

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1189

She spoke with an air of certainty and superiority, "She would have gone with us during the school celebration if she was willing to eat with us. Didn't she also find an excuse that time? It's the same this time. How could it be so coincidental? She just doesn't want to eat with us."

Song Tian's frown deepened, but she did not say anything.

"Then again, she's Zhui Guang and has tens of millions of fans. It's normal for her to look down on us. We're not from the same world. Why should we butter her up and kneel down to her?" Yin Wenzhi didn't wait for her to speak and slowly carried her books away. "I'm not going, either. You guys eat. I'll go back to the dormitory to study!"

She knew there would be a robot programming contest in the near future.

Although she studied Chinese Medicine, she was quite talented in computing. Her high school teacher had told her that this competition was world-class.

The chosen ones would go abroad to represent the country in the competition.

She wanted to go to this competition.

She could change her fate if she could make a name for herself at this competition, along with that of her entire family.

As Yin Wenzhi thought this, she looked at Song Tian, Zhou Moyan, and the others. She felt that these people had lived in the city since they were young and grew up in a honeypot. They were not the same kind of people as her.

Qiao Nian, on the other hand, had walked out of a small county like her. She had thought that she had something in common with Qiao Nian, but she was only left with disappointment after meeting her.

She walked away with the books without another word.

Song Tian showed her fury as soon as she was out of earshot. "What does she mean? Why do I feel that she's hostile towards Qiao Nian? Qiao Nian didn't provoke her and even fought for our glory. There's no need for her to target Qiao Nian, right?"

Zhou Moyan glanced at the girl's back as she left. He had a look of understanding on his face as he stuffed his hands into his pockets and said coldly, "There's always someone who thinks they're different from others. Don't worry about her. Let's go."

Song Tian did not understand what he meant, but Zhou Moyan usually did not say much. Even though Song Tian had no idea what he was trying to say, she still automatically followed him with the others and went to the canteen to get food.

Outside Qing University.

Qiao Nian had just hung up on Shen Qingqing.

Coming out, she saw Shen Qingqing, Liang Bowen, Jiang Tingting, and the others waiting for her under the shadows of the trees across the road.

“Sister Nian!”

Jiang Tingting’s eyes were sharp. She immediately stood on tiptoe and waved at Qiao Nian the moment she saw her.

Seeing them, the corners of Qiao Nian’s lips curled up. She raised her hand and prepared to cross the road. However, a black sedan stopped in front of her, blocking her way.

The door opened at this moment, and two people got out of the car.

Qiao Nian’s eyes turned cold when she saw who they were. She looked tired and her voice was slightly hoarse. “A good dog doesn’t block the way.”

Shen Qiongzhi and He Yujuan rolled their eyes at her words, especially He Yujuan. She tightened her grip on her walking stick and almost raised it to hit the girl.

But she forced herself to swallow her anger when she thought of the purpose of her visit today. She forced out a kind expression, but her face was twisted. “Qiao Nian, do you have time? Let’s have a drink.”

“I don’t have time,” the girl answered quickly and walked around them to head across the road.

Seeing that she was ignored, Shen Qiongzhi immediately ran over and stopped in front of her. She lowered her voice and said, “Qiao Nian, it’s not easy for your grandmother to come to Beijing with her age. Please understand it. Have a drink with her. I promise it won’t take up too much of your time.”
