Chapter 480 Slapped “Do you realize that Horizon Group will not be here forever? You simply got lucky and are here when they happen to show up.

At the end of the day, you are still a powerless idiot.”

Donald stared calmly.

“The previous slap was to punish you for what you did to my grandfather.

This next one is for me.” After saying all that, he slapped Tyrone again, this time on the other side of Tyrone’s face. Many guests squirmed with their eyes closed.

It was almost as if that slap was dealt on their own faces.

“This next one is to teach you a lesson about the consequences of being too arrogant,” said Donald.

He remained just as relaxed as he could be when he slapped Tyrone again.

That totaled to three slaps.

“This slap is to punish you for trying to hurt Jennifer.

And this one is to get back at you for killing my grandfather’s career for so many years...” Donald didn’t stop until he dealt nine continuous slaps across Tyrone’s face.

He grabbed a chair and sat right in front of Tyrone to look right into the latter’s eyes.

Tyrone had one of his hands clutching his shirt to put pressure on his chest and used his other hand to shakily retrieve a piece of tissue to wipe the blood off of his lips.
