

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1097

Song Tian was stunned. She had never thought that she could pick any song. However, on second thought, she recalled the news that she had seen in the past that Qiao Nian was Master Nie's disciple. Not as surprised, she lowered her head in embarrassment and her ears went red as she asked, "Any song is okay?"

Qiao Nian raised her eyebrows casually, a little valiant. "Sure."

Song Tian took a deep breath and revealed her thoughts in front of everyone. "I-I like Zhui Guang. I'm a fan. If possible, can I choose Zhui Guang's 'Nirvana'?"

The style of 'Nirvana' was very unique, and there were many technical requirements. Many other musicians tried to upload covers, but the effect was subpar.

This was why Zhui Guang was revered as a god by those self-made musicians.

She was just too awesome!

Qiao Nian was speechless.

Seeing that she didn't agree immediately, Song Tian thought that she was asking for too much. She quickly waved her hand and said, "No, it's okay. I'm just casually mentioning one. If it's inconvenient for you, just pretend that I didn't say anything. We'll use a song that you are comfortable with."

A song that she was comfortable with?

Qiao Nian supported her chin with her pale hand, her eyes flashing. After all, the tune Song Tian had just mentioned was convenient for her. It was just that it was a little too convenient...

She had thought that for the opening ceremony, she just had to play along and not take center stage. This way, she might not expose herself. Now that she looked at it, she was too optimistic.

"Did I say something wrong..." Seeing that she still didn't speak, Song Tian felt even more uneasy. She didn't even know where to put her hands. She was secretly annoyed at herself for being so stupid as to mention that difficult song. She wondered if Qiao Nian would think that she had done it on purpose.

She debated for a moment and was about to explain again.

That was when she heard the girl's calm and cold voice. "It's fine. 'Nirvana', right? Sure."

Song Tian was dumbfounded.

Sure?

She agreed so casually? Song Tian had to make sure she heard right.

Qiao Nian changed her posture and rested her arm on the table. Her snow-white fingertips tapped on the table as she looked at her and said, "But I don't have that much time. I can only find time to go through the process with you. I can probably rehearse four to five times, okay?"

Four or five times was her limit. She couldn't spare more time. Plus... it would mean more trouble.

She didn't like trouble.

"Alright." Song Tian nodded like a chick pecking at rice, afraid that Qiao Nian would go back on her word. She looked at her and smiled sweetly. "Then... I'll send you a message in advance to arrange a time. Are you in the group? Let's add each other on WeChat!"

Qiao Nian nodded and didn't waste any time. "Q is me. You can add me, I'll accept the request."

Song Tian had long wanted to add her as a friend, but because they had never met before, she was too embarrassed to add her for no reason.

Now that she had a valid reason, she happily took out her cell phone and added Qiao Nian. After adding her, she was afraid that Qiao Nian wouldn't recognize her. She added, "I'm the one with the Fortune Cat character as my profile picture."

Qiao Nian's cell phone rang. She took a look and saw that someone with a Fortune Cat profile picture had indeed added her.

She accepted the request and looked up again. "Alright, we've added each other."

Song Tian was so happy. She nodded and quickly said, "Then, it's settled. I'll arrange a time for you in advance. We'll rehearse together when you're free."

A few boys were extremely envious when they saw that she had added Qiao Nian as a friend. They suddenly looked at her. Unfortunately, they couldn't bring themselves to say that they wanted to add her as well. They could only envy Song Tian deep in their hearts.