

Love So Sweet 464

464 Why are You Pinching Me?

After running into Ji Xin Xin at the restaurant, the couple decided to spend their time together in Zhang Yi Hai's apartment.

When it was late, Zhang Yi Hai would then send his girlfriend to the hotel so that she could get some rest. However, Zhang Yi Hai also thought that this way was inconvenient.

It would be good if Fang Su Jin could stay at his apartment. This way, it would not tire his girlfriend to walk back and forth.

As the thought came to his mind, Zhang Yi Hai began to think about renovating the guest's room so that Fang Su Jin could use it the next time she came to visit.

Their relationship was still new, but it would not do any harm if he prepared things earlier, right?

It was not as if his parents were going to stay over at his apartment anyway. Each time that the family come to Capital City, they would always stay at the hotel.

After spending two days together, it was time for Fang Su Jin to head to F Country for her exhibition.

Early in the morning, Zhang Yi Hai headed to the airport to send his girlfriend.

This time, Fang Su Jin would spend a week in F Country for her exhibition.

.....

Fang Su Jin's heart was aching as she thought that they could only see each other again until she returned from F Country.

After spending two days in Capital City with Zhang Yi Hai, she was reluctant to part with him again.

At this time, she was glad that she decided to let Zhang Yi Hai reveal their relationship after Zhang Li Xue's wedding.

Just like Zhang Yi Hai, Fang Su Jin too hoped that they could date without having to worry that they were going to run into someone they knew.

Zhang Yi Hai accompanied Fang Su Jin at the airport for a while.

Then, he came up with an excuse that he had to attend a class in the afternoon to send her into the departure hall earlier.

Zhang Yi Hai watched as his girlfriend entered the hall and waved his hand. His expression was as if he was unwilling to part with her for a week.

However, as soon as Fang Su Jin's figure could no longer be seen, Zhang Yi Hai rushed to the locker area to grab his bag that he had kept there a day earlier.

Then, he walked into the departure hall and headed to the gate. Fortunately, he packed lightly and did not need to check in his baggage at the counter.

Zhang Yi Hai could see Fang Su Jin's figure as she was waiting for the time to board the plane. He stood away from her so that his girlfriend could not see him.

Now that she was alone, Fang Su Jin continued to play with her phone without bothering to look up once. Zhang Yi Hai could feel his phone vibrating in his pocket. However, he had no plan to reply to any of her messages.

After all, he was supposedly heading back to his campus to attend his class.

After waiting for a while, the plane arrived and the staff finally called the passenger to line up before they could enter.

Zhang Yi Hai waited for his girlfriend to go through the checkpoint before he joined the queue.

Because he wanted to give someone a surprise, Zhang Yi Hai became the last person in the queue.

Zhang Yi Hai managed to enter the plane smoothly.

A mischievous smile turned up on his lips as he finally found his seat.

From where he stood, he could already see his girlfriend sitting alone while looking out the window.

He approached her slowly and put his bag in the compartment.

Seeing that his girlfriend continued to look out the window made him chuckle.

He wondered just how would she react the moment she find out that he was going to accompany her to F Country.

As the thought came to his mind, Zhang Yi Hai leaned over and spoke, "Excuse me, Miss, I think you are in my seat."

Fang Su Jin turned around when she heard his voice. Her expression froze the moment she saw her boyfriend standing in front of her.

Zhang Yi Hai watched his girlfriend's shocked expression and smiled.

Without waiting for her to reply, he then slid into the empty seat and pretended to check on his seatbelt. He could sense that Fang Su Jin was still staring at him.

After a while, Zhang Yi Hai finally turned to his girlfriend again. The corner of his lips tilted up into a smile. "Su Jin, are you that shock to see me here?"

Fang Su Jin stretched her hand and pinched her boyfriend in his arms.

His brow furrowed. Zhang Yi Hai looked at her hand and chuckled. "Why are you pinching me?" Zhang Yi Hai was amused.

It seemed that a certain someone was still in disbelief to see him on the plane. But, why was she pinching him? Shouldn't she be pinching her arms instead? If it hurt, then she would know that she was not dreaming.

As the thought came to his mind, Zhang Yi Hai began to pinch his girlfriend on the cheek. "Now, would you believe that I am real?"

Fang Su Jin felt the light pain around her cheek and finally believed that the person in front of her was indeed her boyfriend.

Her eyes widened in surprise and Fang Su Jin let out a loud gasp. Then, she started to look around the plane before she finally looked at her boyfriend again. "Zhang Yi Hai, why are you here?"

Didn't they part at the departure hall earlier?

When did his boyfriend follow her?

"Su Jin, I'm going to accompany you to F Country. Why do you think I'm on the same flight as you?"

It took her a while to process this information. Then, Fang Su Jin recalled another important matter. "What about your class?"

His lips started to twitch. It seemed that his girlfriend was really worried about his study.