

Love Will 446

Chapter 446

Brandon, why do you have such a bad temper?" Winnie stopped behind Brandon and said with a wronged expression.

"Be tactful and go away immediately! Savanna is undergoing surgery inside. If anything happens to her, I will let you pay the cost."

"She is just giving birth. Why are you so nervous?" Winnie shamelessly reached out her hand, wanting to be intimate with Brandon.

Brandon suddenly turned around and his eyes seemed to be burning.

"She could have given birth to a child safely but she was bleeding because of you!"

Brandon's entire body was trembling because of anger. His originally sharp facial features now carried a vicious aura, as if he could pierce through anyone at any time.

"I just miss you so much that I want to see you," Winnie took steps back and said pitifully.

"Our relationship has come to an end. Why are you still so stubborn?"

"Why? I love you so much, and I became like this for you. Why do you say you don't want me?"

Winnie hysterically roared in the corridor.

Brandon was not moved at all. Instead, he felt that she was making a fuss. "This is the hospital. I advise you to be quiet."

Winnie instantly gave up and shouted pitifully, "Brandon..."

"Do you want to get out of here yourself, or do you want me to get the security guards to carry you?" Brandon did not want to be entangled with her anymore and directly asked her to go away.

"Since you don't like me, then I'll leave," Winnie did not dare to be rash in this situation and said pitifully

The sound of crutches hitting the ground sounded and Brandon never turned to look. His eyes stared unblinkingly at the door of the operating room...

The woman Brandon loved the most in the world was undergoing a life-and-death test inside.

There was a crashing sound.

The door of the operating room was opened.

"Who is the patient's family member?" the doctor asked anxiously.

"I'm her husband," said Brandon.

"The patient is bleeding. The situation is critical. Please sign on this."

doctor handed over the world was collapsing. He signed his name on it as quickly as stroke by him was extremely want her alive," he said, shaking as he handed the

he had dreamed of for a long time, everyone was slightly was gone, they

person to replace Savanna in door of the

this time, the doctor came out once and asked him to was powerful in the business world, in the
he could stood

she experienced now was

the future, he would definitely make up for Another hour had passed.

two hours. Savanna had already been sent in for three body was tense. The remaining poison in his thud, his vision went black and he

"Savanna, how are you?"

woke up with a

he woke up, he looked around and found himself in the ward. He immediately removed the infusion needle

Where is nurse station and grabbed a nurse to frightened by the hostility all over his body, and her eyes were red. "I'm sorry, sir. I don't know who Thompson. Check which ward Savanna is in

The nurse cried out.

scene was once

Rex came

seen his savior

Savanna? How is she?"

many hardships. The child is fine," Rex calmly said with fine." Brandon breathed a ward is Savanna currently

"She left," Rex replied.

"Where is she?"

know." Rex shook his head. "She is not is a pregnant woman. She has just given birth and is so weak. Where can she go?" Brandon instantly became irritable, and his eyes turned no right

his collar was lifted up, and Brandon clenched his fists as