

Love So Sweet 513

513 Helping You Recharge

After changing her clothes, Fang Su Jin went out with Zhang Yi Hai together. Perhaps, Fang Su Jin was worried that someone might recognize her with Zhang Yi Hai. Because of that, Fang Su Jin wore a cap to hide half of her face.

Zhang Yi Hai gave her a lookover and chuckled, knowing very well what she was trying to do.

“What is it? You don’t think that I look good?” Fang Su Jin looked at her clothes to check if there was something wrong with the way she was dressed.

His lips curled into a smile. “No. I think you’re very cute.”

No matter what she was wearing, Fang Su Jin was always adorable. It was just that... Zhang Yi Hai thought that it would be a little troublesome to find his chance to steal a few kisses.

Seeing that his girlfriend was still worrying about her dress up, Zhang Yi Hai leaned over to kiss her lips, hoping that it would distract her mind.

Just as he had thought, it was a little troublesome for him to steal a kiss. The cap was blocking her face and because of his height, he have to bend down a little more.

Fang Su Jin looked at the person who had just kissed her and just like that, she stopped worrying about her dress.

“Come on.” Zhang Yi Hai stretched his hand to grab Fang Su Jin’s tightly. “We should go out now before it’s too late.”

Zhang Yi Hai drove over to a slightly farther place from his campus. The two of them went to have lunch at a restaurant together.

After thinking about it for a long time, Fang Su Jin decided to go to an indoor playground. There were a lot of activities that they both could try.

In the past, she has never had the chance to visit this place. Fang Su jin heard that this place was quite popular among young couples.

It was said that the activities were fun and would help couples to strengthen their relationship.

Fortunately, they were both dressed up appropriately for the place.

There were a few obstacles that they have to go through together. Each time, Zhang Yi Hai would stay to encourage his girlfriend.

Fang Su Jin was worrying that she might fall, while Zhang Yi Hai was telling her that she could rely on him and that he would not let her fall.

The frightened look on her face as they crossed the thin bridge was too adorable. She was scared to go over, but Fang Su Jin was still laughing.

Fortunately, Fang Su Jin gritted her teeth and trusted him, In the end, she managed to cross over successfully.

After playing around for a while, Fang Su Jin stayed in the corner of the room, with no energy left. She thought that the playground look easy. After all, there seemed to be a few kids playing around the playground as well. But after experiencing everything for herself, Fang Su Jin realized that they were not as easy as she thought.

Looking at the young people who continued to play around the playground made her start to wonder if she was getting old. Looking around, it seemed that the people who came to play here were younger than her. Perhaps, this type of dating was not suitable for her.

A bottle of drinking water appeared in front of her.

Fang Su Jin raised her head and saw that Zhang Yi Hai was holding the bottle to give her. The bottle cap was already loosened. Fang Su Jin took a few mouthfuls of drinks and spoke, "Thank you."

"Tired?"

Fang Su Jin nodded.

"Then, do you want to go home?"

Fang Su Jin looked at the time and shook her head. "It's still too early." She wanted to stay around with Zhang Yi Hai a little longer.

"Let's go home after dinner."

Zhang Yi Hai nodded. "Alright." He walked around his girlfriend and hugged her from behind.

"What are you doing?" Fang Su Jin giggled as she tried to turn to look at him. However, Zhang Yi Hai was holding her tightly.

"Helping you to recharge." He flashed a smile before kissing her cheek. "What do you want to do now? Should we go on another round?"

Fang Su Jin had a look of horror on her face. The obstacle was quite tiring and she did not wish to go on another round. As she looked around, Fang Su Jin saw the basketball court at the center of the playground.

"Why don't you go and play basketball with those guys?" Fang Su Jin asked. "I haven't seen you play in a long time."

The last time she saw him play, it was Zhang Li Xue who had dragged her along. Back then, she had not paid too much attention to Zhang Yi Hai. However, she could remember that Zhang Yi Hai was always the brightest among the others.

Zhang Yi Hai observed his girlfriend for a while. Then, he pulled her with him and let her sit down near the basketball court.

After speaking with the teenagers at the court, Zhang Yi Hai went to his girlfriend again and let her hold his belongings. "Su Jin, don't forget to cheer for me."

Fang Su Jin giggled. She pulled the front of his shirt and pecked him on the lips. A shy look appeared on her face. "Well, this is for good luck."

Zhang Yi Hai chuckled. He went to the center and joined a few young boys to play basketball.

Fang Su Jin sat at the side while watching him.

In the beginning, Zhang Yi Hai was silently observing the boy's skills. Once he had seen enough, Zhang Yi Hai mercilessly attacked and scored some points.

Fang Su Jin had always thought that Zhang Li Xue looked the coolest whenever she was on the basketball court. But seeing her boyfriend, her mind started to tilt to his side.

The way he held the ball and went through the other players and the way he shot the ball was too cool. Her heart fluttered.

Fang Su Jin began to understand the reason why the girls at her school liked to watch the boys' games.
