

Magic Era 1011

Chapter 1011 Repel

The two huge arms of light shot towards Lin Yun from both sides, they were accompanied by meteors rapidly condensing and flying towards Lin Yun.

Lin Yun flashed away, dodging the pincer attack of the two huge hands. His Magic Array was working at full capacity when faced with the rain of meteors, it took a second to calculate the trajectories of all the meteors for the next three seconds.

His tall body was like the most flexible elves within this rain of meteors. He didn't even need to use a defensive spell, he only needed to dodge to avoid the meteors and not a single one came in contact with Lin Yun.

Lin Yun had even calculated the direction and timing of the dodges to make the air blasts sweeping behind the meteors counteract each other.

Lin Yun's eyes were focused on Kraff as he dodged. When they were fifty meters apart, Lin Yun rapidly chanted three runes.

Countless runes suddenly flew out of the huge wheel shadow behind Lin Yun.

It felt as if someone had ignited a dozen torches as the sound of flames igniting suddenly echoed, mixed with the sound of running water.

Twelve eight-meter-tall lava vortexes formed a semicircle in front of Kraff .

Then, the lava vortexes rapidly revolved and spurted innumerable lava spells which turned into spellwaves flowing towards Kraff.

Kraff's expression suddenly changed in the face of such a terrifying burst attack. He promptly recalled his two arms of light and used these hands as a shield to forcibly block that flood of lava spells in front of him.

His body was pushed back as he blocked. With an outburst of mana, he sent over a hundred Meteors towards Lin Yun.

At that time, Enderfa, who had been helping the Blood Fang Beastmen attack the Golden Top Beastmen, quietly mumbled, "That Golden Beastman is really an idiot. Merlin pushed forward to be within a few dozen meters from him, how could he just cast spells in a semicircle?"

Sure enough, Kraff retreated a dozen meters when he suddenly felt even more terrifying mana fluctuations behind him. A dozen sixteen-meter-big Lava Spheres appeared behind him.

Kraff finally understood why Lin Yun had needed to be so close, it was because he wanted to condense spells behind him, to form a violent circle of spells.

Those twelve lava vortexes were only an appetizer, while what came from behind was the main course.

Four Lava Spheres flew in first, but Kraff had nowhere to hide. He could only urge his mana to form shields and buff his two hands with a dozen layers of defenses in order to block those spells.

Kraff stopped where he was and kept buffing himself. At that time, Lin Yun casually tore a fifty-centimeter-long scroll. Following that, a light seemingly tore through space and rapidly fell towards Kraff.

But Kraff had already been submerged by lava at that time, his layers of protective shield had already been torn to shreds and were rapidly exposing those two hands of light.

Those twelve lava vortexes also formed a complete circle around Kraff. The boundless lava spells they emitted turned into spellwaves that kept pressuring Kraff.

After three seconds, Kraff slowly managed to regain some strength and rushed out of the spellwaves with an ashen face.

“Damn scoundrel, that was your last opportunity...”

But Kraff had yet to finish his sentence as he discovered that Lin Yun had unexpectedly withdrawn. Lin Yun kept flickering within the lava pond and was over a hundred meters away in an instant.

A terrifying oppressive power could be felt above Kraff’s head. At that time, Kraff finally discovered the meteorite dropping down above his head. It was falling at such an extreme speed that when he looked up, it was still a kilometer-high, but it only took an instant for the meteorite to be a few dozen meters above his head.

Kraff shrieked in alarm, wanting to dodge to the side while using the two hands to hit that meteorite away.

Those dozen-meter-big hands of light instantly exploded on contact with the meteorite, turned into light and dissipated.

The meteorite grazed Kraff’s body and fell to the ground. The terrifying wave of energy was like a giant palm swatting at Kraff, ruthlessly pulling him down to the ground.

And at that time, a shockwave suddenly spread out as the meteorite hit the ground, and Kraff fell into that shockwave.

That three-meter-tall body felt like a ball that was violently whipped down by a giant and ruthlessly fell to the ground before being kicked flying.

“Crack...”

A sharp noise echoed as Kraff flew out while screaming. Suddenly, a crack appeared on the crown he wore.

Cracks started appearing on Kraff’s body and that layer of defense instantly collapsed. The Golden Top Ancestor Soul flew out of Kraff’s body as if violently torn out. That 150-meter-tall body was like a mountain collapsed on the ground.

The Golden Top Ancestor Soul’s arms had disappeared and it was currently slowly recovering. The surface of his body was covered in numerous cracks and looked just like a cracked porcelain. As long as a bit of force was applied, it would break down into countless fragments.

Kraff spat out blood, startled and angry at the same time. One of his arms was twisted in a strange shape, clearly broken.

Facing the incoming Lin Yun, Kraff decisively chanted an incantation.

A huge golden crown shadow appeared above his head and light sprinkled down from it, enveloping the Golden Top Ancestor Soul and Kraff. In an instant, their figures disappeared in the floating golden crown shadow.

A large number of spells fell down where they had just been, shattering the earth and creating a several-dozen-meter-big hole in that location.

Lin Yun was slightly stunned as he looked over there.

“Reverse Summoning? That guy is truly bold enough, isn’t he scared of dying in the summoning process?”

The summoning passage wasn’t too much of a problem to a soul like the Ancestor Soul, but the passage had no air, no element, nothing. Ordinary people would explode and die in that location.

Although Beastmen had formidable physique, a Reverse Summoning would be hard to take. It would be considered good luck if his lungs didn’t explode.

It was like someone suddenly appeared in a vacuum-like environment with no gravity and no atmospheric pressure, their body would expand and explode.

Only Heaven Rank powerhouses could resist this kind of environment.

Since Kraff escaped, Lin Yun didn’t give chase and instead flew towards the sky, ready to help Dedale.

The group from the Odin Kingdom was looking at Lin Yun with shock.

Raphael had previously only thought that Lin Yun was outstanding in the field of alchemy, especially with rune carving. His speed was faster than all alchemists to the point where it was terrifying. Raphael felt that Lin Yun’s foundations were extremely solid.

But now, he saw Lin Yun’s fighting strength.

‘So powerful... Is that guy really a 7th Rank Archmage? No wonder he could lead a force, and no wonder the people from the Andlusa Kingdom are very polite and didn’t raise a fuss when he took most of the Andlusa Kingdom’s spots, even giving them willingly.

‘That burst of power exceeded the limits of the Archmage realm, it might even be a bit more powerful than a newly advanced Heaven Mage. I’m afraid he isn’t much weaker than Dedale.

‘It would be very difficult for Dedale to win if he fought with this Mafa Merlin, they should be even at first, but Dedale would ultimately win. After all, Mafa Merlin is only a 7th Rank Archmage, he definitely wouldn’t be Dedale’s opponent in a battle of endurance...’

On the other side, it could be seen from Morgan and Arnaud’s expressions that they had been expecting it. The two looked at each other and felt that this was Lin Yun’s true strength...

As for Dylas, he had a disdainful expression.

'Damn b*stard, what's so great about burst power? Isn't this just borrowing the power of a Magic Tool? That stupid Gold Beastman, how could he have lasted less than half a minute if he had been a bit more careful?

'He is just a 7th Rank Archmage, this kind of burst power should just be a one-time kind of thing, or he wouldn't have used that scroll.

'Stupid Golden Beastman, as long as he persevered for a few more seconds, he would have been able to exhaust Mafa Merlin's mana and tear that guy to shreds. Truly an idiot.'

But the Gold Beastmen were the enemies, so Dylas didn't express his thoughts out loud. Regardless of what anyone thought, they could now relax.

After all, an enemy that could display the power of a Heaven Rank powerhouse was a huge threat to them.

They wouldn't have had a good ending if the Blood Fang Tribe had been breached. They would have definitely suffered mortal injuries when faced with the Golden Top Beastmen and the Golden Beastmen's siege.

With Kraff escaping first, the Golden Top Great Tribal Chief and the Heaven Warlock immediately lost the desire to fight.

Seeing Lin Yun flying up, The Heaven Warlock immediately burst with mana and released a Flame Storm towards the charging Dedale before retreating.

In the sky, the Golden Top Great Tribal Chief rudely cursed before following.

"Idiots of the Blood Fang Tribe, today is your lucky day!"

The Golden Top Wolf Riders and the two Heaven Rank rapidly retreated, and although the Blood Fang Tribe's losses weren't small, they didn't pursue. The human side was even less willing to chase, who knew if they would be encircled by Undeads after leaving the tribe.

The battle had started quickly, and ended just as quickly. With the appearance of the Golden Top Beastmen, the group had strange expressions. There was a problem with this world.

After having repelled the Golden Top Beastmen, the Blood Fang Great Tribal Chief personally came to thank them.

"Brave warriors, thank you for uncovering the idiotic Golden Top Beastmen's plot and helping us repel those hateful guys. They are fools who have forgotten the Beastmen's heroism, they will be abandoned by the Ancestors sooner or later."

Chapter 1012 Existing In the Pas

The Great Tribal Chief's voice was very loud, with an extremely indignant tone. He was angrily cursing the Golden Top Beastmen.

“Come, warriors, we prepared a magnificent bonfire banquet in your honor. Fat roasted meat and spicy wine await you...”

After those words, the Great Tribal Chief led them out.

At this point, Lin Yun suddenly said something. “What’s going on with this world, or should I say, with this wasteland?”

The Great Tribal Chief froze, but he didn’t have time to say anything before Lin Yun continued asking, “And what’s going on with that valley? What’s going on with the Golden Top Tribe? Why are they attacking the Blood Fang Tribe?”

The Great Tribal Chief suddenly scratched his forehead and explained with a chuckle, “Those Golden Top idiots have been our enemies for a very long time. They definitely learnt that we recently fought with Demons, and thus, they took the opportunity to attack us.”

Lin Yun smiled.

“Great Tribal Chief, no matter how strong the hatred between the Blood Fang Tribe and the Golden Top Tribe is, that is still just enmity between two tribes. They would be disdained by their ancestors by letting a foreign race disguise as their own to ambush you. They would be disdained by all clansmen.”

Lin Yun exposed the Great Tribal Chief’s lie with a short sentence.

The others all expressionlessly looked at the Great Tribal Chief and waited for his explanation. They were all doubtful... They wanted to know how to leave and what was going on with all the Undead outside.

Dedale asked with a calm expression, “Great Tribal Chief, we have to know the truth. How can we leave this world?”

The Great Tribal Chief’s smile disappeared, and after a long pause, he sighed, “No one can leave this wasteland. Someone once wanted to leave this wasteland, but they disappeared after reaching the edge and never returned.

“I don’t know how long we have lived here for, but no clansman was ever able to leave, and no one knows what is outside the wasteland.

“And regarding the Golden Top Tribe, there has been a very long enmity between our two tribes. As long as there is an opportunity, we would always attack the other side. We would have counterattacked if we had learnt about the attack earlier.

“But we hadn’t expected that they would use outsiders... There is a legend spread among our two tribes: Whoever can unify the wasteland can obtain the blessing of the ancestor and can even leave this wasteland.

“Our tribes’ clansmen are fewer and fewer in number, and the wasteland is becoming less and less fertile. We have to seek new land and establish a new territory.

“That’s why we and the Golden Top Tribe are attacking each other. Whoever wins will be the final winner, obtaining the blessing and shelter of the ancestors.

“Then, we will defeat the filthy Demons and allow our clansmen to no longer have to sacrifice their lives...”

The Great Tribal Chief said a lot before finally dragging everyone away to celebrate. But they declined by using the excuse that they had used up too much mana and were extremely exhausted.

They all gathered and started discussing the information they had obtained.

Dedale was calm and collected, but his expression didn't look very good.

“There is a problem with this world, a huge problem.”

After saying that, he looked at Lin Yun, who had questioned the Great Tribal Chief.

“Sir Mafa Merlin, I believe you have already discovered some of the issues. Please express your opinion.”

Lin Yun massaged his temples

“I think we are in huge trouble. The Great Tribal Chief might have still concealed some matters earlier. Most importantly, I feel that this world isn't a complete world. It might only be as big as this wasteland...”

These words startled everyone.

Lin Yun continued, speaking with certainty. “First of all, the Beastmen here don't have the concept of planes and know nothing of Planar Paths. They don't seem to know that there are other planes outside this plane, or world.

“The Great Tribal Chief said this wasteland, not this world. Think about it... We have been chased by the Undead since we arrived, and we've never left this wasteland. This wasteland is huge, but it is far from being a plane. Thus, I believe that this is an incomplete world, a shattered plane.

“Secondly, the Blood Fang Tribe and the Golden Top Tribe were the most ancient Beastman Tribes of the Raging Flame Plane. They only existed during that era.

“Thirdly, that canyon is exactly the same as the Black Burn Scar. Sir Raphael should have already observed the Black Burn Scar's surroundings, right?”

Raphael's expression wasn't very good as he nodded.

“From my observations, that canyon is exactly the same as the Black Burn Scar. And the surrounding terrain is more or less the same, too! If the Black Burn Scar's surroundings hadn't been mined, then it would be exactly like this place!”

Dylas sneered as he looked at Lin Yun. “Mafa Merlin, what are you trying to say? Could it be that you think you know what is happening with this world?”

Lin Yun frowned as he shared his conclusion. “My guess is that this shattered world is existing in the past of the Raging Flame Plane. It is the Raging Flame Plane's ancient era.”

This sentence startled everyone.

“Merlin, you are saying that this world exists in the past?”

Lin Yun nodded and replied, “Only in that era would there be Beastmen that don’t know about planes and Planar Paths. Moreover, the Blood Fang Tribe and the Golden Top Tribe only existed during that era.

“The two tribes were fighting over the rule of the Raging Flame Plane. Only after their extinction did other smaller tribes rise to prominence, and even later, the Raging Flame Emperor appeared, leading to the eight great tribes as we know them.

“Similarly, the Black Burn Scar only looks like that in that era of the Raging Flame Plane.

“It’s impossible for two planes to be exactly the same, not to mention the existence of Demon Overlords there.

“When combined with the Raging Flame Plane’s history, this place could only be the Raging Flame Plane. It must be its past!”

There was an even more terrifying conjecture, but Lin Yun didn’t mention it. He had to speak with the Great Shaman before he could bring that up.

No one refuted Lin Yun’s speculations, because these were the most rational facts. Apart from this, nothing else could match their current circumstances.

But these truths made everyone look displeased. Anyone able to create such a situation was an existence they absolutely had to look up to.

“Mafa Merlin, you have said so much, but what’s the point? It’s just rubbish, and we still don’t know a way to leave this world. We know nothing about the damned Undeads and the wretched Beastmen...”

Dylas was a bit irritated. Anyone trapped there without any way to leave would be irritated. Since Lin Yun couldn’t find a way out and could only explain the situation, he became the target of Dylas’ venting.

Lin Yun didn’t butt heads with Dylas, and he instead pointed into the distance.

“We don’t know, but some people do know. Those Golden Beastmen have ruled the Raging Flame Plane for many years and should have entered the Raging Flame Battlefield quite a few times. Moreover, they should have the most understanding of the Raging Flame Battlefield. Since they came in, they almost certainly know some information... such as how to leave this cursed world.”

Dylas sneered once again.

“Mafa Merlin, you are too naive, or should I say too stupid? Your plan is actually to ask the Golden Beastmen? Don’t tell me that you believe that those Golden Beastmen would happily tell you?”

“The Golden Beastmen are the current rulers of the Raging Flame Plane, they hate humans the most and would only entertain us with swords, spells, and curses. This is just nonsense.

“You want to ask the Golden Beastmen... Is your brain still working?”

Lin Yun glanced at Dylas. “With Sir Dylas’ insight, it looks like you haven’t heard about extorting a confession. In the mage world, there are people with willpower harder than steel, and there are also Beastmen whose souls are completely devoted to shamanism, but it is impossible for all Golden Beastmen to be like that. Someone will definitely start talking.”

Dylas had a dark expression as he attentively watched Lin Yun. He had yet to say anything when Dedale made a decision.

“Alright, we will capture those Golden Beastmen. I hope their souls are stronger than their bodies. They are now in the Golden Top Tribe, and thus, we have to attack the Golden Top Tribe to capture them.”

On the side, Raphael awkwardly shook his head.

“What about the Undead? Finding the location of the Golden Top Tribe is very easy, but how should we get there? Those damn Undead Beastmen won’t approach Beastmen, but they can suddenly surge from the ground to attack us. We can’t look for the Golden Top Tribe if we can’t deal with the Undead.”

They all shook their heads. This was a very troublesome matter. If they wanted to leave this wasteland, they had to go look for the Golden Beastmen, because only they knew the way to leave this world.

As for directly leaving the wasteland, who knew whether that would let them leave this world or if they’d just die? The Blood Fang Beastmen had remained here for so many years, but those that left never appeared again. No one wanted to take the chance.

And wanting to capture the Golden Beastmen meant attacking the Golden Top Beastmen, but there was still the huge problem of the Undead. If they left and were surrounded by the Undead army on the prairie, even if Dedale was comparable to a Heaven Rank powerhouse, they would still die from exhaustion.

Lin Yun contemplated for a while before thinking of the Great Shaman. The Great Tribal Chief had concealed a lot of things, and the former, as the tribe’s Great Shaman, definitely hid even more things.

The Beastmen tribes believed in their ancestors’ power and inheritance, a belief in shamanism.

Prophets and Shamans were the two most important individuals in the Beastmen tribes. The prophet was in charge of passing on the tribe’s knowledge, while the shaman, strictly speaking, was in charge of the soul of the tribe and its teachings.

The Shaman clearly knew more about this kind of matter. The last meeting was a good piece of proof.

Lin Yun stood up and left the room to find the Great Shaman.

When he saw the Great Shaman, the latter was lying on a wooden bed, and the walls of his room were marked with blood-drawn runes. Apart from the huge bed inside the room, there was nothing else. Even the bed was covered in burnt marks from the released lightning.

Clearly, the Great Shaman had been holding too much lightning power, which had exceeded his limit. His body was unconsciously discharging the lightning.

When Lin Yun set foot in the room, he seemed to have attracted all the lightning within the room. In an instant, the lightning covering the Great Shaman flickered and rushed towards Lin Yun.

Chapter 1013 Suppressed

Lin Yun's left hand was holding a fist-sized spherical Magic Tool. This was the Elemental Passage he had dismantled from the Heaven Rank Puppet in the Raging Flame Plane.

The glaring lightning kept rushing into the Elemental Passage and dissipated as if sucked in. The lightning covering the Great Shaman's body kept surging, as if it would never stop.

It took less than three minutes for the surface of the Elemental Passage to flicker with lightning. The Elemental Passage could only devour one spell at once, whether it was a 1st Tier Spell or an 8th Tier Spell, it made no difference.

These continuous rays of lightning were just lightning power, strictly speaking, they couldn't be considered as magic. But as long as they were uninterrupted, the Elemental Passage would consider them all as one spell. Unless they exceeded the limit, it could keep absorbing them.

The lightning on the surface of the Great Shaman's body slowly dissipated, and the remnant power wasn't enough to put the Great Shaman out of commission.

After putting away the Elemental Passage, Lin Yun took out one more Health Potion.

"Sir Great Shaman, this is a Health Potion I refined."

The Great Shaman gratefully bowed towards Lin Yun and took the Health Potion.

With the lightning dissipating and the Health Potion drunk, the bedridden Great Shaman had now recovered to a stable state and could move without problem.

"Sir Great Shaman, I want to ask you a question, I hope you could tell me the truth."

The Great Shaman shook his head.

"My greatest thanks for your generosity, you helped reduce my pain. But I don't really know the answer to your question."

Lin Yun faintly smiled, not getting angry.

"Sir Great Shaman, I've yet to ask you the question, yet you already seem to know what I want to ask?"

The Great Shaman opened his mouth, before bitterly smiling.

"Sir Great Shaman, I want to ask what's going on with the Undeads outside. I want to know the truth."

The Great Shaman immediately shook his head.

"I also don't know, I've never seen an Undead. I'm not sure there are any Undead, I'm very sorry, I'm unable to help you."

Lin Yun remained calm as he had been expecting this kind of reaction.

"If Sir Great Shaman isn't convinced there are Undeads outside, then it's very simple. I'll just go out for half an hour and capture a few hundred Undead Beastmen, it is a very simple matter."

After saying that, Lin Yun turned around to walk out.

The Great Shaman's expression changed in an instant. Capturing Undeads was really the simplest method, but a few hundred would definitely expose the truth to the tribe.

"Wait, wait, young man, you win. Since you want to know, I'll tell you the truth. But the truth isn't what you are hoping for..."

Lin Yun turned around and calmly listened to the Great Shaman as he recalled history while sighing.

"In the most ancient era, the Greater Raging Flame Overlord ruled the entire world. All Beastmen were only slaves to the Greater Raging Flame Overlord and all Beastmen's lives were in his grasp.

"The vicious Greater Overlord could kill his slave Beastmen at will, and the blood of Beastmen flowed to every corner of the Greater Raging Flame Overlord's territory.

"Until the day when my ancestor, the greatest Shaman Sarr, rose up. He started leading us to resist the Greater Overlord ruthless rule. Numerous brave Beastmen ended up sacrificing their lives, and even Saar offered his own life.

"We successfully overthrew the Greater Raging Flame Overlord's rule and sealed him. But although the suppressing seal was very powerful and consumed Saar's life, it could barely suppress the Greater Raging Flame Overlord.

"The Greater Raging Flame Overlord keeps attacking the seal, and from time to time, some of the Greater Overlord's power would rush out of the seal and greatly harm us. This is a disaster for us.

"Every few dozen years, a heroic Beastman needs to use his life to strengthen the seal.

"But too much of the Greater Raging Flame Overlord's power is leaking. We keep fighting with the large amount of Demons he summons, and every year, a large number of heroic warriors sacrifice their lives.

"As time passes, the number of warriors is dwindling and our Beastman force keeps weakening. At the same time, the number of Demons keeps increasing as more of the Greater Raging Flame Overlord's power leaks out. He'll ultimately escape from his trap one day.

"Back then, the tribe's wise Leksa eventually found a method to seal the Greater Raging Flame Overlord that didn't need Beastmen to keep sacrificing their lives to reinforce the seal.

"Leksa summoned a large number of powerhouses and, in the seal area, Leksa cut himself and died, while the others poured his life and soul into the seal.

"A large number of Beastmen's ancestors sacrificed their lives, and their souls formed a huge cage that would imprison the Greater Raging Flame Overlord for all eternity.

"But that method wasn't without flaw, their soul couldn't rest, and their bodies turned Undead, forever wandering this wasteland.

"I read through my ancestors' records and watched as time passed. When it comes to this, I could feel Leksar's willingness to abandon his beliefs and turn himself into an Undead, to make his soul unable to rest.

"I also know that their souls are struggling forever. Even after knowing that they had turned Undead, they still retained some of their memories.

"They are still guarding our tribe and all outsiders would be attacked by the Undead army. However, they would never show themselves to Beastmen.

"They are unwilling to let their descendants and clansmen see their appearances, they are unwilling to let their descendants and clansmen know that they abandoned the beliefs of their ancestors. They are unwilling to let us know that their souls hadn't returned to the embrace of the earth or turned into Ancestor Souls.

"But I can see it. I've never seen Undeads before, but I know they are still completing their mission.

"The souls of our ancestors won't rest as long as they are suppressing the Greater Raging Flame Overlord, and the Undeads would forever remain.

"That canyon where Demons keeps appearing is the area where the Greater Raging Flame Overlord is sealed.

"It's not that I'm unwilling to tell you the truth, it's just that if you don't want to deal with the Undead army, you have to face the terrifying Greater Raging Flame Overlord.

"If I may advise you, don't provoke the Greater Raging Flame Overlord. You don't understand how terrifying he is. Even sealed, the raging flames formed from a bit of leaked power are enough to burn anyone to ashes."

The Great Shaman had a gloomy tone, he didn't have any intent to fight. Just a bit of power leaked from the Greater Raging Flame Overlord wasn't something they could resist.

Lin Yun silently nodded, a flash of understanding appearing in his eyes as the situation was explained.

In the legends of the Raging Flame Plane, everything in the Black Burn Scar had been destroyed by a Greater Demon Overlord. Even ten millennia later, the remnant of the fierce flames weren't something anyone under the Heaven Rank could study.

After having guessed that this shattered world existed in the past of the Raging Flame Plane, Lin Yun conjectured that there might have been a genuine Greater Demon Overlord suppressed there, and sure enough, it was the case.

And Lin Yun finally understood why it was suppressed there. This kind of existence was an apex ruler in the Abyss. Countless Demons crawled under its feet, but for it to be suppressed in the Raging Flame Plane was too strange.

But he clearly understood now why the Raging Flame Plane was called the Raging Flame Plane. It was because the original ruler of the Raging Flame Plane was this Greater Raging Flame Overlord!

His rule was overthrown! And by the Beastmen he originally oppressed as slaves. But the Raging Flame name kept being passed on.

After obtaining the information he wanted, Lin Yun went back to the others to discuss it.

Everyone was shocked after hearing the information gathered by Lin Yun. No one expected a Greater Demon Overlord to actually be sealed under that canyon.

And what they needed to do now was to look for a way to truly suppress this Greater Demon Overlord and free those Beastmen's souls from their cages.

Only after these Beastmen's souls were truly freed would the Undead army dissipate. That way, they would be able to attack the Golden Top Tribe and capture the Golden Beastmen without the looming threat of the Undeads.

Regarding that matter, those that didn't know much about arrays and weren't alchemists couldn't give good ideas. Raphael frowned for a long time, before hesitantly saying, "The array in that canyon is a very old array. The arrays from back then wouldn't be as refined. I believe that we can definitely find a better method to suppress that Greater Demon Overlord now.

"Although the Greater Demon Overlord is terrifyingly powerful, to the point where it could eliminate all of us with his voice and destroy this world with one hit, it is now suppressed. It wouldn't pose a big threat to us unless it rushes out of the seal and escapes the suppression.

"Leaked aura wouldn't be too powerful. I believe that we are powerful enough to handle it.

"At least, it would be a lot easier than facing those Undeads, it isn't invincible like those Undeads."

Raphael, the appointed leader of Sky City's forces, was a Peak Master Alchemist and Sky City's best expert in the field of arrays. His words had the most sway, at least to the Odin Kingdom's people, his words were far more convincing than the Artisan of the Andlusa Kingdom.

Everyone had seen Lin Yun's foundation in rune carving before, they had also seen Lin Yun taking out first-rate potions, and thus, they automatically believed that Lin Yun was a potioneering expert.

No one asked for Lin Yun's opinion. After Raphael shared his opinion, Dedale firmly clapped his hands and made this decision.

Although the Greater Demon Overlord was terrifying, a suppressed Greater Demon Overlord was far less terrifying than an Undead army.

Chapter 1014 Simulation

After reaching the canyon, the three mages from Sky City started examining the place under Raphael's lead and looked for the array's location.

They saw a Horned Demon when they arrived. Dedale took charge of the group and rapidly killed the Horned Demon.

The mana fluctuations destroyed a large part of the canyon, but they had yet to see any trace of the array. They could only see some remains of alchemy puppets on the ground, and these remains were covered in rust, almost decayed. It was as if they had been scrapped for a long time and could no longer be used as components.

Apart from these, they couldn't find any clues. There was not a single clue relating to the array. There were mountains of various sizes.

Raphael was somewhat twitchy as they came up empty-handed. This was the place where a Greater Demon Overlord was suppressed, yet they couldn't find the array. Moreover, they couldn't casually damage the surroundings too much. They might end up unknowingly damaging the array if they casually dug around.

They would be in huge trouble if just a bit of the array was damaged. No one dared to move without being sure of the array's location.

Ultimately, they couldn't find any clues. Raphael carefully dug around a place that he believed might possibly have some traces of an array.

But they didn't find any traces after digging ten meters into the earth. There were only rusted remains of puppets.

Lin Yun looked at those remains and felt that they were a bit familiar. The style of the design and some smaller details were somewhat familiar, but these remains were in such poor condition that they were basically no different from a pile of dirt. A small bit of force would be enough to crush them to pieces.

Raphael had a foolish expression after boldly digging so far down without discovering anything. He wasn't even sure that an array existed here.

"Sir Mafa Merlin, there is no trace of an array here... Is this really the place where the Greater Demon Overlord is sealed?"

Lin Yun hovered in the air, sizing up the entire canyon, as well as the mountains surrounding the area.

Endless runes roamed within Lin Yun's eyes and slowly gathered to take the shape of this mountain range. After being halfway formed, those runes suddenly collapsed.

Lin Yun's body faintly shook. His mana was somewhat chaotic, but Lin Yun grinned.

He had just used the runes to reference this mountain range, and although he only managed to do half before it collapsed, it was already enough for Lin Yun to figure out that this was a huge array. The entire canyon was the center of the huge array, while the surrounding mountain range was part of it.

This is a Heaven Grade Array. Only a Heaven Grade Array would have collapsed as he tried to simulate it. The simulation would have shown everything just fine for an ordinary mountain range, even if he was also simulating the vegetation.

"This canyon and the mountain range surrounding it form a huge array!" Lin Yun shared the outcome of his examination with Raphael.

Raphael was greatly alarmed, and he promptly flew up to examine it.

Meanwhile, Dylas sneered.

"Mafa Merlin, you have lost your mind. Those Blood Fang Beastmen clearly concealed the truth and didn't tell us many things. What Great Overlord? What array? These are just their lies, yet you believed them?"

“You think the entire mountain range is a huge array? You dare to say that? Don’t you have a bit of common sense? How could these ordinary mountains form an array? Let alone one that can suppress a Greater Demon Overlord?”

“Hurry up and f*ck off, don’t shame yourself. It’s fine if you don’t understand, but making irresponsible remarks makes you look stupid. You have just been tricked by the Blood Fang Beastmen, that’s all. You’re only making yourself look stupid by saying this kind of thing...”

Dylas willfully lashed out at Lin Yun, while the others were similarly skeptical. It was because the Sky City’s alchemists, who were known to be proficient in arrays, had been searching for a while without finding a single trace of the array. Lin Yun finding the array so easily definitely felt wrong to them.

Raphael was frowning and carefully observing the surroundings from the sky, but he couldn’t find the outline. He only faintly felt that there was something strange with this mountain range and the canyon at its center.

Lin Yun glanced at Dylas, and the runes within his eyes rapidly moved. He couldn’t simulate the entire array, but forming a part was relatively easy.

After a few seconds, a part of the array framework near Dylas was delineated by Lin Yun, and he opened his mouth and sent a rune towards the ground.

In everyone’s eyes, there was just a common section of the ground there, but to Lin Yun, there was a node and an array’s patterns.

Dylas was actually standing on top of the patterns. No one was able to sense Lin Yun’s rune as it fell onto the ground. The energy transmitted by the array patterns were slightly blocked, and in an instant, accumulated energy spouted out of the array pattern.

Everyone suddenly sensed demonic power surging from below. Black smoke surged out from the ground, and there was enough of it to cover Dylas. Two Level 35 Horned Demons suddenly appeared beside Dylas.

The sudden reaction startled everyone. The two Horned Demons had sinister expressions as they simultaneously attacked the closest person, Dylas.

Dylas was very shocked, but he still promptly roused the Dark Night Cloak. Shadows frantically spread out, rising from the ground as they covered the two Horned Demons.

With Dylas’ burst of power, two runes appeared on top of the Dark Night Cloak, and the shadows covering the ground were like a monster roaming the night as they devoured the two Horned Demons.

Dylas was deathly pale, his heart beating extremely quickly as he was in a panicked state. He then gritted his teeth and glared at Lin Yun.

“Mafa Merlin! Are you declaring war on our Shadow Tower!? You little b*stard...”

Lin Yun landed on the ground and calmly looked at the enraged Dylas.

“Sir Dylas, didn’t you say that this wasn’t the location of the array? I only proved it, so there shouldn’t be any problem now, right?”

Dylas' complexion was pale green, he ground his teeth as he glared at Lin Yun.

"Mafa Merlin, you did it on purpose, didn't you? You set me up on purpose, didn't you? If I hadn't reacted fast enough, I would have been crushed by those two filthy Demons!"

Lin Yun seemed indifferent to Dylas' words.

"Sir Dylas, do you think I can control this array? This joke isn't funny. This is a huge Heaven Grade Array!"

Dylas opened his mouth, but he was at a loss. What could he say? That Lin Yun was able to control a Heaven Grade Array to trap him? Even he wouldn't believe it.

Dylas looked at the others, and clearly, no one felt Lin Yun was at fault. They all thought that this was an accident. After all, this was a huge Heaven Grade Array. No one here could control it.

In the sky, Raphael's face was red from excitement as he looked at the canyon below and the surrounding mountain range while mumbling to himself, "Right, this is the central node, and the mountains and the canyon are the patterns. Heavens, such a huge array... This is definitely a Heaven Grade Array..."

Raphael excitedly went back to Lin Yun, shock and respect visible in his eyes.

Before, he had only felt that Lin Yun's runic foundations were very good and that he was a formidable Artisan specialized in potioneering. The medicines he'd refined, especially the ones for healing, were far better than the ones made by the Odin Kingdom's Artisans.

But he hadn't expected him to also be so formidable in the field of arrays. He almost immediately thought of flying up in the air to look at the structure of the entire mountain range.

This was an outrageous way of thinking, but he used a very short time to ascertain that this mountain range was indeed using this canyon as its core to form a huge array.

Moreover, he discovered the location of this array's patterns in a very short time. Those patterns were fused with the earth!

'That foolish Dylas doesn't understand the most basic structure of arrays, yet he actually dared to question an outstanding Artisan. Are all the mages from the Shadow Tower that foolish?'

Raphael's eyes were filled with surprise as he unconsciously started looking at Lin Yun as someone of equal standing, no longer considering the Andlusa Kingdom's mages to be below the Odin Kingdom's.

All mages of Sky City had to specialize in arrays, because the most powerful war tools of Sky City ranged from the smallest floating fortress to the biggest Sky City.

Everything was related to arrays. The others couldn't see anything and didn't feel that Lin Yun was formidable, but Raphael clearly understood. 'He found the array's location, as well as the outline of the structure. He even found the node of the array in a mere few seconds. The difficulty of such a task is terrifying...'

Raphael himself couldn't do it as easily as Lin Yun had even after knowing the location of the array.

He even felt that Lin Yun had purposely made the two Horned Demons attack Dylas, but he chose to remain silent.

An ignorant fool criticized an outstanding Artisan proficient in the field of arrays... He definitely deserved to die.

At this moment, Raphael no longer had a favorable impression of Dylas at all. This was the pride of an alchemist.

Raphael couldn't help humbling himself involuntarily and started discussing with Lin Yun using alchemy terminology.

"Sir Merlin, this array used the mountain range as patterns. The energy circuits seem extremely simple, but they are hidden in an extremely complicated way. The entire array is in 3D and is even concealing both light and dark sides. Simulating the entire thing wouldn't be easy. After all, this is a Heaven Grade Array..."

Lin Yun pointed at the canyon.

"The entire array can't be simulated with traditional methods. Constructing the entire framework first and adding the details later is impossible. With the canyon as the center, we should divide it into parts. Break down the entire array and simulate a hundred parts. Simulate the details first, and then form the framework."

Raphael had a flash of understanding and tested Lin Yun's method before immediately giving him a thumbs-up.

"Indeed, Sir Merlin is right. Although this method is the slowest method, it is the most suitable one for this huge Heaven Grade Array. We would take a year to construct the entire framework with our current manpower, and we might not even complete it. Although this method is more complicated, it is the fastest method..."

Chapter 1015 It's Time

Lin Yun and Raphael kept discussing the details of the simulation, such as how to find the array patterns, nodes, and even the runic key locations...

As for the others, they could only be baffled as they listened. They couldn't make sense of what they were hearing as the discussion of the two alchemists became more and more technical.

Soon, they all moved aside and left the area to Lin Yun and Raphael. The other three mages of Sky City started preparing all kinds of tools according to Lin Yun and Raphael's instructions.

As the discussion progressed, Raphael was gazing at Lin Yun with even more shock and respect. Sky City's three mages couldn't help looking at Lin Yun with admiration. They would immediately implement what Lin Yun asked, without double-checking with Raphael.

Time passed, and as Raphael and Lin Yun simulated the array together, the sheets of paper had already formed a small mountain. Several dozen bottles of ink had also been used.

The entire array had been broken down into over a hundred parts, and the structure and details of the array had been simulated. This took a lot of time and a huge amount of calculations.

At first, Raphael led the three mages from Sky City, but then, those three mages could only act as supporting roles. Their simulation speed was too slow, as was their calculation speed.

At the rate they worked at, it would take four to five months to complete the simulation. But for Lin Yun, with the Magic Array and the Ten Thousand Spell Wheel, his calculation speed was twenty to thirty times as fast as Raphael's. Overall, he would take around a tenth of the time Raphael needed for the simulation. Thus, Raphael took the initiative to support Lin Yun.

Even so, they spent ten days simulating the entire array. Over a hundred sheets of crystal paper formed some sort of huge jigsaw puzzle representing the parts of the array.

The array's 3D structure of what was hidden under the earth had been completely inferred.

Raphael started researching this array with Lin Yun, and after half a month, the research reached a bottleneck.

"Sir Merlin, we've reached the limits of data calculation. Without experimentation, it would be impossible to obtain key data."

Raphael was looking at Lin Yun with deep respect. Close to a month of research made him strongly understand how formidable this young man was in the field of alchemy.

With his formidable computing power, he was able to infer a lot of data that would normally require experimentation.

This greatly reduced the risks. After all, the array was suppressing a Greater Demon Overlord. When altering the array, a moment of carelessness could release that Demon, and everyone would be done for. If they made a mistake and carelessly let that Overlord leak out a bit more power, they would be all doomed.

"It's time, let's try altering this array. This array has fallen silent, so most of the remaining data can't be inferred." After contemplating for a bit, Lin Yun agreed to Raphael's proposal.

But he then added, "We only understand the operating principle of the array and most of the framework's effect. We have to experiment with many of the details. Altering the array is dangerous, so we have to call everyone."

Raphael nodded and immediately looked for the other forces of the Odin Kingdom.

Half an hour later, everyone once again gathered in the canyon. Raphael and Lin Yun were hovering in the air, and in front of them, there was a huge simulation of the array made of crystal paper.

"Try altering this part. This isn't a very important core part of the array. We will have time to amend the modifications."

Lin Yun pointed at a piece of crystal paper. This was one of the parts furthest from the core of the array. That part was mainly just framework and didn't have energy circuits. It would be very easy to fix if there was an issue, and it couldn't cause any major problems.

Raphael nodded and then the two took out a pile of metal plates used for alchemy. These metal plates had a large number of runes and patterns carved on them, and the materials were mixed with some Eternal Gold Essence. The metal plates wouldn't rust within ten millennia. It would take at least several dozen millennia for them to lose their effects.

Lin Yun and Raphael were separated by over six hundred meters. They each held ten pieces of alchemical metal plates and put them into their established locations according to the sequence.

The metal plates sank into the earth as if they had fallen into a quagmire, slowly inserting themselves in the ground.

Lin Yun was standing high up, and runes were moving within his eyes to rapidly form the structure of the several hundred meters of array below him. As the metal plates merged with the earth, fusing and changing this part of the array, the runes in Lin Yun's eyes also rapidly changed. The Magic Array worked at full capacity and was calculating the changes happening here while recording the key data.

When the metal plates were more than halfway merged, the several hundred meters of ground shook, and wisps of black smoke emitting a sinister aura seeped out from the ground. The array started violently changing as the last piece of metal plate thoroughly merged with it.

Some parts of the long mountain ridge started rising up, while other parts started sinking. From the sky, it looked like a giant snake raising its body.

And this part changing led to the entire array changing. The entire mountain started shaking, and a roar seemed to echo out from another world. In the canyon, tons of black smoke soared out, and a tri-dimensional abyssal rune with black flames appeared within the smoke.

This Abyssal Rune was like a pyramid with all four sides being a rune. Moreover, when looking from a different angle, it looked as if it was forming a different rune. Just one three-dimensional rune seemed to be containing countless runes.

The rune exploded, and a roar echoed from the black smoke as a Purple-Eyed Greater Demon Overlord swung its sharp claws while charging out of the black smoke. It was followed by a dozen Purple-Eyed Lesser Demon Overlords.

Raphael hovered in the air, continuously watching the array's changes. Sweat trickled down his forehead, and his soul shivered when he heard that otherworldly roar.

"Sir Merlin, is there a problem?"

Lin Yun attentively watched the ground, his eyes frantically moving about. He was very calm as he told Raphael, "It's fine. Altering the array would inevitably make some noise. That Great Demon Overlord noticed it and naturally wanted to struggle free. But he can't escape, so he could only let out a bit of his power. That bit of power could only let him summon one lowest-ranked Greater Demon Overlord."

Raphael relaxed and kept recording the changes of the array, while Lin Yun didn't even look at the summoned Demon Overlord. He only focused on recording as much data as possible. The key data was all in there!

On the other side, Dedale turned into the head of an elemental Dragon and rushed over just as the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord appeared.

The berserk orange flames transformed into a sea of fire that rapidly spread to both sides of the canyon. The flames reached high up, forming towering waves of fire that crashed down at the Purple-Eyed Greater Demon Overlord.

A purple moon appeared in the eyes of the Demon Overlord, and it grinned as its claws ruthlessly slashed at the burning wave.

The orange wave of flames was instantly torn into multiple pieces. The flames that could distort the atmosphere were burning on the body of the Purple-Eyed Greater Demon Overlord, but they only weakened the black smoke covering its body and didn't cause too much damage.

On the contrary, that hundred-meter-tall body took a few steps to close in on Dedale. A purple crescent moon appeared in front of the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's body. This large crescent moon looked just like a weapon as the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord grabbed it in its hand and flung it at Dedale.

The sound of space cracking echoed as the huge crescent tore through the air like a sharp blade before appearing in front of Dedale. That terrifying slicing power even cut a long spatial crack on its way.

The sea of flames released by Dedale was even divided in two, and that finger-thick spatial crack burst with a powerful gravitational force as it devoured the orange flames all around it.

Dedale had a cold expression as he instantly used Flame Flash to appear several dozen meters away. The Moon Blade sliced next to him and flew way past in an instant. A mountain ridge was sliced by the blade, not obstructing it in the slightest, which made it seem as if it was a mirage.

After slicing through the mountain ridge, the Moon Blade's light slowly dissipated. From the side of the mountain, one could see that the incision was extremely bright, as if the rock had been turned to glass by a huge power.

Dedale sneered and fell back while the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord pursued him reluctantly. After chasing for more than a kilometer, the others appeared from both sides.

Sky City's three mages were steering their three floating forts and frantically cast spells at the dozen Lesser Demon Overlords in the back. Jouyi, Harren, and the Azurewave Sword Saint led their own people to help the mages from Sky City kill the dozen Lesser Demon Overlords.

As for the Odin Kingdom, only the leader of the Quicksand Tower's group and Dylas helped Dedale.

Following an awkward-sounding incantation, the earth under the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord rapidly turned into sand, which started crawling up to cover the Demon Overlord's legs. A hand of sand even grabbed the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's thick tail.

The towering Demon roared, and its arms became thicker while the purple moons in its eyes radiated an aura of wickedness.

Its sharp claws swatted at the ground and created a terrifying shockwave that swept the sand away and made it unable to condense for a moment, falling down like a huge spray of dust.

Chapter 1016 Questioning

Before the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord could attack the Quicksand Tower's leader, Dedale swung his huge metal staff and released over a hundred orange Bursting Flames, which exploded in front of the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's body. The terrifying explosive force made the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord shiver, and the Abyssal Power covering his body turned into black smoke that kept dissipating.

The Demon Overlord kept roaring. Space seemed to tear as his claws sliced, but after slicing in front of him, he discovered that his surroundings had suddenly turned dark, as if he had been shrouded with curtains. And not only was the light covered, but mana fluctuations had also dissipated.

Dylas was continuously pouring mana into the Dark Night Cloak on the other side of the Curtain of Darkness.

A large amount of sand was flowing within the Curtain of Darkness, transforming the ground under the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord into more sand and causing him to slowly sink into it.

On the other side, Dedale raised his metal staff, and a golden-red flame appeared at its tip. That was an aura that clearly belonged to Hell.

Following Dedale's chant, that flame from Hell rushed through the top of the Curtain of Darkness and slowly expanded into a flaming vortex full of ominous hellish aura. There was still some hellish lifeforms shouting within that fire vortex as they wanted to rush out of the flames.

At this time, the Curtain of Darkness suddenly dissipated, and the Demon Overlord's eyes instantly turned scarlet as he sensed the hellish aura. A full purple moon instantly appeared above his head. Clearly, that guy wanted to escape when he sensed the hellish aura.

The feud between the cruel Demons of the Abyss and the cunning Devils of Hell was something branded in their blood and souls. The Purple-Eyed Demon knew that he didn't have the advantage at the moment, and he would absolutely be the target of the newly appearing Devils.

The Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord had summoned an evil moon shadow in order to escape, but his body was firmly bound by the quicksand.

His thick arms flailed the ground, trying to use the power of the impact to struggle free of the quicksand, but the quicksand's restriction disappeared just as the shockwave spread.

The sand originally binding the Demon suddenly burst from the impact, sending his body flying up.

A shadow silently spread out as the Demon was about to rush into the evil moon shadow. At that moment, the evil moon thoroughly lost its effects as a spatial passage.

The Purple-Eyed Demonic Overlord passed through that dark and sinister moon shadow and ended up rushing head-first into the fire vortex.

After getting stuck half-way, the Demon struggled to rush back, but his huge body was dragged into the vortex as if pulled in by a terrifying monster.

Dedale stopped his casting when the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord disappeared. All the flames dissipated in the wind, along with the Demon.

Everyone was relieved about this fierce enemy being sent Hell.

The Purple-Eyed Demonic Bloodline was a noble bloodline among the seventy-two Demonic Races. They had terrifying strength, and their bodies could forcibly resist a spell on the same level without being injured. They could also use their powerful ability to summon an evil moon shadow to escape.

Ordinary spatial abilities, such as teleportation or instantaneous movement, would all lose their effectiveness with spatial interference. Almost all Heaven Rank powerhouses had the ability to open Spatial Doors. As long as they had the coordinates to their destination and there wasn't too much disturbance, they could directly teleport.

But no one could use this ability in battle, except for mages that specialized in Spatial Magic. Huge disturbances would make Spatial Doors unable to open, and even if they barely managed to activate one, who knew where it would teleport them? It might teleport them underground, or into space.

But this kind of fierce mana fluctuation disturbance was ineffective against Purple-Eyed Demons. They could easily summon their evil moon shadow to teleport away.

They were very troublesome if they weren't killed in one hit.

By using the power of shadows, the evil moon shadow was covered up and the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord was unable to teleport away. Then, they opened Hell Gate and directly delivered that guy to Hell.

Those cunning and insidious Devils would be very willing to entertain this Demon Overlord. It would be quite a letdown if the Demon Overlord wasn't hung at the entrance of the palace.

After the most troublesome Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord was dealt with, the fight on the other side reached its end.

The dozen Lesser Demon Overlords were slaughtered by the Sky Tower's three floating fortresses and the six Andlusans.

Ten of the dozen Lesser Demon Overlords had already been killed by the time Dedale's group of three had taken care of the Demon Overlord.

Jouyi, Harren, and the Azurewave Sword Saint each led their one subordinate and coordinated to defeat the remaining few Lesser Demon Overlords.

Jouyi's Starry Sky Reflection transformed into a starry sky and encircled a Lesser Demon Overlord. Endless stars seemed to shine in an instant as they fell one after another, pulverizing the head of that Lesser Demon Overlord in less than ten seconds.

Harren hid in the darkness and rapidly summoned a Curtain of Darkness. After ten seconds, a loud scream echoed, and the Curtain of Darkness dissipated, exposing a Lesser Demon Overlord whose heart and head had rotted away.

As for the Azurewave Sword Saint, he could be considered a legend of Andlusa. He used the most orthodox battle strategy of Sword Saints and kept sending Aura Slashes to cut a tough Lesser Demon Overlord into a few dozen pieces.

The remaining Demons were blown into pieces by the three mages from Sky City. They roused their floating fortresses and frantically cast spells at them.

The battle rapidly drew to a close, and in the air, Lin Yun and Raphael were still paying attention to the changes of the array.

After some time, the array calmed down, and the surroundings returned to being an ordinary mountain range. The energy fluctuations also slowly dissipated.

Raphael looked pleasantly surprised as he reported, "Sir Merlin, I caught the key changes."

The runes in Lin Yun's eyes slowly dissipated as he smiled.

"Good, I've already recorded the key data and the changes in this place. We can continue researching this array now. We can move to the next area after correcting the data."

Raphael could hardly conceal his smile when he heard this.

"I hadn't expected the first experiment to actually go this smoothly. The power leaked by the Greater Demon Overlord was just enough to summon a lowest Demon Overlord. With this experiment's success, everything will be a lot easier later on. At least there won't be any danger coming from the Greater Demon Overlord."

Lin Yun and Raphael led the three mages from Sky City and kept researching in their temporary laboratory while the others waited in the canyon. Earlier, Lin Yun and Raphael had said that the experiments would inevitably leak some of the Greater Demon Overlord's power. Their mission was to block the leaked power.

After several days, Lin Yun and Raphael led the three alchemists of Sky City and started slowly altering parts of the array on the outskirts.

They couldn't avoid coming into contact with the array itself during their experiments, and each time they touched the array, a bit of the Greater Demon Overlord's power would leak.

Many Demons would appear each time, and once, they even had to fight two Horned Demon Overlords leading over thirty Lesser Demon Overlords.

Facing the two Demon Overlords, the human side all acted together and resisted with difficulty. The Blood Fang Tribe's Great Tribal Chief personally joined in and slashed down these two Demon Overlords.

But Lin Yun and Raphael were getting closer and closer to the core area as they did more and more experiments. The frequency at which Demons appeared was also greatly increasing.

On the fifth day, Demons appeared three times, and with two Demon Overlords showing up on the 3rd time. Moreover, there were over sixty Lesser Demon Overlords.

This time, not only did Lin Yun's subordinates join in, but the Blood Fang Tribe also sent in their Wolf Riders. They spent two hours dealing with these Demons.

After the end of the fight, Lin Yun and Raphael returned to their temporary laboratory after recording the changes of the array.

The others looked at the scene and felt somewhat resentful.

Dylas was extremely pale, as this had been very taxing on his mana. After looking at the corpses of the Demons, he watched as Lin Yun and Raphael casually rushed back to do more research, and he suddenly felt angry.

“Those damn b*stards! It’s already been five days, what the hell are they doing? They have just been stirring up this damned array over and over.

“Fighting, fighting, and even more fighting. They keep casually stirring up the array but want us to risk our lives in battle. There has been no effect in five days. What the hell are they doing?”

The people of the Odin Kingdom’s royal family were also dissatisfied and couldn’t help complaining.

“Five days have passed, there must be some kind of result, right? No one will be able to hold on if this continues. We fought three times today, and the number of Demons kept increasing. If this continues, we’ll all fall before they finish...”

The others looked exhausted. They’d had three battles in one day, each one including at least a Demon Overlord. Such high-intensity battles were very taxing. More importantly, more and more Demons were appearing.

Dylas had a gloomy expression, as did a subordinate at his side.

“Sir Dylas, I think that the Andlusan country bumpkin is doing it on purpose. He is specially stirring up the array to make that Greater Demon Overlord leak power and weaken us. He is using that Greater Demon Overlord’s power to trick us. We will all die here if this continues!”

Dylas’ eyes flickered as he looked at the distant temporary alchemy laboratory.

‘Right, that damned Mafa Merlin is pretty good in the field of alchemy. Didn’t they say he was an Artisan? He is specialized in potioneering, but is also a bit stronger than Raphael in the field of arrays.

‘How could there still be no outcome in five days? This is impossible, this must have been done deliberately by that Mafa Merlin!

‘We fought three times today, and one of the Demon Overlords appeared close to me. I would have already died if not for my Dark Knight Cloak!

‘That guy definitely wanted to take advantage of this opportunity to avenge himself. He used the Demons to attack me. He didn’t succeed this time, but he’ll definitely go at it with more vigor next time. He won’t give up until he kills me.

‘Moreover, he wouldn’t be suspected if I died to those Demons. Everyone would just say that I was unlucky and too weak.

‘No, I must stop him. I might encounter a powerful Demon Overlord tomorrow if this continues, or even more Demons would come to kill me.

The more Dylas’ subordinate fanned the flames, the more Dylas felt that something was up. He suddenly gritted his teeth and coldly looked at the temporary laboratory.

“I’ll carefully question that Mafa Merlin today and see what’s up!”

Dylas led his subordinate and aggressively rushed to the temporary laboratory, where Lin Yun and Raphael were busy doing some calculations regarding the array.

Dylas stomped towards Lin Yun and immediately started criticizing him. “Mafa Merlin, it’s been five days, what have you gained? Nothing! Instead, more and more Demons are appearing. Are you looking for a way to free that Greater Demon Overlord instead of suppressing it?”

Lin Yun was busy calculating key data, and countless runes were roaming within his eyes. He simply didn’t pay attention to Dylas as he quickly jotted some calculations down.

The key data had to be calculated at once because the start of every calculation was different, and the process was also very different. Stopping mid-calculation would lead to an error. They would be in huge trouble if they made a mistake when altering the array.

Dylas’ face turned green as he was being ignored. With an unsightly expression, he couldn’t help raising his voice. “Mafa Merlin, I asked you a question! Are you deaf? You have to give me a satisfactory explanation today!”

Dylas got even angrier as Lin Yun kept ignoring him. Just as he was about to say something, a mage of Sky City raised his head with a dissatisfied expression. “Sir Dylas, we are at a key part in the middle of extremely complicated calculations. If there is something you need, wait until we finish processing these calculations.”

Chapter 1017 Compensation

Dylas had a dark expression, but he remained silent.

‘If I cause trouble without any evidence, Mafa Merlin would be able to use it against me and the other forces would be unable to back me up. Damn it, those b*stards from Sky City are actually siding with Mafa Merlin... Just wait and see, this isn’t over!’

Dylas didn’t say anything, but one of his subordinates sneered and walked to Lin Yun before directly flipping the table Lin Yun was using for his calculations.

Lin Yun’s intense calculations were immediately interrupted and the runes roaming within his eyes slowly dissipated as he raised his head.

After raising his head, Lin Yun looked at the man in front of him with a startled and angry expression.

Before he could say anything, Dylas’ subordinate raised his head and sneered at the startled Lin Yun.

“Mafa Merlin, you dare to act as if you didn’t hear anything! Damn scoundrel, you’ll be done for if you don’t give us a satisfactory explanation today!”

This sudden event roused all the alchemists immersed in calculations. The three alchemists from Sky City were appalled as they looked at Dylas’ subordinate.

Raphael’s calculations were also interrupted and he glared at Dylas’ subordinate with shock and anger.

Dylas' subordinate didn't feel anything, and while Dylas felt something amiss, he still sneered at Lin Yun, "Mafa Merlin, you have to give us a satisfactory explanation today!"

Lin Yun suddenly calmed down, and thought aloud, "A satisfactory explanation? Good!"

Dylas' subordinate disdainfully sneered, "Andlusan country bumpkin, if you aren't taught a lesson, you..."

Dylas' subordinate didn't have time to finish his words as a Hell Vine suddenly grew under his feet. The arm-thick Hell Vine rapidly extended and bound Dylas' subordinate in an instant.

Sharp thorns were growing all over the dark red vine. It was like a snake as it took less than a second to wrap around Dylas' subordinate, the sharp thorns piercing his skin.

The Hell Vine was like a snake constricting its meal, and the sharp thorns were like knives piercing that mage's body and slowly cutting his flesh.

Blood leaked out, but not a single drop fell to the ground, it was all absorbed by the Hell Vine.

This sudden situation stunned Dylas, and he promptly roused his Dark Night Cloak to protect himself.

"Mafa Merlin, f*ck, what the hell are you doing!?"

Bone cracking sounds echoed before he could finish his words. The Hell Vine was like a bloodthirsty snake. Under Lin Yun's rousing, that subordinate's blood was completely drained and his bones were then turned into fragments.

After a gorgeous meal, the Hell Vine dropped the crippled dried corpse and disappeared underground.

That was the guy that had flipped Lin Yun's table. He had died in an instant, his mana, blood, and even his soul had been cleanly sucked dry by the Hell Vine, under Lin Yun's control, and treated as fertilizer. After digesting his soul, the Hell Vine could turn into a plant magic beast. It might even be able to form a restricted death area.

Lin Yun expressionlessly raised his head and looked at Dylas.

"You want an explanation? I'll give you an explanation."

Cold sweat trickled down Dylas' forehead and he involuntarily took a step back.

'Damn it, damn it, that guy actually dared to make a move against us? He actually dared to kill someone from our Shadow Tower? Isn't he afraid of our Shadow Tower's retaliation?'

'There are so many people here, he absolutely can't conceal it, the Shadow Tower will definitely retaliate against him. Does he really dare to attack me?'

Dylas wasn't as confident as before when it came to facing Lin Yun's attack. Cold sweat trickled down his back as he recalled Lin Yun's previous burst of power comparable to the power of a Heaven Rank powerhouse.

And how could the others not notice this sudden burst of mana fluctuations and that person's death.

Dedale rushed to the scene and frowned as he looked at the corpse.

He hadn't stopped Dylas from going to ask with his subordinate, he was exhausted after the three battles.

But he hadn't expected the situation to reach this stage.

"What's going on?" Dedale asked.

Dylas promptly hid behind Dedale and pointed at Lin Yun with shock.

"It's that damned guy! I only wanted to ask what was going on, yet he killed a member of the Shadow Tower and wants to kill me now!"

Dylas' acting like a thief shouting thief made Lin Yun's eyes flash with killing intent and his body emit fierce mana fluctuations.

At this time, Raphael seemed to have recovered and promptly rushed over, pulling Lin Yun to his side first.

"Sir Merlin, don't be impulsive, don't be impulsive..."

After appeasing Lin Yun, Raphael immediately turned and pointed at Dylas, criticizing him, "Sir Dylas, is your brain rotten? Do you not have the most basic common sense? Do you not know how huge the calculations of an array are?"

"Damned scoundrel, we spent five days to finally obtain most of the data! We got the most important data and changes today! As long as the data's one-time calculations were solved, we would have been able to crack the surroundings of the array today!"

"But it has all been wasted because of a damned b*stard rushing in the laboratory, flipping Merlin's table, and interrupting his calculations. Let me tell you, the work of the past five days has been completely trashed by that stupid subordinate of yours."

"So what if he was killed? If Merlin hadn't killed him, I would have gotten rid of that idiot myself."

"You are a fool still trying to frame Merlin. Let me tell you, almost all of the calculations were made by Merlin himself, we are only helping him calculate secondary sets of data, the most important sets of data have to be calculated in one sitting."

"Only Merlin is capable of doing that, and Merlin has been calculating without sleep or rest for an entire day. And this was all ruined by your foolish subordinate!"

Dylas was dumbfounded and finally remembered that something wasn't right. As for Dedale, he turned around and looked at Dylas with a really bad expression.

Even if powerhouses like them weren't proficient in the field of alchemy, they still had some basic common sense and could crack simple arrays.

How could they not understand why Lin Yun flew into a rage and killed that mage.

Hearing Raphael's angry words, flames started shouting out to Dedale's nostrils.

He opened his mouth and sent a Fireball towards the corpse and turned it into ashes.

“He deserves death for interrupting the work of an Artisan!”

Dylas had a sullen expression as he could only hold himself back, he didn't dare to get angry or say anything, he even absolved himself of that matter.

“I didn't incite that fool to do that. I only wanted to inquire about the progress, I really didn't expect that fool to act of his own initiative, flip Sir Merlin's table, and interrupt Sir Merlin's calculations...”

Lin Yun's body was emitting extreme cold, he wanted to get rid of Dylas.

After cursing at Dylas, Raphael pulled Lin Yun over.

“Sir Merlin, I've seen this matter. Although Sir Dylas made a mistake, he didn't forcibly interrupt us after coming over. It's understandable that everyone is in a very bad mood after three waves of Demons within the same day.

“No one could have expected that idiot to act on his own. He can only blame his own stupidity. If you hadn't killed him, I would have done so myself.

“Keeping that kind of b*stard alive would have been wasting more time and energy.

“Since that fool is already dead, how about we forget about it. Speeding up the pace is more important, don't you think?”

Raphael was persuading Lin Yun, in fear that Lin Yun would fly into a rage and casually get rid of Dylas.

Dedale understood the situation, and although he was angry, he wasn't willing to let Lin Yun get rid of Dylas. But right now, he was relying on Lin Yun, and thus, Dedale could only put in a good word, “Sir Merlin, that fool is already dead. This matter has wasted too much time, we might not be able to hold on if we keep delaying.

“Sir Dylas was in the wrong, but no one can blame him. I'll make him work hard when dealing with the Demons. Let's stop wasting power here, what do you think?”

“As for the wasted energy, how about Sir Dylas compensate you?”

With Dedale and Raphael persuading him, Lin Yun reined in his anger and expressionlessly looked at Dylas.

Dylas didn't dare to speak or get angry, he was holding his anger in, on the verge of blowing up. But he didn't dare to retort, after all, it was his subordinate that wasted everyone's five days of work. Everyone would look at him in an unpleasant way.

Dedale frowned as he noticed Dylas not reacting for a while.

Dylas' face turned red, and after a dozen seconds, he slowly took out some things from his Spatial Ring.

“Here are some Clear-Headed Potions, and Stamina Potions, all compounded from the best materials. I requested a peak potioneer alchemist to compound these True Spirit Potions.

“There are also some first-rate crystal pen materials and ink...”

Dylas took out these things with a pained expression. These were the most suitable things for compensation, they were all related to alchemy and they weren't first-rate tools, they were precisely tailored for potioners.

As for potions that could be used by alchemists, they were extremely valuable, they were far more expensive than the potions mages or swordsmen would use in battle, because the requirements of alchemy-supporting potions were extremely strict. It wouldn't do if their effect was too small or had some side-effect.

Only the few most perfected potions could be useful to an alchemist. They were a few dozen times more expensive than regular potions.

With Raphael and Dedale urging Lin Yun, Lin Yun could only unwillingly accept Dylas' compensation.

The experiments kept proceeding, but the pace had been slowed. In the next several days, the frequency at which Raphael and Lin Yun came in contact with the array greatly increased, moreover, the number of Demons and their strength had increased.

Chapter 1018 Core Area

They were completely exhausted everyday, even Dedale was pale due to extreme mana consumption.

Finally, after eight days, everyone apart from Lin Yun, Raphael, and the three mages from Sky City, had joined the fight against the Demons.

The Blood Fang Tribe's Great Tribal Chief and Great Shaman had already joined the fray, and they had even dispatched over a thousand Beastmen to help out.

On the 9th day, Sky City's three mages had no choice but to join in the fight on their floating fortresses. Apart from Lin Yun and Raphael, anyone able to fight was on the battlefield.

The frequent battles made everyone miserable. Every battle would be led by a Demon Overlord, and there could be up to three. Even the Blood Fang Tribe's Great Prophet had no choice but to join in the fight.

After several days of continuous battles, Dylas looked as pale as a corpse. The loss of one member of the Shadow Tower had greatly increased the pressure.

He wanted to burst out and vent, but he couldn't say a single word. On the 8th day, he barely said a word when a sentence was shot back at him: "If not for that fool of the Shadow Tower looking for trouble, we would have already finished cracking and altering the array."

Trying anything would cause trouble. The battles were fierce and everyone had to pay attention. If they were slightly careless, they might end up dying.

They had been fighting several extra days in vain, and the battles had been a lot fiercer and more dangerous. The Shadow Tower was the one taking the blame for that. The Andlusans were looking at Dylas unfavorably, and while the Odin Kingdom's forces weren't cold towards Dylas, they weren't warm either. The unsubtle Morgan even directly criticized Dylas after a fight and they almost went to blows.

The others kept gritting their teeth and fighting, while Raphael and Lin Yun kept researching the array. Everytime the array shook was the best opportunity to gather data and study the changes.

Raphael and Lin Yun were the only ones left taking care of this, they had to brave the dangers of the battlefield and pay attention to the array from above. Not only did they risk getting attacked by those crazy Demons, they still had to make sure that they gathered the important data or that battle would be pointless.

On the 10th day, the sound of Raphael cheering could be heard from the temporary laboratory.

“It’s finally cracked!”

Raphael had bloodshot eyes and messy hair and the pile of paper beside him had already reached the height of a man.

Lin Yun also had red eyes, and the sheets of papers he had used for calculations formed a small mountain beside his desk. The outcome of the calculations formed a fifty-centimeter-thick stack of paper on the desk.

After discarding his quill, Lin Yun massaged his stiff fingers and wrist. A trace of happiness could be seen in his eyes.

Ten days to crack and alter a Heaven Rank Array. This would have been impossible a year ago.

After obtaining the Intrepid’s map, Lin Yun had slowly researched it. Although he couldn’t make sense of most of it, it had greatly increased his insight.

The Intrepid’s design was a Heaven Rank Array in itself, and it was a very high grade array, far more exquisite than this sealing array, as well as far more difficult.

This sealing array was extremely powerful because it was huge and was using the entire mountain range as array patterns. The weight in itself was so great that it couldn’t be estimated. Using the mountain range to construct a suppressing array would make the array hundreds of times more powerful than if they used ordinary materials.

But the difficulty and quality of the array couldn’t compare to the Intrepid’s design. Moreover, after being altered and cracked, the difficulty and quality would decrease once again.

But using ten days to complete the modifications and finding a new suppression method to truly suppress that Greater Demon Overlord was an achievement Lin Yun felt happy about.

Compared to a year ago, his mastery in the field of arrays had increased a few times. He turned around to look at the True Spirit Array and felt that it was a lot simpler. He could see all the details with one glance.

Lin Yun slowly recovered from those intense calculations, and just as he relaxed, the waning runes in his eyes suddenly burst out.

Boundless runes roamed within Lin Yun’s eyes and a cryptic and ineffable aura appeared on his body. The dirty robe softly trembled as if moved by a breeze.

Lin Yun instantly understood what was happening.

The huge wheel shadow appeared behind him, and the concentric circles formed from boundless runes were frantically rotating.

In the center of the wheel, a mass of red-colored runes were forming a floating flame. There was also a rock made of brown-colored runes constantly changing shape.

Those were the Fire Law and Earth Law that Lin Yun had comprehended. Those countless runes were just the two Laws taking shape.

And now, this flame and that rock slowly moved to the sides to leave a spot in the center of the wheel.

A wisp of green wind seemed to fly in from the void and blew in the center of the wheel in an indescribable way.

The green wind was spinning into a whirlwind, and countless cyan runes suddenly appeared as that weak whirlwind whirled.

The cyan runes merged with that whirlwind, and the whirlwind frantically expanded. In less than three seconds, it became as big as that flame and that rock.

Lin Yun's mana started sharply increasing, and with the support of his Demi-plane, endless mana poured into his body.

Breakthrough, 8th Rank Archmage!

But in less than a second, the burst of mana coming from Lin Yun's body suddenly dissipated.

Lin Yun stood up and the filth that accumulated on his face disappeared within a breeze.

He raised his hand and felt as if the surrounding air was supporting him. He didn't have to do anything, he only needed to think and the air in the surroundings would react faster than his own body.

The continuous intense study of the Heaven Rank Array had given him such an unexpected reward, it sped up the fusion of the third Law!

The fusion of the 3rd Law, the Wind Law, had been silently completed.

Raphael's eyes were bloodshot, but he could hardly hide his excitement. He rapidly arranged the data and looked at Lin Yun before freezing. He had only sorted out the data, but when he looked again, Lin Yun seemed to have washed up, and his aura seemed to have changed.

'Sure enough, he is formidable. Not only is he an Artisan, he took on most of the data computing by himself and doesn't look exhausted afterwards. In fact, he seems full of energy. Only this kind of powerhouse would be able to go further and further down the path of alchemy.'

Raphael looked at Lin Yun with admiration.

As a Peak Master Alchemist, and the most proficient one in arrays in Sky City, where the field of array is a mandatory field for all members, Raphael had never accomplished such a hard task.

In Sky City, Peak Master Alchemists only had the opportunities to examine some remnants or be treated as Artisans' helpers to crack arrays, and even then, they would only encounter some damaged Heaven Rank Arrays and would barely be able to interact with them.

A complete Heaven Rank Array wasn't something anyone under the Artisan realm could get in contact with.

Ten days! It took ten days to crack and complete the modification of the Heaven Rank Array. This was something simply impossible for Sky City. At least none of Sky City's Artisan would have this kind of strength!

Once the array was cracked, Raphael felt his own mastery of the field of arrays rapidly increase. He was convinced that after returning, it wouldn't take long before he advanced to the Artisan realm.

"Sir Merlin, since we are done cracking it, should we do the last alteration?"

Raphael's eyes were glistening with excitement, he looked like an apprentice that had gotten in touch with an array for the first time, he simply couldn't remain calm.

Lin Yun nodded and put away the result of those calculations before looking for the Blood Fang Tribe's Great Tribal Chief.

After completing the cracking of the array, the last part of the modifications would free the souls of the Beastmen's ancestors, but a substitute was needed. This was the fastest and easiest method.

"Great Tribal Chief, the array has already been modified, it only needs your tribe's Inheritance Totem as a substitute for the souls of your ancestors. The Inheritance Totem, alongside the array, would truly suppress the Greater Demon Overlord."

An Inheritance Totem was a Beastman Tribe's most important thing. It represented the Tribe's inheritance. The Inheritance Totem would witness the rise and fall of a Tribe, existing when the Tribe was formed, until it went extinct, and it possessed terrifying power.

Lin Yun originally thought that the Great Tribal Chief would be unwilling, after all, losing the Inheritance Totem was the same as severing the Tribe's inheritance.

But no one expected that not only did the Great Tribal Chief agreed, even the Great Shaman, and the Great Prophet unhesitantly nodded.

...

They once again went to that canyon. This place was the core area of the array. Everytime the power of the Greater Demon Overlord leaked, it would leak from here, and everytime a Demon appeared, it would appear here.

Usually some Demons would appear here every so often, summoned by the leaking power of the Great Demon Overlord. And every so often, the Blood Fang Tribe would suppress the Demons appearing here.

But Lin Yun and Raphael had recently been altering the array and unavoidably stirred the array, leading to the Greater Demon Overlord's power leaking more often, and causing one or two battles per day, sometimes three.

After walking to the canyon, Lin Yun and Raphael stood on both ends and simultaneously started altering the array, adding pieces of Eternal Gold Essence alchemy plates into the heart of the mountain. Every plate was covered in a large amount of runes and patterns.

These metal plates were placed at the energy nodes of this huge array, ensuring the least amount of interference with the array, while changing as much as possible.

Chapter 1019 Elemental Flames

After the array's energy flowed to the nodes, it would start revolving in accordance with the flowing path of the metal plates. This was equivalent to adding a miniature array in those locations, increasing the size of this huge array and making it more complex.

Moreover, as long as it was successfully altered, the added Eternal Gold Essence metal plates would merge with the entire mountain range, and digging them out would be impossible unless the array was destroyed.

Following the modifications of the core area, the earth slowly started shivering, and wisps of black smoke reeking of sinister aura started seeping out of the earth.

Energy fluctuations also started surging and spreading below the surface.

After the last modification of the array was finished, and before they could do the final alteration, the black smoke seeping out of the ground suddenly became very dense.

Demonic roars could be heard as the boundless black smoke spurted out of the ground like a volcanic eruption.

The terrifying Abyssal power was like a tide that kept spreading outwards. The black smoke solidified into black demonic skulls that let out angry shouts towards everyone outside the canyon.

In just a few seconds, Lesser Demon Overlords suddenly appeared on the edge of the black smoke, as if the black smoke had condensed them from thin air.

In an instant, sixty to seventy Lesser Demon Overlords appeared, and the black smoke kept converging towards their bodies, making their auras more and more powerful.

By the time that it was clear that some of the black smoke had dissipated, there were already over a hundred Lesser Demon Overlords that were at least Level 35.

The ones at the forefront were Purple-Eyed Demons and Blade Demons with their two arms similar to two long blades. They had very powerful bodies and could resist spells directly.

Behind them were some somewhat smaller Goat-Horned Demons. Although these guys ranked among the lowest of the seventy-two demonic races, that was because their bodies were on the weaker side. Demons believed in the strong, so the Demons at the top had to have powerful bodies.

These guys' bodies couldn't compare with Purple-Eyed Demons or Blade Demons, but their casting abilities weren't inferior to the eighteen silver demonic bloodlines. In the Abyss, these guys were known as Shepherd Demons. One Goat-Horned Demon could gather over ten thousand abyssal lifeforms.

But there weren't readily available abyssal lifeforms to follow their orders here.

As these Lesser Demon Overlords rushed out of the canyon, the black smoke was still condensing behind them, making three huge Demon Overlords appear...

A Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord, a Horned Demon Overlord, and a Goat-Horned Demon Overlord.

Right after being summoned, the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord and the Horned Demon instantly rushed out, following the hundred Lesser Demon Overlords. The Goat-Horned Demon Overlord stayed in the back, and treachery could be seen in its eyes as it started forcibly controlling those brainless and chaotic Lesser Demon Overlords.

The large group of Demons rushed out of the canyon and instantly started the fight.

Everyone looked very solemn because half of the smoke was still there even after three Demon Overlords had been summoned. Even more terrifying aura condensed within the smoke.

The human side and the Blood Fang Tribe's powerhouses instantly collided with that group of Lesser Demon Overlords.

The Purple-Eyed Demons and the Blade Demons were like monsters swinging their huge blades and claws as they charged over. Dozens of steel-like demonic bodies were lined up in a row, enduring the powerful spells and Aura Slashes and forcibly putting pressure on everyone.

In the back, the group of Goat-Horned Demons with stooped bodies were emitting black abyssal power. In an instant, a large number of meteors with long black trails of smoke fell towards the human side and the Blood Fang Beastmen.

There were also black smoky fireballs continuously expanding in the air and falling down like rain.

In an instant, the sky was filled with those eight-meter-big meteors and fireballs. From a distance, it looked like sinister flames from the Abyss were converging towards the ground.

Lin Yun and Dedale aside, everyone, including Raphael, joined the fight.

A large amount of flames, sand, darkness, lightning, ice, and wind transformed into a chaotic spellstorm that flew upward and greeted the Meteor Shower and Fire Rain.

The Blood Fang Tribe's cavalry rode atop huge wolves and charged towards the numerous Demons. Scarlet aura flashed on the surface of the Blood Fang Beastmen. Every one of them was holding a huge sword that looked like a blood-covered fang.

The fang carried a wisp of an ineffable power, and that power seemed even more powerful than Extraordinary Power, it was a faint wisp of Divine Power.

Lin Yun, who was waiting for the opportunity to complete the last step of the array from the sky, was stunned as he looked at the scene.

He now understood why the Blood Fang Tribe could rule the Raging Flame Plane in the ancient times, as well as how they were able to overthrow the Greater Raging Flame Overlord's rule.

After their Blood Fang magic patterns were roused, their weapons transformed into three-meter-tall fangs covered with blurry patterns. That layer of blurry patterns carried a very faint wisp of Divine Power.

‘Are those the fangs of a Beast God?’

Some information flashed in Lin Yun’s mind as the two sides already collided.

These two-meter-tall Wolf Riders were carrying three-meter-long huge fangs as weapons and collided with a group of several-dozen-meter-tall Demons with formidable bodies. They looked like ants attacking a fierce beast.

But the ants weren’t washed away on impact, that group of small ants didn’t fall apart.

Over a thousand Blood Fang Beastmen formed a team and took the shape of a fang as they attacked a Purple-Eyed Lesser Demon Overlord. All of the Wolf Riders were raising a fang weapon in their hands.

In an instant, a berserk aura surged as over a thousand Beastmen let out Aura Slashes at the same time. But the Aura Slashes formed by those fangs strangely converged together until they finally formed a huge long bloody fang over a hundred meter in length.

The Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord that was rushing at the forefront was directly sliced by that huge bloody fang. The body he was so proud of seemed as weak as the sheets of paper used for calculations.

A several-dozen-meter-tall Purple-Eyed Lesser Demon Overlord was torn in half in an instant. Even the head of the Blade Demon behind it was sliced open.

After that attack, the Blood Fang Beastmen’s Wolf Riders didn’t continue rushing in. Rather, they started surrounding the Demons and charged at those on the edge. That wisp of faint Divine Power created a terrifying effect at that moment. Not only did it converge their power, it caused even more terrifying destructive power.

Even if the aura of Divine Power was weak, that wasn’t something those Demons’ bodies could resist.

On the human side, everyone was releasing the spells they were most proficient at. Enderfa, the patched puppet, and Reina, were also amidst the casters. As for Xiuban, he was holding Carnage as he directly rushed to the front line to clash with a Purple-Eyed Lesser Demon Overlord.

One leg of that level 36 Lesser Demon Overlord was just as big as Xiuban, but his seven-meter-big head exploded open as Xiuban swung his hammer.

Basically, everyone on the human side was a 9th Rank Archmage or a 9th Rank Sword Saint and were only one step away from the Heaven Rank.

As for Dedale, he had already surpassed the Archmage realm and had already reached the Heaven Rank, but had yet to obtain Extraordinary Power. This was the limit of the power allowed to enter the Raging Flame Battlefield.

And when coordinating with his magic tool, although Dedale didn’t have Extraordinary Power, the power he could display could be considered as having reached the Peak within the 1st Rank of the Heaven Realm. Lin Yun would have still been considered a bit weaker than Dedale before the fusion of his 3rd Law and his advancement to the 8th Rank of the Archmage realm.

On the ground, the human side cooperated with the Blood Fang Tribe's elite Wolf Riders to fight over a hundred Lesser Demon Overlords.

As for Dedale, the Great Tribal Chief, and the Great Shaman, they rushed to meet the three Demon Overlords.

The Great Prophet chanted an ancient warsong and buffed all the Beastmen on the battlefield. He paled after three continuous large-scale warsongs.

Not only did he need to use mana for the warsongs, he also needed to use soul power. The more power the warsong was, and the greater the range it covered, the fiercer the mana consumption.

Dedale transformed into a mass of orange flames and slowly wrapped the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord in it, cutting off the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's ability to flee with the moon shadow.

He then summoned a huge flaming hand which firmly wound up around the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord. The boundless orange flames covered several hundred meters around him.

Each time the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord tore apart a flaming hand, Dedale would summon a new one, and after doing that three times, the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord loudly roared. But it couldn't escape this sea of flames.

Those orange elemental flames were higher existences than ordinary elemental flames, they only needed a few seconds to melt steel. They were so terrifyingly hot, that a dozen seconds were enough to make steel evaporate.

But those terrifying flames covered the entire body of the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord. But even the steel-like hair couldn't burn.

The surface of the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's body was covered in a layer of abyssal power, which was continuously being consumed, and replenished. Relying on flames to burn that Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord to death was simply impossible.

Slowly, that Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord also gave up on rushing out of the sea of flames and his claws kept tearing at the elemental lifeforms Dylas summoned.

But ten seconds later, the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord suddenly discovered that it couldn't find Dedale's trail.

There were only Flame Elementals continuously rushing towards his body. The surrounding orange flames slowly became chaotic. Fierce mana fluctuations were blocking everything outside of the sea of flames, even the space started shaking.

Chapter 1020 Evil Bone Demon

As the terrifying crisis descended, the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord instantly summoned the evil moon shadow to dodge the sea of flames.

But at that time, a dozen Level 35 Flame Elementals suddenly appeared within the fierce orange flames. Those Flame Elementals were like moths attracted to fire as they directly sought out that Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord.

In an instant, its body was covered in Flame Elementals. The enraged Demon clawed at its own body and tore two Flame Elementals to pieces in an instant.

But a large fire array had been formed under his feet. The array was like a fire vortex that caused spatial fluctuations as it was constructed.

Ominous hellish power spread out from that fire vortex, and roars from Hell could faintly be heard. It seemed that there was a Devil on the other side of the vortex.

The Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord was startled as it struggled. But it couldn't struggle free from those Flame Elementals in time. Over a hundred Fireballs had condensed at the same time, but it was impossible to distinguish the Fireballs from the sea of flames.

The huge Fireballs all flew out, with no less than sixty of them striking its head and bursting with immense explosive power that could compare to that Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's all-out attack.

That kind of power would at most lightly wound the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's body. But at this moment, its body was pushed by that formidable power towards the Hell Gate under its feet.

The Hell Gate quickly distorted, apparently on the brink of collapse. The power of the Heaven Rank almost collapsed that Hell Gate. Half of the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord's body had been pushed through the Hell Gate, but its struggle would make the portal collapse within a few seconds.

Dedale sneered and completely ignored it. He kept releasing a large number of Bursting Flames spells, making use of the explosive force to smash the Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord through the Hell Gate like a nail into wood.

The Hell Gate was quickly collapsing, and Dedale spoke a sentence in Infernal.

"The Hell Gate will fall apart."

The Purple-Eyed Demon Overlord shrieked miserably. It looked as if its body was being pulled by a huge monster as it went through the Hell Gate in less than a second.

At the same time, a Devil's large claw extended out of the Hell Gate, but the Hell Gate collapsed, and only the Devil's roars could be heard.

In the sky, a smile flashed in Lin Yun's eyes as he saw this scene while still doing his calculations.

'That Dedale, he even dares to take advantage of a Devil Overlord. Last time he delivered another Demon Overlord to Hell. I'm sure those greedy Devils have already become addicted to the flavor of Demon Overlords.'

He had once again opened a Hell Door with the same power and location, and sure enough, there was a powerful Devil waiting there.

Unfortunately, that Devil Overlord, like all Devils, was deceitful and treacherous, as well as avaricious and insatiable. When it discovered the Demon Overlord, instead of just settling with that, it had even wanted to use that Hell Gate to come to this world.

It wanted to use the Demon Overlord to exhaust the summoner, and after devouring the Demon Overlord, it would have seized the opportunity to come out and also get rid of the summoner.

Seeing that the Hell Gate was collapsing and hearing Dedale's words, the Devil Overlord truly couldn't wait, so it only got the Demon.

The fight on Dedale's side was over, and the other two were almost done too.

The Great Tribal Chief was holding a three-meter-long greatsword, with a layer of shadow on top of it. From a distance, it looked like he was holding a gigantic fang.

That Horned Demon Overlord simply wasn't a match for the Great Tribal Chief, and a dozen long wounds were covering its body. Purple blood was flowing out of the Horned Demon's wounds like a waterfall. Apart from the dozen heavy wounds, there were still a dozen large bloody holes, which were squirting blood like fountains.

These injuries would have already killed a Lesser Demon Overlord, but it was only considered a relatively heavy injury to that hundred-meter-tall Demon.

The Great Tribal Chief's skin looked as if it was exuding blood, and the blood fang magic patterns on the surface of his body were slowly brightening, almost like those bloody fangs wanted to fly out.

Suddenly, an opportunity came. The Horned Demon faced the Great Tribal Chief's Aura Slash with both hands in front of its head, blocking the line of sight. Moreover, the chaotic fluctuations and the explosiveness of the Aura Slash made the Horned Demon Overlord's reaction fuzzy.

The blood fang magic patterns on the Great Tribal Chief's skin instantly blossomed with a brilliant light, and a mysterious aura flashed. The Great Tribal Chief appeared behind the head of the Horned Demon Overlord at such high speed that not even a blur could be seen. That thick fang greatsword ruthlessly stabbed into the back of the Horned Demon Overlord's head.

A huge power poured into the greatsword, and a blood-curdling thunderous sound came out of the mouth of Horned Demon Overlord. A huge burst of light leaked out of its eyes and nostrils.

On the other side, the battlefield of the Great Shaman and that Goat-Horned Demon Overlord had already transformed into a field of lightning and black smoke. All that could be seen from outside was the cloud of smoke with lightning flickering within it.

The black smoke burst open as the Great Tribal Chief's fight concluded. Boundless lightning transformed into a waterfall and thoroughly dispersed the black smoke.

The Great Shaman spat out a mouthful of blood as he walked out of the lightning, only leaving the electrified corpse of the Goat-Horned Demon Overlord, which had been burnt black.

With the death of the Goat-Horned Demon Overlord, the Lesser Demon Overlords were no longer being coordinated.

The assault formation they originally were using had turned into chaotic battles. The Blood Fang Beastmen and the humans suddenly held the advantage, and they kept eliminating more of the Lesser Demon Overlords.

And with Dedale, the Great Tribal Chief, and the Great Shaman having their hands free, it took less than three minutes for all the Demons to be disposed of.

Everyone had gone all-out during this battle. But as the fighting died down, everyone solemnly looked at the black smoke continuously churning within the canyon.

Lin Yun was completing the last adjustments and calculations when he suddenly frowned at the black smoke.

“The last modification is in the center of the core area...”

As Lin Yun’s words echoed, the black smoke covering the area suddenly had fierce changes. A wisp of terrifying pressure swept over like a shockwave.

The sky instantly turned dark, as if a terrifying existence had suddenly appeared. Even the sun was hidden.

Gales suddenly rose as boundless Abyssal Power surged. But the mana that was giving a kind of explosive feeling frantically withdrew.

In less than a second, a huge, two-hundred-meter-tall Demon appeared in the center of the canyon.

That Demon had three thick horns spiralling from its head, and black flames were burning in its eyes. Its entire body had thick and bloody bony outgrowths extending from its joints. Those pitch-black outgrowths were covered in numerous strange magic patterns, and there were smoke-like flames at their tips.

Its body didn’t seem to have flesh. There was only a layer of black skin wrapped around its bones. It was extremely thin when compared to other Demons, and its entire skeleton could be clearly seen.

But the appearance of that Demon couldn’t help but alarm the Great Tribal Chief.

“Evil Bone Demon! The Black Iron Overlord!”

Lin Yun, who had just finished debugging and completed his calculations, turned solemn.

Although he had expected a more powerful Demon Overlord to appear, he hadn’t expected it to be a Black Iron Overlord comparable to a 2nd Rank Heaven powerhouse!

Within Demons, ordinary Overlords didn’t have titles, and they had fighting strength comparable to a 1st Rank Heaven Mage. Only those that had truly grasped Extraordinary Power, Demon Overlords comparable to 2nd Rank Heaven powerhouses, could be qualified to become Black Iron Overlords.

There was a huge gap between every rank of the Heaven Realm. It was even bigger than the gap between the 9th Rank of the Archmage realm and the 1st Rank of the Heaven realm.

In the Abyss, the difference in status between every Overlord was huge. A Demon could only surrender to another Demon with a higher rank.

And the only way to alter this gap in ranks was through the power of one's bloodline.

There were seventy-two kinds of Demonic Bloodlines. Even an ordinary Overlord of one of the ten golden bloodlines was stronger than a Goat-Horned Black Iron Overlord.

What felt troublesome wasn't that the Demon before them was a Black Iron Overlord, but that it was a terrifying existence. Evil Bone Demons were ranked 4th among the silver bloodlines!

Purely in terms of bloodline, the Evil Bone Demons ranked 14th among the 72 Demon Races!

An Evil Bone Black Iron Overlord could kill the previous three overlords by itself...

The Demon Overlord slowly left the canyon. Black flames were burning within its eyes as it looked at the people outside the canyon with malice, as if they were just food waiting to be eaten.

Everyone started to sweat. Evil Bone Demons were innately cruel. Because of their bloodline, they had almost no flesh and had a stronger desire to eat. Apart from Evil Demon Races, they would eat anything. Even other Demons could be their food.

The Evil Bone Demon slowly left the canyon, but it ignored the humans and the Beastmen as it casually grabbed that Horned Demon's corpse. Its maw suddenly became a few times bigger, and it swallowed half of the Horned Demon in an instant, devouring it cleanly in two bites.

It then picked up that burnt Goat-Horned Demon Overlord's corpse and also wolfed it down in two bites. The corpses of the Lesser Demon overlords were finished off in one bite each.

Seeing this scene, everyone sweated even more profusely. Dedale couldn't bear with it and was about to attack when Lin Yun suddenly started talking.

"Don't move! Let him eat! That Evil Bone Demon seems to have been starving for a long time. These guys are extremely gluttonous, especially those that have been starving for a while. As long as we just watch, it won't stop until it finishes eating.

"But it'll go crazy if you interrupt his meal, and it will burst with even more power than usual."