

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 227

The seahorse was made of diamonds and sapphire. Even though it wasn't big, it was cute and well-crafted.

When you added the brooch to his cuteness, it melted your heart.

There was another person in the photo.

Ye Wangchuan.

He was wearing a dark blue shirt today. It looked well-designed and had an asymmetric look. His slender legs were covered by a pair of jeans, giving him a casual look.

He was holding onto his phone and looking at some messages. He was wearing the bracelet she got him. The red Buddhist beads on his other hand added a strong color to his outfit.

Qiao Nian immediately recognized his shirt—the one she got him.

They went to another store after they met Fu Ge. She wanted to get him a watch, but they saw this shirt when walking past one of Seven's stores.

That shirt had a female version. She tried it that day and bought it after seeing how nice it was.

Coincidentally, she was wearing that shirt.

Qiao Nian started to realize something.

They were wearing a couple outfit!

When you looked at Chen Chen's hospital gown, the three of them looked like a family.

She dismissed that thought the moment it appeared.

It must have been a coincidence.

He said it already. They were just best friends. They were best friends sharing a nephew.

Qiao Nian didn't think too much about it.

Gu San sent her another message.

[Gu San: Miss Qiao, Little Young Master wanted me to send you this photo to prove that he's been a good boy. How is my picture, does he look cute?]

Qiao Nian thought for a while before replying—

[It's fine, but zoom in next time. There was an unnecessary person in the photo.]

When Gu San received her message, he said to the unnecessary person, "Master Wang, Miss Qiao asked you to stand further away. She doesn't want you to block the Little Young Master."

The weather turned cold after he said that.

He felt someone threatening him with a look.

Gu San immediately shut his mouth. He passed the phone back to Ye Qichen and said, "Little Young Master, this is your phone. You should reply to Miss Qiao yourself."

He ran away after saying that.

Ye Qichen held onto his phone. He was initially hesitant about sending a selfie to Qiao Nian, but he thought about it and took a photo of himself. He then sent it to Qiao Nian shyly.

Qiao Nian received the cute selfie after replying to Gu San.

The kid's face filled up the screen. His skin was flawless, and you could even see the phone's reflection in his eyes.

He looked adorable.

There were no unnecessary people in the photo this time.

Her phone rang.

There was another message.

Ye Qichen sent her another message.

[Sister, I'll be done soon. I'm heading over with my uncle after this. Love you, kisses~ (kissing face)]

Kisses was a phrase he learned from Jiang Li.

He told him that girls loved it.

Qiao Nian wasn't sure if other girls liked it. Since she heard Jiang Li saying something like that, she had been receiving such messages and emojis.

She kept her phone.

"Sister Nian!" Shen Qingqing and the rest of the classmates had arrived. They saw her and waved to her enthusiastically. "Sister Nian, we're here!"

Qiao Nian placed her phone in her pocket and walked over.

She then noticed a blue Ferrari driving towards them, crushing the twigs on the ground.
