

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 695

She happened to have promised Shen Hui that she would go to school. Coincidentally, Wu Jie asked to meet her at the coffee shop outside the school.

“I will be leaving now.”

Qiao Nian picked up her things on the table and lightly pulled the brim of her cap. She then said bye to the people in the ward.

Gu San didn't know that he had missed the fireworks just now. He smiled and waved goodbye to the girl, then spoke with concern. “Miss Qiao, have a safe trip.”

“Ok.”

Qiao Nian walked away casually.

Her back was beautiful and sassy. It disappeared around the corner of the corridor in the blink of an eye.

Gu San watched her back completely disappear before reluctantly turning his head back. It was at this moment that he locked eyes with Master Wang. Master Wang's eyes were narrowed slightly and had a dangerous look in them.

Gu San stuttered and backed away a little. He touched the back of his head nervously and asked, “Master Wang, did I do something wrong again?”

Ye Wangchuan looked at his innocent face which seemed like he didn't know anything and sighed. In order to avoid making himself angry, he simply looked away and rubbed his eyebrows with his hands.

“It's nothing.”

It was just that he missed a good opportunity.

Forget it, he would still have chances in the future to ask her what she wanted to say.

In a coffee shop across First High School.

Lessons were still being held.

There weren't many people in the coffee shop.

As soon as Qiao Nian arrived, she saw the girl sitting in the corner by the window.

The girl was wearing a thick round-neck gray sweater with a thick thread on the outside of her shirt. Her skin was quite fair. A cup of coffee was on the table in front of her. She held the mug in one hand and kept looking out of the window. Her sitting posture looked cramped and rigid.

Qiao Nian took off her headphones and walked over.

Turning her head and noticing that she was walking over, the girl immediately stood up in a panic. Her movements were so panicked that she almost hit the table.

“Qiao Nian, you are here.”

“Mm.”

Qiao Nian walked over and stood opposite her. Her eyes narrowed with a bit of hostility. Compared to Wu Jie’s tidy appearance with black-rimmed glasses, she was dressed more casually.

The contrasting looks were so obvious that the shop assistants looked over in their direction frequently. They were afraid that someone was being bullied by bad students in their shop.

Wu Jie bit her lip and looked at the person in front of her. The black eyes hidden behind her lenses flashed with envy and jealousy. However, she seemed afraid of being discovered, so she buried her head in a panic and whispered in a small voice, “Qiao Nian, what do you want to drink? Let me treat you.”

“There’s no need. I can just drink plain water.” She sat down and put her cell phone on the table. She looked at her casually and spoke succinctly. “Why are you looking for me?”

Wu Jie watched her pour a cup of water for herself. She picked up the glass, took a leisurely sip, and put the glass down again.

She looked very comfortable.

She looked very carefree.

She looked like someone who she aimed to become.

She bit her lip and sat back slowly. She took a deep breath, as if mustering up the courage, and took out something from the bag she had brought with her. She handed it over to Qiao Nian.

“I wanted to give this to you.”

Qiao Nian looked at the voice recorder in front of her and raised her eyebrows. She looked at the girl unknowingly. “Why are you giving this to me?”

“I’m going to transfer schools.” Wu Jie looked up at the girl sitting opposite her with an obscure expression. She tugged at her skirt with her hands on her knees, bit her lips, and said, “The school’s punishment has been decided. They didn’t expel me, but after some discussion with my parents, I have decided to transfer to Yingcai High School..”
