

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 743

With her character, it was no wonder that she was jealous when she saw Miss Qiao complete in a day the programming that she couldn't complete for three months.

She had been targeting Miss Qiao all along because of this.

Gu San looked at the girl who opened the cap and took a sip of water. His eyes were bright and filled with admiration.

To be honest, he didn't expect Qiao Nian to be so fierce. She was way ahead of Zhou Wei in terms of programming skills. She could really resolve such complicated programming in a day.

This technique... reminded him of an organization that Master Wang, Young Master Qin, and Young Master Bo often talked about—the Red Alliance.

The overlord of the hackers.

It seemed to be the Red Alliance!

Luo Qing had told him in private yesterday that the verification system Miss Qiao had set up on the USB drive was very similar to the style of Red Alliance's boss, Sun, used three years ago.

He wanted him to tell Miss Qiao again not to learn Chinese Medicine but to learn Computer Science.

She might even be more famous than Zhou Hengfeng in the future and might even succeed in entering the Red Alliance.

Thinking back to when Zhou Hengfeng was praised as the number one hacker in the country, wasn't it because he almost entered the Red Alliance?

Gu San stole a few glances at her.

It was difficult for Qiao Nian not to notice. She put down the things in her hand and met his gaze. Her dark eyes were beautiful. "What do you want to say? Tell me!"

If Qiao Nian wanted him to say it, he would be embarrassed to say it. He touched the back of his head and said awkwardly, "Miss Qiao, you... really want to learn Chinese Medicine? Actually, changing majors isn't bad. With your results, as long as you ask, Principal Liang shouldn't have any objections, right?"

Although the Computing faculty at Qing University was not as good as in Nanjing University, it was still much better than other universities in the country.

If Qiao Nian was willing, Principal Liang would definitely agree.

Even if Principal Liang didn't agree, there was still Master Wang. With one word from Miss Qiao, Master Wang could pluck the stars from the sky. He didn't believe that Master Wang wouldn't help Miss Qiao find a connection with someone else for her to change her major.

Even if Master Wang didn't find a connection, Old Master Ye and Principal Liang had been friends for many years. Wouldn't such a small matter be settled with just one word from Old Master Ye?

"Huh? Why should I change my major?" Qiao Nian looked at him in surprise, not understanding why he would suddenly mention this.

The charging phone lit up.

Qiao Nian took the phone and looked down.

It was still a message from a certain someone.

He was sending messages quite frequently.

[Ye Wangchuan: I'll wait for you at Master Cheng's.]

Qiao Nian raised her eyebrows, her eyes bright and a little wild.

She rubbed her fingers against the phone screen and really wanted to reply to him. Had she told him that she was going to perform acupuncture on Master Cheng today?

Why did she remember telling Bo Jingxing that it would happen once every two days?

However, acupuncture did not need to be especially hard to determine the time. Master Cheng's migraine was considered a chronic illness, so more acupuncture would improve his condition faster.

However, she was lazy and wanted to catch up on her sleep in the morning. She had only said to do it once every two days.

Gu San saw her looking down at her phone. Her beautiful side face was bathed in the morning light. The sun cast a halo on her high nose bridge, making her look like a painting.

He almost took out his phone and took a photo to send to Master Wang.

However, he didn't have the courage to do so and held it in for the time being. He said, "It's nothing. It's just that Leader Luo told me that there was a verification technique on the USB drive you gave him yesterday that's comparable to Zhou Wei's iris technique. Anyway, what he said was very awesome. I was wondering if you wanted to change majors and learn computer science..."

Qiao Nian had just replied.

When she heard this, she looked up and put away her phone in a relaxed manner. Her clear black eyes looked at him, and her voice was dark and hoarse from just waking up.. "Oh, you're talking about that."
