

Lycan Queen

Chapter 13: Unforgettable Bliss

Conrad starts looking around the closet, "Those shoes look way too big for your feet and those pants are way longer than your whole body."

"Yea I told Soph I wanted to have some stuff here for you when you stay over and she went a little crazy. But I'm grateful because I had no ideas what your sizes were or your style so she really helped me out. Also I got you something I hope you don't mind." I say with a nervous giggle.

"Baby girl you can use that black card for whatever you want. You could even buy a car with it if you wanted and I wouldn't care."

I stand up and pull the box off the dresser that has the watch in it.

"I noticed you didn't wear one, Soph took me into a shop she said you would like told me to pick the one I wanted for you. I just wasn't allowed to look at or ask for the price."

Conrad opens the box and just stares at the watch.

"It's a skeleton watch, you can see all the gears and things working on the inside." Conrad lightly runs his thumb over the glass of the watch. "Do you like it?"

"I love it, no one besides my parents has ever bought me something because they simply just wanted to. I've seen a few ads for these but I've never taken the time to look at them up close."

"Well there were multiple security guards in the store so I honestly didn't want to know how much it cost."

He takes the little pillow looking thing out of the box, slides off the watch and tries it on.

"Oh! You look hot wearing a watch" I said to him.

"Thank you baby girl, this gift is really great." He leans over and gives me a kiss.

We hear the doorbell ring letting us know our food is here. Conrad gets up and walks out of the room as I get up and follow him out to the kitchen.

After we ate I started cleaning up and told Conrad to go relax, take a shower, pick us out a movie to watch together. I was done cleaning up the kitchen and went into the room grabbing my change of clothes when Conrad walked out in some basketball shorts and no shirt. Chest on full display for me to see.

He walked over and gave me a hug, "Don't be too long in there, beautiful."

He gave me a kiss and moved to go lay down on the bed. I go into the bathroom closing the door behind me. I started the shower and waited for the water to get to the right temperature. I step in, the warm water feels good along my skin as I do my normal cleaning routine and get out. I brush my teeth, blow dry my hair and go ahead and run the straightener through it quickly so I don't have to do it tomorrow. Since according to Soph my Luna duties start tomorrow. I grab the clothes I chose to bring in with me to wear to bed. This was one of the few new night clothes outfits that covered the most compared to the other outfits Soph bought me. I slipped the black satin tank over my head. It had lace for straps as it followed the neck line into a V shape. I held up the satin shorts that went with the tank top. Are you supposed to wear underwear with these or not?

I wasn't sure so I put on a pair of black lacie ones that matched the lace on the top. I slid the shorts on, they were already pretty short but they came up higher on the outside of my thighs. As I looked at myself in the mirror, without a doubt I had the body for this type of outfit but I just didn't have the confidence for it.

I walk to the door, my breathing starts to quicken, my heart is about to beat out of my chest as I reach for the door handle. I can hit the field in the highest level championship game without even thinking, but I can't walk out of this stupid bathroom. I turn to my left, put my back on the wall and slide down till I'm sitting on the floor. I pulled my knees up to my chest, put my head down on my knees and started taking deep breaths trying to calm myself down. After a few minutes I hear a light tap on the door.

"Baby girl are you okay? I can hear your heart beating way faster than it should be."

"Yes...No...Maybe...I'm not sure."

I hear a little bit of shuffling and can tell Conrad has sat down outside of the bathroom door. I look down and see he's sliding the tips of his fingers under the door.

"Want to talk about it?"

I take my hand and lay it on top of his and lacing my fingertips with his as best as I could. As soon as my hand touches his I instantly start to calm down.

"That's it baby girl, just breathe with me."

I just laid my head back against the wall continuing to take deep breaths. I hadn't gotten this worked up in years. My heart rate was finally almost back to normal. I look down at our hands laying my head on the wall on my left, I start rubbing one of my fingers along one of his. Oh wonderful Moon Goddess I don't know if you can hear humans, but I will forever be grateful for this man you blessed me with.

"Better?"

"Almost"

"Can you tell me what happened before I rip this door off the hinges to get you in my arms. This is about to kill me having this door between us."

"Promise you'll stay where you are?"

"Yeah baby girl I won't go anywhere."

With my head still laying against the wall. I reached up grabbing the doorknob and turned it. As the door slowly opened, I saw Conrad sitting the exact same way I am just opposite of me so he is facing me. I let the door swing open till it bumped into my legs that were right behind the door. When I first opened the door Conrad had a very concerned expression on his face, but as we sat there staring at each other it slowly softened. I let go of the door with my hand and placed it back on Conrad's that was still laying on the floor. He turned his hand so mine was now cradled inside his and he started rubbing light calming circles on the back of my hand with his thumb.

"Please tell me what happened baby girl." Conrad said with a pleading look on his face.

"I panicked"

"Yeah, I could tell. Why did you panic?"

He quickly broke the eye contact we had been holding since I opened the door. He quickly took in what he could see of me wearing through the cracked door. His cheeks flushed slightly.

"Oh" He said with a small reassuring smile.

"I've never done this before." I told him, giving a small shrug as I felt the blush flood my cheeks.

"It's okay baby girl, neither have I. I've got nerves of my own going crazy. If you're not ready yet that's totally okay, and when you are, we will figure it all out together. There's absolutely no rush, we have the rest of our lives to figure it all out."

"What are you nervous about?"

"Well I have always had a lot of control over my emotions, Axel and I have always been able to work together to handle any situation we are thrown into. That was until you literally bumped into our lives. When it comes to you, he and I both fight hard for control. He's an animal, he's solely driven by those instincts and I'm our human side so I see reason and potential danger that can come to you if he gets full control while you're still human.

It took a lot for him this morning when he finally got to meet you. I was very proud of him, he trusted me to help him control those instincts and he also trusted Anders. Lycan's are very possessive so under any other circumstances he would have attacked Anders with the intent to kill because he was so close to you and standing between the two of you but he didn't. I'm scared I won't be strong enough to maintain control and Axel hurt you." Conrad said in a whisper.

I turn so the door would swing all the way open. Conrad leans forward catching my legs as I turn back to where they originally were. He slid his other arm around my back, picked me up and placed me on his lap. He wrapped his arms around me as I placed my head on his chest.

We sat on the floor in silence for a while. Conrad wrapped one arm tightly around me as he used the other one to help lift us off the floor. He walked us over to our bed, climbed onto it and settled us together in the middle. Conrad laid himself slightly propped up with the pillows on his back, with his arm around me as I snuggled into his side with my head on his chest. He grabbed the remote, started flipping through the channels and stopped on the movie Winter's Bone. As we lay there I can feel Conrad's fingers start to rub the fabric of my outfit along my hip. I could tell it was absentmindedly because he was so focused on the movie.

"I could never do that to my kids. Leave them all alone with little to no money, then knowingly take their house out from under them like that."

I raise my head so I'm looking up at him. "I think you'll make a great dad."

He looks down at me. "You think?"

"Absolutely, you're kind, sweet, hard working and extremely patient. Also you would look really sexy holding our little Lyke." I say with a knowing smile.

"I know you're going to make an amazing mom." Conrad turned the tv off when the movie ended, he scooted down turning onto his side to face me.

I laid my arm over his side and he wrapped his other arm around me. He started rubbing his hand along my back.

"You really like the feeling of that satin material don't you?" I let out a little giggle.

"Yeah it feels good, feels even better because you're wearing it." he says with a chuckle.

His small laughs always bring a smile to my face. I gently rub the tip of my nose on his chest then leave a kiss on the same spot. He takes his hand and starts rubbing my back under my shirt. Every now and then he would make longer passes using just the tips of his fingers going down my back, down over my hip to the back of my knee and back up. Leaving goosebumps along my skin. I started moving the hand that was laying over his side, I was gently rubbing my fingertips on his back in little circles. I heard him let out a sigh of contentment. I felt him kiss the top of my head.

I looked up to look at him to find him already looking down at me. He gave me a little smile, that was all it took for me, all fear was gone. I used my foot against the bed to slowly push myself up towards him pressing my lips to his. His hand had stopped rubbing, it was now on my lower back gently pulling me closer to him. I take my hand from around his back and wrap my hand around the back of his neck. As we continue to kiss, he starts moving his hand again along my back, slowly sliding his hand down and letting it linger on the left side of my butt. I feel his tongue along my bottom lip asking for entrance, which I instantly oblige.

As he's getting lost in his kiss, his grip on my butt and back of my thigh is slowly becoming less and less gentle. We start having a little battle of who gets dominance over who, our full on make out session that is becoming hotter by the second. I finally win, taking full advantage of being able to explore his mouth and still completely loving how his tongue feels on mine. I slide my other arm out from underneath me, prop myself using this angle to deepen my kiss with him. He grabs a handful of my butt as we both are loving the feeling of our bodies pressed against each other.

In a movement so fast, he grabbed the hem of my shorts in one swift motion, pulled them off and threw them over his shoulder onto the floor behind him. I let out a small giggle. He takes my face in his hand, gives me two swift kisses on my lips then starts leaving a trail down my jaw bone and to my neck as his hand starts back down my body causing goosebumps to rise all over my body. He let out a growl as his hand came in contact with the lace on my hip of the black thong I was wearing. I instantly froze. He noticed my slight physical change. Moving his hand, placing it gently on the back of my shirt and gently letting the tip of his nose run a line back up my neck and chin so he could come face to face with me.

I place my hand on his cheek, I look into his eyes searching for the one I want to talk too.

"Give me a second okay." I whisper to him.

He gives me a quick nod.

I touch my nose to his, "Axel" I say in a small voice as I'm still looking into Conrad's eyes.

The light grey slowly changes into honey letting me know Axel is there.

"Hey my handsome Lycan!"

He gives me a small whine.

"I've never done this before, I'm really scared and I really need you to let Conrad have control the entire time okay. You will get your time when you and Conrad can mark me, but for the first time I really need Conrad in full control okay?"

He gives me a little whimper.

"Hey Handsome! I didn't say you couldn't watch" I say, giving him a little wink.

He gave me a little growl letting me know he liked that idea. He leaned down and touched his nose to where my heart is and then leaned back up looking at me. I gave him a soft kiss.

"I love you too."

He put his nose to mine and stayed there as his eyes faded back to the light grey letting me know Conrad was in control again.

"You are so good to us. He said he isn't some kind of creepy pervert so he won't watch. He will give us some time alone."

"That's very sweet of him."

Conrad slowly rolls us so that I'm now laying on my back and he is supporting himself over me and has one of his legs between mine causing butterflies to erupt in my stomach. He leans down and kisses me on the left side of my neck not far above where it connects to my shoulder causing my body to shudder.

"That's where my mark will go." He says in a husky voice.

He runs his warm hand down the side of my body warming my cool skin, causing tingles to run along where he touches me. He is intently watching as his hand moves over every curve of my body. The feeling of his eyes on my body causes something to stir inside of me. I close my eyes tilting my head back as my breathing quickens. When he gets to my knee he lifts it up so my inner thigh is flush against the outside of his. He grabs the outside my thigh as he starts to kiss down the center of my chest and along the v shape of my top.

My heart is beating so fast as those same tingles are now spreading all over my chest. He moves his hand hooking the lace of my panties and slowly slides them off as an unfamiliar desire fills my core. I take my hands running them along his chest and wrap them around his back pulling my chest to his as I start to kiss and bite his neck. Conrad's chest started vibrating as he let out a low growl, those same vibrations sending electricity through my body making me unbearably wet.

Conrad growled even louder "fuck you smell so good."

He takes both hands and slides them under my shirt pushing it up and over my head, putting his hands on the bed on either side of my shoulders.

"Goddess you're so beautiful" Conrad says as he looks at me laying underneath him.

He leans down gently running his lips down the center of my chest between my breasts as he grabs the side of my ribs with one hand. Sending another shiver through my body as my head tilts back and a light moan escapes through my lips. He rubs his mouth up the side of one of my breasts, taking my nipple into his mouth as his hand massages the other breast causing my back to arch as need takes over my whole body.

I put my hands on the sides of his head gently pulling him back up. I slightly sit up, as I start kissing along the curves of his chest. Running my hands down his sides pushing the waistband of his shorts down with his free hand he finished taking them off completely. Sliding his other leg between mine he lowered his body to mine. I wrapped my legs around him as he eased us both into an unforgettable bliss that couldn't have been more perfect.

Conrad

I slowly woke up noticing how quiet it was in the house this morning. Thoughts of the last two nights start filtering through my mind. Finally being mated with Blakely is the most amazing thing I have ever experienced. It amazes me how one person can change your entire life. I hear her soft and steady breathing next to me. I opened my eyes surprised to see she's still in bed, she's usually already bouncing around the kitchen with Soph by now.

I quietly roll over onto my side to look at my beautiful mate. She's laying on her stomach with her arms up under the pillow her head is laying on. I reach over and gently move the little bit of hair that is laying across her face. She looks so peaceful laying there with only the sheet covering the bottom half of her body. I slowly and quietly get out of bed, put on my shorts from the floor as I head to the kitchen to make coffee.

After a few minutes I hear the front door open as Soph and Anders walk in.

"How did you unlock the door?"

"Soph had a key made the other day." Anders says with a chuckle.

"Seriously Soph?"

"Well you've kept my best friend locked up in here all day yesterday so I had to do something to be able to see her."

"Oh my bad, I didn't know I couldn't spend the day alone with my mate."

Soph sticks her tongue out at me as she starts making her way to our room.

"Soph, let her sleep."

"What, you act like I'm going to go running in there and start jumping on the bed." Soph shoots back over her shoulder.

She suddenly stops, slowly turns around as a smile starts to appear across her face. "Wait, you smell different, you have a hint of honeysuckle mixed in with your usual scent. Oh my goddess you two mated!"

Soph got probably the most serious look on her I have ever seen. She walks over to me.

"If you hurt her I will break your face!"

We all start laughing

"No, I'm happy for you, I'm glad things are finally falling into place for you."

"Thanks Soph, she's my world."

"I know she is." Soph turns and walks into mine and Blake's room.