

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1231

“How do you know that Sister Qiao will definitely be able to do it?”

Bo Jingxing glanced at him without saying anything. Of course, he knew.

Virus?

He still remembered clearly how Qiao Nian had countered the Lizard Tail virus in the Ninth Branch. He did not answer Qin Si's question directly. Instead, he said irresponsibly, “Ask Master Wang, don't ask me.”

“F*ck! You said so yourself.” He was the one who'd said that Sister Qiao would definitely be able to do it. “I never asked you in the first place.”

Bo Jingxing stopped talking. He pushed his glasses up his nose bridge, exuding the aura of a refined hoodlum.

Qin Si looked at his pretentious appearance and wisely did not continue asking. He knew that Bo Jingxing had always been tight-lipped, so he couldn't get anything out of him.

He turned to look at Ye Wangchuan.

Ye Wangchuan also raised his eyebrows and spun the glass in his hand when he saw the theme of the competition. The tequila in the glass swayed and he looked straight ahead. He did not look at Qin Si at all.

Virus?

Interesting.

...

The atmosphere in the private room was quite tense.

Zhang Yang, Tang Ning, and the others did not know how good Qiao Nian's computer skills were. They were all afraid that she would be eliminated from the beginning.

The contestants from the 16 countries had already started programming.

Qiao Nian was not particularly fast.

She seemed to be taking her time.

There was no hurry at all.

Tang Ning was nervous as she watched. She even bit off a little of the lipstick on her lips. "Miss Qiao seems to be average in speed. She's not fast or slow. She's in the middle, about seventh or eighth."

The rules of this competition were to attack each other's computers with their own virus software. Whoever could disable all their opponents' computers would win.

Under such rules, developing the virus first was also important.

For example, if you created it first, you would get to attack the other party's computer first.

As the other party had yet to produce the same virus software, it was very likely that they would be eliminated by you.

The top contestants would advance.

Which meant only one person would have the last laugh.

If Qiao Nian was not at the top, it would be meaningless even if she was in second place, let alone in the middle.

It was neither the best nor the worst.

It would just be ordinary!

Frustrated, Qin Si frowned. He wanted to ask Bo Jingxing and Ye Wangchuan, but he forcefully restrained himself.

Holding his breath, he locked his gaze firmly on the LED blue light screen.

An hour later.

Someone had already created the virus software.

The first person to create the virus software immediately started attacking. Tang Ning, Zhang Yang, and the others became even more nervous.

They could barely breathe, afraid that Qiao Nian's computer would black out first.

Those who had been selected had to be top talents in this area. As soon as the first virus came out, three computer screens went black in less than a minute.

"So soon?" Qin Si did not expect this competition to be so intense.

Three people were eliminated in a minute.

In other words, apart from the first person to create the software, 12 people were left, including Qiao Nian.

The atmosphere in the private room gradually became tense.

Zhang Yang whispered at the side, "Miss Qiao's computer is still lit. The other party's virus doesn't seem to have affected her."

This kind of live broadcast showed the operation of every computer. Qiao Nian's computer screen showed that she was still using the encoder to input C programming.

The second virus software was quickly completed.
