

Love So Sweet 445

445 Why are You Asking Me?

After walking around for a while, the couple finally found a place to sit down.

Fang Su Jin suddenly recalled Zhang Yi Hai's conversation with his father earlier in the day. "You said that you have something to give your sister. What is it?"

"Hmm?" Zhang Yi Hai stared back at his girlfriend in puzzlement. "What did I want to give her?"

"I don't know." She tilted his head to one side. "Why are you asking me?"

Then, the two of them looked at each other with confused looks on their faces.

It was then that Fang Su Jin realized that this person had forgotten about what he had told her father earlier. "Didn't you say that you want to let me pass something to your sister? Wasn't that what you told my father?"

Zhang Yi Hai suddenly recalled his words again. He let out a cough and looked away. "I was only finding an excuse to see you again tomorrow. Otherwise, how am I supposed to send you to the airport."

Fang Su Jin looked at her boyfriend in disbelief. Zhang Yi Hai was looking back at her with a serious look on his face. Suddenly, Fang Su Jin started to burst into a laugh.

To think that Zhang Yi Hai had told her parents some nonsense just because he wanted to see her again tomorrow...

.....

Fang Su Jin did think that this was too funny. Zhang Yi Hai was just too cute, right? It seemed that all the images she have about him in the past had changed a lot. This person was not the person she thought he was.

Seeing that his girlfriend was laughing at him for a while, Zhang Yi Hai quickly pinched her on both cheeks. Zhang Yi Hai made a mental reminder to bring something for his sister before the Fang couple was going to suspect him tomorrow.

The sound of her laughter still did not stop. After a while, Fang Su Jin finally felt her cheek a little sore.

"Zhang Yi Hai..." Her words were a little incoherent as she could not speak clearly. "Let me go." Her eyes started to grow misty. "It hurts."

A helpless sigh escaped him. Zhang Yi Hai began to wonder if his girlfriend was made of water. Why did she cry that easily?

Just like that, Zhang Yi Hai finally released her cheeks. Worried that she would be in pain, he then massaged her cheek gently. His heart grew anxious as he noticed that her cheek was a little red. "Does it still hurt?"

Fang Su Jin shook her head slowly. "It doesn't hurt anymore. But Zhang Yi Hai, why do you like to pinch my cheek so much?"

“I just thought that you are too cute. I can’t help myself from pinching your cheek a bit.”

The slight anger in her subsided and her heart was filled with something else.

Zhang Yi Hai flashed a smile. Without a warning, he leaned over to kiss her lips.

It has been a long day and too many things had happened. From the moment he saw her on the street, he had always wanted to kiss her. However, trying to spend his time with his girlfriend today was not that easy.

When he finally gets his chance to spend his time with her, something happened, causing a misunderstanding between them.

Now that he finally had his chance, of course, Zhang Yi Hai was not going to let her go easily. As his lips touched hers, the fire that he has been trying so hard to suppress was ignited and could not be stopped.

Zhang Yi Hai ran his finger through Fang Su Jin’s long hair as he pulled her closer to him in their kiss.

He nibbled at her lips, coaxing her to open her mouth so that he can deepen their kisses. Once she finally gave in, Zhang Yi Hai let out a satisfied sigh.

Tomorrow, Fang Su Jin will return to Y City again. Although he still had his chance to see her again before she go, Zhang Yi Hai knew that it would be hard to kiss her again tomorrow.

Her parents were around and Fang Su Jin would want to keep their relationship a secret until he graduated.

Fang Su Jin felt a little breathless from his kisses. Her cheek was hot and her body grew soft. It felt as if he was sucking her strength and there was nothing else she could do other than lean to him for support.

Her boyfriend was too domineering!

Her mind went blank. At this time, Fang Su Jin could only tell herself to focus on her breathing before she might be suffocated.

After a long time, Zhang Yi Hai finally pulled away.

Fang Su Jin leaned weakly in his embrace while trying to catch her breath. As her ears were pressed to his chest, Fang Su Jin could hear the rhythmic sound of his heartbeat.

It seemed that his heart too would beat loud and fast when he was with her.

Zhang Yi Hai pulled away to look at her face. Seeing her reddened cheek made him smile. He realized that his mind might be filled with Fang Su Jin.

How was he going to survive staying in Capital City while his girlfriend was living in a different city?

He could probably return on the weekend just to see his girlfriend again, but thinking of the various assignment waiting for him made him hesitate. He had already delayed some matters because he was accompanying her in Capital City for a week.

If he did not study well and get a good result, then Fang Su Jin would be unhappy. Then, how was he supposed to reveal their relationship to others?

At this time, Zhang Yi Hai wished that the two of them were the same age. Not because he thought that Fang Su Jin was older than him. But if he was her age, then, he can be with her in the open. How great it would be to walk around without worrying that someone was going to see them?