

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 391

The two teachers in charge of monitoring held sealed test papers and said solemnly, "You must be good students in your school if you can come to take the test. I won't talk more about the exam rules, hand in all your electronic devices and phone. If it's discovered, it's not a question of disqualification for the exam. Your file will also be recorded, and your college entrance examination two months later will be affected.

"In addition, there are four surveillance cameras in the classroom. Whispers are not allowed during the exam, and your small movements are best put away. Don't take a fluke. Your every move during the exam will be monitored.

"Everyone is a good student, I won't say much. Take the exam well, you can do it!"

With that said, one of the two teachers checked the examination information, and the other began to issue papers.

Sitting by the window, Qiao Nian was different from the nervous and concentrated expressions of other students. When the invigilator checked her, he found that she was too calm.

He couldn't help but glance at his admission ticket again.

"Qiao Nian?"

The name was familiar. As if she had heard it somewhere before.

Why did it sound like the name mentioned by Old Nie?

He just thought about it when he heard a slightly muted reply, "Yes."

He came back to his senses, aligned the photo on the research certificate and the photo on the ID card, then looked at her. He handed her the test paper and said inexplicably, "Good luck."

Qiao Nian was looking at the test paper when she heard the words of encouragement from above her head. Shocked, she raised her eyelids, looking quite wild.

"Mm."

As soon as the paper was issued, there was only the rustle of pens scribbling on the paper in the classroom. It was only four hours, but there were a lot of questions on the paper. Everyone chose to start with the subjects they were good at, and then the problems they had difficulties with.

Shen Yugui saw that someone was different.

It was the girl he had handed the papers to.

Different from everyone else, she just turned over the paper and took out a pen from her pencil case. She started writing on the paper, starting from the end!

His face revealed a trace of surprise, but he did not meddle further. He turned his back and wandered around invigilating the exam room...

Qiao Nian wrote the paper very fast. She was a person who did not pay attention to her writing and wrote quite wildly.

She started from chemistry, then physics, then mathematics, and English. Everything went smoothly.

Until liberal arts, she looked at the densely packed words on the paper, and her temple suddenly throbbed.

People who knew her, such as Wei Lou, Yuan Yongqin, and the others, knew that Qiao Nian was most afraid of trouble!

The big issue in liberal arts was obviously that it was troublesome.

Her speed gradually slowed down.

But the black words still kept filling up the blank space of the paper.

...

Qing University's academic affairs office.

Everyone was waiting for the students' written examination papers to come out. This time, the examination papers were to be checked on the spot to strive for the publishing of results on the same day.

Teachers from major departments were also there.

Cheng Wu looked at the time. Three and a half hours had passed since the start of the exam.

The exams would be over in half an hour, and the papers would be delivered at that time.

Remembering the entrustment of his proud disciple, he said to everyone in the room, "I'll bring up a paper when the time comes, we'll look at the results first."

This kind of operation had been done in previous years. Everyone had no opinion.

Liang Lu knew that the grades of the students he wanted to see would not be too bad, so she skimmed the tea foam in the teacup, took a sip, put down the cup, and followed him unhurriedly. "It's such a coincidence, I also have a paper that I want to see."
