

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 473

Qiao Weimin initially wanted to ask him what happened that night. But in the end, he was also at a loss and had a headache.

Chen Yuan was still in custody. The amount of time they had to speak with him was very short. Only a few words were exchanged before the time was up.

After sending Aunt Chen to the hospital, Qiao Weimin went home.

They used to live in the Rose Garden Villa, but when the company's financial situation worsened, he was forced to temporarily mortgage the house. During this time, they lived in a high-end duplex apartment in the central part of the city. The apartment was under Shen Qiongzhi's name and was not affected by the state of the company for the time being.

This apartment was very large. The decorations were designed by a famous design team in Rao City at that time. The whole house had a European style and was exquisite.

They used to live here until they bought the Rose Garden Villa.

When Qiao Weimin got home, he changed his shoes, took off his coat, and draped it over the sofa.

Shen Qiongzhi was putting on a facial mask and sending Qiao Chen a message at the same time. When she saw her husband return, she took off the mask and said, "Dear, where have you been? You rushed out the moment you got home. Who called you? Did the call have something to do with the company?"

Without the Cheng Feng Corporation's support, the Qiao Corporation had a tough time these past few months. Although it was hard, they were still managing to scrape by.

Qiao Weimin was busy every day. He usually worked till late and only returned in the middle of the night. Shen Qiongzhi was distressed, but she was unfamiliar with the business industry and couldn't do anything to help ease his burden.

Seeing his tired face, she picked up her cell phone and said with a smile, "I just sent a message to Chen Chen. She told me that she passed the interview for the Music Department and caught the attention of Professor Cheng. In the future, she will minor in finance. The Finance Department is one of the two famous departments in Qing University. Professor Cheng is also a famous financial expert in China. If Chen Chen can study under him, she'll definitely have a bright future."

She was really happy for her daughter. The corners of her eyes and eyebrows were full of joy. Her face looked much younger and had the pride and wealth of being Mrs. Qiao.

She held her cell phone, eager to brag about her daughter's achievements to her friends and relatives. She smiled so widely that her teeth were revealed and her eyes became shut. She said, "I already told you that Chen Chen would definitely pass the examination! Now she's even noticed by Professor Cheng. What was this called again? It's indeed another sunny day!"

“Thinking back to when Chen Chen was hurt by that ungrateful girl and lost her Ren Yi recommendation, how could we ever have imagined she would actually make it into Qing University? This is a very fortunate thing. She’s not studying Ren Yi now but made it into Qing University, which is even more prestigious. I really want to see how that ingrate will react to this news!”

She couldn’t help but feel proud when talking about this. She raised her jaw slightly and said, “I heard that the ungrateful girl did not pass the examination. She will be taking a flight back to Rao City tomorrow. I speculate that her promotion to Class A was an insider job. You didn’t believe me then, now look at this. I’m definitely right this time.

“Her grades have never improved since she entered our family. She was never among the top ten in her class. With grades like hers, it’s not possible for her to suddenly become a genius right after leaving our family, and become the top in her class after being the thirtieth for such a long time. Once a fake, always a fake. No matter how well the Jiang Family described her, she will still show her true colors when in Beijing!”

Qiao Chen was pressured by Qiao Nian for the past half a year and was already finding it hard to breathe. As someone who was taking care of Qiao Chen, she also felt very pressured.

That Qiao Nian was very sneaky!

For more than half a year, whenever she felt like she could be proud, Qiao Nian would turn around and slap her on the face. This always caught her off guard and made her suffer.

However, this time, she could stand up with her head held high!
