

Love So Sweet 524

524 What Happened to Your Car?

Father Fang stood at the door with his eyes squinted as he looked at the car in front of him. He had a feeling that this car was familiar, but because it was dark at night and he could not see the plate number, Father Fang was unable to recognize the car quickly.

After staring at it for a long time, Father Fang finally stepped out, wanting to see just who was coming over to his house at this time.

“My father is coming!” Fang Su Jin started to panic. She grabbed her bag and scrambled to get off the vehicle. “Yi Hai, you have to leave quickly!”

Zhang Yi Hai looked at his girlfriend’s expression and thought that her frightened expression was quite adorable.

Fang Su Jin pushed the door open just in time as her father approached. “Dad!” An awkward smile appeared on her face. Fang Su Jin closed the door behind her and tried to block her father from approaching. “Dad! Why are you out here?”

Unfortunately for Fang Su Jin, her father managed to look into the car just a few seconds before she could slam the door shut. “Hey... is that Zhang Yi Hai?”

The corner of her lips began to twitch.

Fang Su Jin did not know why her father’s eyes would turn sharp whenever Zhang Yi Hai was around. She thought that she had hidden it well, but her father was still able to notice the person in the car.

Fang Su Jin began to wonder if her father had Zhang Yi Hai’s radar that would allow him to detect him whenever Zhang Yi Hai was nearby.

Otherwise, how could she explain the reason why her father would always come out whenever Zhang Yi Hai sent her home?

“Dad.” Fang Su Jin held her father’s arms, making him turn around. “Why are you out here?”

“I was waiting for you to come home. Your mom said you went out to help Li Xue with her wedding. You went out early morning and had not returned home after a long time. How can I not be worried?”

Father Fang removed his daughter’s hand from his arm and turned around to look at the car again. “Su Jin, that is Zhang Yi Hai, right?”

Fang Su Jin wanted to cry. She hoped that Zhang Yi Hai would drive away and leave quickly. However, the car was still there, not moving.

Just then, Zhang Yi Hai alighted from the driver’s seat and walked over to the father and daughter. He glanced at his girlfriend before turning to Father Fang to greet him politely. “Hello, uncle.”

Father Fang’s eyes lit up when he saw Zhang Yi Hai in front of him. “Hey, it’s really you.”

"I'm sorry. Just now, Sister Fang has been accompanying my sister to help her with her wedding matters," Zhang Yi Hai said. "We did not expect that the matter could take a long time. Because of that, I could only send Sister Fang home now."

Father Fang started to laugh. "It's fine. It's fine. It's good that Su Jin is helping your sister with the wedding. The two of them have been friends for a long time after all." He looked at the car again, but because of its tinted glass, Father Fang could not see what was going on inside. "Is your sister in as well?"

"No. I dropped my sister at the hospital as she wanted to visit her husband," Zhang Yi Hai said. He sneak another look at his girlfriend and smiled.

Fang Su Jin was too worried that her father might be able to find out that they were dating. But looking at her father now, it doesn't seem that he knew anything.

Zhang Yi Hai nodded. "Then, uncle, I have to go back first."

"So fast? Why don't you come in and have some tea first?" Father Fang was not willing to see the young man leaving so quickly. He hoped that Zhang Yi Hai would come in and talk to him for a while longer.

Actually, Zhang Yi Hai did not mind going in and talking to Father Fang for a while. After all, he was dating his daughter and wanted to make a good impression on Father Fang.

Zhang Yi Hai wanted to show Father Fang that even though he was young, he was good enough to be with Fang Su Jin.

Later, when they finally let others know about their relationship, Father Fang might have some rejection because of his young age. Zhang Yi Hai hoped that Father Fang would remember that he would be a good person for his daughter.

"Mmm... Thank you, but I have to reject it. Uncle, it's already late. I shouldn't disturb you and Auntie's rest," Zhang Yi Hai said.

Fang Su Jin tugged at her father's arms again. "Dad, it's not easy for Yi Hai to come home. He should be busy helping his family before the wedding."

Zhang Yi Hai glanced at his girlfriend before lowering his gaze to hide his smile.

Hearing his daughter's words, Father Fang could only choose to forget about inviting Zhang Yi Hai in for a chat.

Father Fang heaved a faint sigh. "Then, Yi Hai, remember to drive slowly."

Zhang Yi Hai nodded. "Uncle, rest well."

Father Fang stood in front of the house with his daughter as they both watched Zhang Yi Hai leave the area. It was only after the car was no longer could be seen that the father and daughter retracted their gazes.

The two then looked at each other, wondering why were the others still around at the door.

Father Fang coughed and looked away. Then, he turned to his daughter again as if he remembered something. "Su Jin, didn't you drive to Zhang's family house? What happened to your car?"

This was the reason it took him a while to see that it was Zhang Yi Hai's car that was parked outside his house. In the beginning, Father Fang was expecting to see his daughter's car.

"Zhang Yi Hai volunteered to drive us since he was free," Fang Su Jin said. "I left it at their home. Don't worry. I will go and pick it up tomorrow."

As she remembered that her car was still parked at their house, Fang Su Jin realized that she will have reason to see Zhang Yi Hai again tomorrow.
