

Love So Sweet 553

553 Let's Have a Chat

Dinner with the Fang family was quite amiable.

Mother Fang chatted with Zhang Yi Hai and continued to feed him with food. However, Father Fang was watching him silently. The furrow between his brow did not disappear for a long time.

After observing his daughter and Zhang Yi Hai for a while, Father Fang would see that the two of them were quite close.

Zhang Yi Hai might be older than Fang Su Jin. However, when they sat side by side, his timid daughter would seem childish.

Suddenly, he seemed to recall seeing Zhang Yi Hai sending his daughter back a few times.

Back then, he had never suspected anything.

Father Fang thought that the only reason Zhang Yi Hai was sending his daughter back was due to his sister's request.

At this time, Father Fang realized that he was too naive.

He even asked Zhang Yi Hai to come into the house and have a chat with him!

Father Fang glanced at Zhang Yi Hai displeased, as he thought of this matter. He began to wonder whether this boy was aiming for his daughter for a long time.

Mother Fang looked at her husband and sighed.

The unhappy look on his face was too apparent. Mother Fang poked at her husband's arms a few times, reminding him not to look so sour in front of their guest. However, he remained the same.

She began to wonder just what it is that make her husband unhappy.

Mother Fang found this situation quite amusing.

Not too long ago, it was her husband who often pestered this young man to chat with him. Now that he was having a meal with their family, her husband has been quiet for a long time.

As for her, Mother Fang was quite satisfied with Zhang Yi Hai. After all, this young man was someone who she had watched as he grew up. The Zhang's family teaching was good and their children were all well-behaved.

Moreover, all this time, she has been urging her daughter to be in a relationship. It was only after that matter with Lin Fang happened that she finally slow down.

Now that her daughter was with someone, how can Mother Fang be unhappy? As long as she brought home a guy, that is good enough, right?

“How long have you two been together,” Mother Fang asked, finding another topic for the to talk about. From the corner of her eyes, Mother Fang saw her husband look up, seeming interested in this topic.

Zhang Yi Hai exchanged a look with his girlfriend and smiled before answering. “We have been together for five months.”

At this time, Father Fang seemed to realize something important. After staying silent for a long time, he finally spoke up. “Are you saying that the two of you were together when you were in F Country?”

Fang Su Jin was startled to hear her father speak for the first time. The bowl of soup in her hand tilted a little bit, causing the soup to spill. Fortunately, she was quick enough to stop it.

Zhang Yi Hai looked at Father Fang calmly. “Yes. We were already together for a while.”

Father Fang inhaled a deep breath, wanting to scold them. However, his wife was tugging at his sleeves and shooting him a look. Father Fang knew what that look implied.

If he dared to embarrass Zhang Yi Hai, there was a chance that he might have to sleep in his study!

He then recalled that Zhang Li Xue and her husband were in F Country as well. Knowing that the two were not alone finally made him feel more at ease.

“So, it has been that long.” Mother Fang was surprised. She thought that the two of them had gotten together only recently. “Then, it was a long-distance relationship?”

“Mhm...” Zhang Yi Hai nodded.

Father Fang was satisfied, knowing that the two of them did not have much time to spend together as Zhang Yi Hai was in Capital City to study. However, he then recalled that Zhang Yi Hai had finished his study and had returned to Y City.

It seemed that he would be seeing this young man a lot after this.

“Did our Su Jin chase you?” Mother Fang asked. She looked at her daughter and smiled.

“No. Auntie, it was me who was chasing Su Jin,” Zhang Yi Hai admitted.

Father Fang narrowed his eyes at the way Zhang Yi Hai was addressing his daughter.

Meanwhile, Mother Fang was in disbelief. “Really?”

She seemed to recall that Zhang Yi Hai never had a girlfriend before. She did not think that this young and aloof young man would be the one to chase her daughter.

It was more believable for her daughter to chase Zhang Yi Hai instead.

“Have you always liked our Su Jin?” Mother Fang asked.

“Mom...” Hearing this question made Fang Su Jin shy. She looked at her mother with a pleading gaze, hoping that she would stop asking questions that would make her embarrassed.

“What?” Mother Fang looked at her daughter and batted her eyes as if she did not understand what her daughter meant.

Zhang Yi Hai and Fang Su Jin knew each other for a long time. She thought that it was interesting that the two of them had only dated recently.

"It's not like that," Zhang Yi Hai said. "In the past, I always view her as a friend to my sister. It was only recently that I started to view her differently. Recently, because of my sister, the two of us get to spend a lot of time together. I guess the feeling came after interacting with her a few more times."

Mother Fang continued to ask a few more questions about their relationship. This made Fang Su Jin want to run away and hide her face. It made her wonder just how could Zhang Yi Hai answer each question with a cool look on his face.

Was he not embarrassed?

After the meal, Mother Fang asked Zhang Yi Hai to stay in the living room while she was going to prepare some snacks. Of course, Fang Su Jin was pulled into the kitchen to answer some questions.

Zhang Yi Hai was texting his sister about the progress when he noticed the shadow blocking the light in front of him. He looked up and saw that Father Fang was standing in front of him. Zhang Yi Hai stood up and called, "Uncle."

Father Fang coughed. The look on his face was still unfriendly. "You... come with me for a while. Let's have a chat."
