

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 724

“Chinese Medicine?” Master Cheng was taken aback. He didn’t expect that. Putting his hand on his head, he turned around and said to Bo Jingxing, “I didn’t know there was a department of Chinese Medicine in the Ninth Branch. When did this happen?”

Bo Jingxing looked at him thoughtfully and smiled helplessly. He then walked over and explained, “No, there are no Chinese medicine laboratories in the Ninth Branch.”

“Then, what’s this girl saying about studying Chinese Medicine?” Master Cheng was still in favor of Qiao Nian and shook his head regretfully.

The girl looked like she was capable. She didn’t have the impetuosity of the young people nowadays. She looked very calm.

Bo Jingxing didn’t expect Master Cheng to take interest in Qiao Nian with just a glance. He even invited her to join his laboratory. Smiling helplessly, he said, “She’s the doctor recommended by Wangchuan. She has studied Chinese Medicine. He wants her to take a look at your condition. Maybe she will be able to cure your illness.”

“You said that this young girl is the doctor he found for me?” Master Cheng was extremely surprised. He looked back and forth between Bo Jingxing and the girl standing there upright. He couldn’t help himself and said, “How old is she? She looks very young. Chinese Medicine...”

He personally had no prejudice against Chinese Medicine. Although he had little understanding, he was in his seventies and had heard of Chinese Medicine before.

It was said that the experience of a practitioner was related to his expertise in the field of Chinese Medicine. However, the girl in front of him didn’t even seem old enough to be in college.

Master Cheng took another look at Qiao Nian. The more he looked at her, the more stunned he became. He thought that Bo Jingxing was playing a joke on him. “Are you sure? Did you make a mistake?”

“Miss Qiao is definitely the doctor recommended by Wangchuan.” Bo Jingxing looked at him squarely in the eyes and spoke with absolute certainty.

After saying that, he embarrassedly explained to Qiao Nian, “Sister Qiao, please don’t mind Master Cheng. This is his temperament. He usually stays in the laboratory to do research. He has no other hobbies. He speaks and does things more directly and casually. He may just think that you are too young. He holds no hidden meanings behind his words.”

Qiao Nian looked at the gray-haired old man in front of her. The old man was probably in his seventies. He wasn’t as well maintained as Nie Mi. His hair was neatly combed behind his head. Medium-sized and thin, the Ninth Branch white coat looked a little too big for him.

He was different from Zhou Wei and the others. He wore a sweater under a white coat and a pair of old trousers. Paired with his slippers, he looked slovenly.

However, it could be seen that he had a good personality and was easy-going. He didn't seem like a very serious person.

She retracted her gaze and nodded. She wasn't angry. She softly said, "I understand."

"Then..." Before Bo Jingxing could ask her to take a look at Master Cheng, Qiao Nian took a step forward and spoke to Master Cheng comfortably. "Is it convenient for me to take a look at your pulse?"

As she approached Master Cheng, he was able to clearly see her face under the cap. Her eyebrows and eyes were exquisite and outstanding. Her skin was very fair.

She was a very pretty young girl.

Taken aback for a moment, Master Cheng frowned. He tilted his head innocently and looked at her curiously, saying, "Do you really practice Chinese Medicine?"

Qiao Nian had always been polite towards her elders. Even if Master Cheng's question was a little abrupt, she patiently nodded. She had black eyes and a casual aura around her. She said, "I have studied it a little."

Ah!

Zhou Wei's eyes were cold as she stood at the side. She was hoping that Master Cheng would reject Qiao Nian's offer and not allow her to attend to him!

However, she was disappointed.

Master Cheng just smiled when he saw the girl's calm eyes.. He stretched out his hand and asked, "Do I need to sit? I remember watching a Chinese Medicine consultation on the television before, and the patient seemed to be sitting down."
