

MADAM'S IDENTITIES SHOCKS THE ENTIRE CITY AGAIN Chapter 797

Ye Wangchuan didn't plan to get out of her way. He blocked her way out from between the two cars, lowered his head, and looked at her with sultry eyes. He smiled and said, "Did you not say that you liked someone like Chen Chen? Ye Lan just sent me a message saying that you liked young boys."

"Oh." Qiao Nian's mind finally reacted. She subconsciously raised her hand, trying to pull down the brim of her baseball cap. She then remembered that she left it at home. She put her hand down and looked at him with frank eyes. "I do like Chen Chen, Auntie Ye is right."

She even admitted it?

Ye Wangchuan's eyes were deep, darkened, and narrowed a little more. The distance between them became even closer. His breath dripped down Qiao Nian's neck. It felt a little warm and itchy. His breath had the slight smell of wine. It was quite light and not obvious, but his earlobes revealed a little crimson color. It was sexy and charming,

"What's wrong with older guys?"

His voice was low and dull.

Taken aback by his question, Qiao Nian pondered his question for a while. "There's nothing wrong with them."

Ye Wangchuan stared at the girl trapped between his arms. Her fair face and eyebrows were particularly eye-catching. She looked very delicate. It was just that there was a hint of wildness to her.

She seemed similar to a wolf cub.

If he wasn't careful, she could just slip away.

He thought he was a patient person, but he lost his patience when he saw Ye Lan's mocking text message.

He stared at the girl's face with drooping eyelashes. From his point of view, her eyelashes were long and dense. They curved and drooped downwards. She had clear eyes, and she looked pretty no matter which angle he looked from.

He was also a student once. He understood what kind of girls the boys liked.

A girl like Qiao Nian would be very popular in school.

The school belle for the next three years of Qing University had basically been decided!

He remembered that she was accosted by a boy on the way to Qing University for the examination, and he asked for her WeChat. Although she didn't give it to him, this might not be the case in the future.

“Since they’re not bad, why don’t you like them?” Ye Wangchuan breathed slightly and tensed up. His eyes grew deeper as he looked at the girl in his arms. He said slowly, “Compared with young boys, the older ones are more mature, stable, and caring. What do you think?”

Just because Qiao Nian did not consider this before, that did not mean she didn’t understand.

She had asked him once before, but someone had told her that they were only good friends. Therefore, she had gotten rid of this thought.

She had always thought that his behavior was that of a friend.

But now.

She looked at the man’s increasingly obvious behavior. Squinting, she asked directly, “Master Wang, are you confessing to me?”

She initially had no intention of asking him this question again. It had embarrassed her too much the previous time.

It would be so embarrassing if she was being too self-indulgent!

However, Qiao Nian wasn’t a shy girl. Since she thought of this, she wouldn’t hide it and would also not be too embarrassed to say it.

Ye Wangchuan didn’t expect her to be so direct. She was looking at him with such clear eyes. It surprised him a little.

However, he didn’t hesitate for too long. He smiled, and his eyes were shining and deep. His charming face was definitely worthy of the title of being the third most beautiful face in Beijing. “If I say yes, how do you plan on answering?”

Qiao Nian couldn’t speak for a long time, a little unprepared to answer his sudden question.

How was she supposed to answer?

If this was someone else, she would have rejected him without much consideration.

However, this was Ye Wangchuan..
