

Chapter 164

She would not disturb Mdm. Daugherty? She was clearly forcing Mdm. Daugherty to choose a side!

Would Mdm. Daugherty not know what Dew wanted?

While she did not leave the house, she had briefly heard about Daugherty Corporation from the servants at home.

There was a flash in her blurry yet witty eyes, and she slowly said, "I heard that you quit the Board of Directors and stepped down as general manager. That's not directly related to Addy."

Dew choked. Without Adina, nobody would have investigated her embezzlement. Why was it not related to Adina?

She gritted her teeth and spoke with grief. "Grandma, I know I made a mistake, so even if I get kicked out of the company, I won't oppose it. But what did my friend do wrong? She's been in the company for two years, and she found a lot of new clients for the company. But when Addy joined the Sales Department, she fired my friend. Isn't she purposely trying to get at me?"

"I believe Addy has her reasons for doing that. She's the manager of the Sales Department now, and she has the right to fire the staff in her department. We don't have the right to interfere," Mdm. Daugherty said coldly.

Dew clenched her fists tightly. She took a deep breath. Just as she was about to say something again, Mdm. Daugherty stared at her. "Dew, George called me yesterday."

Dew was shocked, and she could not be bothered with other things at that moment. She anxiously asked, "Why did George call you?" "He was showing concern for my health. He even said that he's found you a piano teacher," Mdm. Daugherty said indifferently. "You used to learn piano for about ten years, and the teacher said you were very talented. After you became Daugherty Corporation's heiress, you neglected the piano. Now you can pick it up again." Dew bit her lip without answering.

She knew that George had found her a piano teacher. On the surface, he seemed to care about her, but he actually just wanted to switch her attention away. She really enjoyed playing the piano in the past, but she had neglected it for four years. She had almost forgotten all the basic skills, so she had no desire to learn them again.

"Dew, you're the mother of the Winters family's young masters. They're very noble, so their mother should be elegant, honorable, and graceful. George has found a piano teacher for you because he also wishes to introduce you to everyone when you have a higher status one day," Mdm. Daugherty calmly said, "I hope you can understand George's efforts." Dew's eyes lit up "Grandma, is that truly George's true intention?"

"Otherwise, why would he put in so much effort to find you an excellent French piano master?" Mdm. Daugherty. "I heard that your teacher is Ms. Alice. She's twenty-two years old, but she's already a top-tier piano teacher who goes on world tours. Countless people want to learn from her, but they can never get a chance. Now, George has given you the opportunity. You better not let him down."

Dew was surprised again.

Ms. Alice?

Was she the piano genius who had become famous worldwide ten years ago?

Dew had just started to learn the piano when Alice became famous, and Alice used to be Dew's idol.

George had actually hired Alice to teach her!

Dew's heart pounded all of a sudden, If she could become Alice's student, her status would increase greatly.