Chapter 501

Legendary Warrior The moment Melanie waved her hand, a car pulled up right away.

A few men got out and ushered her into the car. Meanwhile, Donald continued standing still under the streetlight and staring into the distance, looking like a statue. After some time, he said calmly, "Since you're already here, then don't leave."

Amidst the darkness, a few men in golden armor walked out with long spears in their hands.

They were covered from head to toe; only their eyes were revealed. All of them were blue-eyed. One could tell they were foreigners at a glance.

"Wow. The Irving family is incredible for them to be rearing a pack of loyal dogs from another country," Donald said sarcastically.

As he looked around, he realized there were eight Septet Stella Warriors, all of which were mercenaries and had about a power level of seven hundred thousand. My mother's family is finally making a move on me.

"It's my honor to meet all of you. May I know who sent you?" asked Donald.

“I’ll find Braxton.”

At that moment, Donald’s eyes were glinting with murderous intent as if he had become the god of death himself. Upon hearing that, Poison Spider gave up completely on escaping. With tears in her eyes, she begged, “Don’t kill him. This was all my idea!”

Donald slowly made his way toward Poison Spider.

“He doesn’t have a choice.”

“He’s a part of the Irving family. They won’t let you off easily if you kill him!” Poison Spider screamed.

“Do you think the Irving family will go against me because of him?” Donald asked, already standing before her.

Poison Spider was not only Braxton’s protector, but she was also his partner in bed. I’ve only told her to get rid of my cousin. Why isn’t she back yet?

Ding! Ding!

His phone vibrated. His sister had sent him a picture of a bloody human head. It belonged to Poison Spider.

Braxton was stunned, as if he was struck with lightning. His eyes reddened, and tears streamed down his cheeks.

He did not have feelings for Poison Spider, but she was the reason he could keep a foothold in the Irving family and look down on the other heirs.

“Braxton, Nathan was the one who sent her head over. He says she’s offended a terribly important person. She died with just three moves from the person.” His sister, Sierra Irving, had sent him a voice note, which left Braxton stunned. After all, he was the one who sent Poison Spider to kill Donald.

Logically, Poison Spider would not have encountered anyone important. Did Donald get someone to kill her? Impossible. That’s impossible. I’ve looked into every piece of information related to Donald’s background. There’s nothing that stands out.

“Dad is telling you to lie low during these couple of days. A storm has been brewing in Pollerton recently, and there’s no telling how many big shots will go to the city. Poison Spider might’ve accidentally bumped into one and gotten herself killed. Anyway, I’m going over tomorrow,” said Sierra.

"It's late. We should get some rest. Melanie is going to have a meeting tomorrow at eight in the morning," Oscar uttered.

He was an extremely powerful person. Therefore, he had to get something beneficial out of the Economic Work Conference the next day.

"This woman is really terrifying. She became a high-ranking official when she was only twenty-eight years old. She's even giving a speech at the Nations' Union conference in three months," Oscar muttered to himself.

A look of amazement appeared on his chubby face when he talked about Melanie.

The Sanchez family was not a part of the Ten Prestigious Families, but Melanie's powers had surpassed everyone from the prestigious families.

"Sebastian, I know you're a lecherous person, but you must never mess with Melanie. Do you understand?" Oscar turned around and cast Sebastian a frown.

Sebastian lowered his head. "I understand."

"There's something really suspicious about who tore down the Freedman clan's mausoleum. Besides, you didn't even tell your dad the truth. But that's okay. I'll get to the bottom of it during this trip to Pollerton," Oscar said indifferently.

Sebastian's father, Frederick, had been working madly ever since the Freedman clan's mausoleum was torn down. He even had to get help from the Martial God of the Freedman clan to suppress the news.

Jennifer was too mad to speak.

A few minutes had just passed when someone knocked on the door.

Hearing that, Kevin hurried over to open the door. Immediately, he saw the legendary good-looking man.

No wonder Braxton's known as the most handsome man in the capital. It's really rare to see someone with such a charming appearance. I feel like he's exuding warmth by just standing there.

"Hello, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. I'm Braxton Irving. I'm here to pick Jennifer up." His behavior was decent; there was no fault with his actions and words.

Leonard and Linda were shocked by his attitude. "Oh. Jennifer is in her room. I'll get her for you."

The couple was elated.

After all, Braxton was a son of a prestigious family and one of the heirs of the Irving family. He was both rich and good-looking.

If Jennifer were to marry Braxton, it would bring glory to the Wilson family.

"Jennifer, listen to me. You've got to seize this opportunity. Do you understand?" Linda breathed.

Jennifer's face suddenly turned pale.

Such rumors were what she feared the most.

"No, that's not it," Jennifer hurriedly explained.

Braxton dared not do anything reckless to Lana, so he simply questioned, "Ms. Collins, she and I are both single, so why are you stepping in between us?"

Lana would rather not waste her time on the two, so she turned and left.

The place was already packed when Jennifer walked in with a heavy heart.

There, she saw Tyrone of the Campbell clan, Eleanor of Yund Group, and Oscar and Sebastian of “That’s because of Lord Campbell’s land reclamation project. The controlled fusion technology and the extreme insulation material technology shall be developed and produced in Pollerton. Lord Campbell truly is a great man.” Melanie paused for a while after saying that, and everyone could hear the admiration she had for the man in her tone.

Lord Campbell was the man of most women’s dreams, and Melanie was no different.

“I’ll once again make the first order regarding Pollerton!” uttered Melanie before an announcement appeared on the screen behind her.

“After thorough research, we’ve decided to divide Pollerton into four administrative regions. The first region will be the area where Lord Campbell Mountain Villa is. Named Lord Campbell’s Administrative Region, it shall focus on developing controlled fusion technology, super renewable energy, quantum information, and financial technology.”

That was order number one, and everyone’s breathing intensified after hearing it. This is the first time the country has named an administrative region after a person. The great honor shows just how much the country values Lord Campbell! That means whoever gets the right to operate in Lord Campbell’s Administrative Region will get a chance to ally with Lord Campbell!

Jennifer also put forward her plan, hoping to get involved with the project in Lord Campbell's Administrative Region. Eventually, Donald became the only one present who had not spoken yet. Hence, Melanie shifted her attention back to Donald in the end.

"Have you prepared a plan, sir?"

At that point, all eyes were on Donald. Standing alone, the man seemed almost helpless. Melanie did not think that was the case, though. On the contrary, Donald seemed as invincible and proud as a deity to her.

"I'm planning to restart... the Dragon Fide Villa project!" answered Donald calmly.

Tyrone's face instantly hardened when he heard those words. How dare he openly requests to restart that project and put that matter on the agenda on such an important occasion! He's obviously trying to humiliate the Campbell clan in public! Melanie simply gazed at Donald and said nothing.

Tyrone's bodyguard, Xylus, violently slammed his hand down on the table before jumping to his feet.

Who said you could restart the Dragon Fide Villa project?" Dragon Fide Villa was located in the west of Pollerton. If the two-thousand-foot-tall building had been completed back then,

Chapter 509 Wynter And Donald

With Tyrone taking the lead, five prestigious family heirs immediately rose in unison. On the other hand, many local giants and wealthy businessmen from other provinces all fell silent.

Nobody could see any potential in the Dragon Fide Villa project. The fact that five prestigious families were against the project only made it seem more difficult for Donald to get what he wanted.

“Don’t any of you dare!” The person representing Youngblood Group was a nobody, yet everyone knew better than to underestimate him.

“We, Noah International Group, also disagree with this matter!” voiced Gibbons, stretching lazily.

“Whoever dares support the man will be our enemies!”

After that, more and more gazes of pity landed on Donald. Even though Noah International Group was a squeaky-clean company running a legitimate business, Noah the Parasite was its biggest shareholder.

They were still short of two hundred billion to complete the Dragon Fide Villa project. That was a vast sum of money.

Back then, Raymond kickstarted the Dragon Fide Villa project with his own might after securing investments from more than seven hundred giant corporations. Unfortunately, all these corporations had to withdraw from the project after receiving threats from the Campbell clan.

Raymond had no choice but to abandon the project halfway through since he no longer had financial support. This incident almost caused a furor at that time.

“I, Reina Wilson, am willing to fork out eight hundred million to help Donald restart the construction of Dragon Fide Villa!” Another person entered through the door.

The petite Reina walked in and sat next to Donald on his left. The people from the prestigious families froze for a bit. Their expression turned grim as Reina’s words were a slap across their faces!
