

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 644

"The other party's computer has been scrapped!" At this moment, a technician could no longer hide his excitement and announce the result of this cyberwar.

Someone exclaimed excitedly, "Damn! I can finally breathe more easily now!"

Luo Qing was also very excited. He walked towards Qiao Nian with a smile on his face. His attitude was completely different from the condescending attitude he had just now. He said, "Miss Qiao, you have a very good technique. Have you ever considered getting a degree in this field? How about the computing major? After you graduate, you can join our group."

The Ninth Branch covered the most confidential information and had the most cutting-edge technology. The Ninth Branch was full of top-notch domestic talents. Although Luo Qing looked inconspicuous, he was also a computer expert.

However, his field of expertise was not in programming. He was a specialist in software and chip development.

His seemingly innocuous invitation actually held a great deal of importance.

At the very least, not everyone could enter the Ninth Branch.

Since he invited her, this could be seen as him recognizing Qiao Nian's talent.

It was a pity. Qiao Nian calmly typed the last code and repaired the previously destroyed defense system. After that, she exited the coding system and closed her laptop. She refused succinctly. "I have already decided on a major, and I don't plan to change it."

Luo Qing looked at her curiously and asked, "What major did you choose?"

He assumed it would be a computer-related major.

Qiao Nian raised her jaw and pressed the brim of her cap down. To his surprise, she casually said, "Chinese Medicine."

Luo Qing was very surprised.

Luo Qing was speechless.

Luo Qing said, "Huh? Chinese Medicine?"

How was Chinese Medicine related to computers?

He was trying to picture her as a doctor. She would be wearing a white gown, sitting behind a mahogany table with a large cabinet standing behind her. The cabinet had hundreds of drawers, all filled with different kinds of herbs. He found it very hard to imagine her as a doctor, attending to patients and prescribing medicine.

It was too unusual!

“What future would you have if you studied Chinese Medicine? Why don’t you change majors? You’re so talented in this field. It’s too wasteful for you not to study the computing major!” He quickly added on and tried to persuade her, “Which school are you enrolling in? I have a few connections. I will go to your principal and convince him to transfer you to the computing major.”

He thought that Qiao Nian chose Chinese Medicine because of her poor grades and that she did not have a choice. He thought that she had no choice but to accept studying Chinese Medicine if she wanted to accept the direct admission offer.

The computing major was a popular major in many schools. Students would have to score decently above the cutoff score in the College Entrance Examination to even dare to apply for this major.

He was warm-hearted and really wanted to help. Surprisingly, the girl returned the laptop to him and lazily said, “Oh, I’m going to Qing University.”

Luo Qing was speechless.

Qing University?

Qing University was the most authoritative institution in China. It was a century-old prestigious school. Only students who scored more than 600 points in the College Entrance Examination would dare to apply for Qing University.

Although he had some connections, it wouldn’t be enough for him to get in through the back door of Qing University.

After holding back for a long time, Gu San finally found a chance to speak. He walked over and put his hand on Luo Qing’s shoulder. “Don’t worry about Miss Qiao’s major. She chose to study Chinese Medicine because she likes it. It’s not because she has poor grades. Miss Qiao got first place in the Qing University’s independent enrollment examination.”

Having been repeatedly surprised, Luo Qing could no longer find his voice. “First place?”

His gaze fell on Qiao Nian. He felt that it wouldn’t be impossible after seeing her technique today. It wasn’t that big of a surprise even if she scored first place in the independent enrollment examination.

Yes, it was not surprising at all.

Gu San didn’t stop speaking. He nodded and continued, “Yes, she ranked first. She scored full marks. 650 points. She’s the first person in Qing University’s history to have scored full marks in the independent enrollment examination.”

Luo Qing was taken aback once again. He was speechless.

He thought that Gu San was trying to bluff him, but he had no evidence!