

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1184

She was the kind of person who did not have much energy, to begin with. She naturally relaxed when she arrived at a territory that could reassure her.

Sleepiness followed.

At this moment, she forced herself to look up and hold on to her consciousness. She propped her cold white hand under her chin and sat like an old man. "Oh, I have a lawyer friend. He chatted with me before."

Qin Si: "... A lawyer friend?"

How f*cking awesome must a lawyer be to make Old Master Wei make a will? Qiao Nian spoke calmly, but Qin Si knew that the friend she was talking about was definitely not an ordinary person.

!!

However, after experiencing seeing Ye Lan at Lan Pavilion, he was already familiar with these things. He was not as agitated as in the beginning.

He only responded with an "oh" before turning his head to stare at her. The more he looked at her, the more he felt that Qiao Nian looked like an ordinary high school student. How could she be so awesome?!

He couldn't help but ask, "Sister Qiao... I know that you're the Miracle Doctor of Rao City. What's with Zhui Guang?"

Qiao Nian = Zhui Guang!

He had heard about this in the taxi to the provincial hospital.

The driver was a local from Beijing. He was probably the kind of person who liked to chat with others. Along the way, he was looking for a topic to talk about.

As he spoke, he started talking about the hot news online.

He said that the news had given him a headline.

Zhui Guang was a girl and a student of Qing University.

At that time, Qin Si thought that he was talking about Jiang Xianrou. After all, Jiang Xianrou had been very vocal. Many people knew that she was Zhui Guang.

He personally admired Zhui Guang's ethnic musical instruments and rock-compatible music style. Still, he did not like Jiang Xianrou much recently, so he was not interested in the driver's nagging. He only responded perfunctorily.

Who knew that the driver would turn around and give him a name—Qiao Nian.

The original words were: “Aiya, you don’t know about this? I like her music very much. I listen to her songs. I didn’t expect her to be so young and even get into Qing University. Tsk, I wouldn’t be working as a taxi driver if my son was half as hardworking as her. What’s that girl’s name... Ah, I remember now. Her name is Qiao Nian. Qiao Nian. Her name is quite nice. I can tell that she’s a promising person. Having raised such a good daughter, her parents probably wake up laughing in their dreams...”

He did not hear a word the driver said after that.

He only heard Qiao Nian’s name.

After he was done with the matter at the provincial hospital, he got the Qin family’s chauffeur to pick him up. Then, he searched for news about Qiao Nian on the Internet.

He saw the VCR that Wen Ruxia had released with the girl’s arrogant and reserved face. Who else could it be but Qiao Nian?

At this moment, Qin Si was looking at the girl as if he was looking at Monk Tang. He only wanted to ask what this Monk Tang could not do.

Qiao Nian was suddenly Zhui Guang.

She didn’t know that Wen Ruxia had placed a hammer online and killed Jiang Xianrou.

Perking up, her clear eyes looked innocent, but her casual expression betrayed her. “I was just playing around. That’s why I didn’t tell you.”

Qin Si was speechless.

How could this be a f*cking reason?

Master Wang and the others didn’t say anything?

He looked at the man still drying Qiao Nian’s hair.

Ye Wangchuan ran his fingers through the girl’s dark hair. His thin lips curled up as he whispered behind her back, “Don’t move. It’s almost done. Bear with it.”