

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1486

Qiao Nian asked him, "You didn't go back?"

It should be three in the morning in Beijing now.

Ye Wangchuan's smile was quite attractive. His thin lips curled up as if he was about to seduce her, and his eyes sparkled as he looked at her. "Are you afraid that I'll go out and play while you're not around?"

"?"

!!

Qiao Nian didn't know how to answer him, so she simply ignored him.

The man stretched, causing the collar of his casual jacket to slightly open, revealing an attractive collarbone. "I'm not in Beijing."

Qiao Nian looked over with her clear eyes.

Ye Wangchuan wished he could pull her over to him through the camera and give her a big kiss. It was just that he was far away and none of this was realistic.

His Adam's apple bobbed as he restrained himself. He continued in a hoarse and charming voice, "Something happened in Shuangjiang City. I went over with Bo Jingxing. We're in the car now."

Qiao Nian nodded to show that she understood.

"You're there?" Ye Wangchuan saw that she looked like she was in a hotel, so he thought for a moment and said, "I'll give you a number. You can call this number if you need anything. Someone will take care of you."

Qiao Nian hadn't expected him to have someone in Continent O. She raised her eyebrows and a surprised expression on her face.

However, she pressed her hand between her eyebrows and lowered it. She said lazily, "No need. I'll go back immediately after I get what I came for. I won't stay here for long."

Although Qiao Nian said that there was no need, Ye Wangchuan was still worried. He sent her the phone number.

Qiao Nian saw the number he had sent on WeChat and felt a surge of warmth in her heart. She said to him, "I'll go back as soon as possible."

Before she left, she sent a message to Ye Wangchuan, briefly explaining Su Huaiyuan's situation and that he needed the CD-3 targeted medicine.

Ye Wangchuan knew why she had specially made a trip to the Pharmacy Association. However, when Qiao Nian mentioned it herself, his eyes still looked deeply at the face of the girl in the video, whose bathrobe was slightly open and who was exquisite and eye-catching. He chuckled softly and asked, "God Qiao, which of your disguises did you lose this time?"

There was some silence.

Qiao Nian's ears felt a little hot from his words. She got up and found the air-conditioning remote control to adjust the temperature by two degrees. Then, she coughed dryly. She felt a little unconfident under his gaze. "I don't think so. I don't have any aliases."

Which identity?

Ye Wangchuan's eyes were filled with an intoxicating smile. His burning gaze seemed to want to envelop her.

Qiao Nian was silent for two seconds after being stared at by his half-smile. Perhaps because she was a little frustrated by his stare, she looked up self-righteously and met his eyes. "I really don't have any disguises!"

Q probably didn't count as a disguise.

"Tsk." Ye Wangchuan chuckled at her reaction and reminded her, "Remember to call the number I gave you if you need anything."

Qiao Nian nodded. Although she didn't think she could use it, she didn't refuse.

"Be careful since you're outside alone. Also..." Ye Wangchuan rubbed his eyebrows. If it wasn't for the fact that he had something on and couldn't leave, he would already be on the plane to Country M. "I've checked the weather over there. It's colder than Beijing. Remember to wear more clothes. Don't catch a cold."

This was the first time Qiao Nian realized that he was so talkative, but she was not impatient. Her eyelashes covered the warmth in her black eyes. "I know."

Bo Jingxing seemed to be calling his name on the other end of the video call.

Ye Wangchuan looked at his phone again and reminded her briefly before hanging up.

Seeing that the video had dimmed, Qiao Nian crossed her legs and casually picked up her phone to send Zhong Yiliu a message.

[Q: I'm here.]