

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 1499

Qi Yan stood up from the sofa in frustration and picked up her phone, planning to find someone to investigate.

Her brother's call came in at this moment.

Qi Yan immediately picked it up. "Hello."

Her mind was still on that person from Bright Gate, and she couldn't wait to ask Qi Rongguang.

"Brother, do you know what the Red Alliance has to do with the Bright Gate?"

Not many people knew that Qiao Nian was Sun of the Red Alliance.

She only knew about this because the Qi family had suffered a setback in the illegal district. However, she didn't tell anyone about it. She kept this information for herself.

She had originally thought that Qiao Nian was only able to become the number one hacker in the Red Alliance because of her astonishing talent in hacking.

Now it seemed that things were not as simple as she had thought.

Qiao Nian wasn't as ordinary as she looked...

Qi Yan gritted her teeth indignantly. Her sharp eyes were cold as she gripped her phone tightly. Her heart was racing. She really couldn't understand how an ordinary girl from Rao City could turn the country upside down. She couldn't see through her now.

"The Red Alliance and the Bright Gate?" Qi Rongguang had something to tell her, but she posed a question before he could say anything. He was obviously confused. "What connection can the Red Alliance have with the Bright Gate... The Red Alliance's power is mainly in the illegal area, and the Bright Gate's power is mainly in the independent continent. I've never heard that the Red Alliance is related to the Bright Gate."

Weren't the two unrelated?

Qi Yan's tense heart sank. She frowned, clearly not believing him.

Qi Rongguang asked, "Why are you suddenly asking this? What's wrong?"

Qi Yan was troubled and did not want to tell him. "I just suddenly thought of asking you. It's fine."

"I thought something happened to you. I'm relieved that you're fine."

Qi Yan adjusted her mood and asked, "By the way, Brother, why are you looking for me?"

She walked back and picked up the black tea from the table again. She sipped it and composed herself.

Before Qi Yan could put down her teacup, she heard Qi Rongguang's heavy tone. He said, "I got into a small accident. The other party forced my car to stop on the main road. Then, two burly men got out. I don't know who they are. They told me that if you 'invite' her over again, it won't be so simple next time.

"I had no idea what they were talking about. I asked them, but they didn't explain to me what they meant..."

Qi Yan's fingers holding the teacup turned white. She was so angry that her face turned red and her voice trembled. "You said that someone stopped you on the road and threatened you?"

"... It's not really a threat. I suspect they've got the wrong person. I don't even know what they mean." Qi Rongguang's tone was relaxed. He was still in the dark.

Qi Yan wondered about the interlude that had happened in Country M an hour ago.

She knew that this was not an accident.

The other party was warning her!

It was an open slap to the face!

Her lips were pale and the veins on her forehead were bulging. She tried her best to calm down and said to Qi Rongguang, "Yes, it should be an accident."

After Qi Yan finished speaking, she reminded him worriedly, "Brother, be careful these days. Arrange a few more bodyguards for yourself."

Qi Rongguang listened to his sister and smiled gently. "Okay, take care of yourself. I'll hang up first."

Qi Yan nodded and waited for him to hang up.

The smile she was barely maintaining instantly turned cold. She could barely suppress her anger as she slammed the phone to the ground.
