Chapter 143

Wang Weiping, deputy director of shennei, is a senior student. A doctor who has worked hard all his life. I will retire in another year. Although I am reluctant to give up, I can't forgive my age. After all, I am nearly 60.

At ordinary times, when someone wants to be on duty, he happily helps others on duty. In his words, "there are not many days to go to work. I can count them with my fingers!"

The old doctor is a good person, and the reputation of his patients and colleagues is good. Anyone who has a problem is also active in helping. Get along with many colleagues and friends who have a good relationship.

Now, although he doesn't care about the patient, he takes several young doctors and sometimes has to control him himself.

In hot weather, more people eat barbecue and drink beer outside, and more drunks. At five o'clock in the morning, Wang Weiping woke him up by phone. A cerebral infarction patient in the Department was not in good condition, so the lower level doctor called him.

He is old and sleeps less. He is worried that his wife can't sleep well. He wears his pants in the living room. In fact, his wife has been awakened " Hey! I'm going to work overtime again! " My wife looked at the mobile phone time and sighed.

The old man went downstairs and rode his bike to the hospital! At an intersection, the old man saw that he was going to cross. As a result, the motorcycle roaring from the side came close to him and found the old man. It was too late to brake and hit him directly!

The motorcycle also slipped! The old man lost consciousness in an instant! The motorcyclist was a young man. Behind him sat a little girl. They were full of wine. Although their faces were full of blood, the problem was not very big. Looking at the old man lying on the ground, the drunken young man was scared to wake up!

Call, 120 is coming! When the doctor in the emergency department looked, isn't this director Wang Weiping! Turn around and see where there is a figure. The old man is lying on the ground alone!

Alarm! Ring! It sounds particularly harsh in the quiet night sky in the early morning! Doctor Wang Weiping of the hospital was hit by a car! The emergency department shall report to the chief on duty first, and the general shift shall report to the president immediately.

President Ouyang also got up quickly and set out for the hospital. Wang Weiping's situation is not optimistic. The impact force is too large, the pelvic fracture is bleeding, and people have been in shock! The face was rubbed with blood and swollen badly.

Rescue! Ouyang's face is blue, and the police have come. It's the police's business to arrest the perpetrators, and the rescue is the hospital's business! The directors of two orthopaedic, extracerebral and intracardiac departments have been in place.

At this moment, even if you can't help, it's a force to stand at the door of the hospital's rescue room! More and more doctors know. Before it's time to go to work, almost all the doctors in the hospital have gone to the emergency department. If you don't come at this time, you'll be cutting yourself off from the doctor system!

Quiet! No one chatted. The doctor in the yard looked solemn and stirring! Lying inside is a colleague, a teacher, Wang Weiping, who was injured for working overtime.

"Must operate, operate immediately!" Gao Shijun, director of the first Department of orthopedics, and Wang Dehua, director of the second Department of orthopedics, reported to Ouyang.

After Wang Weiping's wife heard that her old man had a car accident, she directly fainted to the ground with perennial hypertension. The hospital doctor was afraid that something might happen to her due to stimulation and used sedative drugs, which would sleep in the Department of Cardiology.

The only child is in the south of China. He can't expect to be able to do it for a while. He has to sign for surgery! And the danger is high. No one in the family dares to sign.

Ouyang was livid and said, "prepare for the operation. I'll sign the operation consent! We can't let director Wang chill! Please do your best! "

Ordinary patients will not encounter two directors and have an operation at the same time, but this is the case now. Who will? They both want to go, for their colleagues! For the days and nights we worked together. Ouyang can't let anyone take the lead!

But who's in charge? The master knife has to sign the operation list again! Both of them take out their pens and sign. It's impossible to let anyone go. If they can't handle the other person well, they will be hurt. Face is sometimes particularly important for doctors at this level. Time could not be delayed. At this moment, Ouyang's style and political skills were incisively and vividly reflected. He slapped on the table and said, "you two are assistants. The main knife is given to Zhang Fan. Zhang Fan! "

"Here!" The crowd dodged a way. The doctors looked at Zhang Fan. Zhang Fan came out quickly. This kind of thing, even if you can't help, you have to help the field! Zhang Fan stayed outside the emergency room early.

"Pelvic fracture, massive bleeding. Shock! Our director Wang is very dangerous now. Do you have confidence? "

"Yes!"

"Say it out loud."

"Yes!" Zhang Fan raised the volume several times.

"In the operating room, director Gao and director Wang will be assistants. Let our young doctors grow up on your old shoulders! Director Wang lying in the hospital bed will also be very happy! " Ouyang stood on the steps and talked about a solemn and sad occasion. Everyone's blood was boiling.

Zhang Fan, who is a little famous in the surgical system at ordinary times, is completely famous in the hospital. The president entrusted the important task and the two directors acted as assistants. Can he be an ordinary little doctor?

On this occasion, there is no three or three, not to mention surgery, not even the courage to come forward!

"The operation will begin soon. Comrades, an old doctor who has worked in our hospital for most of his life and has made great contributions to our hospital. It is estimated that a lot of plasma will be used later. Those who can donate blood now go for physical examination and prepare to donate blood. I take the lead. This is neither an order nor a request, but a little kindness to an old colleague! "

The blood bank of the hospital is ischemic all year round. It has developed to the point that whoever uses blood will exchange it with blood donation certificate!

Rows of doctors and nurses lined up to take blood for testing! Ouyang took the lead. The director of the Laboratory Department refused to take Ouyang's blood for testing. After all, the old lady is not young, and the director is also a human spirit!

Ouyang forced him to take blood! There's no way, but he followed Ouyang to donate blood! One morning, you can see doctors and nurses in white coats donating blood.

Heart for heart! Although Lao Wang can't do everything and everyone likes it, most doctors and nurses admire him. His working attitude and way of life are a model for Chinese people.

See everyone is laughing, ha ha! No matter whether the doctors or nurses have no staffing, they are approachable and treat everyone equally. Whoever asks him, they try their best to help. The reputation accumulated over the years broke out on this day.

The hospital was so powerful that the reporter was moved by the news. Doctors and nurses holding their arms came out of the blood collection room one by one, and the reporter kept interviewing and taking photos! Of course, the most important person is Ouyang. Her style and concept of running the hospital have blown away the shadow left by Lao Huang.

Facing the reporter, Ouyang spoke forcefully. She talked about dedication instead of car accidents. How dedicated and approachable deputy director Wang Weiping is. How the hospital goes all out and how the party and the country are strong are all cliches anyway, but they are very good.

Lao Wang's wife is protected. Lao Wang's car accident is too exciting for the old lady. Lao Wang's son has boarded a plane to the frontier. On the phone, his father's life and death was entrusted to President Ouyang. Even if he doesn't say, he will shoulder this responsibility as a man of Ouyang.

The hospital is a special unit. Usually we compete with each other. There are many dirty things in private. You compete with each other and blush, but once this happens, you are particularly United. To contribute or donate blood. With the same caliber, we can tide over the difficulties together.
