, it’s worth it.”

“10 percent?” Sarah’s voice could not help but raise. “That’s daylight robbery, yet you guys are agreeing to it?”

“There’s no choice. However, after our company packages the new products, I believe Osher’s market value will increase.”

Sarah really wanted to call Rodney a stupid pig.

Nevertheless, she could only hold herself back while her insides were going to explode with anger.

After hanging up the phone, she immediately called Thomas.

Thomas clenched his teeth when he heard this. “ Has Young Master Snow been brainwashed by that b *tch Freya? She wants 10 percent of Osher’s shares? He might as well give them to you.”

Snow Corporation’s market value was worth more than millions. When Thomas thought that Freya’s value was almost the same as his, he was very unhappy. To him, Freya was just an inferior woman who came from a small place.

“Brother, I really can’t stand it. Find a chance to deal with Freya.” Sarah gritted her teeth and said, “After that, I’ll deal with Catherine.”

“I don’t need you to tell me that. I also have no intention of letting Freya go. I plan to finish what I didn’t do three years ago.” Thomas suddenly grinned. “That’s good. If she becomes a shareholder of Osher, I won’t lose anything by marrying her.”

“You mean...” Sarah’s eyes lit up. “That’s a good idea. I heard that the Lynch family’s business has been getting bigger and bigger in recent years, and they’ll surpass Neeson Corporation soon. If you marry her, it’ll kill two birds with one stone. But can you do it?”

“Don’t worry. I have plenty of underhanded tricks.” Thomas laughed.

Sarah said with satisfaction, “But Shaun isn’t here to clean up after you anymore, so watch yourself. Don’t do anything illegal.”

“I know what I’m doing,” Thomas said. “By the way, how are you going to deal with Catherine?”

“Heh, I have my own plan.”

The next day, Freya received a phone call from Rodney. He agreed to her conditions.

That afternoon, Freya invited Catherine out for dinner in a good mood.

“You made the right decision.” Catherine smiled heartily and toasted her. “After all, Osher is a big company in Canberra. This is an opportunity if you really want to have a foothold in the country.”

Freya chuckled. "I'll eventually deal with Thomas Neeson. If I enter Osher, Sarah's blood will definitely boil."

"Definitely." Catherine tried to picture that scene and laughed too. "After all, she regards Rodney as her backup plan."

"Forget it. I'm just afraid that she's still thinking of Shaun. Since Rodney has been disqualified as the heir of the Snow family, I don't believe Sarah will willingly marry him." Freya shook her head and suddenly lamented, "Actually, Rodney is quite stupid. If I had a man like that who liked me whether I'm right or wrong, I might marry him."

Catherine was so shocked that she choked on her water. "Don't scare me. You don't have a crush on Rodney, do you?" Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 844

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

"Bah, no way. I'm just lamenting. Sarah actually has a good life sometimes, but she doesn't know how to cherish it. I'll be frank. Rodney's cooking is really good. His steak and tempura are absolutely delicious." Freya's mouth watered a little as she thought about it.

"So, he's not completely useless. There are very few men who can cook nowadays. Unlike Shaun..." Catherine's expression was grim. "He only wants to eat my cooking all day long. I don't want to win over a man with my cooking skills. I, too, want a man to cook for me one day."

"Wesley can." Freya winked.

Catherine fell silent all of a sudden. These days, Wesley had not been in contact with her at all because of her plan. She owed Wesley too much.

Halfway through the meal, Shaun called. "I'm done with dinner. Where are you?"

Catherine looked at the time. It was only 7:00 p.m. "So early?"

"Yeah. I just had dinner with those bosses and left. I told Hadley to take them out for some fun."

"I'm out eating with Freya. You can head back yourself," Catherine replied lazily.

Shaun's face immediately darkened. "I want to be with you, but you just want to be with another woman?"

"Can't I have a life other than work and you? I want to have delicious food too."

Catherine then hung up the phone. Why did she not realize that Shaun was so clingy before?

After dinner, she went to the beauty salon to get a facial with Freya.

Along the way, Shaun Hill kept sending her messages: [Why do you have to go to a salon to get a facial? Just wash your face at home.]

Catherine shook her head, speechless. What was an insensitive man who did not understand women? He was.

A moment later, she replied: [It's not clean if I wash it myself. I require professional instruments and techniques, understand?]

Shauncierely Yours: [I don't understand. Tell me the address. I'll accompany you and pay the bill.]

Catherine saw the words 'pay the bill' and sent him the address.

When they arrived at the beauty salon, two beautiful women came in to wash their faces. The room filled with the scent of essential oil.

Soothing music was playing in the room, and Freya suddenly yawned. "I suddenly feel like sleeping.

That's strange. I slept for nine hours yesterday."

"I'm a little sleepy too. Just sleep if you want to." Catherine rubbed her eyes. When she was prepared to take a nap, she suddenly realized that the woman washing her face had an odd look in her eyes. The air seemed to smell like...

She suddenly sat up and knocked over the aroma diffuser in the corner before she quickly pulled Freya up.

"Huh? What's wrong?" Just as Freya was about to sit up, she suddenly exclaimed, "What the f*ck, why do I feel so weak?"

The two employees ran out, and at the same time, four men who looked like ruffians charged in the door.

“Hey, it turns out to be two beautiful women. It’ll be enough for us to have a good time.” One of the men with thick gold chains reached for Catherine’s face.

Catherine used her hand to shake him off but found that her whole body was weak.

“Who are you?” Freya strained to get up. She did not look great.

Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 845

In no time, they were pinned down on the beds by the four men.

“Yep, take her away.” The man with the thick gold chains waved his hands before he stared at Catherine. “You guys go. I’ll stay here and have some fun.”

“Bro, I want to have fun too.” The younger man on the side licked his lips as he stared at Freya. “He didn’t say we couldn’t touch her.”

“Fine.”

“B*stards. ” Catherine and Freya went mad seeing the men pouncing on them and pulling their clothes.

At that moment, the door was kicked in.

Shaun barged in. When he saw Catherine’s half- ripped clothes, his eyes instantly turned cold and red.

“How dare you touch her.”

“Who... Who are you?” The four hoodlums were shocked by his intimidating aura.

“I’m the person who’s going to kill you tonight.” Shaun immediately beat them down and even broke their legs.

After the beating, he quickly took off his clothes to wrap them around Catherine. When he saw the red mark on her milky-white skin, he turned back in anger and broke their hands too.

“Bro, please let us go. We were just hired by someone. ” The man with the gold chain begged, “

The other guy isn’t a small fish either. I suggest that you don’t offend him.”

Shaun asked coldly, “Who was it?”

“The president of SE Group, Eric Hatch.”

“So it is that b*stard, Eric Hatch.” Freya cursed angrily.

“Yes. President Hatch learned that you’re collaborating with Osher Corporation and said that you fooled him, so he wants to teach you a lesson.” The man with the gold chain looked at Shaun. “Bro, President Hatch isn’t an ordinary person. You should just forget this matter today. I’ve also been on the streets for many years. Maybe we can be friends in the future.”

“Friends?” Shaun laughed in a low voice. His smile was extremely cold. “Do you know who I am?”

“Who are you?” “Shaun Hill.”

Shaun narrowed his eyes and broke their hands too.

The small room echoed with the sound of screams. The men looked at Shaun like they were staring at the devil. They did not expect that they would accidentally provoke the god on the top of Australia’s pyramid.

After Shaun taught them a lesson, he picked Catherine up and went out.

“Wait, Freya...” Catherine took a deep breath. As he grabbed his collar, her tone was weak. “We can’t leave her here alone.”

Freya pitifully lifted her head and smiled bitterly. “It’s okay. I’ll dial 000 and tell them to take me to the hospital.”

Shaun said indifferently with a frown, “Hear that? She doesn’t need me to send her there.”

“No.” Catherine said anxiously, “She’s my best friend. If anything happens to her, I’ll never forgive you.”

Shaun was speechless and sullen. "Catherine Jones, get your facts straight. I just saved you."

"Come on. If you're going to help someone then do it properly. See the job through." Catherine gently shook his collar. She had no strength, so her voice was so soft that it sounded coquettish.

Shaun's blood rushed up at once. It was totally irresistible.

A moment later, he carried Catherine with his right hand and placed her on his shoulder before he picked up Freya with his other hand in disgust.

That was right. He just lifted her like he was carrying a plastic bag. Freya wanted to cry. "I need to hurry up and find a boyfriend. This is abuse." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 846

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Inexplicably amused, Catherine said to Shaun, "You don't have to be like that. I'm not that petty."

Shaun glared at her. "I can't stand touching other women except you."

Catherine's face flushed, and her heart unexpectedly skipped a beat.

Although the miserable Freya did not see their expressions, she suddenly felt like she had just witnessed them showing public affection.

She felt depressed. Catherine was clearly holding the script of a revenge plot, but as a bystander, why did she feel like they were in an idol drama?

After opening the car door, Freya was thrown mercilessly onto the back seat. However, Catherine was carefully placed onto the passenger seat with her seatbelt fastened.

Along the way, Shaun called Hadley. "Bring some people to me and seal up the beauty salon. Call the cops and reporters. I have a scandalous scoop for them. I want Eric Hatch from SE Group to be ruined within one day. Make sure no one involved with the beauty salon today gets away."

"Understood."

Hadley, who was on a date with a female companion, had no choice but to go over and work overtime at night.

In the car, Shaun's handsome face was cold from the start. It made him look like a god of wrath.

Freya and Catherine did not dare to speak, and neither did they have the energy to talk.

Once they arrived at the hospital, Freya was mercilessly thrown to the doctor while Shaun held Catherine in his arms, carefully letting the doctor draw blood from her.

When waiting for the blood test results, Shaun finally reprimanded her. "You're not allowed to go to the beauty salon with Freya again. Next time, you can meet up with her to have a meal at most. Then, you have to come back."

"Today was an accident..."

"It was an accident, and it's all because of your friend." Shaun said coldly, "She dragged you into it."

"Shaun Hill, that's enough. Freya is my friend.

What do you mean by she dragged me into it? Have I ever blamed your friends before?"

Catherine's expression sank as she said with dissatisfaction, "Besides, in those three years we were abroad, we relied on each other. To me, she's the same as family.

"Also, don't forget that you threatened her with the Thomas Neeson incident three years ago. She gave up pursuing the case because of me and carried all the responsibility, which ruined her reputation.

Shaun was speechless.

He suddenly lost his voice.

He was especially afraid of her mentioning the incidents three years ago.

"I was wrong. This is all Rodney's fault. If he hadn't stirred things up, Freya wouldn't have been targeted by Eric." Shaun immediately changed his words.

Catherine looked at him speechlessly. She really admired his nerve.

“Don’t look at me like that.” Shaun lowered his head. There was a trace of grievance in his handsome and innocent face. “ I’m still your savior tonight, and I’m also angry. As a man, it’s normal to be angry at the thought of the woman I like being bullied.”

Catherine did not speak. When she thought of the consequences, a chill ran down her spine.

She reached out and put her arms around the man’s neck.

Shaun lowered his head and kissed her softly.

On the other side of the curtain, Freya quickly turned her face away as her face flushed red. How shameless were they? There were other people around!

Just as she was thinking about it, Rodney called her. “I just saw the news. I heard that Eric caused trouble for you. Are you okay?”

“You still have the nerve to ask that? I only confirmed the collaboration with you this morning. How did Eric find out about it so quickly?” Freya snapped at him.

Rodney was awkwardly silent for a while before saying in a low voice, “I ran into Eric this afternoon, and I accidentally slipped my tongue...”

The corners of Freya’s mouth twitched. “Was it accidental? You showed off on purpose because you wanted to strike him down, right?” Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 847

July 30, 2021 by gamanovel

Rodney did not know what to say.

“Damn you. Did I wrong you in my past life?” Freya could not hold back and cursed in a low voice, “You’ll be the death of me.”

“What did they do?” Rodney became even more uneasy.

Freya was just about to speak when a large hand snatched her phone away.

Shaun said, “She’s in the hospital. Come here and send her home.”

“Shaun...”

“Negative press about Eric Hatch has broken out. How you seize this opportunity to get rid of your opponent will depend on you. On top of that, you should take this as a lesson. If you have someone who’s a great advantage to the company, you should keep an eye out for their safety.”

Shaun hung up the call and threw the phone at Freya before he turned around to accompany Catherine again.

20 minutes later, the blood test report came out.

The doctor confirmed that they were fine and only needed to have a good night's rest. They would be able to regain their strength tomorrow.

When Shaun heard that, he immediately picked Catherine up. "We're going back."

Catherine looked at Freya worriedly. "But she..."

"I'm in the hospital. I'll be fine. You two can go ahead first. Rodney should be coming soon." Freya waved her hand. "If you're here, Rodney might end up fighting with you again."

"Yeah. She's right. I'm not in the mood to argue with him." Shaun did not want to face Rodney too.

"Then, be careful. If he doesn't pick you up, call me."

As soon as Catherine finished speaking, Shaun carried her away.

Freya looked at them with a little sadness and envy.

She used to think that boyfriends were unnecessary, but now she felt like it was quite good to have one.

It took another 20 minutes before Rodney arrived. When he saw Freya lying in the hospital bed like a soft creature, with messy hair and wearing a patient gown, he felt a little guilty. "Where's Shaun?"

“He left. When Cathy and I were in the beauty salon, the room was lit with incense, and then a few men came in. Fortunately, Shaun came because otherwise, we would have been finished.” Freya pulled her collar, revealing her torn clothes and bruise marks inside. “Look.”

Rodney frowned. He could imagine the scene at that time.

However, as a high and mighty man, he really could not lower his head and apologize to her. “That’s... You can’t blame it all on me. Who told you to offend Eric? He isn’t a good person in the first place. Did you promise him something before...”

“Rodney Snow, shut your mouth. I offended him because of you.”

“That’s because I gave you a big profit. I even gave you Osher Corporation’s shares.”

“If you didn’t have such a big mouth, Eric wouldn’t have bothered me tonight. If I knew Eric already knew about our collaboration, I would have kept an eye out. I wouldn’t have been a fool and almost got bullied.”

“If you came here to lecture me, then you can leave.” Freya gasped for breath. She had no strength anyway. After she pointed at him, her fingers hung down weakly, and her deep facial features were a little pale.

“Fine. Forget it. I won’t argue with a woman like you. I’ll send you back.”

Rodney lifted her quilt and suddenly picked her up. However, he did not expect her to be so light.

Caught off guard, Freya subconsciously put her arms around his neck.

The intimate gesture made both of them a little uncomfortable, so she quickly put her hands down.

After Rodney glanced at her, he strode outside while holding her. With every step he took, the graceful arm muscles outside his short-sleeved shirt bulged a little. Freya snorted. "I couldn't tell that you had muscles." Let me go, Mr. Hill [by Shallow South] Chapter 848

"Shut up. I work out a lot, okay?" Rodney scoffed. On the way back, soft music was playing in the car. Due to the incense she had inhaled earlier, Freya could no longer hold up her eyelids any longer.

Once they arrived at Brighton Gardens, Rodney turned on the lights and turned around to find that she had fallen asleep. Her thick long hair covered half her face, and the remaining half revealed her glazed white skin under the light. She was usually sharp-tongued, but at that moment, she was like a gentle and harmless kitten, delicate and soft.

He hesitated before he took out a blanket from the trunk to cover her. Then, he sat in the front to read the news on his phone.

Hackett Institute.

Shaun put the sleeping Catherine on the large bed in the bedroom.

She could not keep her eyelids open and fell asleep on the way back.

After Shaun watched her quietly for a while, he turned to get a basin of water and gently took off her clothes. When he saw the scars on her body, his handsome face turned ashen. However, the further down he went, his face could not help but turn slightly red.

Every time he was with her, he was impulsive and rash. He had never looked at her so carefully before.

She had a really good figure. She was small at places she needed to be small, and large at places where...
Ahem...

As a young and vigorous man, Shaun gulped unexpectedly, his eyes the color of Mars.

Once he had cleaned her, he dressed her in her pajamas and took a cold shower by himself.

He used her towel, which had the familiar scent of her body. It was very nice, and he did not feel disgusted despite his mysophobia.

After a shower, he lay down and slept beside her on the same quilt. He was extremely satisfied smelling the fragrance of her body.

Then, he could not resist holding her in his arms. Catherine did not wake up. However, she rubbed her little face against his chest and hugged him with her petite arms. The action was very natural. It was as if they had done this countless times before.

Shaun was so stunned that he looked at her from the side. This scene was extremely familiar, but he could not remember it at all.

The next day.

Catherine slept until late in the morning.

When she opened her eyes, she was faced with solid honey-colored pectoral muscles. A familiar masculine smell mixed with the shower gel she used wafted into her nose.

Did she hug Shaun the entire night?

Completely unprepared, her cheeks became unwillingly hot.

She quickly got up, but the hand at her waist tightened and pulled her back.

“You’re awake?” Having just woken up, the man’s voice was low and deep like a cello, and it made her heart beat faster.

Catherine looked up and saw Shaun’s handsome and dazzling well-rested face. She bit her lips and said with annoyance, “Why are you sleeping in my bed?”

“Babe, I’m not a gentleman. You were sleeping so heavily last night. If I didn’t take the opportunity to stay by your side, I’d be a fool.” Shaun gave a low chuckle. He had taken advantage of the situation yet was still acting so righteous.

“Shameless.” Catherine cursed him. She sat up, but since she had not fully recovered, she instantly fell onto his chest again.

“You’re throwing your arms around me so quickly?” Suddenly, Shaun’s eyes burned as if they could set people on fire. He stretched out his arms to hold her firmly.

“I’m not...”

Catherine struggled for a long time but did not break free. Instead, she could feel the man’s gaze getting hotter and hotter.

She was more than familiar with the progression of events, and suddenly, she did not dare to breathe. “Let me go. Don’t do anything rash.”

“I really want to do something rash. How long do you want me to wait?” Shaun flipped her over, placing his strong arms on her sides. His burning breath fell onto her face.

“How long have you waited? It has only been a few days.” Catherine turned away in disapproval. She was so flustered that she dared not look him in the eye.

However, she did not know that her posture was revealing her graceful and slender neck.

“Cathy, we’re an old married couple.”

Shaun turned her face and dominantly kissed her red lips.

“No...”

Catherine struggled.

Despite that, the man was extremely strong, and he knew her very well.

Besides, knowing from Yael that he had not done it with Sarah over the years, she was not as revolted by him.

Catherine, who originally intended to get up, was forced to give up that thought because of him.

Meanwhile.

When Freya opened her eyes after a satisfying sleep, she found herself lying in the back seat of the car with a pillow below her head and a thin blanket over her body.

She was dazed and confused for a while before remembering the incident last night. When Rodney was sending her back, she could not hold on any longer and fell asleep in his car on the way back.

In other words, she was still in Rodney’s car. The blanket on her body was placed on her by Rodney, and the pillow under her head was put there by Rodney too?

A very strange feeling welled up in her heart.

Her image of Rodney had always been a nasty and despicable lowlife. Even if she was sleeping, she believed that Rodney would throw her out of the car or get someone to bully her.

Never did she expect that he had such an attentive side to him.

She sat up and saw the man leaning on the driver's seat motionlessly. Hence, he leaned over to look at him.

Rodney was resting with his eyes closed. He really was born with good skin. He had a tall nose, thin lips, clear skin, and eyelashes so long that they could be brushed with a comb. He had the face of those high and noble comical faces.

In the past, she thought that Patrick was the most handsome man.

However, Patrick paled in comparison to Rodney's features.

At that moment, his eyelashes moved.

Freya hurriedly sat back. Rodney rubbed his eyes and woke up. When he turned around, the two pairs of eyes met.

He suddenly did not feel sleepy at all. "You're finally awake."

"Why didn't you wake me up last night?" Freya pretended to be indifferent.

“Forget it. You were sleeping like a pig...”

“Rodney Snow, do you know what you’re talking about?” Freya instantly exploded. “Is there a pig as beautiful as me?”

“Yeah. I saw one last night. She’s still in my car now.” Rodney narrowed his eyes and mocked.

“Get lost.” Freya snapped at him and opened the cardoor to leave.

Rodney lowered the window and said, “Don’t worry, Eric Hatch has been arrested. If you don’t have any more enemies, you can go out with peace of mind. You should rest for two days before returning to work at Snow Corporation.” “Give me the money first and then we’ll talk.” Freya glared at him before she went upstairs.

When she got home, she pulled up the news. The incident of Eric finding someone to attack her last night made today’s headlines. [SE Group’s President Eric Hatch detained after finding someone to beat up Osher Corporation’s new R&D director.]

[Eric Hatch, the leading cosmetics entrepreneur in Australia, abandoned his wife and daughters to keep several mistresses.]

[Eric Hatch’s wife cried and accused Eric Hatch of not returning home for half a year and had not paid for living expenses.]

[Eric Hatch’s wife and daughter live in an old two- bedroom house, while his mistress lives in a luxury villa worth hundreds of millions of dollars.]

[SE Group's share price plunges. Women announce that they are abandoning SE's cosmetics.]

Negative gossip about Eric Hatch in various aspects broke out, and even Eric's wife was interviewed by the media about his various scummy behaviors.

Eric angered the women across Australia. Women hated it when men cheated on their wives, and at that moment, Eric was still under investigation at the police station.

As Freya read it, she secretly lamented at how quickly Shaun and Rodney acted. SE Group earned money from women but did not respect women. On top of that, Eric had used improper means to suppress his peers. It would be difficult for SE Group to turn around.

She thought about it and made a phone call to Catherine.

The phone rang, but no one answered, and she did not return the call.

It was not until noon that Catherine finally called her. "Did Rodney send you home last night?"

"You're too much. I called you in the morning, but you're only returning the call in the afternoon. I'm fine. Don't tell me you just woke up." Freya suddenly realized something and laughed. "Your voice sounds strange. It's a little hoarse. Did you and Shaun... It was him, right?"

"...What nonsense are you talking about? I've been asleep, okay?"

Catherine glanced at the man on the bed and flushed red in shock. Damn it. Freya's ears must be poisonous.

Then, she hurriedly dragged her sore legs and went out.

“Fine, I thought you guys...”

“Can you not think so indecently?” Catherine interrupted her seriously.

“I’ve always been like this,” Freya was unashamed to admit. “I fell asleep in Rodney’s car last night and accidentally slept until morning.”

Catherine was stunned. “He did not throw you out? He even let you sleep until the morning? Did you catch a cold?”

“Yeah. That’s what I thought too. I didn’t expect it either. He didn’t wake me up and even covered me with a blanket,” Freya said with mixed feelings.

“I couldn’t tell. He can cook, and he’s attentive. If it weren’t for his prejudice against us because of Sarah, Rodney could be regarded as an excellent man. Unfortunately, he loved the wrong person. He has a bad eye for people,” Catherine said regretfully. “You don’t have a crush on him, do you?”

“...Get lost.” Freya immediately scolded.

“Why are you so worked up?” Catherine clicked her tongue and reminded, “But I have to remind you. You can’t fall in love with Rodney. Patrick has already made you suffer enough. If you fall for Rodney, you’ll suffer like never before. That guy only has eyes for Sarah.”

“You don’t have to tell me that. I know better than you.”

Freya immediately hung up the call.

Catherine glanced at the phone, a little worried.

According to years of understanding each other like sisters, it was not good whenever Freya started to praise a man.

When she was distracted, a man's arm came up from behind and held her tightly.

She gasped as Shaun bit her ear. "Rodney is an excellent man?"

Catherine suddenly trembled and turned around, wanting to glare at him. However, Shaun sealed her lips. "Better than me?"

"Shaun Hill. Are you done yet?" Catherine pinched his waist.

Shaun hissed in pain, but his eyes and tone were bitter. "You praised another man."

Catherine was speechless. "Did I say anything wrong? I used to think that Rodney was useless except for his looks, but it turns out he has strong points too."

"He has scolded you before..." Shaun gritted his teeth and reminded her. What was more depressing than to wake up and hear the woman he liked praise another man?

“Have you scolded me any less?” Catherine reminded him. “You better not say that others are bad, or I’ll bring up old scores again.”

Shaun silently buried her handsome face in her neck. “Babe, I’m hungry.”

Catherine chuckled. “What a coincidence. I’m hungry, too. I didn’t eat breakfast, and now my body is all weak.”

“...I’ll cook for you.”

Shaun resigned himself and rubbed her little face. “

But it may not be as good as yours. Don’t shun it.”

“If you really can’t, then just cook eggs. I’ll teach you.” Catherine sighed helplessly.

Under Catherine’s guidance, they had a simple breakfast. However, since she was too hungry, she felt that Shaun’s trash-like cooking could barely fill their stomachs.

After they had eaten, Hadley called to ask about the company, to which Shaun said, “Bring some of my clothes to Hackett Institute. I’ll be sleeping here in the future.”

Hadley replied, "Ahem. Okay."

Catherine, however, snatched the phone away. "No need."

Then, she hung up the call.

"Catherine Jones..." Shaun gritted his teeth.

"I don't want to live together for now." Catherine got up. "If there's a need to spend the night, I'll go to your place. By the way, remember to hire a nanny. I don't want to be your housekeeper."

Shaun's face darkened, and Catherine grinned. "Did I say anything wrong? My place is small, and there's no space for a nanny to live. If you move here, I'll have to handle all your meals and clothes.

I'm sorry, but my status is much more valuable now, so I definitely won't do anything that'll hurt my delicate fingers. By the way, I have to enjoy whatever grand treatment Sarah used to enjoy."

Shaun's expression was grim, and just as he was about to open his mouth, Catherine pressed her slender fingers on his lips. "Don't talk to me about sacrificing for love. I can love you, but I want to love myself more."

"Okay. We'll do whatever you say." Shaun did not know whether to laugh or cry. He had never intended to treat her badly. "I'll hire a nanny and a maid. I'll call Aunt Yasmine over, so why don't you come to my place and stay?"

"No. There should be some occasional distance between two people. We'll get tired if we're always together.”

Catherine shook her head resolutely.

“Babe, I won’t get tired of you,” Shaun coaxed softly.

Catherine looked at him weirdly. “No, I’ m saying I’ll get tired of you.”

Shaun was at a loss for words.

What did she say? She would get tired of him?

Were her feelings not supposed to grow stronger the more she was with him?

Shaun took a deep breath. Having dealt a blow, his handsome face now looked extremely unpleasant, and he gritted his teeth. “Catherine Jones, I’ll give you one chance to rephrase your words.”

“I didn’t say anything wrong... Ah...”

Before Catherine could finish her sentence, she was turned around by Shaun and spanked on her butttwice.
