

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 693

"I'll take a look." Qiao Nian didn't pay much attention to him. She leaned closer and her eyes fell on the notebook. She held the mouse and scrolled down.

There was a lot of stuff on the screen.

They were all children's items.

She usually did not do much research in this area. So, now that Ye Wangchuan asked her to help pick one, she really couldn't pick it out.

But since it was a gift for the kid, she didn't want to just patronize and make a casual decision. Although she wasn't good at it, she still carefully clicked on a few items that she thought were good and looked at the descriptions.

The girl's eyelashes were dark and her porcelain-white face was delicate and beautiful. Her swan neck was slim, and the closer she got, the more obedient she became.

So obedient that he felt his throat tighten.

The man leaned back slightly, narrowed his eyes, and distanced himself from the girl who was looking at the notebook seriously.

Placing his fingers on the table, he suddenly said in a low voice, "Why didn't you tell me you know how to play the konghou?"

Browsing the gifts, Qiao Nian was stunned for a moment, then turned her head to look at him subconsciously.

When she met the man's deep eyes, her heart tightened, and the warm emotions rose again. She controlled it well. She pursed her lips and closed her eyes, then replied casually, "It's not something worth bringing up."

It was not something worth mentioning that she became Master Nie's private disciple.

Ye Wangchuan didn't feel that it was a big deal—if Qiao Nian didn't want to say it, it was completely fine. It was just that he remembered the message Jiang Li sent him just now.

His eyes dimmed, and he said again, "It's not something particularly worth mentioning that you know how to play the konghou. Then, how about Zhui Guang?"

Qiao Nian was speechless.

"Mm? Nian Nian." His voice was mixed with light laughter, extremely flirtatious. "Should I call you, Big Boss Zhui Guang?"

Rao City's Miracle Doctor + Big Boss Zhui Guang. She was having more and more identities, and he felt like he was peeling through the veils of fog to see her. She was increasingly impressive.

Qiao Nian's head hurt and she came back to her senses. She rubbed her temple and asked him, "How do you know?"

Her identities were getting exposed real quick these days!

"Jiang Li said it." Ye Wangchuan betrayed a certain someone without hesitation. He raised his eyes proudly, moved the phone on one side of the table towards her, then opened the message to show her.

"He just sent me a message to show off."

Qiao Nian took the cell phone and looked at it.

Sure enough, they were messages from Jiang Li.

Jiang Li was spamming him in about the same way, sending several consecutive messages.

[Jiang Li: What the hell, Master Wang, let me tell you something.]

[Jiang Li: You surely don't know.]

[Jiang Li: It has something to do with Nian Nian.]

[Jiang Li: Do you know who she is?]

The following was Ye Wuchuan's reply. He was like a gentle beast.

[Y: Who?]

Then, Jiang Li sent an emoji and another message.

[Jiang Li: Zhui Guang!!!!!!!!!!]

What!!

The nerves in the back of Qiao Nian's head were tense as the vein in her temples popped. Her eyes were half-squinted, and for the first time, she knew what regret was.

She shouldn't have answered Jiang Li's question.

Ye Wangchuan's burning eyes fell on her, watching the expression on the girl's previously expressionless face change. He raised his thin lips and said, "Tsk, you only told Jiang Li, but not me?"

Qiao Nian raised her head and met his gaze, then moved her gaze away silently. She put her hands in her pockets and said dejectedly, "I didn't deliberately hide it from anyone. He asked me first, and I answered him. You didn't ask me before."

This was a full-mark answer.

At least, even Ye Wangchuan was unable to respond at that moment.
