

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1211

In the principal's office.

Several computer science teachers had already checked the homework handed in by the applicants in the order of registration.

Until the results came back.

Du Mingwei, the head of the Computer Science Department, was still in a daze.

Liang Conglin was more concerned about the "homework" that Qiao Nian had handed over. He was the last to check the software that Qiao Nian had handed over. After checking it, he sat there without saying a word. He was even more anxious than Du Mingwei. He placed a hand on the back of the chair, leaned forward, and hurriedly asked, "How is it?"

!!

Du Mingwei was speechless.

He stared at the desktop computer in front of him in a daze. His mind went blank for a long time.

"Teacher Du, how is it? Didn't you read the software submitted by all the students? Whose software is our school going to submit this year?"

Silence ensued.

The other computer science teachers did not say anything, either. Their expressions were filled with doubt.

Liang Conglin became even more anxious.

He had just sent a message to Old Master Ye about Qiao Nian's participation in the competition.

Old Master Ye even asked him about the results.

No one in the group said anything. He wasn't sure. "So, who exactly was chosen this year?"

After Du Mingwei was in a daze for a long time, his expression was extremely complicated. He finally looked at Liang Conglin. His expression was simply amazing!

"Principal, are you sure Qiao Nian signed up for the Chinese Medicine Faculty?"

"?????"

"What do you mean?"

Du Mingwei looked at the software and felt uncomfortable. He said in a muffled voice, "Why is such a good seedling studying medicine!"

Liang Conglin: "???"

He couldn't hold it in anymore and asked in a low voice, "Teacher Du, if you have anything to say, just say it. You stopped halfway. I don't understand what you mean."

Only then did Du Mingwei heave a sigh of relief. His expression relaxed slightly, but his expression was still very complicated. "Do you know what software Qiao Nian submitted?"

"What?"

"A downloader.

"She's made a complete downloader that can speed things up. It's twice as fast as the existing ones on the market, and it's very small and portable."

Du Mingwei couldn't describe his excitement at this moment.

This was not a software that a freshman could create!

No, it should be said that even a mature technician might not have such skill and strength.

Most importantly, such a talented student was actually studying Chinese medicine?!

The few computer science teachers felt as if their hearts were being roasted on a fire. It was torture!

Such a good seedling was actually not from their computer science department.

Liang Conglin understood now. "You mean you've chosen Qiao Nian's software?"

Du Mingwei made eye contact with the other teachers. He smiled bitterly at what he said first. "Do we have any other choice?"

This time, about 20 people from the Computer Science Department signed up.

Among them were many students they thought highly of.

Their software wasn't bad. It performed at a normal level.

But that was all!

Compared to Qiao Nian's software, they were all trash and not worth mentioning.

Liang Conglin was already mentally prepared. He knew that Qiao Nian might not be as simple as she looked. Since Qiao Nian knew the illegal district, it was normal for people from the Red Alliance to know how to use computers.

Unexpectedly, the moment Qiao Nian made her move, the professors from Qing University's Computer Science Department all reacted as if they had found a treasure.
